ANOTHER TONNAGE TAX BILL INTRODUCED IN THE HOUSE BY TWO MEMBERS

Fixes Tonnage Tax on Iron Ore at Five Cents Per Ton.

Puts Operating Iron Mines in a Class by Themselves.

Measure Said to Have Been Drawn by Attorney General.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, March 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representatives Borge and Jefferson, authors of several tonnage tax measures, this morning jointly introduced another bill along that line, fixing the tonnage tax on iron ore at 5 cents per ton instead of 10 cents, the amount provided in their former measures. Mr. Jefferson has one in for a 25-cent tax, but will not push it. The new bill was drawn by the attorney general. It is said, and it puts operating iron mines into a distinct class for purposes of taxation. Such mines there is to be a state tonnage tax of 5 cents in lieu of all other taxes, in addition to the ad valorem taxation for local purposes. Stock piles are to be assessed as personal property, the same as at present, and mined or in stock piles is not to suffer a tonnage tax, though ore not stock piled will have to pay the tax.

Representatives Zelch and Vollmer introduced a bill providing for a new state prison at Stillwater, and appropriating $500,000 to build it, half to be available this year and half next year.

SECOND CASE OF PLAGUE OCCURS AT KRONSTADT.

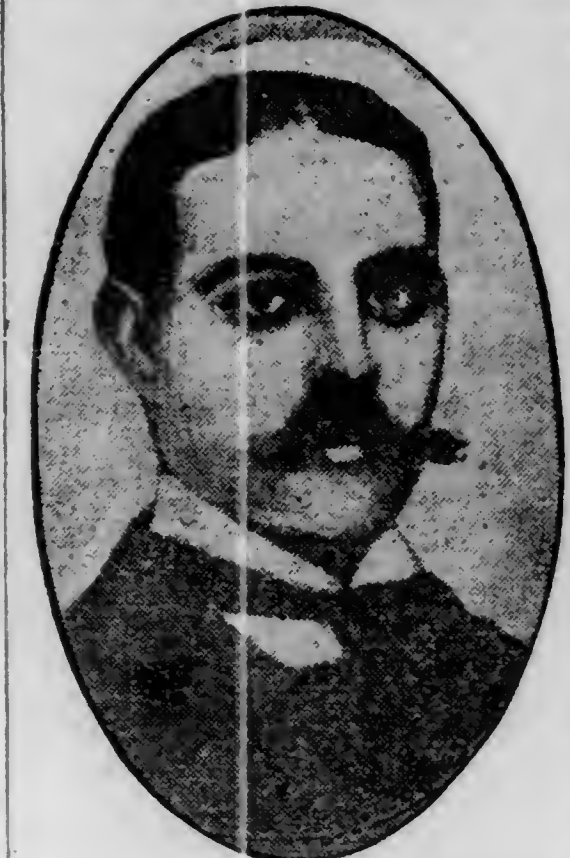

St. Petersburg, March 8.—A second case of plague, which was thought to be a bubonic plague, has developed at Kronstadt, where Dr. Schreiber, of the Second Siberian regiment, who contracted the plague while experimenting with bacilli, died yesterday. The suspicious case is that of Dr. Polovsky, who also has been engaged in experiments with bacilli. He was subjected, after Dr. Schreiber became ill, to heavy injections of plague serum.

Shippers' Association Reand Correspondence.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, March 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is a pretty tame session of the Peterson committee to investigate the Minnesota Shippers' and Receivers' association that does not produce a few backhanded compliments of a very pointed nature. But then there are no same sessions of this committee.

There was another session yesterday afternoon, the third, but it did not develop much valuable information. Upon advice of counsel, George S. Loftus, the active head of the association, failed to produce the books of account of the company, showing the source and manner of using its funds, and he also refused to produce the association's correspondence along political lines. The committee took no further action upon this refusal, but it may

FAMILY REUNION DUE TO TRAGEDY

O. H. Pickett of Virginia Visits Old Home in Baltimore.

Marquette, Mich., March 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because of a shocking tragedy in the woods out from this city three years ago last fall, when a carpenter named Pickett was shot and killed by a Marquette young man from home when he was 13 years of age, and for three decades he had neither seen nor heard of his people. Ten years after his departure from the Maryland metropolis, he attempted to correspond with them, but they had then removed to Chile, in South America, and he could not trace them. Later on they returned to Baltimore, and three years ago, when they read of the shooting of a man named Pickett, they began a correspondence with the Marquette authorities which finally led to the discovery of the whereabouts of their long lost son.

The Mesaba range man's visit home was the result. He found his father and mother alive and well at the age of 74 and 73, respectively, and he plans to return to the East to reside. The killing of the Marquette man of that name was one of the saddest tragedies which has ever occurred in the annals of deer hunting in the North country woods. The shock of the tragic fate of her husband unbalanced the mind of the wife, and she never recovered. Her death followed a year ago.

JAPANESE CRITICISM

On Kuropatkin's War
Book is of a Varied Nature.

Commanding General Praises the Work of Russian Leader.

Victoria, B. C., March 8.—The steamer Shawmut, which arrived yesterday from Yokohama, brought Japanese newspapers with interviews given by Japanese generals regarding Kuropatkin's comments in his recently issued book on the late war. The Hochi Shimbun says Gen. Count Nodzu, who commanded the main Japanese army, writes praising Gen. Kuropatkin's personality and admitting that he only unsheathed his sword of loyalty to the fatherland. He was handicapped because the Russian troops were dispirited and, consisting of various races, were not inspired by strong patriotic spirit. Prior to the war, said Gen. Nodzu, Kuropatkin thought it premature to open war with Japan, and would have refrained from taking command of the Russian armies had not the war party in Russia precipitated the outbreak.

Gen. Oku, who commanded the second Japanese army, writes criticizing Kuropatkin, stating his book to be simply an excuse for the Russians. Kuropatkin, he says, should have been able to restore order in his army between Liao Yang and Mukden with better results. Gen. Nogi wrote refusing to give his opinion on Kuropatkin's work.

Count Itagaki, according to Japanese newspapers, has launched a propaganda for the abandonment of title to nobility in Japan beyond the lifetime of present holders.

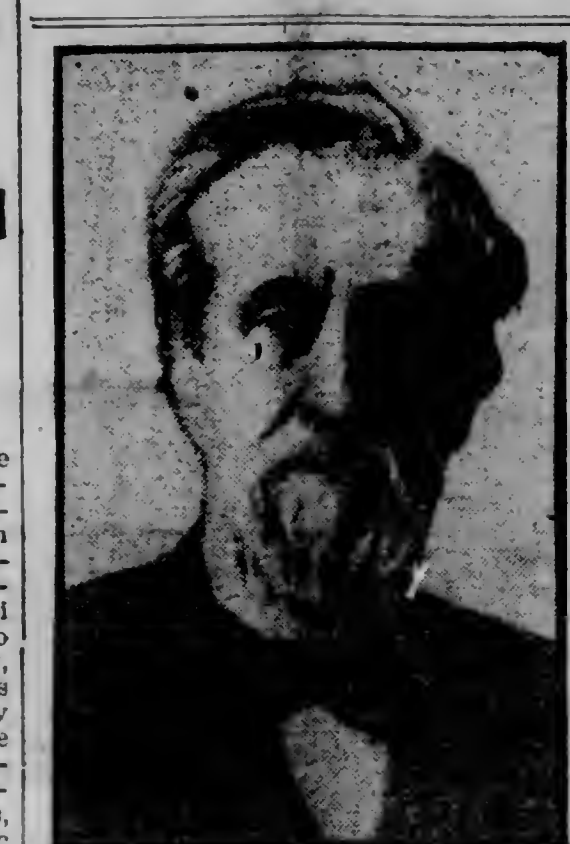

The Tokyo municipality will endeavor to arrange a loan of $25,000,000 for a scheme of harbor improvements. The loan is to be received in three installments, ending in 1914.

AWARDED HIS PRIZE AT LAST

Will Get $25,000 for Guessing Attendance at World's Fair.

St. Louis, March 8.—After two years of litigation, decision was rendered yesterday by Judge McMillen, in the circuit court at Clayton, awarding to M. Logan Guthrie of Fulton, Mo., the prize of $25,000, which was offered to the person who entered the nearest guess to the total number of paid admissions into the World's Fair, Guthrie guessed 12,800,616, which was announced as the exact number of admissions. Several other claimants appeared, and payment of the prize was held up pending settlement of the different claims. Guthrie instituted suit in 1905. Finally the other claimants dismissed their claims and the court awarded the money to Guthrie.

Case May Go to the Jury by Friday of Next Week.

New York, March 8.—The trial of Harry K. Thaw today was adjourned until Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock after Attorney Dolphine M. Delmas had announced, upon the opening of court, that the defense had concluded its testimony. District Attorney Jerome stated that he had no witnesses ready to proceed with in rebuttal, and at his request an adjournment was taken.

The action was not unexpected, for Mr. Delmas served notice, late yesterday, on the district attorney, that the defense had abandoned its plan of calling two more experts. Mr. Jerome did not consider the notification as official, and so came into court this morning prepared to listen to more testimony as to Thaw's unsound condition of mind.

The court session was opened with all the usual formalities. Thaw was bright and smiling as he walked to

Big Crowd Attends the Debate on Enfranchisement Bill.

London, March 8.—The "woman's" enfranchisement bill, which came up for its second reading in the house of commons today, and which was introduced by Mr. Dickinson, Liberal, although practically identical with the measures introduced by James Keir Hardie, Socialist, last year, has evoked far greater general interest. The bill simply provides that women shall have the franchise on the same terms upon which it is now granted to men. The militant tactics of the women suffragists of recent months, and their bold raids on the house of commons itself, from which, on

SON OF THE PRESIDENT IS SOMEWHAT IMPROVED THOUGH CRITICALLY ILL

ARCHIE ROOSEVELT,
The Third Son of the President, Who Is Very Ill With Diphtheria, and Is Quarantined in the White House.

Expert Physicians Spend the Night at His Bedside.

Little Patient is Fairly Comfortable Under Their Treatment.

Notwithstanding His Condition, President Attends to Business.

Washington, March 8.—The condition of Archie Roosevelt, the president's son, who is suffering from a severe attack of diphtheria, is more encouraging this morning than at any time in the last eighteen hours, though the patient is still in a very critical condition. When the veteran police officer, who every night keeps faithful vigil over the living apartments of the president's home, appeared at the front door of the White House at 6 o'clock this morning, he announced to the Associated Press that Dr. Alexander Lambert, on leaving the sick room at 5 o'clock had said that Archie had slept fairly well since 2 o'clock and expressed hopes for the child's recovery.

Mrs. Roosevelt spent almost the entire night in Archie's room. Mrs. Nicholas Longworth telephoned to the White House before breakfast to inquire as to her brother's condition. The greatest anxiety is felt by the doctors over the weak heart condition of the patient and Dr. Lambert is administering heart stimulants to prevent another sinking spell today.

Despite the fact that the president did not retire until 2 o'clock this morning, he rose shortly after 6 o'clock and at once communicated with Dr. Kennedy, who had relieved Dr. Lambert at the sick boy's bedside.

Secretary Loeb issued the following statement at 9 o'clock this morning: "The physician's report this morning is that Archie Roosevelt had a very good night and his condition is most gratifying. The president has been with the patient frequently exercising the same precaution as the physicians as infection."

Secretary McCall and the Cuban minister called at an early hour this morning to inquire as to Archie's condition.

Notwithstanding the serious condition of his son, the president was in his office transacting business as usual this morning. There were several callers before 10 o'clock to inquire as to Archie's condition. It is announced from the White House that the usual Friday cabinet meeting would be held today.

ENDS LIFE IN STUDIO

A Talented American Artist Commits Suicide in Paris.

Mrs. Nathalie Dole Latham, Portrait Painter, is Dead.

Paris, March 8.—Mrs. Nathalie Dole Latham, who was a Miss Lockwood, committed suicide yesterday by shooting. Mrs. Latham was an American and was known here and in New York as a portrait painter.

Mrs. Latham killed herself in her apartments in the Rue Vierge. She fired one shot from a five chambered revolver into the region of the heart which caused instant death.

A person whose name the authorities will not divulge, who it is believed, had been sitting for a portrait by Mrs. Latham had just left the studio when the shot was fired. This person heard the shot from the stairs, and returned at once to the apartment accompanied by the janitor of the building and a policeman. Mrs. Latham was found fully dressed lying across a bed. She was dead. A small stream of blood was issuing from her breast.

Upon a desk near at hand was a short note which said: "I do not accuse anyone of my trouble. I take my life voluntarily. I desire to be cremated. Inform my father and my friends."

Mrs. Latham had lived for nearly two years in Paris. She occupied a handsome apartment, owned an automobile and was well known in society, where her musical and artistic talent were greatly appreciated. She had made a specialty of portrait painting.

It is reported that some time ago Mrs. Latham's father had requested her to return to America, but this she refused because she desired to continue her studies here.

HAD TIME OF HIS LIFE.

Amir of Afghanistan Returns Home After Visit to India.

Caleutta, March 8.—After over two months' visit to India, the amir of Afghanistan, Khabibulla Khan, has recrossed the frontier into his own country and has started for Kabul, his capital. His majesty unmistakably enjoyed every day his stay in India. He was for the first time officially designated as "your majesty" in a telegram of welcome from King Edward when the amir entered India, which is regarded here as significant. While no proposals of a political or military character have been made on either side and no modification of the British-Afghan relations as established by the treaty of Kabul in 1906 was suggested, the visit is regarded by both the British and the India governments as further welding the ties which make Afghanistan a state which is secure against possible Russian invasion. The amir went up in balloons, became a keen motorist, as a result of which he has taken several automobiles back to Afghanistan with him, and developed an immense liking for playing bridge whist and made the Arghan courtiers learn the game so that he could play at Kabul.

TREASURER WALKER IS ALSO A FORGER.

Hartford, Conn., March 8.—That William F. Walker, the defaulting treasurer of the Savings bank, is also a forger to the extent of several thousand dollars is now asserted and the grand jury, at its session Tuesday, will consider this charge. The state's attorney says he is in possession of evidence tending to show that Walker forged notes payable to himself as treasurer of the Connecticut Baptist convention and by so doing had been able to cover up his stealings for several years.

COMMITTEE IMPRESSED

By Visit With the Steel Experts at Duluth.

Report to the House the Result of Trip.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, March 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The committee headed by Speaker Johnson returned from Duluth this morning, and reported to the house as follows:

Your committee was informed that the committee of experts would spend a number of days at and in the vicinity of Duluth, that all matters pertaining to the manufacture of steel would be thoroughly and fairly investigated and considered, that as soon as all possible information had been obtained on which a conclusion could be based, a report of said expert committee would be laid before the finance committee of the United States Steel corporation, whose final decision would be rendered at as early date thereafter as possible, presumably about the last week in March or the first week in April, 1907, at which time a copy of the decision would be laid before this body.

Your committee wishes to extend its thanks to Thomas S. Cole, president of the Oliver Mining company, and his associates, as well as the Hon. Odlin Holden, and to each individual member of the committee of experts and to the members of the Commercial club for the courteous treatment received. In conclusion, your committee does respectfully report that while we have no definite information to base an opinion upon, that any kind of a plant will be built in Minnesota, we are encouraged by the fact that each member of your committee fully believes that the Eastern experts will so report, investigation will be made on the subject and, if it is decided that the market territory is sufficient, and if the conditions are favorable, that the committee of Eastern experts will so report to their superiors and that the manufacture of steel will be commended as soon thereafter as buildings can be constructed.

DEPOSITS OF SCHEELITE

Will be Developed by Original Discoverer, Harry Bush.

Harry Bush, mining engineer of Butte, arrived in the city yesterday and during his stay will make his headquarters at the office of the Geoffrey company, at No. 15 Phoenix Block.

Mr. Bush was the original discoverer of the remarkable Scheelite deposits in the Bear Gulch camp, which after a long and arduous search, he has now located. The deposits are situated in the Bear Gulch camp, which after a long and arduous search, he has now located. The deposits are situated in the Bear Gulch camp, which after a long and arduous search, he has now located.

the greatest Scheelite producer in the world. Indeed, it was while developing and working these gold properties that Mr. Bush made his famous discovery of the then practically unknown new Tungsten ore.

The Denver Daily Mining Record, in a recent issue, gives into an extended description of this "extraordinary deposit" of gold and Tungsten ores, mentions the numerous rich veins of substantial width and depth, and the almost "five miles of tunnels, crosscuts, drifts, upraises, etc.," and refers to the possibilities of the camp in the most glowing language.

Mr. Bush is connected with the Pittsburgh Gold & Tungsten Co., which owns a number of claims on the extension of the "Kimberly," on which identical outcrops are shown, and in which the development work done has demonstrated ore bodies of similar richness and extent to those of the "Kimberly." The "Pittsburgh" company is capitalized for $1,000,000, in shares of the par value of $1 each, of which almost 900,000 remains in the treasury of the company for development purposes.

A part of this development stock is shortly to be issued, and it is in part in connection with this issue that Mr. Bush has made his present visit to this city. Mr. Bush states that the California and Philadelphia representatives of the Midvale Steel Co. were recently in Butte, to introduce their new product of "Tungsten steel," and incidentally to investigate the Scheelite deposits above referred to. They were amazed at the ore exhibit from the Jardine mines, in the Butte office of the Pittsburgh Gold & Tungsten Co. All mining

his place at the counsel table. His two brothers, Edward and Josiah, were in court, and he smiled a greeting to them. The prisoner's arm was filled as usual with the big brown envelopes containing his correspondence.

When Justice Fitzgerald had ascended the bench, and Clerk Penny had called the jury roll, Mr. Delmas arose and uttered in low voice the three words: "The defense rests."

Mr. Jerome then said he would have to ask for an adjournment of the case until Monday morning.

"When court adjourned last Wednesday evening," he said, "I had no reason to expect other than that I would be confronted this morning by experts who would be called upon to answer a hypothetical question which Mr. Delmas was to frame extemporaneously."

Yesterday evening, however, Mr. McKee called upon me with a letter from Mr. Delmas saying that the defense had changed its plans and would call no more witnesses.

"Under the circumstances, I must ask for an adjournment as I have no witnesses available today."

"There is not the slightest objection on our part," said Mr. Delmas. Justice Fitzgerald then ordered the adjournment until Monday.

District Attorney Jerome said he was prepared today to add anything further to his statement of last night, that the evidence he would have to offer in rebuttal will be before the jury by Wednesday evening. He added that the case would go to the jury by Friday next.

Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw was in the witness room today and when court adjourned she immediately went to the Tombs to visit her husband.

WOMEN ARE BARRED OUT

several occasions they have literally been bodily thrown out, and scores of them imprisoned, have given the question a prominence which it hitherto had not attained. The house of commons was crowded when the debate on the proposed measure began, but only women whose good behavior was guaranteed by members of parliament were permitted to enter the gallery.

All those who were connected with the recent disorders within the precincts of the houses of parliament were specifically excluded, and in view of possible disorderly demonstrations on the part of the so-called "suffragists" in connection with the bill, extraordinary precautions were taken by the police to bar their approaches to the house of commons. The forces inside and outside the building were doubled and a special detachment of police was held in reserve in the neighborhood, in spite of the fact that the militant women had announced that they would quietly await the vote in the house, after which they would meet and decide on their future action.

The suffrage societies were very active throughout the morning, trying to insure the attendance of all true supporters of the bill, and they claimed to have 430 members pledged to vote for it. All members who were considered to be in the least lukewarm in the matter were denounced by telephone or telegraph this morning that their seats would be endangered if they failed to fulfill their pledges.

There were no fewer than sixteen motions hostile to the bill placed on the table, while just prior to the opening of the debate a petition, signed by 2,000 women was presented protesting against granting parliamentary suffrage to women on the ground that it would destroy their influence in their own sphere of work.

After Mr. Dickinson's opening speech in support of the bill, the premier, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, announced that it was the intention of the government to leave the question to the free decision of the house. Personally, he favored the general principle of the inclusion of women in the suffrage.

The matter has assumed more importance of late years owing to the larger part which women had taken in wage earning and in the professions. On many questions, continued the premier, the opinion of women was equal to if not greater than that of men. He frankly stated that he was not in favor of the present bill because it would not enfranchise to the necessary degree the mass of the working class women and workmen's wives. He would vote for the bill, however, as a declaration of his opinion that the exclusion of women from the franchise was a precedent, justifiable or politically right.

RURAL MAIL SERVICE HAS GROWN RAPIDLY.

HAPPENINGS IN THE DAKOTAS

Primary Election and Rate Bills Passed by Legislature.

NORTH DAKOTA.—The legislature yesterday passed a state-wide primary election law; adopted a 2½ cent passenger rate bill, with a provision for a 1,000-mile book good for any member of the family at a flat rate of 2 cents a mile, and an anti-labor law, and he is determined to keep the practice as long as his health will permit.

McVie.—This town is in a fever of excitement over the discovery of the dead bodies of J. A. Dale and father in their house Wednesday night. Every indication shows that they came to their sudden death by asphyxiation. They had been missed from the streets since the previous Thursday, but little was thought of it, as they had intended to make a trip into the country for a few days, and neighbors believed they had gone on a visit.

At the meeting of the Commercial club Wednesday night an investigation was decided upon, and a party of citizens went to the house and found the door locked from the inside. The door was forced open and on the floor was found J. A. Dale and in the bed his father, both dead. The son had evidently awakened and tried to go to the door, but was too far gone to open the door.

Mr. Dale, the son, was intending to put up a new modern hotel here this spring. He was well liked by all, and citizens mourn his untimely death. His wife only recently left for a visit with relatives at Browns Valley, Minn.

Frank Forks.—The trustees of the North Dakota presbytery, holding a session until early yesterday, decided to postpone action on the location of a Presbyterian college until after a conference with the secretary of the Presbyterian board of education, who is located in New York.

President Murrayfield presented the university affiliation plan, taken advantage of by Wesley college. Propositions were also received from Minot, Jamestown and Devils Lake, but the affiliation plan was the only one made public, representatives from the other cities being given private hearings.

Fargo.—The second trial of Mrs. Laura Cramer, charged with the murder of her husband, may be taken up March 15, if the efforts of the attorneys for the defense are successful. It was announced after the disagreement of the jury that the next trial would take place at the next term of court, but the defense has been unable to secure bail, and the attorneys for Mrs. Cramer insist that she should not be kept in jail any longer than is necessary.

Williston.—When the first big irrigation ditch is formally opened here on June 17 next, it is planned by the Commercial club to make a celebration and invite President Roosevelt to be present. It is proposed to give Mr. Roosevelt, in addition, an overland stage trip to his old Billings county ranch near Medora, using five relay four-horse teams of the real cow country type. Excellent men from Minnesota, Montana and North Dakota will be invited. Four big irrigation ditches are to be opened in this section within eighteen months, each supplied with water from the Missouri.

SOUTH DAKOTA.—Armour—Miss Grace D. Lynch, sister of Mrs. W. T. Dawson, has departed for China, where she will remain seven years as a missionary. She will work under the direction of the Presbyterian mission board and will be stationed at Wei Hsien. On the way she will attend the world's student congress at Tokio and the centennial at Shanghai celebrating the Protestant missions in China.

Rev. Crawford Pearce has resigned as pastor of the Baptist church in this city, and returned to New York city, where he will attend school another year.

Sloux Falls.—Rev. William Hobart Hare, the venerable Episcopal bishop of South Dakota, who for some months has been in the East for the purpose of receiving treatment from specialists, will return to Sloux Falls in time to administer the rite of confirmation at the cathedral on Easter Sunday, the last day of March. The bishop will not remain here more than a day or two. For many years it has been his practice to administer the rite of confirmation on Easter Sunday, and he is determined to keep the practice as long as his health will permit.

GOOSE IS 72 YEARS OLD.
So Asserts Her Owner, a Farmer Near Caldwell, in Jersey.

New York, March 8.—William Yours Strong, a farmer near Caldwell, N. J., owns a goose which is 72 years of age, he swears.

"William Yours, the man I was named after, gave me this goose in 1871," said Strong. "Years was going back to the old country, and he said: 'Bill, I've owned this goose for thirty-six years. I would take her with me, but I fear she cannot stand the voyage, so I give her to you. Christ her, Bill, be kind to her in her old age, for she is almost like a sister to me.'"

"Years kased the goose good-by," Mr. Strong added. "Look at her, she is as active as a gosling."

RESPECTED THE HOODOO 13
Canceled a Thirteen-Year Policy Drawn on the Thirteenth.

Booneville, Ind., March 8.—After having successfully passed an examination and given a note for the first premium of a 13-year endowment policy on the thirteenth day of the month, Henry Kaiser decided that it would not be "good policy" to allow it to stand, and fearing that "13" was unlucky, he had the examination canceled, as well as the application. Charles Williams, agent for the Inter-mediate Life Insurance company of Evansville, Ind., consented to cancel the papers signed by Mr. Kaiser, who will make another application on another day. All the papers were burned in the presence of both principals.

SHUNS TOWN FIFTY YEARS.
Woman Keeps Vow Made Before War Against Lexington.

Lexington, Ky., March 8.—Mrs. Frances Pace Peter, age 91, who died at her home in this county Monday, had lived seven miles from town and had not been here in nearly fifty years. She became angry at some residents in the city before the war and vowed that she would never visit the place again. She was wealthy and was a relative of Henry Clay.

CONCERNING WOMEN

The interests of the club women of the state are at present centered in the passage of the bill before the state legislature, providing for a new industrial school for delinquent girls. The crucial time has arrived, and only those women who are actively in the work realize what a firm and concerted effort will be necessary to secure its passage.

Mrs. H. S. Ely of this city, corresponding secretary of the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs, received a petition from Mrs. Russell L. Dorr, chairman of the training school committee of the federation, which Mrs. Ely has presented to H. V. Ely, secretary of the Duluth Commercial club. The committee is sending these petitions to the commercial clubs throughout the state, hoping to get the leading men of the communities interested in the bill. The committee to the Commercial club is as follows:

"The Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs earnestly requests that your honorable body take formal action endorsing the bills before the state legislature, known as senate file No. 100 and house file No. 87, providing for the new industrial school for delinquent girls in some county not now possessing a state institution."

"We have been studying the subject for five years, and we have become fully convinced that it is bad state policy to have the delinquent girls sent to Red Wing, or to any place where they are in proximity to a boys' school. It may be needless to say to you that we have the support of all the judges in the state, the governor, board of control, and all state officers, the press (except at Red Wing), the clergy, all experts in charity and correctional work, and thousands of our most influential citizens, men and women, who at our last session, petitioned the legislature to pass a similar bill. This, through the influence of Red Wing, was smothered in committee. That the same fate may not attend our bill in this session, we ask your aid. We shall greatly appreciate the help of your legislative committee also."

Respectfully yours,
LOUISE B. DORR,
Chairman of Training School Committee.

In the Windows.

With the sun pouring down with a splendor that was dazzling that made one long for a row boat out in the middle of a nice little bay sparkling lake, a fishing pole hanging lazily from one's hand, and one simply basking in the lovely warmth of the sun, dozens of people walked along Superior street this morning and were brought to a sudden standstill by the temptingly scant bathing suits which were displayed in one of the windows. They were all blue and white, and mostly in large sizes. Although the passer by might never be interested in bathing suits, to have them displayed in a window in mid March would stop anyone. Further inspection proved that they were displayed in a window of men's furnishings, that they were designed especially for the almost too brave persons who do that weird thing "go in training" about this time of the year, and among other things essential for this rigorous and rather foolish program, is a plunge night and morning into the icy waters of the bay. These two daily plunges do not include those which are taken without thought, when one of the victims of this training walks one eye in an eighth of a second before the other closes. All four or eight then take another plunge. It is no wonder that they need especially designed suits. If you are one of the people anticipating training suits have arrived. But of course, if you are, you won't be reading this page.

For the feminine readers who have wanted thus far for some hint of an essential, it is advised that now is the time not only to purchase chiffon veils, but it is also the time to wear them. The combination of March sun and March winds works havoc, and the freckles which one achieves not will last the season through. A yard and a half of becoming veiling now is worth quarts of lemon juice later on. The veils are shown in soft and lovely colors, and the woman who takes thought of how she shall look as well as the whiff of wind she shall be clothed with, probably wear a chiffon veil, unless she is that most fortunate of breathing mortals, one who doesn't freckle.

Dancing Party.

The members of the No-No-Me Card club entertained at a banquet and dancing party last evening at Fleten's hall at the last of the club's affairs for the season. Seventy guests were entertained at the dancing party which followed the banquet, the program of dance music being played by Flaiten's orchestra. The members of the club are:

Saturday Club.

The regular meeting of the Saturday club will be held tomorrow afternoon at the club room of the library. The leader for the afternoon will be Mrs. Julia Barnes. The topic of current events' study will be, "What is in the

What Retail Markets Offer.

Wax beans, 25 cents a qt.
Strawberries, 15 cents a pint box.
Spinach, 2 bunches for 25 cents.
Squabs, $2 or $4 a dozen.
Leg of lamb, 18 or 20 cents a lb.
Mint, 5 cents a bunch.
If one was asked what one would like best to eat, and one at the same time really knew, one would immediately ask for German sauerkraut. One of those things that are so awfully good and when you critically reason it out and take it apart you can't see any reason on earth why it should be so delectable. And when one has reached this decision one looks longingly around to see if there is any more. Why wax beans boiled and stripped into narrow lengths, mixed with a goodly share of onions and dressed with hot vinegar and bacon gravy and a few bits of crisped bacon dice should be so deliciously grand, logic cannot explain, but nevertheless, as soon as this column gets time it is going to make about a gallon of it.

The strawberries are cheap and red in color. The German sauerkraut is the place where you feel that life without strawberries and cream isn't worth living, but these few preliminary months of hard green fruit are necessary before the large, luscious, ripe, red beauties are here.

MRS. EDDY'S CALMNESS

More Grieved and Indignant Over Suit by Her Son.

Her Cousin Says She is Thoroughly Familiar With Action.

Concord, N. H., March 8.—Ex-Congressman Henry H. Baker, Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy's cousin, has been in consultation with Mrs. Eddy and her attorneys. In an interview he said: "Mrs. Eddy feels no ill will toward her son. She blames the mental malpractitioners who are controlling him for their own purposes. If he tears himself away from their influence she will readily forgive him and I have no doubt that he will return to his home to make for him. Right here, I am sure, it is as plain as the nose on his face that the $100,000 trust deed, if it were executed as alleged, was completed at least three days before she had any idea of it. It is a party to any such proceedings as that brought against her, and was not prompted by any desire to obtain possession of any letters held by him."

Asked if Mrs. Eddy was fully aware of all the details of the receivership petition and comprehending its meaning, Mr. Baker said: "Yes, on the morning after it had been filed she sent me a message to my home. On my entering her library, where she was sitting alone, she showed me a Boston newspaper in which the bill had been printed in full. 'Have you seen this?' she asked. On my replying in the affirmative, she handed me a copy of the bill and the passages in it as you see. I wish you would take the paper and these other documents in connection with this proceeding and examine them thoroughly. I will send for you again in a few days to learn your opinion of them."

"What a marked case of the mind," said Mr. Baker, "in the few passages in it as you see. I wish you would take the paper and these other documents in connection with this proceeding and examine them thoroughly. I will send for you again in a few days to learn your opinion of them."

Of course, she was a little disturbed by the action of her son after all her kindness to him, but she appeared as usual, griefed but indignant. In fact, she was not half as indignant as I was. When I saw her with her counsel, she discussed the case actively with us but in no spirit of anger. She dominated the debate, however, and showed a mind as keen and alert as that of many a woman forty years her junior.

"I would readily give all I possess to be assured that at 70, if I should live to be that age, I should be in as good condition, physically and mentally as Mrs. Eddy today."

On the subject of Mrs. Eddy's fortune, Mr. Baker said the wealth of the head of the Christian Science church was much smaller than reported.

"I do not know the amount of her income, but I do know that it is only within the last few years that it has been anything considerable. So far as any accumulation is concerned, she has always been a liberal giver. In one year alone I know she gave away $250,000."

Mr. Baker's other assertions in respect to Mrs. Eddy's physical and mental ability to conduct her own vast business interests were confirmed by Josiah E. Fernald, president of the National State Capital bank, in this city, and F. N. Ladd, treasurer of the Loan and Trust Savings bank. Mr. Fernald showed a letter written by Mrs. Eddy to him Feb. 13 last, not three weeks ago. The contents covered three pages of ordinary note paper.

The chronography was neat, clear, even and firm. In fact, it would do credit to a woman of 40. Mr. Ladd, who audits Mrs. Eddy's accounts, said her books were kept in excellent order, they balanced to a cent, and her accounts generally were in much better shape than those of many business men.

"Her accounts and those kept by Mr. Frye I audit periodically," added Mr. Ladd. "Every entry is carefully checked and the disposition of every cent is explained. Mrs. Eddy's income is derived solely from her writings. It is not nearly as large as reported."

Asked later whether the allegations against Calvin S. Frye, made in the receivership petition, had shaken Mrs.

TALKED ABOUT THE MURDER

Man Arrested in Connection With Quernheim Tragedy.

St. Louis, March 8.—Harry Muermeyer, aged 25, was arrested at his home today in connection with the mysterious murder of Mrs. Kate Quernheim, whose dead body, cut and bruised, was found in her home last evening. The police state that the arrest of Muermeyer is not regarded as solving the murder mystery, but he being held pending investigation into the statements he made following the discovery of the dead.

The second-hand dealer called on Chief of Detectives Smith today with several articles identified as having been taken from the Quernheim home. The dealer stated that he had purchased the articles and described the seller. The chief said he expected the information would lead to an important arrest.

CREW DESTITUTE.

Sydney, N. S. W., March 8.—The crew of the Oceanic Steamship company's steamer Sonoma, who on Jan. 21 were sentenced to a month's imprisonment at hard labor for disobeying lawful commands and thereby delaying the vessel's departure for San Francisco until a crew of non-unionists were shipped, are in destitute condition, following their release from prison, as they have forfeited the wages due them. The seamen's union appealed to the premier of New South Wales and to the American consul general here, but they both refused to help the seamen, the consul holding that his instructions only permitted him to grant assistance to shipwrecked men, and not to strikers.

GOVERNOR WILL GIVE MINING MEN HEARING.

Lansing, Mich., March 8.—The state senate yesterday afternoon voted to recall the bill passed Wednesday, preventing the consolidation of the Calumet and Hecla, Alouez, Centennial and Osceola. The house, however, refused to permit it and passed the bill under the suspension of rules 74 to 18. Governor Warner, before signing of vetoing, will give a delegation from Calumet an opportunity to be heard in opposition at Detroit Saturday.

SONGS OF MAN

On Operating Table Bring Tears to Eyes of Hearers.

Newark, N. J., March 8.—Lying on the operating table in the office of Dr. Dolph in Harrison, Samuel Warock of Kearney, while in a semi-conscious state after the application of ether, sang some old songs so sweetly and with so much feeling that he brought tears to the eyes of several women patients waiting in the outer office.

Warock is employed in one of the large industrial plants in Harrison and while at work had the fingers of his right hand crushed. Dr. Dolph decided it would be necessary to amputate two fingers. While lying on the operating table Warock at first sobbed then laughed and finally, in a good baritone voice, burst into song. His first song was "Mother, Kiss Me in My Dreams."

This he rendered with so much feeling and pathos that even the physicians were affected. His strong notes rang out so that they penetrated every room and soon a small knot of silent listeners were standing in front of the physician's home. This was followed by other old songs with tender memories and which touched the growing throng in the street.

RAILROADS

A NEW ROUNDHOUSE.

One Will be Erected by Great Northern in Superior.

The Great Northern will this year build a roundhouse of thirty-six stalls between Saunders and the Alouez ore docks. Saunders is a station two miles south of Superior, where the ore trains leave the main line for the docks. Probably the structure will cost about $15,000.

New yards will also be provided for sorting out the ore cars and making up the trains. About 300 acres will be secured for this purpose. Plans have been made for two yards, one at Kelly Lake, Minn., and the other one at Superior.

HILL OBJECTS.

Does Not Want His Son-in-Law to Leave His Road.

It is said that the resignation of George T. Slade as general superintendent of the Great Northern does not meet with favor with J. J. Hill, his father-in-law, who has started from New York to St. Paul on a flying trip to see if he cannot bring peace between warring factions in the Great Northern camp. Although Mr. Slade stated for publication that he had left the Great Northern to enter other work in the East, it is said that his move was the result of friction of long standing with officials above him. Desiring that he be son-in-law of Mr. Hill, Mr. Slade has been many desirable posts above him handed to men whose only qualification was railroad knowledge.

JAPANESE OPINION OF SALVAGE PESSIMISTIC.

Yokohama, March 8.—By March 11, it will be decided whether the wrecked steamer Dakota will be saved by its owners, the Great Northern Steamship company or handed over to the underwriters. An official inquiry into the occurrence has yet been held at the United States consulate, but the passengers are making affidavits on their personal claims. A Japanese expert opinion on the question of salvage is pessimistic.

GETTING TOGETHER

Railroad Magnates Begin to Understand What Government Wants.

Harriman Is Ready to Advance Scheme of Co-Operation.

New York, March 8.—"I am ready to make the advancement of a scheme of co-operation between the government and the railways my chief interest," said E. H. Harriman, president of the Union Pacific railroad, on returning yesterday from Washington. "We men at the head of great corporations are coming to a better understanding of what the government expects of us," he continued. "We are getting the point of view of the administration. I am of the opinion that the administration is beginning to realize that it has been a little too radical in its attitude toward the railroads and I look to see its opposition take on more of the spirit of co-operation."

Mr. Harriman declined to talk about the report that he had obtained control of the Reading railroad. Speaking of the agitation against corporate wealth he said:

"They—we all of us, ought to have considered the possible effects of this agitation before it was begun or before conditions which make its growth possible were allowed to continue. If we had all met on common ground and co-operated for our mutual benefit, nobody would be worrying over the situation as it is today."

"We all made a mistake in this. I realize the mistake and I am of the opinion that the administration at Washington is beginning to realize that it has been a little too radical in its attitude toward the railroads. Henceforth I look to see its opposition take on more of the spirit of co-operation. I believe the railways can expect to receive more even handed justice."

"We men at the head of the great corporations, on our part are coming to a better understanding of what the government expects of us. We are beginning to get the point of view of the administration. We feel that we are now, all of us—the public, the government and the railways—on a common ground, where we can deal with each other in the right spirit. "I'm more than willing to give my support to such a process of enlightenment. I'm ready to make the advancement of such a scheme of co-operation my chief interest. Surely there could be few conditions imaginable that would be of higher public benefit than to eliminate hostile friction."

"Railroad managers have, I am willing to admit, in the past neglected to build up a strong, harmonious relationship between themselves and with the government and the public. This matter had been left to subordinate officers and the result has been that such relations have been completely neglected. Now we must take the matter in our own hands in order to bring about a better understanding and co-operation."

"Our policy in the past has been a mistaken one, but it cannot be said that we have neglected our service to the public. When one considers what the railroads have done to develop this nation we cannot believe that the railroads have been anything but beneficial to the nation. The marvelous development of the country has been due in a very large degree to the enterprise of its railroads."

"Since the time we took hold of the system of railroads of which I am the head, the sum of $250,000,000 has been expended in rebuilding the roads. This has all been done since 1900. As another instance of what the railroads are doing to add to the general prosperity of the nation I'll tell you that the roads, of which I am the head, purchase about 1,000,000 tons of steel rails yearly, and during that period we purchased the value of 4,000,000 tons."

"All this adds to the welfare of the nation, and the development work which the railroads have done has in some cases, as is now shown, resulted in the building up of so large a traffic that they are unable to handle it."

"Combination really benefits the public. The public may think otherwise, but it will learn the real truth in time. That time will come sooner, for combinations are legalized. I believe in control and regulation, as I declared before the interstate commerce commission, but I think within the limit of such control corporations ought to be allowed to combine as they find it necessary or beneficial."

Mr. Harriman said that the railroads had frequently been at fault in the past by their failure to live up to traffic agreements. "In this case there had come a lack of confidence among railroad men, and the public generally grew to lose confidence in the acts of the railroads."

Restrictive legislation, Mr. Harriman thought, must tend to reduce dividends unless met in some way. The fact is plain, he said, that there is a lack of confidence by capital. He cited the price paid by the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad company for its recent loans in France. As to the money outlook, Mr. Harriman said that the present tension is bound to react on the financial co-operation. "I know in a general way of an all-round movement to reduce supplies. That's common sense," he said. "As for our own, we are making our business more compact and trying to conduct traffic at less cost. We may have to come to higher freight rates."

Mr. Harriman then took up the Chicago & Alton reorganization. He said that considering the conditions which

DINKY TO HAVE COREY'S PLACE

Head of Carnegie Steel Company Slated for Promotion.

Pittsburg, March 8.—The intimation from New York that President Alva Dinkley of the Carnegie Steel company will succeed President W. Ellis Corey as head of the United States Steel corporation, was not news to friends of the hustling young head of the big Carnegie company here. For many weeks it has been understood here that such a move was on the boards, and when the figures for 1906 of the Carnegie company were made up and it was shown that the year was the biggest in the history of the concern, it was then made almost certain that Dinkley would be the man. President Corey has intimated to a very close friend in Pittsburg that he will retire very shortly and for a time live abroad.

Dinkley was rather outspoken in his condemnation in the way in which Corey handled his family affairs. It was Mrs. Dinkley who joined with Mrs. O. M. Schwab in declaring to Corey

A $14,000 RING LOST IN NEW YORK GUTTER.

New York, March 8.—It is not a common thing for diamond rings valued at $14,000 to be left lying in a New York street for more than a month, but there is, or was, one worth this amount in West Seventy-fourth street, somewhere between Riverside Drive and West End avenue. There is also a reward of $1,000 waiting for anyone who finds it, but it is unlikely the ring will ever grace a hand again unless it is that of a mermaid.

The ring belonged to Mrs. Arthur P. Heinze of No. 220 Madison avenue, and was lost on Feb. 2. The stone is an inch square and one of the oddest stones sold in recent years. It is clear white and absolutely flawless. The price paid by Mr. Heinze, who is a brother of F. Augustus Heinze, was $14,000.

On the day the ring was lost Mrs. Heinze was going to a bridge party given by a friend in West Seventy-seventh street. She had put the ring in her lap, and forgot about it when the carriage arrived at the house. As she stood up and was about to step out of her carriage, Mrs. Heinze saw the ring roll from the carriage and into the gutter.

Several persons about to enter the house who saw Mrs. Heinze directing

That is the aim—the high ideal—of this store.

A great merchant once said: "Any business that is not a benefit to the community in which it is placed must fail—as it depends upon it for support."

Our past benefit to the community is the key to our success today—and through the benefits of today we look forward to the growth of the future.

It is strictly against our wish and rules that any salesperson shall endeavor to sell you an article you don't want. Further—we had rather win your confidence by advising you not to buy, when we thought you would be wasting money if you did, than to "make a sale" under such conditions.

The store does not permit exaggeration of values or misrepresentation of goods. Nothing is "all-wool" unless there's nothing but wool in it. "Seconds" are "seconds"—not "firsts," nor advertised as such. "Specials" are goods purchased in a specially advantageous way, or regular goods offered at a price which is unusual, and attractive to your best interests.

When it comes to "store service," we strive toward the highest attainment along the line of perfection—for your comfort and convenience. A well lighted, well ventilated store, with wide aisles, broad stairs, excellent elevator service; the most careful endeavor to eliminate any waste of time in wrapping of parcels or making change; refunding of money without quibbling if you are dissatisfied with your purchase; the best possible system of delivery; the most courteous attention at all times and the liberal and quick righting of wrongs when they occur.

This, nor any other store will ever succeed in absolute avoidance of any errors—or be sure of helpers being unquestionably and fully loyal to you and us—but sternly enforced intention tends to a high plane of serving.

Not pretended good service—but INTENDED good service. Never, perhaps to be flawless. But now—and to be in the years to come—BEST.

HOMESTEADERS WIN MORE.

Proof Order Further Modified as Result of Dakota Complaints.

Washington, March 8.—Senator McCumber has received a large number of letters from settlers in North Dakota protesting against the president's order relating to the acceptance of homestead proofs. It was declared that the order, even as modified to exempt 6-year homesteaders and purchasers of Indian lands, was still too restrictive. The letters were placed before the president and after a consultation with Secretary of the Interior Garfield and Land Commissioner Ballinger, the president decided to modify the suspension order still further, by providing that local officers shall issue final receipts and patents shall follow in regular order, unless the government can show fraud. Senator McCumber said he was satisfied with this modification, as it puts the burden of proof on the government instead of on the homesteader.

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

THE HOCKEY RINK PLANS

Rumor Says Hockey Club Will Organize in Near Future.

Would Play Amateur Hockey Until Game is Well Started.

That the much talked of, much discussed, and much needed hockey rink, which has been featured in sporting columns for years, has been urged, and talked of, and promised, and then vanished into the dim and gloomy distance time and again, will be a reality, and that next year's hockey team will be playing on a suitable rink of their own, now seems highly probable. It is stated upon good authority that within a fortnight the articles of incorporation of the Duluth Hockey club will be published and stock in the new organization will be for sale. A number of influential men are backing it, but aside from the Northern Hardware company none of them wish their names connected with the story as yet.

When the Northern Hardware hockey team was down in the Copper country this week, a thorough investigation was made of the plans, cost of rink, organization of clubs and other details of the game in the Copper country, and all the Copper country hockey men expressed themselves as anxious to boost hockey at the Head of the Lakes, and said they would do all in their power to help.

President Fisher of the hockey league and Capt. Bill Shields of Calumet, both expressed themselves as desirous of dropping Pittsburgh as soon as Duluth and Winnipeg, with possibly St. Paul and Minneapolis, could be gotten interested in the game and a professional team made practical.

It is probable that during the first year after the building of the rink the Duluth club could not stand the expense of a professional team, but with a good amateur aggregation like the Northerners with a rink of their own where they could fix dates to suit themselves and pull off two games a week if necessary, it would not take long to give Duluth a bad case of hockey fever, and after that all would be easy.

The plans of the club are to build an unpretentious structure next winter, one that can be used for public meetings, etc., in the summer, and to add on to it as fast as practicable. This is the way things were started in the Copper country before hockey took root and hold there, with amateur teams and small rinks, and in a surprisingly short time the Copper country came to be regarded as the greatest hockey country in the world.

The hockey rink project has reached this stage in its development several times before, but never has there been such ample evidence of the support Duluth would give hockey as this past season has shown the promoters of the game.

There seems to be but little chance of the present plans falling through.

NELSON DEWEY AGAIN TO FIGHT

Tonight at the Nelson-Dewey gymnasium the Y. M. C. A. will play the Superiorites in their own gym. The line-up of the evening will be as follows:

CASS LAKE WINNER.

Defeats Park Rapids Team for the Bowling Championship.

Cass Lake, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The contest for bowling supremacy between Cass Lake and Park Rapids was decided here last night, when the locals defeated their rivals from the Rapids by a majority of forty-six pins in the three games played.

The home team had defeated Park Rapids here a week ago with a lead of 174 pins and in turn Park Rapids defeated Cass Lake at Park Rapids last Saturday by a majority of 173 pins. It was decided to determine who were the champions by playing another game at Cass Lake with the result that Cass Lake won.

Houghton Wins Again. Houghton, Mich., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Portage Lake also won the second game of the series of three with Pittsburgh at Pittsburgh last evening, by the score of 2 to 0. The victory was not needed to win the championship, but it clinches the flag now, as even if Portage Lake should lose at Pittsburgh, they would have lost the pennant.

Billiards at New York. New York, March 5.—Chicago was again the winner yesterday in the amateur championship billiard tournament, which is in progress at the Lickcrank club. Charles E. Smith of Chicago won the afternoon game from Dr. J. L. Lital of this city, by a score of 200 to 121, and Edward W. Gardner outlasted T. Morris of 2 to 0. The victory was won by a score of 200 to 245 in the night's contest.

PRE-SEASON SCHEDULE

Sox Have Quite an Impending Series Before Pennant Race.

Twenty-Three Men Will Report at Madison April 15.

Twenty-three, inauspicious though it is, represents the number of men signed by Manager A. W. Kuehnow for the White Sox for the coming season. Eight of these men are old players on the team, and will be given the glad hand by the fans on their first appearance on the home ground, but the fifteen others, or that part of them which is left after the month of wedding between the time the club reports and its first game here, will have to make good before they are loyally boosted to the pedestal already occupied by the lucky eight.

Krick, Cummings and Treadway of the pitching staff will be seen slugging them over in the same old way. Lehigh and Summers at short, Helding in the field and at backstop when necessary, Pagli at the third sack, and last, but not least, Artie O'Dea on first, complete the line-up of the old timers.

Smiley Smith, last year's Houghton catcher, is the only one of the new men whose name and work are familiar to the fans. The rest of them are recruited from other minor leagues, or from Chicago and Eastern semi-pros, and at backstop when necessary, Pagli on the third sack, and last, but not least, Artie O'Dea on first, complete the line-up of the old timers.

The bunch of twenty-three men will report at Madison, Wis., on the university diamond on April 15. The next two weeks are devoted to try-outs on the diamond there between the men, and then the squad will play 168 first games. Prospect, Ill., is the first victim marked for the slaughter, and the Sox will play there three days, April 19, 20 and 21.

From there they will return to Madison for a week's workout, and will play the Madison team April 27, 28 and 29.

From the opening of the league season, on May 18, the dates are chucked full, and the Sox schedule will be as follows:

May 1 and 2, Fond du Lac, Wis. May 3 and 4, Oshkosh, Wis. May 5 and 6, Green Bay, Wis. May 7 and 8, Eau Claire, Wis. May 9, Hudson, Wis. May 10, Stillwater, Minn. May 11 and 12, Kelley Hardware at Duluth. May 13 and 14, Medicine Hat at Duluth.

Some enthusiastic Canadian fans are coming all the way from Medicine Hat to see the games on May 13 and 14.

DENOMILTON AGAIN.

Kid From Hilltop Will Meet Little Wonder at Met.

Tonight Duluth wrestling fans will have another chance to see Kid Deno, the promising youngster who so nearly landed Milton last Friday evening at the Met, as he will beat the "Little Wonder" again.

The familiarity which the two men have with each other's holds should make the match even better than last Friday's, and it promises to be the best match in which Milton has figured since he stepped here. The fans are slow to be false to an idol and Milton is to have a favor to do but the little man from the Hilltop out up such a great game a week ago that if Milton maintains his undefeated record, he will have a hard tussle ahead of him tonight.

HARRY LEWIS HEAVILY FINED

Pugilist Pays $1,000 for Blow That Killed Mike Ward.

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 5.—Judge Stuart of the superior court yesterday afternoon fined Harry Lewis of Philadelphia, prize fighter, $1,000 for engaging in a prize fight, and Jacob Besterman, father of Lewis, $200 for aiding and abetting a prize fight.

Except the pending case of Referee Eddie Ryan of Detroit, these fines close all actions growing out of the fight here between Harry Lewis and Mike Ward, Sarnia, Ont., Nov. 15, last, which resulted in the death of Ward.

Lewis was arrested for murder, but later was admitted to bail on a charge of manslaughter. The manslaughter charge was finally nipped at the request of the prosecuting attorney, the Hon. E. J. Lynam, of this city, who promoted the fight. Referee Eddie Ryan of Detroit, and Trainer "Brien" were charged with aiding and abetting a prize fight. Lynam was tried last week and acquitted.

A CORNER IN SPORTS

They take baseball seriously up in Alberta.

This is the first year of the new Northwest Canada Baseball league, including Calgary, Edmonton, Medicine Hat and Lethbridge, and they are going into it on a most elaborate scale. The Medicine Hat team is doing its spring training in Cincinnati, and about April 1 it will start west, playing all the good baseball towns on the way, and will strike Duluth early in May. Some of the thirty-second degree fans from the weather factory are planning to come all the way to Duluth to take in this game.

They will welcome the team home with the young men's silver cornet band, and the city fire department and the players will be escorted to the town hall, where the mayor and the "M.P." will deliver flowery orations on the "great undeveloped resources of this boundless Western glorious Union Jack—and our noble sovereign, King Edward, God bless him.

The ball players and the mayor will then adjourn to a handy little place behind a pair of swinging doors to discuss the season's prospects in a congenial manner.

It's a great country, the West.

MICHIGAN WILL NOT WITHDRAW

Refuses, However, to Observe All Rules of Western Conference.

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 5.—The board of athletic control of the University of Michigan last night decided that Michigan would remain in the Western conference, but that she would not be bound by the conference rule limiting each college to five football games, except that Michigan would, of course play only five games with Western conference colleges. The bill places a limit on the number of games with non-conference colleges. It was decided that Michigan would observe conference rules in all games except that in games with non-conference colleges.

The athletic situation has been discussed here for fifteen months and a strong student sentiment had developed in favor of the withdrawal from the Western or big nine conference owing to the stringent regulations adopted by the conference, and the action of the board, it is thought, will be favorably received by the students, but there is some question about the attitude of the other conference colleges toward the compromise.

MAROONS HAVE NEW MANAGER

Eddie Herr Expects to Give Winnipeg Pennant Winning Team.

Winnipeg, March 5.—It is now Manager Herr of the Maroons. From a large list of applications, Eddie Herr of St. Louis has been selected to guide the destinies of the local baseball leaguers. The gentleman with the game manager is a player of Southern league experience. He is a pitcher and comes highly recommended in every way. He will immediately start in to get the 1907 Maroons in line to win the pennant of the league.

Eighteen players are now under contract or have accepted terms from the local management. The Maroons may be relied on to pick up a few first-class men to strengthen any of the weak spots.

Five pitchers are now under contract, including the manager, and Terry who was here last season, Glincke, with Grand Forks, and Schurche, the big right hander, who pitched winning ball for Lake Linden. Sawyer, another university pitcher, from Vermilion, is recommended by Denny Sullivan, is also on the list. Bushman may also be back.

The catchers are, and it is expected, will be here in 1907, and led the league in batting, and Dan Collins from Comenut, Ohio.

Ludurus, who finished out the season on first base, and W. J. O'Neil, another South Dakota university player, will contest for position. James Dolberry, who played three seasons with the Atlanta team of the Tri-State league, is likely to have opposition from Martin Dunn of Minneapolis, who was with Grand Forks a couple of seasons ago. There are some half a dozen candidates for shortstop.

They are Montabales of Dickson, Ill.; Valde, who started the season with the Maroons last year; McEvoy of the Empire State league; W. M. McNeil, Chicago, Ill.; the Minneapolis player, under contract to Lake Linden, is also claimed by Winnipeg, and it is expected will be here at all it will be here. For third, Rolly Zeller is being sought.

Two good outfielders have already been signed in "Chesky" Cox and Trager, the former Fargo manager. Lefty Piper has not yet come to terms.

Besides the men mentioned here, lines are out for several others, whose names cannot be announced at this time.

FIERING AND MANGSETH

Will Contest for American Championship at Chester Creek.

Both Have Broken American Record During Past Season.

A feature of the ski tournament to be held at the Chester Creek hill Sunday will be the contest which has been scheduled between Ole Fiering of Duluth and Ole Mangseth of Red Wing, to decide a $100 bet between C. E. Evans and Dr. Hovde, of the Duluth Ski club.

Both these men have, during the season just closed, broken the American ski record, Fiering setting the 112-foot mark, and Mangseth breaking this with a 114-foot jump a week later. So far Mangseth's mark has not been beaten but a large proportion of the local ski riders believe that Fiering can beat the Red Wing man on an equal basis.

Both jumpers have won numerous points for form, and the most expert judges have pronounced them the most daring and graceful jumpers in the country. Sunday's contest will decide the ski championship of America, which will mean even more than the official contest at Ashland when Ole Jonnum carried off the honors.

While the tournament is nominally an amateur affair a class of the city's experts will be entered also and will compete for separate prizes for the benefit of the crowd. In order that amateur riders may be admitted regardless of club membership, any rider in the city may, upon the payment of fifty cents enter Sunday's events and become a member of the club for the balance of the year.

A banquet for the riders will be served in the saloon on Monday evening, when the prizes will be awarded.

MAY RESULT IN BASEBALL WAR

Western Association Refuses to Recognize Drafting of Topeka.

Kansas City, March 5.—The drafting of the Topeka club by the Western league and the action taken here yesterday by the Western association, when it refused to recognize either the draft or the purchase rights of the Western league, promises to result in a merry baseball war.

At the close of the meeting Shively sent a telegram to J. H. Farrell, Auburn, N. Y., secretary of the national association, notifying him of the action taken by the Western association directors. In speaking of the meeting Shively said: "If they want us there is nothing to organize baseball. When I was in Chicago Harry Pulliam, president of the National league, told me that the national commission had no jurisdiction over the matter and that as members of the commission he would vote against the drafting of the club. Dan Johnson, president of the American league, told me that they had no right to do this thing. We will fight it to the last ditch."

JUMPS HIS HORSE OVER TABLE LAID FOR DINNER.

London, March 5.—Prince Charles of Hohenzollern, who has been visiting the king at Windsor, is in command of that corps of the Prussian army, the First Dragoons of the Guard, of which King Edward is honorary colonel. His reign of highness belongs to the non-reigning branch of the great Hohenzollern clan, and the fully shaven military tastes of his distant kinsman, the German emperor, were requested at short notice to give a musical ride for his special benefit. After the ride he was entertained (and let us hope impressed) by some remarkable feats of horsemanship.

NEW TOWNSITE TO BE PLATTED

Midway Between Biwabik and Aurora, Close to Syracuse Mine.

Virginia, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—A new townsite is to be located midway between Biwabik and Aurora in the near future. The site is located just east of the dam across the outlet of Wine lake, close to the Syracuse mine. The townsite is also close to an old body on lands owned by David T. Adams, recently proved up by the drills of the Longyear Exploration company.

The Biwabik and Iron Range runs from the Biwabik yards as far as the Syracuse mine, but there is no passenger service, and the nearest point to the main line of the road will be Aurora, about three miles away.

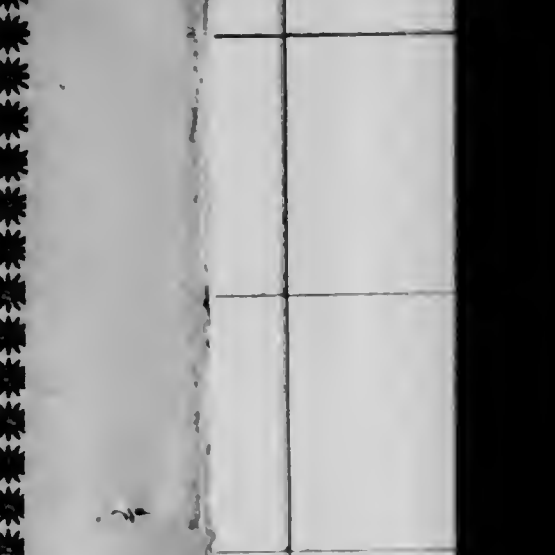

It is expected that a considerable community will spring up in this vicinity, above mentioned. The Longyear Exploration company has also found ore on the Bradley land lying between the Bangor and Syracuse properties, while another drill working on the ice in the middle of Lake Umbagog is also said to be in ore. This insurance solid backing for the new town as far as quantity of iron ore is concerned.

WESLEY DISCHARGED

And Then Rearrested on Same Charge of Murder.

Benidji, Minn., March 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—James ("Shorty") Wesley was arraigned in justice court before O. M. Skinnik, justice of the peace, yesterday, to answer to the charge of having killed N. O. Dahl, near Quilting, in April, 1904, the hearing having been adjourned from Feb. 25.

On motion of County Attorney Henry Funkley, the case against Wesley was dismissed, but the prisoner was immediately rearrested by Deputy Sheriff George Kelim on the same charge. The warrant having been issued by Harry Trask, justice of peace of Nymore, a suburb of Bemidji. In dismissing the case against Wesley, it is said the county at-

WOMAN KILLED BY ELEVATOR

Dies While Earning Money for Her Wedding Trousseau.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 8.—Lying in the home of her fiancé, the dead body of Miss Martha Peterman was a mute witness to the feminine independence that led to her death. She was crushed to death in the Young Women's Christian association's building, at Eighteenth and Arch streets, by an elevator she was operating in order to earn money to buy her wedding trousseau.

Miss Peterman's fiancé was more than willing to assume this expense, but the young woman refused to become his bride at a cost to him. She was 26 years old, and the wedding was to have taken place in a few weeks.

In keeping with the character of the Young Women's Christian association, it is the policy of the management to give employment to girls wherever places can be found for them. The elevators have been run by women ever since the building was put up, fourteen years ago.

Miss Peterman stopped her car at the eighth floor Monday morning and went into the restaurant to get something to eat. The elevator runs by electricity and is controlled with a wheel, which the young woman left at the position that it supposed to keep the car stationary.

"Martha, your car is sliding down the shaft!" one of the girls called as she entered the breakfast room.

At the cry Miss Peterman hurried out to the elevator to find the car moving slowly downward. It had dropped about four feet, so that only half of the door was still above the floor.

In her excitement Miss Peterman opened the sliding door and, dropping on her knees, reached into the car to grab the controller wheel and start the car upward again, but in her excitement she turned the wheel the wrong way, so that it went down faster instead of going up.

As she was caught between the top of the car and the floor, Miss Peterman screamed only once.

"Help! Help! Help!" she shrieked. Those in the breakfast room hurried up in time to witness her death throes. In the vice-like grip of the elevator the young woman's shoulders and head were crushed, but her body held the elevator still.

One woman who saw the torn body lying there turned and fainted. Others screamed, but others hurried down to the engineer, who turned the power off and rushed up to the eighth floor in the freight lift. At a glance the man saw nothing could be done.

HUSBAND IS A SUICIDE

AND THE WIFE INSANE.

Fergus Falls, Minn., March 8.—One of the saddest cases of insanity that has come to light here in years is that of Mrs. W. R. Roberts of the town of Newton.

Mrs. Roberts' derangement is due to worry over the death of her husband and the settlement of his estate.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts had not lived happily, and they finally agreed to divide their property and separate. He went to Canada last spring, but remained there only a short time. Returning on an early morning train, he arrived at his home just as the family was sitting down to breakfast. He was invited to join them at the table, but replied that he had no occasion for anything to eat, as he had only a few hours to live. His remark was only too true; he had taken poison and died in a little over an hour.

Mrs. Roberts was worried over his tragic fate, and on coming to this city a few days ago to take steps for the settlement of his estate, her mind gave way entirely. She was watched at a local hotel for a time, but when she began to show suicidal tendencies, an information of insanity was filed, and the commitment took place.

The particularly sad feature of the case is that she leaves nine little children. The eldest, a girl of 17, had been notified of her condition, and sent word that she would come to town today to "take mama home," but the mother is in no condition to leave the asylum.

FIVE FROZEN TO DEATH

Is Story Told by Ole Overby, Formerly of Chippewa Falls.

Chippewa Falls, March 8.—According to a letter received here from Ole Overby, a former resident of this county, his wife and four children were frozen to death at their home in Ward county, N. D., during the recent cold spell. Overby writes that he had been away from home for several weeks and that upon his return he found his entire family dead. Their home was fifteen miles from the nearest neighbor and no one, apparently, had called at the house since the husband's departure. The family ran out of fuel, and the woman had burned all of the furniture and everything else available before finally succumbing to the cold.

SUNDAY CLOSING

Not to be Enforced at Washburn Right Away.

Washburn, Wis., March 8.—The Sunday closing of saloons will not take place for a while at least, unless the members of the Civic league decide to go about it in another way. At the meeting of the common council this week the ordinance which the Civic league were instrumental in having presented on Sunday closing were laid over by being referred to committees, and it will be a month or more before they can be brought up again for action.

The ordinance for the closing of saloons from midnight until 6 a. m., was passed, but does not go into effect until the 1st of July, at which time licensees expire.

Several members of the league appeared before the council and gave it to understand that the laying over of these ordinances would not kill them, as the matter of the better enforcement of the laws was not a "dead issue," and that the league would persist until the desired measures were adopted.

The towns of Ashland and Bayfield have midnight and Sunday closing ordinances which are being rigidly enforced.

BUILDERS AT BANQUET

The Duluth Exchange Holds Its Yearly Gathering.

Attention of Members is Called to Unfair Freight Rates.

Members of the Duluth Builders' Exchange held their fourth annual banquet last evening at the St. Louis and it was a success in every way. Among the 200 or more persons who were in attendance, there were several guests from outside points in the state including St. Paul and Minneapolis.

Several short addresses were delivered during the evening by local builders and the visitors from the Twin Cities. One of the most significant was probably that of George M. Gillette of the Minneapolis Exchange who spoke on the aims of the different exchanges. Having spent the day with the steel corporation officials Mr. Gillette was in a position to say that he was very hopeful that a big plant would be built here soon, and he congratulated the city upon its good fortune.

During his address he also explained the unfairness of the railroad rates from the East to the Northwest and stated that this section was placed at a great disadvantage by them. "rades unionism was another of Mr. Gillette's topics and he said he believes in the labor organizations he thinks that they should keep within reasonable bounds or their great growth will be a hamper to all industrial development.

Frank Cassweller, president of the Commercial club, assigned the subject, "What We Need," and spoke very wisely, explaining that the first place a city needs a location. He said that Duluth has this and it is one of the best on earth. Further, good live, honest men, are needed for the growth of the city and flourishing business interests. Mr. Cassweller urged the co-operation of all Duluthians for a greater Duluth.

R. D. Haven, president of the Duluth Exchange, was the toastmaster and others who delivered short talks were Mayor M. B. Cullum, J. W. L. Corning, president of the state association; Frank E. Young, A. P. Cameron, Warren E. Greene and James R. Quigley. Readings were given by Bernard Lambert.

STARVING VETERAN

Refused to Leave Age Home for Soldiers' Home.

Hamilton, Oio, March 8.—Mrs. Mary Holland, aged 70, died yesterday afternoon at Mercy hospital while her aged husband, Thomas Holland, lay in an adjoining ward in a dying condition. The couple were taken to the hospital a week ago, suffering from the infirmities of old age and lack of proper nourishment. They were living in a small room o a house on Main street in a starving condition.

Holland is a veteran of the Civil war, but was too proud to take alms or to leave his lifelong companion for comfort in the soldiers' home in Dayton, Ohio. Mr. Holland is said to have a brother living in Cincinnati in comfortable circumstances. They have no children.

FISH SELLER NAMED AS "QUEEN OF QUEENS."

Paris, March 8.—There was an interesting gathering at the majority of the other night. The occasion was the selection of the "Queen of Queens" of the mid-Lent fete.

Eight young women entered the room. Some were dressed in black, some in white, and all were queens. Each carried a card bearing a number, and the assembled company had to vote for the queen whom they considered should have the honor, if only for a day, of being the "Queen of Queens."

Deputies, municipal councilors, presidents of trade unions, and representatives of the press took part in the voting. The choice of the voters lay with No. 6, which was the number of Georgeine Juteau, queen of the uncovered markets.

As soon as the result of the voting was made known the strains of "Marsellaise" were heard. Her majesty was invested with a sash bearing the colors of the city, and the president of the gathering and all the press men kissed her.

Msle. Juteau is naturally proud of the honor conferred upon her. The "Queen of Queens" sells fish in the Boulevard de Menilmontant.

NO CHANGE IN POLICY.

John Millen Remains at Head of Alger-Smith Interests.

John Millen, who is the representative of the Alger-Smith company in its lumber operations in the Northwest, has returned from the East and South, where he attended the annual meetings of several lumber and railroad corporations with which he has been connected.

Mr. Millen has been elected president of the Alger-Sullivan Lumber company of the Alger-Smith interests. He is also president and general manager of Alger, Smith & Co., president of the Manitowish Railway company to succeed Gen. Alger, and president of the Grand Marais Lumber company.

The general policy of the various corporations is to be the same as in the past.

SORRY THAT HE MADE FUN OF HIS WIFE'S COOKING.

Rumford Falls, Me., March 8.—Samuel Sellers of Highland Ridge, a few miles west of this town, is recovering from a severe attack of hysterics, during which he was so violent that Mr. Sellers received several severe nail scratches in his face before he could summon neighbors to assist him in caring for his wife. The Sellers are a newly married couple, and the young bride has yet to learn all of her husband's likes and dislikes for table viands. She soon discovered his inordinate fondness for twisted molasses and nutmeg, and last night, as she was preparing supper, she said:

"Would you like doughnuts for supper?"

Mr. Sellers was so busy reading the evening paper that she had to repeat the question three times ere he heard, then he answered in an absent-minded way:

"Put 'em on. Sometimes after I've eaton supper I feel like a doughnut." Although he was entirely innocent of any attempt at humor the reply excited Mrs. Sellers' risibilities, and she went off in a peal of laughter which continued until she was powerless to stop it. It then developed into a fine fit of hysteria.

All Mr. Sellers' attempts to assist his wife were met by screams of "So you feel like a doughnut, do you? You're twisted. You're doughnut man, and 'I'll eat you," for in her hysterical condition she was beside herself, as the long scratches in her husband's face testify. When Mrs. Sellers was restored, which was not until a physician had been called, she was astonished to learn of her behavior.

Waukegan, Ill., March 8.—The jury trial of Steve Adams for the murder of Fred Taylor, after being in deliberation since 11 o'clock Wednesday forenoon, last night at 3 P. M. announced through Foreman George H. Miller that it was impossible to agree upon a verdict, and was discharged by Judge Woods.

The jury for many hours about seven for conviction and five for acquittal, and it was only on the last ballot that the jury stood evenly divided, six for conviction and six for acquittal.

ROBLIN WINS IN MANITOBA

Government Successful in Elections But by Reduced Majority.

Winnipeg, Man., March 8.—The Manitoba elections took place yesterday, resulting in the Roblin government being sustained by a reduced majority. Late counts show 26 government, 13 opposition and 1 seat in doubt. Two of the seats will not be contested until next week. The government, which was led by Roblin, won the election, but by a reduced majority. The opposition, which was led by the Liberal party, lost the election. The election was held on March 7th, and the results were announced on March 8th. The Roblin government is now in power, but with a reduced majority. This means that the government will have to work harder to pass legislation. The opposition is now in a stronger position than it was before the election. They will be able to make more demands on the government. The election was a close one, and the results were very surprising. The Roblin government was expected to lose, but they won. This is a big victory for the Roblin government. It shows that the people of Manitoba are in favor of the Roblin government. The Roblin government is now in power, and they will be able to do more for the people of Manitoba. They will be able to pass more legislation, and they will be able to do more to improve the lives of the people of Manitoba. Of New Addition, on Certain Conditions Being Fulfilled.

Aurora, Minn., March 8.—Special to The Herald.—The village council has agreed to accept the plat of the new addition to Aurora recently platted by Messrs. Longyear and others, provided the owners will clear the streets, set out the corners and allow the city to have a corner site and a parking place. A representative of the owners, who was in conference with the council, said that he thought the conditions would be accepted. It is expected that the plat will be accepted at the next meeting of the council. The plat is for a new addition to the village, and it is expected that it will be accepted at the next meeting of the council. TUGMEN CALL ON PRESIDENT Want a More Thorough Enforcement of Eight-Hour Law.

Washington, March 8.—President Roosevelt yesterday had a call from a committee appointed at a recent convention of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America. The committee, consisting of Thomas O'Connor of Buffalo, the president of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, and other members of the organization, called on the president to urge a more thorough enforcement of the eight-hour law. The president listened to their arguments and expressed his sympathy for their cause. He said that he would do all in his power to enforce the law. The committee thanked the president for his attention to their cause and for his promise to enforce the law. They will be back in Washington next week to continue their efforts.

HILL WILL NOT BUILD ANOTHER STEAMSHIP.

New York, March 8.—If the Great Northern steamship line is lost, as now seems almost certain, James J. Hill will not replace the vessel. He said yesterday that he did not expect to build any more ships under the American flag and that so far as the traffic which the Great Northern Steamship company would lose because of the loss of the Dakota was concerned, the Japanese lines would be allowed to care for it. It was given impulse to the trade with the Orient that Mr. Hill built the Dakota and her sister ship, the Minnesota.

GOOD OLD AGE.

D. J. Carr Has Been Abstemious for Ninety-Eight Years.

New Albany, Ind., March 8.—John D. Carr of this city, who attributes his long life to the fact that he has never touched whisky, tea, coffee or tobacco in any form, Monday celebrated his ninety-eighth birthday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. M. A. Sagable. He is a native of Clark county Ind., but has lived in this city for many years.

WOMAN CLEARS $49,000 ON PART OF CITY LOT.

New York, March 8.—As a result of a settlement for $68,000 of a suit brought against her in the supreme court by the New York & New Jersey Railroad company, generally known as the McAdoo Tunnel company, Mrs. Mary J. McAdoo, a widow, has cleared $49,000 in a lucky real estate investment. Less than three years ago Mrs. McAdoo, who is the mother of Lido McAdoo, an actor, bought for $16,000 a little piece of property at 120 West Thirty-third street, generally known among real estate men as "The Patch" because of its smallness and irregular formation, being less than one-fifth of a city lot. When the McAdoo Tunnel company wanted to acquire title to the property Mrs. McAdoo refused to sell, but the supreme court subsequently appointed commissioners to condemn and appraise. This commission was to have begun proceedings the day the settlement was made. Sixty-five thousand dollars is said to be comparatively the highest price for land in this city in a condemnation proceeding.

'BLACKSMITH' MAYOR LOSES

Burlington, Vt., March 8.—James E. Burke, Democrat, so-called "blacksmith" mayor, has been defeated by Walter J. Bigelow, Republican, one of the editors of the Free-Press, by 56 majority. Mayor Burke had just finished his fourth term and his contest was the seventh he has conducted for mayor. Mayor-elect Bigelow ousted Burke last year, but was defeated by a narrow margin.

COAL WILL BE CHEAPER

Prices Will Drop Fifty Cents a Ton on April 1.

Demand This Spring is Expected to be Heavy.

The usual spring drop in the price of anthracite coal will, it is expected by the local coal men, occur April 1. Last year, owing to threatened strike conditions, no reduction was made until May 1, but ordinarily it comes a month earlier, as will be the case this year. Last May the reduction was 40 cents, but this year it will be 50 cents.

The indications are that the drop in the price of soft coal will come immediately after opening of navigation. It is expected that the demand for coal from interior points will be heavy this spring and summer, as a guarantee against another coal famine making itself felt through the Northwest next winter. The dealers will lay in their winter supply early, so as to have sufficient amount on hand to last them through the season.

IMMIGRANT IS VICTIM OF EXTORTION SCHEME

Daughter of Duluth Citizen is Being Held in Italy.

Bold Attempt Made to Hold Up Her Parents Here.

What appears to be a systematic scheme to rob immigrants to the United States by threats and extortion has been disclosed by Mr. and Mrs. John Farah of 215 West Michigan street, who for the past three months have been unsuccessfully trying to get their daughter to the United States. Although they sent the girl a check, she has been held at Naples, Italy, by a man who refuses to let her proceed until he has been paid $225 cash, claiming this amount is necessary to bribe authorities to let the girl enter the United States. He says she is afflicted with a contagious disease of the eyes, probably trachoma, but her parents assert that this is not true. In any event, it would be a hold-up game.

Mr. and Mrs. Farah have been residents of Duluth for the past fourteen years, and are very well off in a money way. It looks as if this fact were well known to the man in Italy, who is evidently laboring under the belief that they will pay almost any sum rather than be compelled to release their daughter. When they came to America she was only 4 years of age. Mr. Farah became a naturalized citizen of the United States several years ago, and has been advised by his attorneys that, in view of this fact, no one has a right to hold the girl on the other side of the Atlantic, whether she is diseased or not. This, however, is a question for the immigration authorities to decide, and the case will be taken up with immigrant inspector William H. Dean.

About three months ago M. Farah purchased a ticket of a local railway company, entitling the holder to a trip from Italy to Duluth. This was sent to the daughter, who is now 18 years of age. Upon its receipt she started on her long journey alone. At Naples she put up at a hotel owned by one Murat Diarbecki, who took her in charge and informed her that her ticket did not entitle her to a passage to America over the route she intended taking. According to the story of the parents, the matter was taken up with the transportation being returned to Duluth. This was done, and with it came word to the effect that $150 was needed to insure the safe landing of the girl in Duluth.

Mr. Farah sent the required amount to Frank Zotti & Co., said to be a Chicago banking firm. Business was done through a local representative. According to the story of Mr. Farah, a foreign representative of this firm called upon the girl in Italy, but failed to secure her release, because of obstacles put in his path by Diarbecki, who it is said, is acting as the agent for another steamship company than the one which the girl originally intended patronizing.

Mr. Farah received another letter to the effect that only way he could see his daughter would be to send $225 cash direct to Diarbecki. Mr. Farah feels that he is being taken unfair advantage of, and refuses to send the money, unless he has to do so as a last resort. The matter was taken up by Duluth attorneys with the American consul in Naples, who directed that the case be put in the hands of the local immigrant inspector, who in this case is William H. Dean.

There appears to be a question whether the girl will be admitted to the United States, despite the citizenship of her parents, if she is afflicted with trachoma. Immigrant inspector Dean is in Superior today, and could not be interviewed on the subject, but if she is in such a position that she cannot be admitted, the man on the other side of the Atlantic knows very well, and it is a plain case of robbery on his part, unless he can be depended upon, as he intimates, to bribe the American inspectors, which is said to be an unheard of thing. Such a proceeding would be pretty sure to come to the attention of higher authorities, and it would go hard with the inspectors.

The girl's parents swear that she is in perfect health, and say they have the word of the doctor to prove it. In this case, no one has any right to hold Miss Farah in Italy when her parents are American citizens, or in any case, if it is evident that she will not become a public charge upon landing, and if they did have such right they could not demand any such exorbitant sum as is asked by the Italian, especially in view of the fact that she already had transportation to Duluth. All she could be asked to pay is a board bill at Naples.

RADICALS WIN IN THE DUMA

St. Petersburg, March 8.—The first skirmish for control of the opposition in the lower house of parliament was won today by the radicals, who compelled the Constitutional Democrats to abandon their candidates for vice presidents and accept the nominees of the Radical coalition.

During the afternoon the Socialists in caucus discussed the immediate introduction of the demand for general amnesty, and it is possible that this may be done at the close of today's session, which will be likely to precipitate a stormy session. Late in the afternoon, however, the house was occupied with the elections of the vice presidents, the secretary and the latter's four assistants. The procedure was a tedious one, and it was not until after three hours that the results were announced. The Berzozin of Saratov, newspaper man and a member of the Group of Toili, received 345 votes for first vice president to 361 votes cast for his opponent, and M. Ponsnasky of Khar-koff, a lawyer and member of the Left party, received 349 votes for second vice president, against 37 for his opponent. Prof. Kapoustine of Kazan university, the Octoberist leader, was among the defeated candidates.

Operation on Miss Butchart Necessary to Save Sight.

Bullet Found Lodged in Brain—Patient Will Recover.

Bessie Butchart, the girl who was shot by Fred Argyle in his alleged attempt at wholesale murder last Tuesday night, was operated upon this morning at her home by Dr. McCallister, Dr. McComb and Dr. Daugherty assisting.

As there were evidences of a sympathetic inflammation of the right eye, the left eyeball had to be removed in order to save the sight of the well eye, and when this had been done, the bullet was found, as was hoped, lodged in the brain just back of the eye. The sight of the eye was helplessly ruined before the eyeball was removed, as the optic nerve was badly shattered.

The operation was highly successful, and Miss Butchart rallied well from it and was resting easily this afternoon. Dr. McCallister says that now her chances for recovery are very much improved, so that in all probability no death will result from the murderous

RUEF'S ATTORNEY ORDERED TO JAIL

For Refusing to Cease Talking in Dunne's Court.

San Francisco, March 8.—Abraham Ruef again failed to appear in court today, when his case was called in Judge Dunne's court. Coroner Walsh reporting his inability to find the indicted attorney, Assistant District Attorney Henry was examining the corner, when S. M. Shortridge, one of Ruef's attorneys, objected to a question. Judge Dunne ordered Shortridge to take his seat, but he refused. Six times Judge Dunne ordered the attorney to sit down, but Shortridge kept on talking. Finally, Judge Dunne ordered a bailiff to eject Shortridge from the room unless he sat down. The attorney finally took his seat, but kept on talking. Judge Dunne then declared him guilty of contempt of court, and ordered him confined in the county jail for twenty-four hours.

COLLECTION OF GARBAGE

Coming of Spring Brings Council Up Against Question Again.

Some Action Likely to be Taken Before Warm Weather.

Spring, at least the calendar kind of spring, has arrived, and at times a little of the traditional business of the approaching warm weather can be detected in the air, and with it the health department and the city officials are beginning to look up the question of garbage collection and disposal again.

The war which was waged last spring and summer on this question will be remembered by everyone in the city, when the plan to have the collection made by contract, occupied the center of the stage for a few short weeks, only to sink into oblivion again.

But the question is a serious one, and while, since the excitement of last year, it has been left in peace, the approach of warm weather and the necessity of spring cleaning will open up the topic again and some definite action is likely to be taken in the near future.

The city incinerator has been working in first class shape ever since its installation, but there has not been a sufficient quantity of garbage supplied to it to keep it in operation for any length of time, and its usefulness up to this time at least has been greatly curtailed.

This fact was pointed out by Dr. Murray in his annual report for the past year. He recommended strongly the adoption of some system for the collection of garbage and refuse throughout the city, either by contract or as a city job.

Up to this time, of course, nothing has been necessary in this line, but the aldermen are beginning to brush up on garbage and it collection, and it is likely that soon after the formal organization of the new council next Tuesday evening, something will be done on this question.

Tomorrow the "Old Timers" and the "Youngsters" in the Duluth Curling club will settle their differences, and decide which party is entitled to the supremacy in curling.

HENRICKSEN JEWELRY CO.'S

Sale of Bargains Continues to Attract Many Purchasers.

This sale is always looked forward to by the people of Duluth with much interest, because of the fact that Henricksen's announcements are always carried out to the letter. It is some five years ago since the firm began these sales, and their success in clearing up their stock was so excellent that they have been doing it every year since.

It is different from the usual sales held, inasmuch as it is well known that this house is strictly one price at all times.

There is no doubt that the most up-to-date and leading jewelry store in the city has been and will be a mecca for the most discriminating women buyers at the Head of the Lakes during the present March clearing sale.

The firm announces that they have made ample preparations this year to handle the business. Delivery made promptly to any part of the city.

SUIT FILED FOR VALUE OF TIMBER
Said to Have Been Cut in Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Milwaukee, March 8.—Upon the suggestion of the attorney general, United States District Attorney Butterfield today filed action to recover $25,461, the value of timber alleged to have been cut from public lands in Wisconsin and Minnesota.

The defendants in the action are James and Patrick Mehan of this city and the Thiel River Falls Lumber company. The complaint recites the fact that the defendants during 1905 and 1906 cut timber from lands belonging to the government in the two states amounting to 2,735,000 feet.

HARRIMAN CAN SEE PRESIDENT
Any Time He is in Washington, If He So Desires.

Washington, March 8.—The president has not made an engagement for an interview with E. H. Harriman, president of the Union Pacific, but it was said at the White House today that he would be glad to see him or any one else. Some days ago Maxwell Evans, one of Mr. Harriman's counsel, was at the White House, and in response to inquiries on the subject as to whether the president would see Mr. Harriman, he was given to understand that he would at any time.

STUDENT IS A BURGLAR

Hunts Knowledge by Day and Plunders by Night.

Loot Worth $5,000 Was Found in His Rooms.

Chicago, March 8.—Richard O. Hoops, 20 years old, a student at the Lake Forest college, son of Ira C. Hoops, a prominent lawyer of Kokomo, Ind., was arrested and confessed that he had robbed the home of Robert Chatfield-Taylor, millionaire and prominent resident of Lake Forest, three weeks ago of property worth $5,000. Nothing had been known publicly of the theft before this disclosure was made.

Hoops admitted that he had been posing as a student in the daytime and committed robberies at night. He said he lived in the fraternity hall with twelve other students of the Lake Forest college, but declared that none of his companions knew of his acts.

Hoops said he was prompted to commit the burglary while strolling along the home of Mr. Chatfield-Taylor one night about three weeks ago. He said he was seized with a sudden desire to obtain jewelry and other valuables, and that he forced entrance to the house by the front door. He cut a hole in the panel of the door, through which he gained entrance.

"I don't know what prompted me to do this thing," said Hoops, weeping as he confessed. "I had no girl friends to worry about, got plenty of money from home and had everything I could want. I was walking around the campus one night and I conceived the idea. I was passing the Chatfield-Taylor home and my desire got the best of me. I left a party of students after we had been singing and playing the piano. I knew the people in the Taylor home by sight. I had seen them often at dinner through the windows."

"I cut through the panel and then opened the door by reaching through to the lock. No one was there, and I didn't see anyone guarding the place. I simply walked in and helped myself to everything that appealed to me. I read a little about 'Raffles', but don't think that that had anything to do with my actions."

"I have a brother, Harry, a graduate of Lake Forest university, who is now in St. Paul. He is a newspaper man. I am not a burglar at heart, and I cannot imagine what prompted me to do these things."

Mrs. McGinnis is a sister of Mrs. Chatfield-Taylor. Their summer homes in Lake Forest are but a short distance apart. Hoops told the police that both the places seemed to influence him in a way he could not explain. He said he often stood in front of the house for a long time and watched the occupants within.

The prisoner told the police that he took the property obtained in the burglaries to his room in the fraternity hall at the university, but concealed his operations from his companions.

Hoops said he had been attending the college for two years. He could not tell exactly what the property taken by him from the home of Mr. McGinnis consisted of, but said there were some jewelry.

When told that this robbery was committed at about the same time that jewels worth $10,000 were taken from the city home of the McGinnis, Hoops expressed surprise.

"It's a coincidence, it's a coincidence," he said. "I had nothing to do with the robbery on Pearson street. I am not a professional burglar, but I admit the one in Lake Forest."

TAINTED MONEY ALL RIGHT.

General Booth Says Widows and Orphans' Tears Will Cleanse It.

New York, March 8.—Any well meaning millionaire, with a few hundred thousands which he would gladly toss to charity, but for fear of raising the cry of "tainted," will be taken care of by Gen. William Booth, aged head of the Salvation Army. No taint can come too thick for Gen. Booth.

"I've never seen Mr. Carnegie nor Mr. Rockefeller," said Mr. Booth in discussing the subject, "nor any of their 'tainted' money," he added with a twinkle in his eye. "but I am perfectly willing to accept for the Army any millions they feel disposed to give, and I will wash it in the tears of widows and orphans and lay it on the altar of benevolent effort."

Gen. Booth, while apparently quite vigorous and healthy, that he has no intention of retiring from active work, admits that this will probably be his last trip beyond the shores of England.

THE DEVIL AND A MAN

Subject of Lecture at Y. M. C. A. Men's Meeting Sunday.

The Speaker Will be Charles B. Mitchell of Cleveland.

Unique posters are being distributed about the city this week by the local Y. M. C. A. in an effort to thoroughly advertise the big meeting of men which will be held at the Lyceum Sunday afternoon. An imprint of his satanic majesty motioning to a young man makes up the poster and with a few intervening words forms the subject of the lecture which will be delivered by Dr. Charles B. Mitchell.

"The Devil and a Man" is the subject in full upon which Dr. Mitchell will discourse. Dr. Mitchell comes from Cleveland, Ohio, and is well known lecturer. He was at one time living in Minneapolis and several of the local preachers, including Rev. Rice, are well acquainted with him.

Dr. Mitchell has traveled in foreign countries a great deal in the last few years and at the present time has just returned from a trip to Spain where he spent the greater part of the winter. For several years he has been one of the mainstays at the big Y. M. C. A. men's meetings in Washington D. C.

The usual concert by the orchestra will be given at 3:10 before the meeting commences at 3:30. Besides the orchestra music a male quartette will render one or more selections. The quartette will be composed of the following: Messrs. O. L. Dorworth, William Anderson, William Hancock and Frank S. Fenstermacher.

At the meeting last Sunday nearly 1,000 Duluth men attended and listened to an address by Dr. Gray. This number is considerably above the attendance of the men's meetings which have been held before this year, but the Y. M. C. A. officials hope to surpass it at the coming meeting on Sunday. Admission is free to men.

Little globules of sunshine that drive the clouds away, Dr. Mitchell's Little Early Risers will scatter the gloom of sickness and sorrow. Recommended and sold by all druggists.

PASTOR SMOOTHED WAY

For the Pretty Romance of Poor Girl and Banker's Son.

Lapeer, Mich., March 8.—It is not often that a pastor starts the romance and finally unites the parties in matrimony, as in the White-Winters wedding, just celebrated in Brown City. The bride had to make her own way in the world after she graduated from the Brown City high school, and Rev. J. H. Eaton of Almont, a friend of her family, advised her to take up housework, as the other vocations were so crowded and she had no business training. Through the pastor's recommendation Miss Winters obtained a position in that household.

A warm friendship sprang up between the girl and Mr. White's only son, Enoch J., which soon developed into a stronger feeling, which resulted in the marriage.

C. G. White, the father of the groom, is president of the First National bank in Brown City. Enoch J. is a graduate of the Leeper high school, and for a number of years has managed the big White estate here. Both Mr. and Mrs. White attended the wedding, and Mr. White said:

"I am amply ready to see true love run smoothly, and the marriage was in every way satisfactory to Mrs. White and myself. We think the world of the new Mrs. White."

NO BOOZE AT BROOKSTON

County Board Turns Down Application for Liquor License.

Authorities May Act on Information About Blind Pigs.

The application of Harry C. Shur for a license to sell liquor in the town of Brookston was turned down yesterday afternoon. The protests to the granting of a license at the town, which is likely to be incorporated into a village within a short time, were so numerous, and from such influential sources, that the commissioners decided that it was not advisable to permit a saloon there. Some pretty strong charges have been made concerning the operation of blind pigs at Brookston, and it is quite probable that the county authorities will make a rigid investigation of the situation with a view of bringing the alleged guilty parties to justice.

J. W. Morgan, the United States Indian agent on the Fond du Lac reservation, says that the government has been for thirty or forty years attempting to keep liquor off the reservation, but he is satisfied personally that the sale of blind pigs in operation at Brookston. Mr. Morgan says that such illegal places are being conducted very circumpectly, so that the federal authorities have not yet been able to get enough direct evidence against the places to warrant a conviction.

Harry C. Shur, who runs a hotel at Brookston, and who is one of those interested in the new township proposition, says that the county authorities know blind pigs have been operated and are now being operated at Brookston. Although his application to run a licensed saloon has been refused, it is understood that Mr. Shur, by his own statements, has placed himself where he is in a poor way. The local witnesses before a grand jury should any investigation be made of the illegal sale of booze at Brookston.

There are several lumber companies and the concerns operating in the timber around Brookston, and these interests are the most active in opposing the sale of liquor at that point. They claim that a great many Indians are employed in the woods work and that it is very dangerous practice to sell them liquor.

Although the government is now in a position where it has a right to prosecute alleged violations of the law governing the selling of liquor to the Indians, the United States attorney has instructed its agents to collect and hold available all the evidence that they can collect in event the supreme court should decide that the federal government has jurisdiction in the case of towns established in Indian reservations.

The people of Brookston are to be given the opportunity of feeling by an election whether they want an incorporated village. It is understood that the population of the town is just about large enough to permit of the village organization under the state laws. The county board has appointed the inspectors of the election which will be held probably, some time in April.

The commissioners decided to reject the two bids of $300 and $750 for the buildings on the new courthouse site and have instructed the county auditor to re-advertise for bids. The commissioners remark that the buildings do not seem to have anywhere near the value now than they did when the county proposed buying them.

Dr. Cavanaugh of this city has been awarded the contract to give medical attendance and furnish the medicines for the prisoners at the Essex House. His salary will be $5 per month, that being the amount of his bid.

Acting on the petition of the legal voters in the unorganized town of 61-20 the town has been organized and will hereafter be known as Sturgeon.

Found at Last.
J. A. Harmon, of Lapeer, West Va., says that he has found the perfect pill that never disappoints and for the benefit of others afflicted with torpid liver and chronic constipation, will say: Take Dr. King's New Life Pills. Guaranteed satisfactory. 3c at all druggists.

MACHINE TO RAISE DEAD

Professor Poe's Contrivance That Pumps in New Life.

Remarkable Results Are Said to Have Been Accomplished.

Norfolk, Va., March 8.—Almost sightless and semi-paralyzed, Prof. George Poe, living the life of a recluse on a backwoods farm in Norfolk county, claims to have solved the problem of raising the dead by means of his "respirator," as he calls the machine which he has invented for the purpose. Tests of it have already been made in the presence of Norfolk and Portsmouth city physicians, apothecaries and smothered dogs and rabbits being the subjects. In each case the animal, after being pronounced dead by the physicians, was brought back to life by Prof. Poe's device, and soon afterward was frolicking around in the full joy of living.

A 10-year-old boy, Arthur Ostrander, son of the man with whom Prof. Poe lives, acted as the representative of Norfolk and Portsmouth city physicians, apothecaries and smothered dogs and rabbits being the subjects. In each case the animal, after being pronounced dead by the physicians, was brought back to life by Prof. Poe's device, and soon afterward was frolicking around in the full joy of living.

The inventor claims that the machine will resuscitate persons killed by asphyxiation, poison or drowning; prevent death by an anesthetic while a patient is being operated upon; prevent infant asphyxia at birth; make drunken men sober in a few minutes; revive men electrocuted or hanged, the latter only in cases where the neck has not been broken; prevent freezing to death even in the Arctic.

Prof. Poe had long been studying the problem, "When does life really leave the body?" One day, while he was illuminating the centennial of 1856, an employee brought in a dead rabbit, a huge rat. After the rabbit had been killed the professor said: "Stand aside, boys, and I'll bring it back to life." He pumped oxygen into its lungs until he actually did revive it, so that it leaped from the table and scurried in a hole.

This encouraged Prof. Poe, and he resolutely set his efforts to ascertain the exact moment when life ends. His interest in it was stimulated by the fact that a young sister who had been pronounced dead from typhoid fever and placed in her coffin had revived within two hours of her burial for a burial and lived to be the mother of a family.

Several years ago Prof. Poe, stricken with paralysis, was advised by his physicians to live in the country. He went to Norfolk county, and was while in seclusion on the farm of his friend, A. C. Ostrander, a physician, and in doing what the professor's dim eyes and palsied hands could not alone accomplish.

The professor's model is simply that of the human heart. The problem in the case of persons drowned, suffocated or strangled, is to get the blood out of the lungs and at the same time pump life-giving oxygen in. So Prof. Poe began experiments on what he calls double cylinders, and two tubes to connect the nostrils—one for inlet and the other for outlet. Studying the action of the heart, he saw that it was that of a double cylinder, or rather, two cylinders, each having an inlet and an outlet valve. The plungers of each cylinder are made to work simultaneously.

The machine will in a very few minutes sober up a drunken man who has been stricken down, and it is the slow respiration caused by liquor that makes a man "drunk." By the help of the respirator the respiration would be quickened, and the poison thus carried out of his system, mind and body once more would resume its normal state.

Thomas Black, a retired business man of Norfolk, on being shown the plans obtained permission to exhibit them to Dr. Francis M. Morgan, a physician of Norfolk. He said that he was so impressed that it promised to be an immense boon to humanity, and he induced the professor to demonstrate before a committee of Norfolk county and Norfolk city doctors. They witnessed the smothering of rabbits and dogs to the point of what they declared on their professional honor was absolute death, and then saw them resuscitated.

Dr. Morgan yesterday described a demonstration given in his office by Prof. Poe and his machine in the presence of himself and Dr. J. P. Jackson and Dr. G. W. Wilmer. The machine is a pump-handle. Pipes led from a tank of oxygen to the machine, and from it tubes fitted with nostril pieces were fastened to a rabbit.

The doctor put his hand on the table and the doctors injected two grains of morphine into its leg, after which four minutes elapsed. The rabbit was dead, and the doctors applied every known test to discover signs of life. No life was there, and the doctors agreed that life was positively extinct.

Then Prof. Poe applied the tubes to the rabbit's nostrils, and pumping out the poison and pumping in the oxygen into the lungs with a simultaneous movement of the valves, within three minutes the rabbit, but lately dead, was breathing naturally, and within five minutes it was running around the room. It showed no signs of nausea, proving that the ether was entirely out of the system.

Next a dog was placed in a box containing a heavily charged atmosphere of carbon dioxide gas, one of the most poisonous gases known, and smothered there for forty minutes. The dog was taken out and doctors examined him and pronounced him dead beyond hope of resuscitation. But the little machine got in its work, and the dog, after four or five artificial respirations began breathing naturally and soon his pulse was beating normally.

Treasures Found in Our American Forests.

That our American forests abound in plants which possess the most valuable medicinal virtues is abundantly attested by scores of the most eminent medical writers and teachers of this and other countries. Even the untutored Indians had discovered the usefulness of many native plants before the advent of the white race. This information, imparted freely to the whites, led the latter to continue investigations until to-day we have a rich assortment of most valuable American medicinal roots.

Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., believes that our American forests abound in medicinal roots for the cure of most obstinate and fatal diseases. If we would properly investigate them, and, in confirmation of this conviction, he points with pride to the most marvelous cures effected by his "Golden Medical Discovery," which has proven itself to be the most efficient stomach tonic, liver invigorator, heart tonic and regulator, and blood cleanser known to medical science. Dyspepsia, indigestion, torpid liver, functional and even valvular and other affections of the heart yield to its curative action.

The reason why "Golden Medical Discovery" cures these and many other affections, is clearly shown in a little book of extracts from the standard medical works which is mailed free to any address by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., to all sending request for the same.

To aid in healing old sores, or ulcers, apply Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve to them while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" to purify and enrich the blood. Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve is cleansing and pain reliever. It destroys the bad odors arising from suppurating, or running, sores and puts them in the best possible condition for healing.

The "All-Healing Salve" is a superior dressing for all open, running, or suppurating, Sores or Ulcers. For healing open wounds, cuts and scratches it is unsurpassed.

If your medicine dealer does not have the "All-Healing Salve" in stock mail 50 cents in postage stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and you will receive it by return post.

In treating all open sores, or ulcers, boils, carbuncles and other swellings, it is important that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery be taken persistently to purify the blood and thereby remove the cause of the trouble. It is in the blood that the great battle of health has to be fought. The ulcer and the sore are simply the outward flowers of disease, with roots running down into the blood. These roots must be eradicated or the disease will break out afresh. "Golden Medical Discovery" cleanses the blood of all foul and poisonous accumulations, pushes out the dead and waste matter, and thus purifies the entire life current. Disease in the flesh must die out when it is no longer fed by foul blood.

"Golden Medical Discovery" effectively cures disease in the flesh by curing its cause in the blood.

Not less marvelous, in the unparalleled cures it is constantly making of women's many peculiar affections, weaknesses and distressing derangements, is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, as is amply attested by thousands of unsolicited testimonials contributed by grateful patients who have been cured by it of catarrhal pelvic drains, painful periods, irregularities, prolapsus where he was, but before starting, she says, he tried to kiss her.

Mrs. Girdner says she ran back into the hall, alone, followed by the little woman, seeing that she must protect herself, wrenched a spindle from the balustrade rail and went at Dippert with it. A couple of blows put him to flight, but Mrs. Girdner followed him to the street, and at Eighth street and Union Market police station, where he was locked up, after an ambulance surgeon had dressed his wounds.

Mrs. Girdner was complimented by Sergeant Bourke and all the policemen in the station house upon her fighting ability.

Count Reventlow has nothing but praise for the officers and men of the German navy, but he condemns many of the battleships as unseaworthy and obsolete. Seventeen German battleships, which figure as formidable fighting units in all navy lists, are floating coffins, the use of which in this class of floating coffins, is the sacrifice of their gallant crews.

Count Reventlow gives the name of the seventeen ships which he includes in this class of floating coffins. He points out that the construction of new and more efficient battleships is proceeding so slowly that thirteen years will pass before Germany can contemplate the possibility of a naval war with equality.

The ships which Count Reventlow condemns are eight coast defense vessels, four ships of the Sachsen class, and the ships of the Oldenburg and Brandenburg classes. One Dreadnought, he declares, could face them all, dragging down distress low down in the abdomen, or from painful or irregular monthly periods, gnawing or distressed sensation in stomach, dizzy or faint spells, see imaginary visions or spots floating before eyes, have disagreeable pelvic catarrhal drain, prolapsus, anteversion or retroversion or other displacements of womanly organs, from weakness of parts, will, whether experience may or contain a few of the above symptoms, and relief and a permanent cure by using faithfully, and fairly persistently, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Both the above mentioned medicines are wholly made up from the glyceric extracts of native, medicinal roots. The processes employed in their manufacture were originally with Dr. Pierce, and they are carried on by skilled chemists and pharmacists with the aid of apparatus and appliances specially designed and built for this purpose. Both medicines are entirely free from alcohol and all other harmful, habit-forming drugs. A full list of their ingredients is printed on each bottle wrapper.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. Easy to take as candy.

As Trained Nurse, Future Mrs. Hawley Helped Seaside General.

Washington, March 8.—The recent granting of a pension to the widow of Senator Joseph R. Hawley of Connecticut, brings to mind the unique meeting with his second wife and the romance that followed.

Senator Hawley, in 1886, was chairman of a select committee on ordinance and war ships which visited all the large navy yards and gun factories of the world. While crossing the Atlantic on his return from this mission, Senator Hawley then a widower of 60, suffered so violently from seasickness that his attendants began to fear for his life. A woman occupying a neighboring state room announced that she was a trained nurse and offered her assistance to the patient. Her efforts were crowned with success.

She proved to be Miss Edith Horner of England, whose appointment as head of the school for nurses at Blockley asylum had been announced at Philadelphia. She held her position only a few months, when she resigned to become the wife of Senator Hawley.

During her residence in Washington Mrs. Hawley achieved a national reputation as an expert in the game of whist. Since her husband's death, she has resided almost continuously in England, in order to be near her aged mother, whose chief delight is the society of her two American grandchildren—the young daughters of the late Senator Hawley.

Danderine GREW MISS LEWIS' HAIR AND WE CAN PROVE IT
The Great Danderine Never Fails to Produce the Desired Results

MISS Lewis' hair was very thin and it was less than two feet in length when she began using Danderine. She says her hair and scalp are now fairly teeming with new life and vigor.

That's the main secret of this great remedy's success as a hair grower. It enlivens, invigorates and fairly electrifies the hair glands and tissues of the scalp, causing unusual and unheard-of activity on the part of these two most important organs, resulting in a strenuous and continuous growth of the hair.

The following is a reproduction of Miss Lewis' last letter:

Dear Doctor Knowlton:—
January 3, 1905.
You know I told you in my first letter that my hair would not reach much below my shoulders, and that all of it together only made one tiny braid.
I am sending you my photograph, which I had taken at Stevens Bros. It tells the whole story better than I can tell.
Everybody I know is using Danderine, so you see I am doing something to show my appreciation.
Sincerely yours, (Miss) EVA LEWIS.

Danderine makes the scalp healthy and fertile and keeps it so. It is the greatest scalp fertilizer and therefore the greatest hair-producing remedy the world has ever known. It is a natural food and a wholesome medicine for both the hair and scalp. Even a 25c bottle of it will put more genuine life in your hair than a gallon of any other hair tonic ever made. It shows results from the very start.

NOW at all druggists in three sizes.
25 cents, 50 cents and $1. per bottle

FREE. To show how quickly Danderine works we will send a large sample tree by return mail to any one who sends this advertisement to the Knowlton Danderine Co., Chicago, with their name and address and 10 cents in silver or stamps to pay postage.

NOT NEEDED IN DULUTH

Firemen's Relief Fund Already Large and is Increasing.

Passage of Bill Providing for Additional Tax Regretted Here.

In spite of the vigorous opposition of the Duluth delegation, the bill, backed by Minneapolis, providing for a tax of one-tenth of a mill for the benefit of Firemen's Relief associations in all cities of over 50,000 population in Minnesota, has passed the legislature. The bill makes the imposition of the tax compulsory and if the law is complied with, it will have to be levied in Duluth in the future.

Duluth has fought the measure from the start. The city council notified the local representatives that it was opposed to it, and the city attorney sent a statement of Duluth's reasons for fighting it to the legislature. In the opinion of the local authorities, Duluth's Firemen's Relief fund is fully able to take care of itself without the additional $3,300 which the tax of one-tenth of a mill would give it annually. The fund of the association now amounts to $100,761.24, and the income last year from the insurance companies and from interest, amounted to over $55,000.

The expenditures of the year were but $55,000. To this already more than sufficient income, the new bill will add $3,300, making an income of over $18,000 annually as compared with the expenditure of less than $1,000 for some years to come. There is no pension system in force here, as none of the fire fighters are yet entitled to one, but it is several years yet before any of them will be able to retire, and by that time it is thought that the interest, which at present amounts to about $3,000 annually, will be sufficient to keep the ex-firemen in luxury.

In the last ten years the fire relief fund of Duluth has more than doubled, and every indication points to a still further increase. Why Minneapolis is in need of a fund of one-tenth of a mill for the benefit of Firemen's Relief associations in all cities of over 50,000 population in Minnesota, has passed the legislature. The bill makes the imposition of the tax compulsory and if the law is complied with, it will have to be levied in Duluth in the future.

Duluth has fought the measure from the start. The city council notified the

COURT WAS MEDIATOR

Urges Aged Couple to Forget Their Domestic Troubles.

Efforts Toward a Reconciliation Are Seconded by Attorneys.

Acting in an unofficial way as an arbitration committee, the court and the attorneys representing the husband and the wife, very nearly brought about a reconciliation between Rose Delma Perrault and Treffe Perrault of Virginia, this morning, before they left the courtroom.

The case and its termination was very much out of the usual line of such actions, and its hearing occupied the entire forenoon. Mrs. Perrault, who is 63 years of age, was married to Treffe Perrault, aged 55, in Michigan, last June. Although both parties had been previously married, and had grown-up children, they had known each other ever since they were children, and the union, in their declining years of life, was brought about by their mutual regard after years of acquaintance and friendship.

As is some times the case where grown-up step children are brought together with step-parents under the same roof, there occurred, before many months passed, a slight friction, caused by the irritation of the husband toward his wife's children, and on the part of the wife toward her husband's children. This irritation, instead of passing away, continued to gather in force, until an estrangement finally resulted, and Mrs. Perrault applied to the district court for a bill of separation.

The testimony was begun yesterday afternoon, but was not completed until this noon.

Mrs. Perrault, who was on the witness stand nearly all the morning, sensitive to a high degree and reluctant to say anything derogatory toward the man she had taken as her husband, so late in life, became at one point in her testimony, so overcome by her emotion that she fainted away. She very soon regained consciousness under the care of the court, her daughter and her husband's relatives, and was able to complete her testimony.

Mrs. Perrault claimed that while her husband did not ill-treat or abuse her, he did, by the acts of coldness, injury her feelings and cause her to grieve, until conditions became such that she thought it best to separate.

Mr. Perrault insisted that he did not want to be separated from his wife. He claimed that he wanted to treat her right, but admitted that he did not know whether he had done so or not during the past several weeks. He claimed that while he felt kindly toward his wife's children, he did not have that filial love that he had toward his own offspring.

After the court had drawn out as much as seemed possible of the domestic relations of the contending parties, he suggested that the case was one in which it seemed as though the parties should make another trial toward reconciling their lots. He suggested that each should practice a spirit of forbearance toward each other and toward their step children.

The court's efforts toward a reconciliation were then seconded by the attorneys for the parties and, instead of granting the bill of separation requested, the court, calling the aged couple before him gave them a wholesome and impressive talk on their duties toward each other, and suggested to them a line of conduct along which if they acted the husband and wife could effect a reconciliation and continue to live together in peace and happiness.

Concluding his talk to the parents, the judge then turned his attention to the children, who were in the court, and urged them to realize more fully their responsibility in the matter. He suggested that the children withdraw from the home for a time and so conduct themselves toward the step parents and toward each other that there would be no further friction and peace would be restored to the home, where disruption had been so seriously threatened.

When the court attendants and the attorneys left the courtroom, there was every indication that the parties to the action were in a frame of mind where they could get together and talk away their troubles and difficulties.

Mrs. Perrault was represented by W. H. Shea of Virginia and Mr. Perrault by Lee Ball of this city.

RETURNS MORE INDICTMENTS

Grand Jury Has Not Yet Completed Its Work.

The grand jury made its second report to the district court, this morning, returning about ten indictments of which, only three are made public.

Edward Barnes is indicted for grand larceny in the second degree. It is alleged that Barnes obtained a quantity of goods and money, aggregating $25 in value from a Duluth merchant, Feb. 1, last, paying for the same with a worthless check. James McManus is indicted for forgery in the second degree on two counts. It is claimed that he passed a forged check for $100 on Rolland Mead, at Eveleth, Dec. 29 last.

Wages in the woods have been high all winter, but the present advance is understood to make a new record for the season. Most of the camps have been offering $40 a month for common labor provided the men stayed one month, and $45 if they stayed less time than that. Under the new scale $40 and $45 a month straight is offered, regardless of the time the lumberjacks remain in the camps.

It is understood that this advance does not apply to any of the large companies. They have so many men in their employ that they feel a further advance in wages cannot be afforded, in view of the fact that it would have to apply to new and old men alike.

Men object strongly to going into the woods this late in the season, and they are very hard to get. Many already are leaving the camps and seeking work on the railroads, and at other jobs that will keep them busy through the summer months. Those in the city know that winter work in the woods cannot last more than four or five weeks at the most, and are unwilling to hire out for that length of time unless they are offered special inducements in the way of money.

The loggers have experienced difficulty all winter in securing enough men for woods work, and this fact has greatly retarded operations in several instances.

Millions of Money in Lead and Zinc

LEAD AND ZINC NOW PROVEN TO BE MOST PROFITABLE OF ALL MINING. MILLIONS OF DOLLARS IN DIVIDENDS PAID TO STOCKHOLDERS ANNUALLY. YOU CAN SHARE IN THE PROFITS OF 300 LEAD AND ZINC MINES—DIVIDENDS GUARANTEED.

Dividends Guaranteed

WITHIN THE PRESENT YEAR.

As there are already five large mills in operation upon the Baxter Royalty Company's property, and at least 50 more new mills will be operating in the near future, it is evident that large revenues are assured from the outset. From these revenues dividends will be declared upon the par value of the stock, so that even so small a dividend as 3 per cent would be a return to each stockholder of his entire investment, besides causing the stock to advance to ten times its present price. Is this not worth looking into at once while the opportunity is still open?

$110,000 FOR ZINC LEASE.

Most Ever Paid for Forty Acres in Joplin District.

Carthage, Mo., Aug. 14.—(Special.)—J. C. Sheppard, president of the Centerville Mining Company, has received a check for $110,000 from S. T. Runnels, of Oil City, Pa., for a 40-acre forty-acre lease owned by that company and located north of Carthage, Mo. The real value of the land consists in the fact that some forty drill holes covering the tract show a sheet ore face of ten to fourteen feet above the 150-foot level. From Kansas City Daily Journal.

BUY STOCK NOW AT ONLY 8 CENTS A SHARE, PAR VALUE $1. PRICE WILL ADVANCE IN A FEW DAYS.

In the Southwest Field the vast majority of the mines are wonderfully successful, and our interest in several hundred such mines, all located on our property, is bound to be enormously profitable. We have 2,000 acres of rich ore lands still lying idle. By the investment of additional capital we propose to bring this great acreage to the production stage at the earliest possible moment. For this reason a limited amount of treasury stock is now being sold at 8 cents per share, and our profits will be vastly larger in the end than if we should limit our revenues to the present scale of operation.

Investment on the Small Monthly Payment Plan.

The advantages of this plan to the investor should not be overlooked. It is a plan which allows the investor to pay down only 8 cents per cent down upon his whole reservation, and he receives the benefit of every advance in the price of stock, even while he is paying for it. Stock fully paid and not accessible.

STOCK NOW 8 CENTS A SHARE, PAR VALUE $1.00.

Five Mills Now Operating on Our Property.

1. 10-ton Joanna Mill supplied from great sheets of solid lead ore.
2. 10-ton P. F. Mill supplied by rich ore bodies, lying only 20 feet down and 70 feet thick.
3. 30-ton Old Abe Mill; has two shafts working in ore bodies 27 feet thick.
4. 20-ton Cramer-Morse Mill supplied from enormous ore bodies 48 feet thick.
5. Spring River Mill of 200 tons daily capacity recently installed; ore at depth of 6 feet.

Vast Ore Bodies Underlying Our 3720 Acres.

These rich lands are located just south of Baxter Springs, Kas., in the richest part of the Southwest Field. The ore bodies are of enormous thickness and are absolutely demonstrated by numerous drillings. The ore is there, and the demands of the commercial world will compel it to be mined. We hold the lands—the property is bound to yield us profits. Will you share these profits with us?

My Guarantee to Investors.

In my whole experience in mining matters I have never met with any investment opportunity in anywise equal to the one now offered. I therefore unhesitatingly guarantee to return subscription to any investor who within 20 days is not entirely satisfied with the truthfulness of all representations here made. I will also personally guarantee after one year to sell the holdings of any investor who may so desire. This Company is open to the fullest investigation, and will pay the expenses of a trip to the property in case you are contemplating the purchase of as much as $1,000 worth of stock.

I feel entirely secure in making these guarantees, knowing as I do the rapid advance certain to occur in the price of stock in the next few months.

to discuss the somewhat puzzling question of the advance assessment on the Twenty-fourth avenue paving proposition. The discussion waxed warm at times, and even went so far as to stage a scene. President Olson of the board to suggest the abandonment of the work in its present stage.

Arvid L. Agath of 240 East Fifth street protested against the property owners paying any more than the cost of the improvement of the street directly in front of their lots, and recommended that the board secure the funds for the rock cut from the general tax fund. The cut, he said, was largely for the benefit of the Lakeside and Lester Park people who wanted to have a car line run through there to Fourth street, and so was just as much a general improvement as the county courthouse, for which new bonds were voted, and which new bonds were voted, and which new bonds were voted.

Speaking for the property owners below First and Second streets, A. H. Cruse pointed out that the property was damaged rather than improved by the proposed cut and that not one of these property owners had signed the petition. The property above Second street was benefited by the cut, however, he said, and they should bear at least their share of the burden of the cut. One of the property owners along the proposed cut said that he was sure he could collect $200 from others along the cut. If the city would not put it through.

Announcement is, of course, at this time decidedly unlikely, as Contractor McDonnell has already removed about 15 per cent of the rock. As the board has a number of other hearings on sewer assessments on hand today, the Twenty-fourth avenue question is likely to go over until the next meeting of the board. One of them stated that it was very probable that they would stage a scene at the assessment question as they have made provision for it at the present time, that is, assessing all the property on the same basis, and dividing up the cost of the work uniformly from Superior to Third street.

OBJECTS TO THE RESTRICTIONS

Virginia Lumber Company Raises Objections to Deed of Land.

Virginia, Minn., March 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Owing to restrictions in the deed to forty acres of land purchased by the city from Myers Bros. of Duluth, which was bought a year ago, with the purpose of turning it over to the Virginia Lumber company for a piling ground for lumber, the lumber company has raised objections to acceptance of a lease thereof. W. H. Cook, one of the officers of the company, conferred with the city authorities this week concerning the matter, and the council appointed Mayor Eaton and City Attorney Shea as a committee to wait upon Myers Bros. and endeavor to secure their consent to a modification of the objectionable features in the deed.

One of the objectionable features in the deed was securing a lease to an adjoining forty acres from the Northern Pacific Railway company was the result of a proposition of the Virginia Lumber company that it would erect and operate a second large sawmill here if the city would provide the land for a piling ground for the lumber. Shortly after the land was secured the project of building a new mill was temporarily abandoned. Recently, however, the lumber company resumed negotiations for a lease of the land, under promise that the new mill would be erected the present season. An ordinance was prepared providing for the transfer of the property to the company, but owing to the objections named, the matter was postponed.

The city council has decided to purchase the lot on Walnut street adjoining the old city hall property, for the sum of $215, and the proposed new fire hall will be erected on this property.

RAISING LICENSE FEE

Of Saloons Discussed by the Virginia Commercial Club.

Virginia, Minn., March 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—A discussion of the question whether saloon license should be raised from $1,000 to $1,500 in the city of Virginia occupied the greater portion of the evening at the last ENORMOUS PROFITS.

Tremendous Earning Power of Lead and Zinc Mines.

The demand for Lead and Zinc is increasing rapidly in almost every branch of industrial activity. These two metals have become almost indispensable in many manufacturing and commercial processes. They enter largely into the making of paint, all cloth, rubber, glass, plumbers' materials and printers' type.

Zinc is required for electrical installations wherever copper is used, and is indispensable in telegraphy, telephoning and zinc electrical transportation. These uses alone call for enormous quantities of the metal.

The world's great tin mines are being rapidly exhausted, and Zinc alone of all metals will be able to partially take the place of tin. For building and decorative purposes Zinc finds new uses every year. These and other uses are causing unprecedented demand for Lead and Zinc, and the price of shipping steadily upward. Since 1902 the average price of Lead has increased from $55.10 to $75.50 per ton; and of Zinc from $30.23 to $44.88 per ton. The present prices are much higher than any of these averages. Yet Lead and Zinc mining is one of the least expensive kinds of mining. Whereas it requires vast sums to open up a gold or copper mine, a few thousand dollars are sufficient capital to start a Lead and Zinc mine.

I want to send you a long list of Lead and Zinc companies operating in the Southwest Field that are paying their stockholders dividends of 25 per cent up to 50 per cent annually. How are such profits possible? That question is easily answered.

1. The ore is near the surface, and is mined by the use of the dynamite.
2. The climate is favorable for work the year round, the latitude being that of the southern Kentucky.
3. Lead and Zinc are not controlled by a trust, and the mine owners get the full benefit of every advance in the price of ore.

Read these facts once more, and I think you will see that the investment of other investment which combines all these elements of safety and enormous profit.

Samples of crude and concentrated ores from Baxter Royalty Company, Kansas City, Mo., will be sent free upon request, postage prepaid. meeting of the Commercial club. The opinions were almost as varied as the number of the speakers. Mayor Eaton finally stated that he would oppose any change in the license fee that they would stage a scene at the question and decide in favor of it.

The competition among the brewers for the location of saloons, erected during the past year, in order to put in saloons, has resulted in a considerable boosting of rents all these saloons, and an increase of the saloons from about forty to fifty-two. As a result of this many men who come to the city seeking to find places in which to engage in business are unable to do so, and are compelled to leave. Notwithstanding the present large number of saloons, and the fact that many of them are unable to make a living, the competition among the brewers for the location of saloons, and to be erected, is just as keen as ever, with the result that citizens are beginning to question the wisdom of the city council in allowing saloons for the sum of $500 each. The Commercial club finally adjourned without taking any action.

WEST DULUTH BOAT CLUB PROSPECTS

Launch Owners May Form Branch of Duluth Club.

Boat House is Badly Needed for This Section.

Owners of launches and small boats in West Duluth are beginning to take interest in the boat club proposition as the opening of the spring season draws near, and many are wondering if a suitable boathouse for this section can be procured this spring. Considerable talk on the matter has been going on, and it is likely that either a separate club will be organized by West Duluth, or else a branch of the Duluth club will be formed.

Some of the boat owners, when the organization proposition was broached to them several months ago, did not take much interest in it, but are now anxious to do something along this line. The plan of the Duluth club to establish clubhouses and grounds at Spirit Lake has induced many to favor the organization of a branch club instead of an independent one.

The West Duluth people are very anxious, however, to obtain a boathouse this spring, and if they should join the main club at Duluth, they would want to be assured of some assistance for a boathouse here. There are about fifty owners of launches in West Duluth, and a boathouse is greatly needed.

Already many of the launch owners have commenced putting their boats in trim for the opening of the season when the ice leaves the river and bay.

Also prospects that a number of new boats will be put into the water by West Duluthians this spring.

GOOD CURLING CONTESTS

At Western Rink—Big Fancy Dress Carnival is Due.

Two of the best games of the season were played at the Western curling rink last evening and the interest of the spectators was keen. The games were played in the series of contests for the West Duluth Commercial club trophy. Meldahl was victorious over Gifford by a score of 11 to 8, and Ashley won from Macauley by a score of 10 to 7.

Tonight the big fancy dress carnival will be given by the Western club at the curling rink. Committees have been making preparations for the affair for the past week and now report everything in readiness. Several hundred guests are expected to attend.

The line-up last evening was as follows:

Crosby, Killin, Gifford, 8.
Burdick, Charles Silger, Sorenson, Gifford, Meldahl, Gifford,

LATE DOINGS IN UPPER MICHIGAN

Miners Found Dead at the Bottom of Deep Shafts.

Calumet—Attempting to board a moving skip in No. 5 shaft of the Tamarack mine, Eric Papanen fell into a shaft below. He was a single man, aged 28. Papanen's partner was waiting to board the skip and saw the unfortunate man take his awful drop.

While fooling with other workmen in E shaft of Champion mine, Matt Takonen fell into the shaft. He dropped 60 feet, meeting instant death. He was 31 years old, and leaves a wife and two children. Two men fooling with Takonen, nearly met the same fate. One fell into the shaft, but caught the iron rail. Fire destroyed the pump house and some timbering in No. 3 shaft of the Mo-hawk mine, Wednesday. Work has not been interrupted.

Marquette—June, the month in which the graduate claims undivided attention, is still some time distant, but already arrangements for the commencement of the Marquette high school have progressed considerably. The date set is Thursday, June 20, and the commencement exercises will be held in the Marquette opera house, as is customary.

Arrangements have practically been completed by which Preston V. Search, one of the most noted educational lecturers in the country, will deliver the principal address of the evening. Search is to speak in Crystal Falls and Ishpeming—Emil Vanner, who has been engaged in mining here a number of years, will accept a position as mining captain with the Hudson Mining & Smelting company, operating properties some forty or fifty miles outside of New York city. Mr. Vanner has been in the employ of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company a number of years, and has been one of the corporation's best and most trustworthy workmen. His family will remain in Ishpeming until he finds it convenient to move them to New York.

The Cedar Land company recently sold a large tract of timber and much of it near Spaulding, to the Oliver Iron Mining company, the consideration being $538,000. The land is located in four counties, Delta, Marquette, Dickinson and Schoolcraft. The deal was handled through the Duluth office of the corporation. The land was acquired by the Oliver company principally for the timber, but it is possible that some mineral will be developed on parts of the tract. It is said that there is some very fine timber on some of the sections in Dickinson, Delta and Schoolcraft counties, and it is expected that the Oliver company will begin cutting it before the close of this year.

PUGH'S BILL FAVORING FRATERNAL SOCIETIES IS KILLED BY THE HOUSE

Tighe's Bill on Same Subject is Also Laid Away.

The Measures Were to Exempt Property From Taxation.

Senate Committee Cuts Increase in the Governor's Salary.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The house this morning killed the Tighe bill, a duplicate of Senator Pugh's bill which passed the senate, practically exempting from taxation the property of fraternal organizations not used with a view to profit. The house tax committee, by a majority of one, presented a report recommending the bill for indefinite postponement and a minority report was introduced recommending it to pass. Clarence B. Miller of Duluth led the fight for the bill, and he was assisted by Representatives Timberlake, W. A. Nolan and Lennon, and opposed by Representatives Rockne, Thayer, Hiss and Doherty. The house finally recommended the bill for indefinite postponement.

PAPERS SERVED IN EDDY SUIT

Service Made on Four Defendants Living at Concord.

Concord, N. H., March 9.—Service was had today upon the four defendants resident in this city in the equity proceedings brought for an accounting of the property of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, leader of the Christian Science faith. Papers were served on Calvin A. Frye, Mrs. Eddy's secretary, and Lewis C. Strang, her assistant secretary at Pleasantview, Mrs. Eddy's home. Each defendant accepted service when the sheriff called and the papers were left at his residence. Rev. Irving C. Tomlinson, formerly Mrs. Eddy's secretary, and now a member of the board of lecturers of the "mother church" of Boston, was not at home when the sheriff called and the papers were left at his residence. This, in the opinion of Sheriff Kimball, constituted a legal service.

THE COPPER INTERESTS

Of the Upper Peninsula Will be Heard by Governor.

On Bill Regulating Stock Voting Passed by Legislature.

Detroit, Mich., March 9.—All of the large copper interests of the upper peninsula will be heard at the hearing today before Governor F. M. Warner on the bill passed by the state legislature to prevent one mining corporation voting stock on another mining corporation. This bill is concededly designed to prevent the acquisition by the Calumet & Hecla Mining company of the Centennial, Allouez and Uscoula Mining companies. The annual meeting of the Uscoula company in which the Calumet & Hecla has acquired a majority holding, will be held March 12, and the friends of the bill rushed it through the legislature urging the nearness of this meeting as the reason for haste.

At the hearing today which will determine whether the governor will sign the bill, the Calumet & Hecla company will be represented, as will the Bigelow syndicate of Boston, the Copper Range Consolidated and probably the Amalgamated Copper company. A delegation of citizens from the Copper country is also here to protest against the bill.

ROCKNE HAS A TAX BILL

Measure Provides for Graded Tonnage Tax on Iron Ore.

Dangers of Proposed Distance Tariff Law Are Shown.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative R. H. Jefferson of Bluffton Lake made an attempt, yesterday afternoon, to force his new tonnage bill, in which Representative Bjorge of Lake Park collaborated, out of the house committee on taxes and tax laws, but failed. The committee deemed it more courteous to give the special joint committee that is investigating the subject of iron taxation in a careful and painstaking manner a chance to finish its work and make a report, and consideration of all bills touching upon iron taxation was postponed, therefore, until next Friday afternoon.

In the meantime at least one more iron tax measure is due, if not more. Representative A. J. Rockne of Zumbrota is expected to introduce one.

NATURALIZATION OF JAPANESE

Strongly Opposed by California Legislature in Resolution.

Sacramento, Cal., March 9.—Following the passage of the bills by Wolfe and Keene, the senate committee on federal relations reported a substitute for the resolution introduced by Senator Sanford protesting against the naturalization of Japanese and recommended that it be adopted. The consideration of the resolution was made a special order for today. After calling attention to the president's message, urging a special act to naturalize Japanese and declaring that this country should first thoroughly Americanize its already large foreign population, the resolution continued:

"Resolved, by the senate and assembly of the state of California, jointly that we oppose further Japanese immigration and favor the extension of the immigration laws so as to include Japanese, Koreans and other Asiatic peoples, and we hereby urge our senators and representatives in congress to use every honorable means within their power to combat such pernicious legislation."

Confiding Lake City Widower Searches
In Vain for Girl.

Lake City, Minn., March 9.—Fred Plote is minus a wife and $740. Plote is a widower, and becoming acquainted with a girl who was stopping in Red Wing, he proposed marriage. She agreed and they came to Lake City to get married. The girl got possession of the $740 and left town. Plote followed her to Iowa and discovered she had married the "other fellow." No further trace of her could be found.

Sad Result of an Elopement From Cass County.

Thirteen-Year-Old Girl
Now in Hospital at Spokane.

Walker, Minn., March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—From the south part of Cass county comes a sad story of moral depravity and sin, in which a wayward girl of tender years, and a man with a case-hardened conscience figure conspicuously. And, as is invariably the way in such cases, the girl has the bulk of the burden to bear.

Nothing was known of the 13-year-old Nora Zugsehwerdt until a few days ago, when word was wired to Casper Zugsehwerdt of Home Brook township, from Spokane, Wash., that his daughter was lying dangerously ill in a hospital in Spokane, and that Sam Krogh, aged 30 years, was occupying a cell in the city jail at that place, waiting the action of the Cass county authorities.

Krogh and the girl, some time ago, decided to elope to Indiana and be married. The man took the train at Pequot for Indiana. But the girl

ANOTHER RANGE WAR THREATENED

Further Outrages Occur in Camps of Northern Wyoming.

Sheridan, Wyo., March 9.—Northern Wyoming is threatened with another range war between the cattle and sheep men. Closely following the attack on the Wisner camp last week, in which 400 head of sheep were killed and the camp burned, comes the report of a greater outrage in Owl Creek country.

The Hugh Dickey sheep camp was attacked by a band of twelve masked men, supposed to be in the employ of the cattle men. The raiders drove off the sheep herders with threats of death, fired the camp outfit and began killing sheep. Out of a total of 8,000 sheep in the band, 4,000 have disappeared, supposed to have all been killed.

The cattle men have marked out a "dead line" and the Dickey sheep were one mile over the border.

The trouble will probably spread to other camps.

Disbelieves the Reported Alliance of Other

Washington, March 9.—Nicaraguan sympathizers are indignant at the charges made against President Zelaya by Honduras, and maintain that the movement of Honduras against Nicaragua and the reported alliance between Honduras and other Central American republics was planned by President Bonilla of Honduras for the sole purpose of averting serious revolutionary movements in the latter country.

A prominent supporter of President Zelaya and one authorized to speak for him, said today that public sympathy cannot but be with the Nicaraguan chief executive if all the facts about the present trouble are known.

Paris, March 9.—The strike of electricians, which began here yesterday evening, has assumed a serious aspect. The men employed by the two remaining independent companies went out early this morning, and unless the dispute is settled immediately it is feared that the workmen of the gas company and the employees of the Metropolitan underground railroad, on which the majority of the population relies for transportation, will be induced to leave their work in sympathy with the strikers.

Not since the siege of Paris in 1870 has the city been plunged in such darkness as last night, and the affair, coming without a warning, has aroused the most intense resentment.

TRIPLE TRAGEDY OCCURS IN BOAT

Three Men Killed in Desperate Fight on Kentucky River.

Sargent, Ky., March 9.—Thacker Rice, and Speed and Elijah Bailey, brothers, were killed in a desperate fight in a boat on the Kentucky river, twenty miles below here. With them was John Ellsmore. A dispute arose between Ellsmore and Rice, whereupon the Bailey brothers took sides with Rice, Ellsmore, without warning, struck Rice on the head with an oar, and a battle with pistols and knives followed. Ellsmore, himself badly wounded, finally reached shore with his companions, but they died soon after. The fight followed a celebration at a neighbor's home.

Physicians.

No Unfavorable Symptoms Developed During the Night.

Washington, March 9.—Archie Roosevelt, the president's son, who is ill with diphtheria, continues to improve according to the physician's bulletin, issued this morning. The little sufferer had a good night and the fact that no unfavorable symptoms have developed is regarded by them as very favorable. Dr. Alexander Lambert of New York, and Surgeon General Rixey of the navy, remained at the White House after issuing the bulletin until about 10:30, when both went out for a time. The reports from the sick room at that time continued good. The president was at his office as usual this morning and received a number of callers. He appeared cheerful and bright and pleased at the progress his son is making.

The bulletin issued at 8:45 o'clock was as follows:

"Archie Roosevelt had a good night. No unfavorable symptoms and a general improvement since last report."

FAILURE OF SHIP SUBSIDY BILL

Causes Withdrawal of American Steamers Running to Australia.

San Francisco, March 9.—The Oceanic Steamship company has notified the government that it proposes withdrawing from the American-Australian service, the vessels now running on that line. The steamships Ventura and Scotia will be withdrawn when they reach this port. The Mariposa and Alameda will continue for a time. It has not been decided when to retire them.

This decision was, it is said, the result of the failure of the United States congress to pass the ship subsidy bill, together with the fact that the New Zealand government did not include an appropriation for a subsidy in its last budget, making the operation of the Oceanic company's line, as heretofore conducted, unprofitable.

NEW NOTHING OF KIDNAPING

Fisherman Arrested in the Marvin Case, is Released.

Dover, Del., March 9.—John Hart, who was arrested last night and taken to Newcastle, in connection with the disappearance of the 4-year-old son of Dr. Horace N. Marvin of Kiltis Hammock, near here, was today released from custody. Hart is a fisherman and has been cruising all winter in the vicinity of Murderkill river. His boat was seen near the place where the boy was last seen, on Monday, the day the latter disappeared. He denied all knowledge of the child, or whose disappearance, he says, he was not made aware of until he was halted at Newcastle.

Dr. Marvin said today he was satisfied that the boy had been kidnapped by river pirates, and does not hesitate to say that he believes a woman has assisted in the abduction.

Were Estranged
From Him.

Chicago, March 9.—John Alexander Dowie died at 7:40 this morning at Shiloh house, Zion City. There were present with him when he died only Judge N. B. Barnes and two personal attendants. It had been Dowie's custom to hold religious services every Sunday afternoon in the parlor of Shiloh house. About 350 of his original followers remained faithful and attended these services. Dowie wore his apostolic robes and made a characteristic address. Five weeks ago these meetings ceased, and Dowie appeared no longer in public. The Sunday meeting, however, was still held by his adherents. Since that time Dowie has gradually been falling.

Friday afternoon, however, there was no indication of approaching death. He received a few followers, and prayed for some people. His condition seemed to be about the same as for the last two or three weeks. One of the attendants remained with him until midnight, and was relieved by the other attendant.

TORTURING CONFIRMED

Russian Police Used Political Prisoners With Great Violence.

St. Petersburg, March 9.—An official investigation of the report, published in London early last month, of the torturing of political prisoners at Riga, Livoni, has confirmed the statements in regard to the brutal treatment of prisoners, who were clubbed at the time of their arrest and during their examination by the police, who were said to have in this manner vented their hatred on the revolutionists, and attempted to force confessions from them. The bitterness of the police is explained as being due to the ceaseless warfare between the revolutionists and others on the police during the past two years, in which period 111 policemen at Riga have been killed or wounded, and pitched battles between the police and revolutionists are still of constant occurrence.

INSANITY FEATURES

Given Special Attention
by Jerome.

Statements Concerning Separation Denied by Thaw Family.

New York, March 9.—That District Attorney Jerome intends to devote considerable attention to the insanity features of the Thaw case in his rebuttal examination became apparent today, when Doctors Mabon, McDonald and Flint, the alienists, and six other insanity experts, entirely new to the case, had a long conference with the district attorney. Testimony given by alienists for the defense was examined closely by the experts, under Mr. Jerome's direction. The statement credited yesterday to Howard Nesbit, to the effect that the countess of Yarmouth hoped to bring about a separation of Harry K. Thaw and his wife was denied today by Mrs. George L. Carnegie, one of the Thaw sisters. Mrs. Carnegie was quoted as saying that none of her family desires a divorce or separation of any kind, and that Thaw would not consent to it if they did want it. She declared the statement, that her sister, the countess of Yarmouth, would not return to England until Thaw and his wife were separated was false. The position of the Thaw family, she added, was clearly outlined by the elder Mrs. Thaw, who called on Miss Nesbit before she was married and gave her consent to the marriage.

Lima, Ohio, March 8.—In connection with the advance in the price of crude oil announced today by the Standard Oil company, prominent oil men predict that the spring months will bring still higher prices.

It is pointed out that runs from wells have diminished 50,000 barrels a day less than daily shipments.

Quotations were advanced by the Standard today 5 cents a barrel on amber grade oils found in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Southeastern Ohio, while 2 cents was added for all fields touched by Standard pipe lines in the United States and Canada.

HOUSEHOLDERS, ATTENTION!

Reduction in Electric Lighting Rates!

On the first day of last September a reduction in Electric Lighting Rates was put into effect, which made the maximum rate for lighting 8 cents net per 1,000 Watt hours—this is less than one-half a cent per hour for a 16-candle-power lamp. One 16-candle-power lamp consumes 60 Watts per hour, which at 8 cents per 1,000 Watts would amount to 48-100 cents per hour, or less than one-half cent.

Example: If you burn one 16-candle-power lamp ten hours at the old rate of 12½ cents, it would amount to 8 1-10 cts. At the new rate, 8 cents, it would amount to 4 8-10 cents, which means a reduction of over 40 per cent.

This reduction in rates makes possible the use of Electricity, for lighting, in every home in Duluth. From the view point of sanitation, economy, convenience, beauty and safety, it is truly the ideal and, consequently, the most desirable light.

IS RICH IN TUNGSTEN

Extraordinary Deposits Are Being Found Near Yellowstone Park.

Is Most Valuable Byproduct to Rich Gold Deposits.

(From correspondence by J. H. Van in Denver Daily Mining Record of Feb. 16, 1907.)

A few of the Yellowstone Park tourists, who have gone by the way of Livingston, remember the wonderful tales told by their guide about some rare mineral found in large quantities in a mine near Gardiner, the northern entrance to the park.

For a long time this curious substance had been thrown aside by miners as worthless, for they were blasting out gold quartz and tramping it down to the ore bins to keep the forty-stamp mill pounding away. There apparently was no time to investigate this peculiar and seemingly low-grade vein matter, which was thrown on the dump, until one day a sample was sent to Denver. Great was their surprise to find this extraordinary ore body not only carried fair gold values, but ran, in many places over 70 per cent tungsten acid.

The owners of the property could hardly believe their eyes, for here was untold wealth which they they had not dreamed of before, and apparently occurring in a well-defined vein, from six to ten feet in width.

To convince themselves that the first assay represented a fair sample, they shipped three lots to Henry E. Wood of Denver, which assayed 66 per cent, 71.8 per cent and 69.4 per cent tungsten acid. These shipments weighed a little over 50,000 pounds, and were worth, at the present market prices, over $12,000.

Development work on this large vein has now begun in earnest, and several carloads were shipped, the same fabulous returns being received.

A drift was run, and from one stope twelve feet square and ten feet high over $30,000 worth of this valuable mineral was taken out by five men in less than one week's time. A crosscut 150 feet below the working tunnel cut the vein, and the same beautiful sight met their eyes, that, where but a short time before, unaccustomed to bonanza ore.

As many of the readers of the Daily Mining Record already know, the tungsten acid taken from scheelite ore is used in tempering high-speed steels, cutlery, fine tools, and is also a necessary part of armor-plate, giving it that hardness and toughness which is absolutely necessary to resist the shots from high-power guns.

While this deposit of scheelite ore is the largest known in the world, the energetic owners are proving it up on systematic lines and investigating other strikes on their property, and in the immediate neighborhood. It is not at all improbable that when these deposits are thoroughly opened up it will mean the revolutionizing of the modern process of steel making, as by the addition of a small amount of tungsten acid the strength and value of ordinary commercial steel would be largely increased, and some of the largest steel manufacturers are anxiously awaiting the time when the exact extent of this already valuable deposit can be computed.

Even the present demands are found sufficient to afford a market for larger quantities than are now being shipped, as may be seen when it is stated that the first shipment was settled for on the basis of $1.75 per unit and the present quotations from $6.50 to $8 per unit. At $6.50 per unit, 70 per cent tungsten acid ore is worth $455 per ton as shipped.

In a cross cut run to cut the vein, twelve feet above the lower tunnel there was encountered other veins, some of which had no surface indications. One of these veins in width from 15 to 40 feet and carries ore values averaging $4 per ton, this being the lowest grade found on the property. Other veins which outcrop near the one just mentioned above vary in width from eight to thirty-five feet and carry good values ranging from $3 to $24 per ton.

The average observer would scarcely believe that the ore bodies have been mined to any extent, and yet the company alone has over $2,000,000. This is without doubt but a very small portion of the values represented in the actually exposed veins. The fact that the ore bodies are so close together and well-defined veins continue on to a depth greater than has been mined for a good many years to come.

NEGOTIATIONS PROGRESSING

Rumors of Agreement Between Russia and Japan Premature.

St. Petersburg, March 9.—An official denial was made today of the report from Vienna that the negotiations between Russia and Japan had resulted in an agreement to arbitrate future disputes between the two governments. It was stated that the negotiations were still progressing without any hitch, but that definite results would not be in sight for weeks, or even for months. The general impression in the Japanese capital is that the Russian parliament is looking off until the internal situation in Russia and the attitude of the Japanese government have cleared. Finally it is asserted here that circulation of the rumor is connected with the donation of the Japanese conversation loan in Paris and London.

Towards the close of today's session of the lower house of parliament, President Golovin announced that Deputy Geyrus asked for recognition in order to present a demand for amnesty of political prisoners, but that he had been compelled to refuse to accord the deputy recognition until the organization of the house was completed. He had, however, promised to accord M. Geyrus the first recognition after the house was organized. The president then suggested that the house take a recess until March 14 for the deputies.

The house today occupied itself with the business of five assistant secretaries, each of whom had to be elected for a year. Some of the ministers were present. The opposition appropriated all the secretaries.

The Socialists bent on forcing the amnesty question to the front, are organizing monster open air meetings for tomorrow.

Representing parties whose names are not made public, W. C. Sherwood & Co. of this city have purchased the 50-foot vacant property on the lower side of First street, between Third and Fourth avenues west, adjoining the Chase building, for a consideration understood to be in the neighborhood of $20,000.

The property was purchased of the Western Land association, represented by Mendenhall & Hoopes.

This is the third large deal for First street property, between Third and Fourth avenues west that W. C. Sherwood & Co. have handled within the last three weeks, and it is under the impression that the firm has several others under negotiation.

The other two sales comprised 50-foot properties on the upper side of the street, west of the Board of Trade building, the consideration being $55,000.

The predictions that were made within the past few years by careful and conservative real estate men that West First street property would show great activity by reason of its proximity to the business center of the city are now being realized. More than that, the speculation seems to be growing that First street, between Third and Fourth avenues west, is fast becoming the business heart of the city.

Moneyed men from Detroit, Chicago and Buffalo, who have been in Duluth for several days past, looking over the field for investment, have taken into consideration the proximity of West First street to the depots,

Tonnage Tax Will Come Up for Action Next

Duluth People Should do Everything Possible to Defeat It.

Any action that is to be taken by Duluth people to aid in defeating the proposed tonnage tax measure now before the legislature must be taken quickly.

The bill will come up early next week, and if it is to be defeated some active steps are necessary.

Many Duluth men have influence with legislators from other parts of the state. The legislators from the northern part of the state are alive to the interests of this section, and will do all in their power to defeat the tonnage tax measure, but converts will be needed from other parts of the state. Personal letters from Duluth people to their friends in the legislature, would have a beneficial effect, and might be responsible for changing just enough votes to defeat the measure.

If such letters are to be written, or if any influence can be brought to bear through other channels, it must be done promptly, as only a very few days remain in which to act.

At this time, when the steel plant is being considered for Duluth, it is felt that the city cannot afford to allow any action to be taken which might endanger those plans.

chandise business," said Mr. Freimuth, this morning.

"Prices are high, but that is only an indication of the prosperity. The factories and importers are receiving so much business that they are having a hard time of it, taking care of the trade. However, I was exceedingly fortunate and before I left for home, I had made preparations for a big business year in Duluth by very liberal buying."

"Stocks are depressed and no doubt along Wall street some of the folks were being squeezed, but otherwise, conditions in the East are better now than they have been for some time."

"Some of the new goods are already here and they will be received very day in large consignments. Every department has been cared for by large orders of the latest novelties and staple goods."

Mr. Freimuth made extensive purchases of silks while away, managing to get in large orders just before the recent advance in prices. All of the latest shades will be shown at his store. For the ready to wear departments, too, Mr. Freimuth made extensive purchases, embracing the latest creations and novelties to be found in the East.

The Freimuth store has been making a specialty of Oriental rugs, and while he was away, Mr. Freimuth secured some particularly handsome ones, placing one of the largest orders he has ever given.

Capt. McDougall Talks.

The toastmaster introduced Capt. Alexander McDougall, a man of complimentary way, giving him credit for having done more than any other man to turn the eyes of the world toward the iron range. In his search for a steel plant location, Capt. McDougall modestly explained that he had been given more credit than he deserved, and then proceeded to recall the hopes of the early settlers in regard to future development of the iron range for the city. He made the statement that steel ships were being built in the city, rather than at any other point in the world, and that no place in the country offered a better labor market. He spoke of the city as a place of opportunity, telling what an excellent class of workmen they are.

The speaker drew upon the progress of the country, the Minnesota people, and the fact that Minnesota is the bread and butter state, with good crops and stock raising for an intelligent class of laboring men. He reviewed the rapid growth and development of the city from its small beginnings to its present position, with excellent transportation facilities, both rail and water. Capt. McDougall said that the city was the biggest field on the continent for work, a market, and that the demand for other steel products was an immense one, though he did not think it probable to be had in unlimited quantities at the Soo, and can be cheaply transported to

Is Question of Dividends.

"It has been figured that the district tributary to Duluth needs annually 100,000 tons of tubular goods annually. This includes all sizes, from the smallest steel tube to the large pipes used for water main and for streets. To plant a plant of 250,000 tons capacity would be needed. Neither Duluth nor the United States has the capacity to produce a steel plant up here unless it is sure to be a paying proposition. Duluth has a high reputation around the world for its tubular goods, and the East is for promoting successful commercial enterprises, and it is only natural that she should want to sustain it. The question is not whether a steel plant shall be located here, but whether it is profitable. It will here will resolve itself into a question of dividends. If dividends are not paid on capital invested, the plant will be

IMPOTENCY.

Hydrocele is an accumulation of serous fluid in the scrotum, and deprives the organs of all vitality. It is treated by the use of the needle, and is sometimes difficult to distinguish from Rupture or Varicocele. It is not a disease of the testis, common to men, and it should be taken care of by one competent to handle the needle. I have not had extensive experience in the treatment of this affliction, but sometimes make mistakes in deciding whether it is of this kind, and therefore it would be useless for me to try to make these patients believe that I am familiar with the variety of diseases to which these organs are subject. I would advise each patient to choose a nose correctly for himself. The discriminating eye and touch of the physician are necessary to make a correct judgment in such cases. If the patient would avoid mistakes and the possibility of a relapse, he should consult a physician growing out of neglect or mal-treatment. We thoroughly understood the cause of his illness, and we secured many cases and we guaranteed a lasting cure on your money back.

In the treatment of Nervous Decline and Male Weakness we have been decidedly successful. We have cured many of the most debilitated, and strengthened, and after we have cured a case of this kind, there will never be a sign of its return, unless it is brought on by imprudence. In Nervous Decline, Male Weakness, Female Power, and all the various many other familiar terms are used to designate the one condition of an exhausted system, and debilitated aged men who are nervous wrecks, and who are suffering from all the symptoms originating from a source brought about by such a train of evils as Excess, Indiscretion, and Abuse, and Private Diseases, which weaken the nervous system, and debilitate the body and brain. The man who has disregarded health by early folly and indulgence in the use of tobacco, and alcoholic liquors, continued exposure to the elements, and the use of such and such, may have one or more of such derriental symptoms as Lost Power, Exhaustion, Debility, Weakness, in Urine, Poor Memory, Nervous and Debility, Night Sweats, and all the signs, noticed by Exhaustion during ordinary exercise. Henry Nolte, representing the Duluth Real Estate exchange, told how he came to Duluth, twenty-five years ago, and how the city has grown and prospered since. He also described Duluth as being twenty-three miles long and two miles wide, with a bigger acreage than any other city in the world. He talked of ups and downs but its present period of prosperity.

Then he started 'Answers,' a little 2-cent weekly. It succeeded. He started other weeklies—Home, Sweet Home; and Ponder-Me-Not. He was so successful they all they succeeded. He started the Daily Mail, and soon he was making a million a year.

THE SQUONK MAN, on being elevated to the top of the tree, said:

It will be only a question of time," said, on behalf of the R. M. Estate company, a promise to grant the 157½ acres required for the proposed plant for the corporation the day it says it wants the land, and to get it at the right price.

W. L. Roseberry, president of the Illinois State Company, said he felt like a prodigal son on arriving in Duluth, for twenty years ago he was greatly interested in the city, and considered himself a part of it. Another man put in the money, it was three or four years, had not ceased operations for more than twenty-four hours since the wheels first began to turn, and less than $100 has been expended. Everything about the plant ran smoothly as its most enthusiastic

"Duluth appeared to me a great many ways," he said. "Twenty years ago the city was long on futures and backer could hope for, and when the Duluth plant gets under full operations the success we had in Michigan will be duplicated."

"That is another sample of what Northwestern enthusiasm will accomplish," smiled Mr. Dickson.

He paused, and noting the look of discomfiture on Lord Rosebery's face, added quickly:

"How do you like the house of lords?"

"Like it!" exclaimed the active Lord Rosebery. "Northshire as though I were dead and buried alive."

He paused, and noting the look of discomfiture on Lord Rosebery's face, added quickly:

NEWS OF THE WEEK AT CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL

Interest of Students Now Centers on Senior Play.

Public Speaking is Be- coming Popular Among the Boys.

The interest of the entire high school is centered in the annual senior play, which will be given next Friday. After weeks of hard work and continual drilling, the players have succeeded in mastering their parts, and are ready to present the piece. Rehearsals will be held all next week when the finishing touches will be put on.

The principal characters are as follows: Alexis Petrovitch, Frank Boerner; Poleska, his wife, Gertrude Hoopes; Baroness Vladimir, Marie Erd; Ivan, a shoemaker, Ralph Ely; Michelle, his daughter, Dale Montgomery; Koulikoff, Demetrowitch, attendant at the castle, Kenneth Cain, and Miss Smith, a young peasant, Elmer McDevitt. Besides these there are many minor characters such as guards, peasants and ladies.

The scenery has been obtained from the Lyceum theater and a man hired to take charge of putting it up. It will be more elaborate than any other seen in the city.

There will be no reserved seats for the play. Objections were raised to this plan and the idea was dropped. The senior boys have charge of the tickets and will sell them all next week.

Debaters Are Busy.

Public speaking is booming at the high school just at present and more interest is being shown at every meeting of the debating society. Last Monday Prof. Lambert explained to the members the plans of the club for the side debating. The mock trial has been postponed, as the time for the next three or four weeks will be occupied in preparing for the debate with the Superior or some other outside school.

Mr. Lambert said he would like to get a list of all those who were willing to enter the trial debates. Sixteen boys signified their intention to competing for the honors. A series of debates will be held on the same subject. Some question will be selected which offers a good opportunity for research and several sets of debaters will discuss the different issues of the main topic. The best speakers will be sorted out gradually and the final trial debate will decide who is to represent the school in the debate with the outside team.

Another feature which will soon be given in connection with the debating club is a play which has been planned for some time. The boys of the public speaking club and the girls of the Philomathian society have combined and are calculating to turn out a production which will make everyone sit up and take notice. The play which has been selected is "The Courtship of Miles Standish." The members of the cast have already been selected and are busy looking over their parts.

They are as follows: Miles Standish, Louis Defford; John Allen, William Durbin; Priscilla, Della Smith; and Elmer, Richard Johnson. These four are the principal characters. The remainder of the cast will be selected later on.

Burlington dining cars are famed as artistic models of comfort and convenience. They are as unlike the typical diner as day is unlike night.

Only the things you eat are charged for in Burlington dining cars. If a light lunch is all that you wish, that is all you pay for. If you want a course dinner, you may have it. Experience has proven the service to be much more satisfactory than the dollar-a-meal plan.

Waiters who really "know how" serve your food neatly, quickly and with all those little extras that lend zest to the appetite, on tables decorated with cut flowers from our own greenhouses.

You are invited to test the Burlington dining car service next time you travel from St. Paul or Minneapolis to Chicago or St. Louis.

The New Building.
The talk of a new building for the manual training department of the high school has occasioned considerable discussion on the part of those who are most concerned, namely, the students. The general opinion seems to be that it would be a good thing, as it would afford more room for work and for the installation of new machinery.

The high school building is becoming more and more crowded every year as the number of students increases, and it is only a matter of time before a new building will have to be erected. The noise of the machines of the manual training department is often a nuisance to the rest of the school, and this would be done away with.

It has also been suggested that on the new building there would also be ample room to fit up a workshop for the eighth grade students of several of the neighboring schools. It has also been proposed to establish a course of domestic science in case the building is erected, and the question will, no doubt, meet with the hearty approval of the girls.

The greatest difficulty would be encountered in getting into this building to the high school between periods.

The boys also welcome the proposal for another reason. For many years they have desired a gymnasium, but have been unable to have one on account of lack of room. If the building is erected a fine gymnasium can be fitted up at a moderate cost. The question is now under consideration by a committee, and a report will be made before long.

High School Notes.

Principal Smith spoke to the students Monday morning on the subject of immigration. He said that this is a topic which most people know very little about, but one which is of great importance. Every country, he said, is supposed to take care of its own people and see that they are properly educated and trained. If, however, everyone were allowed to enter our country it would be a great temptation, he said, to foreign countries to empty their invalids and diseased persons here.

On Tuesday morning Principal Smith spoke to the students about the Fifty-ninth congress which has just adjourned, and he pointed out some of the questions pertaining to it.

An informal party was held in Miss McGoff's room on Wednesday night. The students were invited to remain in the room until 3 o'clock, while the school was held to discover the guilty man. The affair was purely masculine, and meanwhile some one of the feminine gender was laughing up her sleeve at the trouble which she had caused. According to latest dispatches the culprit has not yet been discovered.

Owing to the illness of Miss Shields her classes have been taken by a substitute this week. Miss Shields is quite seriously ill, and will not be able to return until after the spring vacation.

Hereafter the senior English classes will recite only once a week to Prof. Lambert, instead of twice as they have been doing.

According to the last report the lunch room went a few cents in the red. However, the school hopes to come out even this month, and the prices will not be raised.

The presentation of the "Hamlet" scene by the seniors proved to be such a success that the juniors have decided to emulate them. The members of the cast are engaged in learning their parts and will present the scene in a short time.

All Zenith material for the three lower classes must be in by next week, as the copy must be handed in to the seniors by March 15.

Principal Smith gave the students some pointers Thursday morning on the way to help along the school spirit and athletics. He condemned those who are continually criticizing and pulling down, and said that the best way is to give everyone a lift.

The high school musical society is planning to give a big concert this spring, and work will soon be begun on it.

The students have been warned to be more careful in handling their books or heavy boxes, as they were at the end of the year on account of the injury caused by throwing the books around and using them without covers.

A budding school poet composed the following one, but was too bashful to submit it to the Zenith. He finally summoned up sufficient courage to hand it in to The Herald with the request that it be printed, as he feels deeply on the subject.

BUY COPPER

Let me prove to you how an investment in a few hundred shares at 25c in this mine now will prove enormously profitable and will produce for you and your children an independent income for life.

I will be glad to submit facts to back up every statement that I make. Then decide for yourself.

Read This Statement of Facts Carefully:

DON'T make the mistake of thinking that mining is a risky business.

The proof is against you! As a matter of fact there is no business on earth with so small a percentage of risk as legitimate copper mining.

Statistics show that 97 out of every 100 business men—grocers, dry goods men, hardware, shoe men, etc., merchants and manufacturers of all kinds—fail in business.

BUT, you never heard of a real copper mine failing.

The true veins of copper, such as are owned by the British-American Copper Mines & Smelter Co., are inexhaustible.

Like the mines of Spain and Japan, it would require thousands of years to work them out.

No, sir—for an investment or a speculation—financial history shows it—there is nothing anywhere near so good as a good copper stock.

Why, just take a look at what has been done in copper.

Consider the actual facts. No need to do any guessing, when you can easily get the absolute evidence.

WHAT ONE MINE DID.

Think these facts over carefully. Calumet & Hecla copper stock sold originally for $3 a share. On Friday, February 15, 1907, it sold at $10.00 per share on the Boston Mining Exchange.

This means that if you had invested in 100 shares at $3.00 per share, your stock today would be worth $10,000.00. Think of it!

The Calumet & Hecla has paid $9,250,000 in dividends to its stockholders.

Yet, not many years ago, this marvelously successful mine promised no more for the future than the present outlook of the British-American Copper Mines & Smelter Co., whose magnificent holdings of 240 acres contain millions of tons of high-grade copper ore, assaying an average of 7 per cent, more than twice as high as many of the most famous copper mines of the world.

Will history repeat itself?

GET OUT YOUR PENCIL.

Now, let's do a little figuring. Let's see what are the reasonable probabilities of returns on an investment in British-American Copper Mines & Smelter Co.'s stock.

Suppose you invest in 1,000 shares at the present low price of 25c—$250,000 in stock—par value $1,000,000.

Then what will happen? Well, the first jump this stock makes to 50c your stock will be worth $500,000—just double what you paid for it.

That may happen now almost any day.

It is perfectly safe to say that par value of 25c will be reached when first shipments of ore are made, in the very near future.

And, figuring on the actual experience of other mines not so good as ours, it is way within the bounds of reason to predict $30 a share for this stock within one year.

Take one of our neighbors, the GRABBY mine, for example. It is one of the richest properties in the district, yet I do not concede for a moment that the GRABBY is a better property than ours.

Simply this: Ours is in a smaller stage of development today—that is all the difference.

About ten years ago the owners of the GRABBY mine were doing just what I am doing today, namely advising the investors of this country to come in with them and share in the profits which they knew were sure to accrue once the mine was thoroughly opened up.

The GRABBY stock at that time was being offered for less than $100 per share. It is now actually selling at $250.00 per share.

OUR DIVIDENDS.

The GRABBY Company is paying dividends of 24 per cent annually, on a capitalization of $1,000,000.00, on ore that averages less than 2 per cent.

Our Company, with a capitalization of $5,000,000.00, and an inexhaustible body of copper ore, assaying 7 per cent on an average, should pay back enormous dividends to the fortunate holders of stock.

We should easily pay 50 per cent dividends when our stock is worth 50c.

This would mean that your original investment of $250,000 would in one year be worth $375,000 and yield you a yearly income of $87,500.

These figures are very conservative. The record of copper properties in America proves it.

And it's proof that you want!

Illustrations of the enormous profits made by investors in copper stocks would fill this entire page. I give only a few:

The United Verde Copper Mine in Arizona was offered in Boston in 1888 for $100,000, without finding a buyer. It was finally bought by Senator W. A. Clark, who developed the property and is now producing a fabulous amount of copper monthly besides large amounts in gold and silver.

silver, with a daily output of something like $10,000.00.

The stock of the company is closely held, and only a few shares are owned by outsiders.

One instance where a party bought 100 shares for $10,000 and has recently refused an offer of $15,000 for it.

Mrs. E. P. Chase, poor woman of Bangor, Me., a few years ago purchased 100 shares of United Verde stock for $10,000, for which she afterwards refused an offer from Senator Clark of $15,000.

The Old Dominion Copper Company of Arizona is paying about $2.00 per share per annum.

The Arizona Copper company paid in 1889 to its stockholders over $1,000,000.

A few years ago Boston & Montana stock sold for $150.00 a share. It is now worth in the neighborhood of $300.00 a share, and has paid over $5,000,000.00 of dividends during the past nine years.

NOTE LESLIE'S WEEKLY of March 7th contained an interesting two-page illustrated article, by WALTER LEE STEPHENS, the well known authority on copper, describing the wonderful discoveries in British America, and telling the ROMANTIC and STARTLING story of Copper in America. We will be glad to send you, FREE, a copy of this fascinating article, if you are interested. As the supply is limited, please write at once.

OUR HOLDINGS.

The properties of the British-American Copper Mines & Smelter Co. consist of 12 full lode mining claims—60 acres—located in the Golden division of the famous East Kootenay Mining District, Province of British Columbia.

Title is direct from the Government to the Company. There is no bonded indebtedness. Claims are free and unincumbered.

Actual developments on these claims prove three immense contact veins—35, 40 and 150 feet wide by 3 1/2 miles long, of high grade chalcopyrite ore—the most productive ore of copper found in all the famous copper camps of the world.

DEVELOPMENTS.

On the 16-foot vein, 1,000 feet of tunnel has been contracted for that will block out, ready for mining, $10,750,000 worth of high grade copper ore.

This vein has been thoroughly sampled and assayed, giving the high average for the entire vein of 6 1/2 to 7 per cent copper.

HONEST AND CAPABLE MANAGEMENT.

The following are the officers and directors of the company:
President—Charles H. Tucker, Cleveland, Ohio, Pres. Masonic Temple Association, formerly Gen. Agt. Great Northern Steamship Co.

Vice President—J. C. Kernohan, Cleveland, Ohio, of J. C. Kernohan Co.

Treasurer—C. H. Taylor, Cleveland, Ohio, Attorney at Law, Secretary Gillette Manufacturing Co.

Secretary—Thomas G. Selleck, Cleveland, Ohio, public accountant. Consulting Engineer—Francis J. Peck.

No officials or directors except the engineers receive salary.

These gentlemen are thoroughly high class, responsible business and professional men whose character for integrity and ability is unquestioned in their own communities, where they are best known. Their names are a guaranty that the affairs of this company will be conducted for the best interests of the stockholders.

A SQUARE DEAL.

Yes—I said in the heading to this announcement that I would "PROVE" to you every statement that I make.

And I am in a position to do it! I ask no one to invest one single dollar in this enterprise unless thoroughly satisfied that the property is rich in high grade copper values, and the management competent and honest.

The time to investigate is BEFORE—not after—investing your money.

There is really no excuse for a loss in "Coppers" because you can always determine in advance whether a copper stock is good or bad.

Investigate the facts—that's all you need to do to protect yourself. I am here to give you facts, and nothing but facts.

I will submit specimens of the ore, maps of the property, and assays by the leading assayers in the United States showing the high grade quality of the copper.

I will show you four reports on the property from recognized experts who made absolutely impartial investigations.

I will answer all your questions and satisfy you beyond the shadow of a doubt that this stock at 25c is the best purchase you ever made.

REMEMBER WHAT I TELL YOU—THIS STOCK IS GOING UP FAST. IT WILL JUMP TO PAR IN A FEW MONTHS AND WITHIN ONE YEAR FROM TODAY WILL BE SELLING AT NOT LESS THAN $3.00. MARK WHAT I TELL YOU! IF YOU FAIL TO ACT NOW, DON'T BLAME ME, FOR I HAVE DONE MY PART.

THE SECOND TRIP OF THE "SEEING DULUTH" AUTO

Another Interesting Tour of City in This Novel Machine.

"Ladies and Gentlemen, our 'Seeing Duluth,' second tour, will start in a few minutes, and the first in the auto will have the best seats. All who contemplate taking the tour will please step in to the auto.

"Crowd up, please, so that no one will be left who wishes to see the most interesting things in and around Duluth, and hear the interesting facts concerning the various places. Are you all seated? All right; pull the lever, driver.

"We are now going to take you to see the largest high school in the world; you can see the tower looming up in the distance. Like all modern high schools, the curriculum of this school has been revised, and is somewhat different from those of the high schools we attended when we were youths. The curriculum includes the following: Freshman hop, sophomore hop, junior hop, senior hop, junior prom, assembly dance, football, baseball, hockey and debates. As you will agree, this is a very strenuous course, and to lighten the studies of the students as much as possible there are classes in the three R's. It is necessary for all to enter these classes, but some of the students do, and thus learn to read and write before leaving school. This is the building, ladies and gentlemen, and I think you will admit that it is a magnificent monument to the courses which are taught here.

"Returning, we will call your attention to one of the largest wholesale houses in the world. This building surpasses the Chicago Auditorium and the Auditorium Annex. It has two annexes, one of which is in Winnipeg and the other is in Portland, Or.

"Looking up this avenue you see (7) the Orpheum theater. Each week a new theatrical trust builds a new theater in this vicinity, according to reports in the papers, and the one mentioned is the latest. It is not quite ready for occupancy, as you will observe.

"If you will glance over your shoulder to the left you will observe a very large and beautiful building on Park Point. This is the new Park Point Summer hotel, which was built in 1905. It was built and planned in the newspapers several years before it was removed to the Point, and is the result of newspaper enterprise.

"Driver, please turn up on the great avenue, so we can pass the government building.

"Ladies and gentlemen, this is the government building. Please note its architecture closely. It is so peculiarly appearing that you would hardly infer from looking at it that tumultuous scenes take place here, but they do. When land is thrown open, and the great gathering who want something for nothing, attempts to abide by the first law of nature, the law of the jungle, and the law of the street.

"The porters and elevator boys, during this rush, wear suits of armor, and their insurance is cancelled from every point of vantage and what nature forbids to put in the scenery the postal card middle.

"Those lines you see on the card mark the right of way which the Wisconsin Central intended to use. However, this is the new street, and the road was to be taxed considerably on this side of the bay, the job was called off for so-called middle.

"The general impression however, is that as soon as the manager of the Metropolitan can find a suitable place for his new hotel, the road may be purchased by the Wisconsin Central, and the railroad will be in the city. You, of course, understand that.

"Please note that gentleman entering the broker's office. He is one of the greatest railroad officials in the Northwest, but his business is watching the fluctuations of the copper market.

"I wish you would note the great number of elevators to your left. As you will observe there is a great opportunity for some one in the advertising field. Just imagine the number of posters that an experienced bill poster could place on these elevators and the great advertising that would result therefrom. It is now being considered by several large advertising firms and they will submit a bid for a lease of 99 years for the use of the sides of the elevators as bill boards.

"Also note the numberless cars which are in those railroad yards. On account of the very severe weather we have experienced in this winter the railroads deemed it inadvisable to send these cars out in North Dakota as many have been lost in the snow drifts and never returned. These are therefore kept here for safe keeping.

"The automobile in that machine shop are the hammers of the mechanics who are making the 'Lid' for the city. One was made recently but did not fit and was not used. It will take about two years it is thought to make the one now in course of construction, but it will be guaranteed to fit perfectly. It will then be put on the city according to present plans of some of the citizens.

"That bunch of children or rather old men and women are waiting for the two and one-half cent street car rate. When they first began bawling they were young and active, but you can see that they are well along in years now. They are illiterate as they could not go to school when young, having very little money to pay the exorbitant rate asked by Tom Lowry and it was too far for them to walk. But with spring eternal and these people will doubtless be here for some time yet.

"This piece of pavement will note is very rough and makes riding quite uncomfortable. When this pavement was first laid a circus came to town and the heavy circus made ruts and furrows in the pavement. The city sued the proprietors of the circus for their audacity in showing up what poor material the pavement was made of. The circus people maintained that it was the fault of the contractor as the pavement was not what it should be. The city admitted this, but it was easier to get the money from the circus than any one else and anyway the officials did not think that they should have found it out just then as every one was praising the work, and as a consequence the circus paid. Much mental anguish was caused many of the citizens in this end of the city who had donated a little.

"This street which turns to the left is the road that leads to the suburb in the guide books and atlases called Superior. It is used to a great extent as a dormitory for people who work in Duluth. It is not noted for anything except for stories of what Jim Hill is going to do for the city some time. This street of warm air which you can feel on your cheeks is the warm air of one of the editors working there talking about the steel mills being built in Superior.

"This street also leads to the Interstate bridge that was. This bridge met with an accident last summer and is now out of commission. It also is one of the greatest divorces in the state of Minnesota. It is surpassing even the famous Pittsburgh and South Dakota cases. Superior and Duluth were married when this bridge was built and much ado was made about the marriage of the great ports at the Head of the Lakes. One might think of the bridge in the form of one of the ships that pass in the night came up the bay and severed the tie that binds.

"One might think of the bridge in the form of one of the ships that pass in the night came up the bay and severed the tie that binds. A result of the habit of nearly all who work in Duluth is to go to the bridge and see the bridge. It is a pretty penny. It also goes to show that what Preacher Jim Hill puts together is sometimes put asunder.

"Continuing along this street we arrive at Lincoln Park in which famous as being the place where the grocers hold their annual picnic. After each of the picnics it has been noted that groceries go up a cent or two. This is necessary as it is from this source that the money which is given in prizes in the events is derived. Continuing we arrive at West Duluth.

"Here the great manufacturing industries are located. That factory to your left is working night and day to put Oshkosh out of business and it is also decided to wait till 1910, when the street will be cleaned again.

"The placard on that pole is to the effect that this street was cleaned in 1900. It was at first planned to erect a shaft in honor of the event, but it was decided to wait till 1910, when the street will be cleaned again.

"The residents of this portion of the city are always agitating something for the betterment of the conditions of the people who reside here. Lately they asked to have late cars run so they could get to the picnic. As this was the heart of the city and remain till the end. The street railway people took this under advisement and their decision was to wait till 1910, when the street will be cleaned again.

"Returning to the heart of the city, we pass the entrance to the boulevard. This boulevard is God's gift to the people who reside here. A New Baby.

A New Baby! What magic, what mystery, what charm these words have for us. Yet, how infinitely more they mean to the mother. A new life; short, to be sure, but full of possibilities. Some one must be patient, hopeful, watchful, proud and never discouraged. That "some one" is the mother. She has heard her baby's first cry, and whether it be her first or tenth, the feeling is the same. Her feeble arms are out-stretched; those arms that will never desert it as long as the mother shall live. And that hand which supports the head of the new-born babe, the mother's hand, supports the civilization of the world.

Is it any wonder, we ask you, mothers, that with all these responsibilities resting upon your all too weak shoulders, we urge upon you the necessity of selecting the babe's medicine with utmost care; the necessity of protecting your babe from worthless, unknown and narcotic drugs as you would protect it from the fire?

The Young Women's C. A.

To the Editor of The Herald:
The benevolent people of Duluth are about to have presented to them the opportunity of a lifetime in the appeal for funds for the erection of the Young Women's Christian association's new building. This magnificent institution touches the vital of the moral life of our city. It is the fountain from which is copiously drunk the element of a genuinely Christian and thoroughly American womanhood.

The Young Women's Christian association has been, and is, the pride of every loyal Duluthian.

Think of it on one or two lines alone: the lunch room, for instance.
During the year 1906, lunches served, mark you, at actual cost to the young women, 66,423. Again, on the matter of the rest room, where young women can go to sit and rest in a finely furnished room, 18,600. Think over these figures, ascertain what all this means for the happiness of these young people, and then think well over what it means to the well-being of our city.

The splendid management of this institution has not only made of it a necessity to our city, but a necessity which on all buildings has outgrown its present equipment.

The business men of Duluth are the most generous I have ever met when a clear proposition is presented to them.

Gentlemen, the Young Women's Christian association is one. Give it your consideration and generous support. ROBERT J. MOONEY, Rector, St. Luke's Episcopal church,
Duluth, March 8.

MISS DOWIE IN GOOD SHAPE

Star of Hope Institution is Doing Good Work.

First Report Since Departure of John Callahan, Issued.

The fourth annual report of the Star of Hope mission has been completed.
This report covers the period of time from the departure of John Callahan, founder of the mission, Nov. 16, 1906, to Feb. 17, 1907.

Following are some extracts from the report:

"We take this occasion to thank all who have stood by the work and helped us financially. We wish also to thank the pastors and young people's societies of the different churches in the city for their kind and faithful services from time to time."

"We need clothes for men, women and children. We need seven men who will give $10 a month, or four men who will give $5 for the support of the work. We need second-hand carpets and furniture all of which will be given to worthy people."

"Our reading room is open all day, which brings us in touch with men continually. We have wonderfully blessed us in our humble efforts to save men from drink and other evils. After this is accomplished, our aim is to do all our power to provide men with work, whereby they can stay and have the privilege of attending the meetings every evening."

"We have in our possession letters from people as far away as St. Louis, Mo., thanking God that there is such a place in Duluth as the Star of Hope mission.
The men who leave the county jail and go to St. Louis for the seed sown at the meetings held in the jail continue to live and grow and will one day be saved."

Spain is making rapid progress in rebuilding her navy. The expenditure of 70 millions of dollars provides for the construction of eight battleships,

DOWIE DIES

ant. Shortly before 1 o'clock this morning Dowie became delirious and his talk was the same as at a religious meeting in the days of his prime. He denounced people with the old time vigor, ordered the guards to throw out disturbers, and acted just as he had on so many previous occasions. He gradually became weaker and weaker, and his attendant telephoned for Judge Barnes, who reached Shiloh house at 7 a. m. Forty minutes later Dowie died.

John Alexander Dowie was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, May 25, 1847.
In 1860 his parents removed to Adelaide, Australia, where for seven years the youth was clerk in a business house.
Dowie developed the commercial instinct that served him so well later in life. He saved money enough during this period to return to Edinburgh at the age of 20, to take a five years' course in theology and the arts. He became a master of Greek and Hebrew and cultivated the literary taste that resulted in after years, in a library of 10,000 volumes, with which he was thoroughly conversant.

Six years of denominational activity wearing Dowie, who longed for a wider field of operation. He found his church and in 1878 went to Melbourne, where he set up a Free Christian Tabernacle, the first of its kind, and organized a divine healing association, which afterwards became international in character. He became president of this association and began his famous "going out into the country during the prevalence of putrid fever and apparently effecting many cures by prayer and the laying on of hands."

After ten years in Melbourne, Dowie decided to remove to England, where his association had a number of branches, but the fates took him across the Pacific, and his announced intention of making Great Britain world headquarters was never carried out.

Dowie landed in San Francisco in 1888, needing money. He needed $250 and had just told his wife he had asked God for it. He said, when a man he had not seen in months came along and put the amount in his hands.
That was the starting point in his wonderful money-getting career.

During the next five years Dowie was arrested at least a hundred times for violation of the city ordinance relating to the care of the sick, but the more trouble that was made for him the more he prospered in reality.
Branch churches were established in other cities; a large hospital for the healing of the sick was built in Chicago and a college for the training of missionaries was organized; a printing plant put in operation and a bank was also started.

The Christian Catholic church in Zion, the outgrowth of the original International Divine Healing association, was formally organized in 1893. Dowie becoming general overseer. Four years afterwards Dowie, before a large audience, in the Auditorium, announced that that he was Elijah, the restorer, spoken of in Malachi. This assumption of a Biblical personality created a sensation of a new order of things among his hearers, and he was followers than any of the worldly successes of the "prophet."

Previous to this Dowie had marked out his plans for Zion city, the crowning effort of his life. Six thousand acres of land were purchased or secured by the prophet, who in 1890, at the age of 42, founded Zion city, which a year later had a population of 10,000. In Zion city as well as in Chicago, Dowie was supreme. The title of the 6,000 acres, bought with the money of the sect, rested in him.
Louis was not sold in 1893, but for 99 years, these leases were filled with the following restrictions:

The premises shall never be used for a slaughter house, saloon or beer garden, tobacco store, opium joint, theater, gambling establishment, dance hall, circus, pharmacy, drug store, office or residence of a practicing physician or surgeon, place for selling pork or secret meeting place.
In December, 1893, Zion city was placed under control of a federal recess, which was dissolved a week later on Dowie's representation of his ability to control the city.

Dowie estimated the value of his holdings in Zion City at $25,000.
Since then the value of the land factory, the other industries and holdings at Zion City are believed to have increased to $500,000. Dowie began the promotion of a second Zion City in Mexico. While engaged in this undertaking his health began to fail. He suffered a stroke of paralysis, from which he never fully recovered. He died that he appointed Wilbur Glenn Voliva his first and general overseer of the church after his death. He did not even demand indemnity of any sort. The friends of Dowie say that if he had wished to leave the city
he could have done so.

NICARAGUA INDIGNANT

Ho also expressed surprise and disbelief at the reported alliance of the four other Central American governments against Nicaragua, and said it was especially difficult to understand why Costa Rica should participate in any movement against Zelaya.

In answer to the charges that President Zelaya refused to accept the decision of the boundary dispute between Honduras and Nicaragua handed down by the king of Spain late in 1906, the Nicaraguans insist that there is no foundation for such a charge because the decision of this arbitration has not even been submitted to the decision of the Nicaraguan congress.

The assistance Salvador is reported to be giving Honduras in the present trouble, may be ascribed to the fact that the two countries are supposed to be in a state of friendship. The strengthened by the assistance Honduras gave to Salvador last year when the latter republic became entangled in a war with Guatemala.

Nicaragua and Guatemala have not been on especially friendly terms for some time. The latter country has not only refused to recognize the independence of Nicaragua, but has also refused to recognize the independence of the United States. The Nicaraguans insist that the United States should recognize the independence of Nicaragua and that the United States should recognize the independence of Nicaragua.

Supporters of President Zelaya are in Costa Rica, some of them at the city of Costa Rica. Nicaragua. It has been known for some time that the present administration of Costa Rica was not friendly to President Zelaya and his administration, but the relations between the two nations have been such that an open breach between them has never been thought of by the Nicaraguans.

After the recent presidential election in Costa Rica, some of the defeated candidates went to Nicaragua and were hospitably received. This gave rise to much talk and rumors that Nicaragua would assist in movements against the successful candidate in Costa Rica.

There were four arbitrators in this case. Honduras, Salvador, Nicaragua and Costa Rica, each being represented by one member. The fact that President Zelaya would, considering the trouble this country has been through, accept of a commission of four, on which he had but one member, is pointed to by his supporters as evidence of his good will in the effort to bring the war with Honduras to an end.

In 1894, President Zelaya marched against Honduras and won a victory with a successful army to Tegucigalpa, the Honduras capital, where a friend of his was president. He did not even demand indemnity of any sort. The friends of Zelaya say that if he had wished to leave the city
he could have done so.

JUDGMENT IS VACATED

John G. Howard May File Answer in Famous Poker Case.

Suit May be Tried During May Term of Court.

Judge Cant, this morning ordered the default judgment of $3,350 in favor of Jacob Mattson against John G.
Howard vacated and set aside and Mr.
Howard was given the privilege of serving and filing his answer to the complaint in the so-called poker suit instituted by Mattson.

The order was made on the petition of Theodore Hollister, attorney for Mr.
Howard, who represented to the court that sufficient time had not elapsed between the serving of the summons before the default judgment was taken, or, if sufficient time did elapse, the answer was not filed because Mr.
Howard had been advised and believed that he still had two days in which to file his answer, at the time the judgment was filed.

The case will not come to trial during the March term of the district court, but it is possible that it will be noticed for trial in the May term.

It is said that a number of the members of the so-called Duluth Social club are rather nervously awaiting developments as they are likely to be called as witnesses when the poker suit is tried.
Mattson claims that he lost $2,250 in poker games with members of the Duluth Social club in a basement room of the Torrey building, between Aug.
4, 1906 and Jan. 11, 1907. He claims

MEMBERS OF CITY BOARDS

Appointments Will be Submitted to Council by Mayor Tuesday.

A. R. Merritt's Term Expires—Deadlock on Sampson Continues.

Among the more important business matters to come before the special meeting of the city council, Tuesday night, will be the mayor's message and his appointments to boards, as provided by the city charter. One member of the board of public works, one member of the board of fire commissioners, one member of the water and light board, and one member of the civil service commission, are to be appointed. One of the members of the labor bureau is also due for appointment or removal next Tuesday, and subject to the approval of the judges of the district court, one member of the park board will be appointed.

While nothing will be known definitely as to the appointments which will be made until the mayor submits his list to the council, Tuesday, it is probable that the majority of the board members will be reappointed.

Olaf G. Olsen, president of the board of public works, whose term expires this year, is reasonably sure to be reappointed, as is L. B. Manley of the water and light commissioners. In view of certain rather lively arguments between the mayor and the retiring member of the board of fire commissioners, A. R. Merritt, there has been considerable doubt expressed as to Mr. Merritt's reappointment. C. B. Numan is the member of the civil service commission whose term is to be reappointed, and Patrick McKay's term on the labor bureau expires Tuesday. It is generally understood that Frank A. Clarkson will be reappointed to his present position on the park board.

The mayor's message will embrace a review of the progress of the past year, a forecast of future developments, recommendations for 1907, etc.
The mayor says it will have no sensational features. The old question, the half-fare question and general street car legislation, garbage collection, the Wilson Central and the steel plant will probably be features of this communication.

The deadlock between the Longmire and Sampson factions in the council on the weight of the scales and measures proposition still continues, and from present indications the matter will go to vote with eight aldermen arranged unyieldingly on each side. A tie vote will mean the continuance in office of the present incumbent, Noble Sampson.

Then they went to the minister's quarrel. They went back to Chicago unmarried.

Duties.

William F. McKay of Duluth, E. L.
Thornton of Benson, and A. B. Hilton of Fergus Falls, the inspectors appointed by the district court to recount the ballots cast at the last general election for tax amendment and the good roads amendment, appeared in expect to begin the recount next Mon-the inspectors will begin their work.

The recount has been ordered by the court to enable H. H. Phelps, attorney for Messrs. McGonigley and Watson, in the contest case to prepare his case.
The contestants claim that by reason of mistakes and errors in the canvass of the votes on the amendments, the state board of canvassers erroneously declared the tax amendment to have been lost.

Mr. Hilton has many acquaintances

NORTH DAKOTA.
Devils Lake—Ray Bright, who came was killed by coal gas at the McKay boardinghouse Thursday night. He was about 22, and a car repairer, employed by the Great Northern railway. Several other persons were also nearly killed by the fumes, but it is expected that they will be changed so as to increase the weight of carloads from 20, 000 to 40,000 pounds.

KENOSHA SOCIETY IS GIVEN A SENSATION.

Kenosha, Wis., March 9.—A sensation was created here when it became known that District Attorney Baker had called to his office and questioned
a young woman, prominent in the younger circles of society, in an effort to secure evidence which he will use
at the trial of Edward Collier, who yesterday was held for trial on the charge of having run down with an automobile
and killed William Dwyer.

The report of the district attorney's action has served to put the "automobile crowd," which includes many well-known persons in Kenosha society, "on edge." It is reported that it is Mr.
Baker's intention to call other well-known women of the city to tell what they know about automobile trips on the night on which it is alleged that Collier killed Dwyer.

I have been planned to keep the discovery of the "woman in the case" as completely a secret as possible, and for this reason she was called to the district attorney's office at 10 o'clock at night and questioned.

The men who have been prominent in the defense of Collier declare that there is no foundation for the theory of the state, and that the calling of the women is the result of mere idle gossip.
Notwithstanding, the action of the district attorney has had a decided effect and everyone who was riding on the night in question is fearful lest he be called upon to explain.

UNIONISTS WIN GREAT VICTORY

By Decision of Court on Presbyterian Church
Controversy.

Evansville, Ind., March 9.—Judge
Glenister of the superior court today rendered a decision in the Presbyterian church union controversy, in which the unionists won an overwhelming victory.

The decision was on two cases, one from Washington, Ind., in which the anti-unionists sued for possession of church property, and the other from Vincennes, Ind., in which the unionists asked for an injunction to prevent the anti-unionists from interfering with their possession of the property.

The issue turned upon the legality of the union and the constitutional right of the two Presbyterian churches to enter into the union.
In an elaborate decision the judge recounts the history of the many Presbyterian unions in the past 200 years, and decided that such union action amounts to an adherent constitutional right to form any union that the churches might adopt, if action is taken in conformity with their own law.

This he decided has been done in every particular in these two cases.

RAILROADS

CONTRACT FOR $500 LET

Foley Bros. Will Build the Extension to Duluth.

Work to be Rushed
With All Possible Speed.

The contract for the construction of the Soo road from Broten, Minn., to Duluth, has been let to Foley Bros., St. Paul contractors. Just when the extension will be completed has not been announced, but the work will be pushed through as rapidly as possible.
Broten is just below Glenwood, Minn., which is the intersection of the main line and the Winnipeg line of the Soo, so that the connection for the extension will offer an easy outlet for traffic from the North as well as from the West.

The extension will cross the Northern Pacific at Moose Lake and Royton, making practically a direct line from Broten to Duluth. The line will connect at the Head of the Lakes with the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic road, which, with the Soo, is controlled by the Canadian Pacific Interests. The new line will necessitate the building of new terminals at the Head of the Lakes.

NEW GRAIN RATES.

Pennsylvania Announces Increase of Rate on Lake Grain Shipments.

Philadelphia, March 9.—An announcement was made today by the Pennsylvania railroad of new rates on lake grain shipments, which will become effective with the opening of navigation on April 15. It is also announced that with the going into effect of the new rates, which are slightly higher than those which prevailed when lake navigation closed, the outturn weights will no longer be guaranteed, but will be guaranteed to be at least 48 pounds per bushel.

The grain will be weighed upon its arrival at the ports. Under the old guaranteeing of the out-turn weights, which was practically the cargo weight at Chicago or some other point, the railroad claims it was mulcted through loss in drying out and shrinkage, since it had to make good the loss in weight under the guarantee.

The rates agreed upon, which will go into effect at Buffalo on April 15, are as follows:

TO NEW YORK.	Old.	New.
Wheat	5.00	5.25
Rye	4.50	4.75
Barley	4.00	4.25
Corn	3.50	3.75
Oats	3.00	3.25

TO PHILADELPHIA.	Old.	New.
Wheat	4.75	5.00
Rye	4.25	4.50
Barley	3.75	4.00
Corn	3.25	3.50
Oats	2.75	3.00

The trunk line traffic officials have not arranged the commodity freight rates, but the rates on manufactured iron have been increased about 20 cents per ton.
The minimum rate in classified freight.
It is announced that the change so as to increase the weight of carloads from 20, 000 to 40,000 pounds.

KENOSHA SOCIETY IS GIVEN A SENSATION.

Kenosha, Wis., March 9.—A sensation
was created here when it became known that District Attorney Baker
had called to his office and questioned
a young woman, prominent in the younger circles of society, in an effort to secure evidence which he will use
at the trial of Edward Collier, who yesterday was held for trial on the charge
of having run down with an automobile
and killed William Dwyer.

The report of the district attorney's action has served to put the "automobile
crowd," which includes many well-known persons in Kenosha society, "on edge." It is reported that it is Mr.
Baker's intention to call other well-known women of the city to tell what they know about automobile trips on the night on which it is alleged that Collier killed Dwyer.

I have been planned to keep the discovery of the "woman in the case" as completely a secret as possible, and for this reason she was called to the district attorney's office at 10 o'clock at night and questioned.

THE WHOLE FAMILY.

Mother Finds a Food for Grown-Ups and Children as Well.

Food that can be eaten with relish and benefit by the children as well as the older members of the family, makes a pleasant household commodity.

Such a food is Grape-Nuts. It not only agrees with and builds up children, but older persons who, from bad habits of eating, have become dyspeptics.

A Philadelphia lady, after being benefited herself, persuaded her husband to try Grape-Nuts for stomach trouble. She writes:

"About eight years ago I had a severe attack of congestion of stomach and bowels. From that time on I had to be very careful about eating, as nearly every kind of food then known to me seemed to cause pain.

"Four years ago I commenced to use Grape-Nuts. I grew stronger and better, and from that time I have seldom am without it. I have gained in health and strength and am now heavier than I ever was.

"My husband was also in a bad condition—his stomach became so weak that he could eat hardly anything with comfort. I got him to use Grape-Nuts, and he soon found his stomach trouble had disappeared.

"My girl and boy, 3 and 9 years old, do not want anything else for breakfast but Grape-Nuts, and more healthy children cannot be found."

UNIONISTS WIN GREAT VICTORY

By Decision of Court on Presbyterian Church
Controversy.

Evansville, Ind., March 9.—Judge
Glenister of the superior court today
rendered a decision in the Presbyterian church union controversy, in which the unionists won an overwhelming victory.

The decision was on two cases, one from Washington, Ind., in which the anti-unionists sued for possession of church property, and the other from Vincennes, Ind., in which the unionists asked for an injunction to prevent the anti-unionists from interfering with their possession of the property.

The issue turned upon the legality of the union and the constitutional right of the two Presbyterian churches to enter into the union.
In an elaborate decision the judge
recounts the history of the many Presbyterian unions in the past 200
years, and decided that such union
action amounts to an adherent constitutional right to form any union
that the churches might adopt, if action is taken in conformity with their own law.

This he decided has been done in every particular in these two cases.

HIGH RENT STIMULATES THE DEMAND FOR HOMES

Another West First Street Deal Reported Closed This Week, Involving a Consideration of $27,000—A. D. Thomson Said to Have Purchased East End Location for New Residence.

Advances in the rentals of houses and flats, effective May 1, have stimulated the inquiry for homes. Already the increased inquiry is being noted by the local real estate brokers and a number of negotiations have been started that may result in former tenants buying homes and breaking loose from the "rent habit." Some pretty large trades are said to have come near the closing point this week, and there are indications that some lively trading is likely to occur very soon in centrally located first street property. Besides the two transactions referred to in The Herald last Saturday, that of the old Board of Trade livery barn property, and the option on the southwest corner of First street and Fourth avenue west, it is understood that an unimproved 50-foot property near the corner has changed hands at a good figure and that the title to another improved property not far from Third avenue west and First street will be transferred before the end of the coming week. The demand for homes in the suburbs is increasing steadily and there is every indication that the present season will witness a large building movement in those localities conveniently reached from the street car lines.

A 50-foot vacant property on the lower side of First street between Fourth and Fifth avenues west, is said to have been sold this week for $27,500. The property adjoins the lots occupied by the livery barn and is described as the fourth lot from the Fourth avenue west corner. The lot was formerly owned by Eastern parties. The name of the purchaser is not divulged. Negotiations for the sale of the 75-foot property on the corner of First street and Fourth avenue west are likely to be closed before many days. The sale is being made through the office of N. J. Upham & Co. It is understood that

J. T. Michaud has sold C. E. Wilde, for $5,700, a residence property on the lower side of Jefferson street between Thirtieth and Fourteenth avenues west, described as lot 11, block 4, Banning & Ray's sub-division of Duluth.

M. F. Bates has purchased from Mary Trotter a residence property on the lower side of Third street, between Third and Fourth avenues west, for $4,750. The property is described as the east half of lot 60, West Third street.

H. Ball has sold Victor Johnson two houses and two lots on the East side of Fifty-fourth avenue west, near Gosnell street, for $2,800. The properties are described as lots 11 and 12, block 17, West Duluth, First division.

W. H. Crager has purchased from Julius Benson a residence on the west side of Sixth avenue west, near Green street, for $3,300. The property is known as lot 4, block 128, West Duluth, Fifth division.

The St. John's Baptist church society has sold H. W. Johnson a 75-foot property at the southwest corner of Twenty-third avenue west and First street for $2,100. The property is described as the northerly 70 feet of lot 370, and the northerly 70 feet of the east half of lot 372, block 50, Second division.

S. S. Williamson, the real estate dealer, has closed negotiations this week to build a residence for Ernest Fuller on Woodland avenue above Sixth street. The house will be located on lot 18, block 27, East Lawn division, the ground having been sold for $1,000. The house will be erected this spring. Mr. Williamson has sold the northeast corner of Fourth street and First avenue west to parties who will make an extensive improvement thereon this year. The two houses now occupying the corner will be moved to the rear of the lots and a 6-flat building will be built by Aug. 1, next. Each flat will contain four rooms nicely finished. They will have both gas and electricity. Another sale included lot 15, West Fourth street, on which a 2-flat brick building is to be erected.

N. J. Upham & Co. have sold a lot at the corner of Nineteenth avenue west and Second street. The lot will be improved with a brick residence.

E. S. Campau has sold a cottage property on Minnesota avenue, to Erick Erickson, for $1,300.

A. Terryberry, the architect, is getting out plans for the Norwegian Methodist church building and parsonage that are to be erected on the northeast corner of Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street. The church will be of a ground size of 68 by 48 feet. It will be built of brick, with brownstone trimmings and when completed will cost in the neighborhood of $18,000. The building will have seating capacity for 450 people. Mr. Terryberry is taking bids for a three-story brick building on London road, between Eleventh and Twelfth avenues east, for Whitney Wall, agent. The building will cost in the neighborhood of $12,000.

Bray & Nystrom, the architects, are getting out plans for a handsome eight-room brick residence to be erected this season for Martin Rosendahl, at the southwest corner of Twenty-first avenue east and Third street.

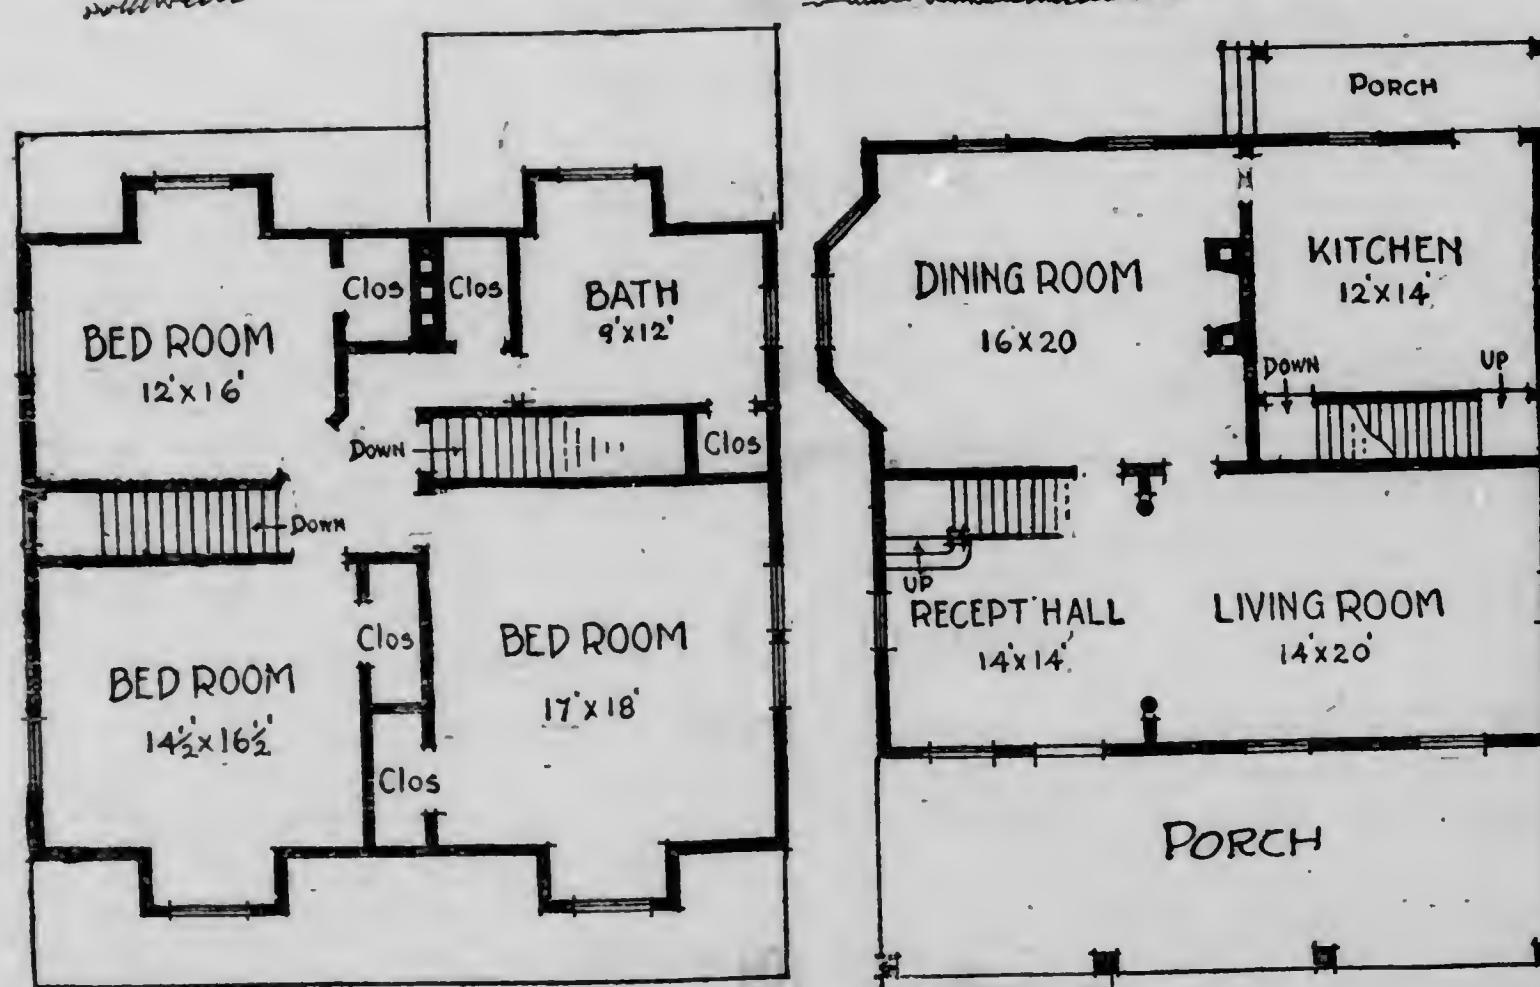

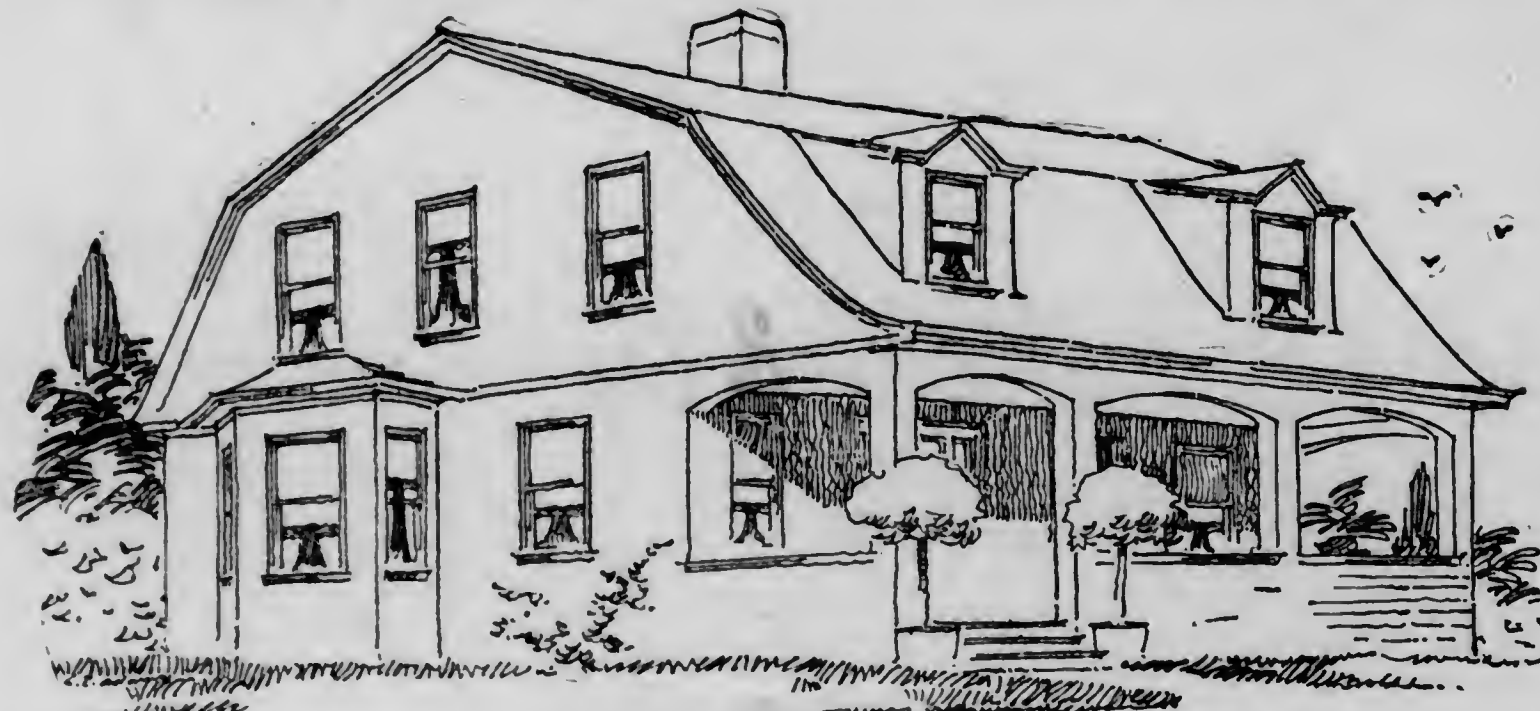

J. J. Murphy of Woodstock, Ill., who is one of the out of town capitalists largely interested in Duluth realty, was in the city several days during the past week, looking after his property interests.

John D. Larson has sold Christine Olson, a residence property at the southeast corner of Fifth street and Twenty-second avenue east. The consideration was $2,700.

Plans for the proposed new brewery of the People's Brewing company of Duluth have been prepared by Detroit architects. The brewery

DO YOU OWN ANYTHING IN THE LINE OF REAL ESTATE IN DULUTH, that you wish to sell? If you do I want to see you.

I HAVE FOR SALE ONE OF THE BEST IMPROVED BUSINESS PROPERTIES, centrally located, that I can sell AT A BARGAIN; in fact I can offer you this property at a price that is thirty per cent lower than it could be replaced for today. The location is one of the best, if not the best in the city. The condition of the property is A-1, is well located and EARNING AN INCOME OF EIGHT PER CENT, PER ANNUM, NET. If you are interested you are cordially invited to call in and see me, please do not telephone.

I ALSO HAVE A DELIGHTFULLY ARRANGED, MODERN HOUSE, LOCATED in the very best neighborhood, IN THE EAST END. It would be almost impossible for me to explain the interior arrangement, in this advertisement, except to say that it is just about right and has all modern improvements. The lot is a large one, sodded and graded. The view obtained is one of those grand views, for which Duluth is noted. THE PRICE IS LESS THAN FIFTEEN THOUSAND DOLLARS, and it is a bargain, as the house alone could not be constructed for the price asked for the house and lot. If you are looking for a comfortable home in Duluth's best neighborhood, do not fail to see me at once.

I AM IN THE RENTING BUSINESS and the demand for stores, flats and houses is greater than the supply. I personally look after the management of improved properties. If you have stores, flats, or houses that you wish to rent, and wish me to look after the collection of rents, and take full charge and manage same for you, I would be pleased to act as your agent; it is a part of my business, in fact it is a special line in my office.

The demand for apartments is a most pressing one and is rapidly increasing. I have a large number of applications every day for modern steam-heated apartments, consisting of four to nine rooms each, and I could rent fifty of such apartments, if they were to be had.

This city of ours is growing as it never grew before and will continue to grow right along, and the demand next fall will be greater for houses than at the present time. APARTMENT HOUSES PAY BIG DIVIDENDS, and in other cities are considered splendid investments and where conditions are nowhere as favorable as in Duluth. If you are interested in this question, I can show you some choice locations on which buildings of this sort would fill the bill, and would like to talk the subject over with you. I WILL FURNISH THE TENANTS if you will furnish the buildings, and there is no doubt in my mind but that I could rent every apartment before such building would be one-half finished.

Do not forget that this is a time of year when leases are being made for offices. I have charge of the Palladio, Manhattan and Torrey Buildings. These buildings contain about three hundred and twenty-five (325) offices in all, with only a few of the choice offices left to offer; do not delay in making your selections, as later you may have to take the ones left. I am prepared to make leases from one (1) to five (5) years.

I WRITE FIRE INSURANCE, and would be pleased to write that policy of yours.

I WRITE SURETY BONDS, Fidelity, Contract and Court Bonds. If you want bonds, call on me.

Monyoce Ali, American by Expansion, Wants to Return Home.

Monyoce Ali, mascot of the Ninth United States cavalry, just returned from duty in the Philippines, a Hawaiian by birth and an American by "Expansion," was in some respects the most interesting prisoner who has been brought into the police station for some time.

Monyoce was arrested for disturbing the peace in the Savoy theater. He wore a picturesque conical cap.

Duluth Has to Bow to the Inevitable—Scores of Citizens Prove It.

After reading the public statement of this representative citizen of Duluth, given below, you must come to this conclusion: A remedy which cured years ago, which has kept the kidneys in good health since, can be relied upon to perform the same work in other cases. Read this:

Mrs. Agnes McKay of 125 Nineteenth Avenue West, Duluth, Minn., says: "It is now six years since I first recommended Doan's Kidney Pills through our local papers, and I have just as much faith in them today as ever. I do not like to have my name appear in the local papers in this way, but Doan's Kidney Pills are such a reliable remedy that I would like every sufferer from kidney trouble to know about them. The symptoms of kidney trouble are well known. Headache and bearing down pains across the small of the back are quickly banished by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills, and in my case my whole system was invigorated and generally toned up. I have not had a return of the trouble since using your remedy."

POISON ENOUGH TO KILL SIX MEN

Found in the Stomach of Millionaire Preston at Autopsy.

New York, March 9.—An autopsy held yesterday by Coroner's Physician O'Hanlon disclosed, it was subsequently stated, that Leonard Preston, a millionaire, who died suddenly Thursday at the Hotel Cumberland, had enough hydrocyanic poison in his stomach to kill six men.

Coroner Harbinger immediately reported the case to the police and detectives were set to work upon several mysterious circumstances connected with the case. Mr. Preston was New York manager for the Timken Hall road bearing axle company and had an office in West Forty-sixth street.

Mr. Preston died while telephoning to some acquaintances. The hotel physician, who was called in when Mr. Preston succumbed, gave the opinion that death had been caused by a cerebral hemorrhage.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS.

A blizzard has raged throughout Newfoundland for the past 48 hours, blocking railroads and damaging shipping. An unknown fishing vessel with a crew of seven men foundered on the south coast of the island and all hands were lost. A sensation was caused in the California legislature yesterday when Rev. Mr. Schieler regretted that the Sunday law, the anti-prize light and the anti-race track bills and other moral measures had failed to pass the legislature and and was attired in a blue army coat, the cut and buttons of which gave credit to his tale of military life. Monyoce did not seem to realize that he was a full fledged American, and wanted to go where he could get a Hawaiian consul to send him back to his own country. He was of the opinion that he had been discriminated against by the theatrical people, because of his color and carefully explained that everybody was the same, white or black, in Hawaii.

He said he was no common nigger from Africa, and that he wanted to get back home. He has been at the head of the Lakes about two weeks, coming directly here after leaving the cavalry. Monyoce asserted that he was 22 years old, but his diminutive figure and childlike voice made it hard to believe. He was released and ordered to take the next car for Superior.

DULUTH HYDROGRAPHIC OFFICE AS AID TO MARINERS OF GREAT LAKES

Sailors Study Navigation There During Winter Months.

Government Keeps Them Well Informed of Hidden Dangers.

What do the shipmasters and mariners of the Great Lakes do to pass away the time during the long winter months when navigation is closed? This is a source of wonder to many Duluth people, who see so much of the lake men every winter. It is known that few of them have any actual employment during the winter season, and it is generally supposed that they spend their time in lounging about club rooms or playing cards.

It is true that a part of their time is spent in this manner, but it is not true that they do nothing else in the winter months. With the majority of the pilots and sailors who are idle in the winter, the time from the closing to the opening of navigation is used industriously by them to improve their nautical knowledge, and to become better acquainted with the various lake routes and lights and signals.

In a quiet, airy office on the top floor of the Torrey buildings sits a pleasant-faced gentleman, surrounded by charts, maps, compasses, sextants, barometers and other paraphernalia suggesting things nautical. The office is the government hydrographic station, and the pleasant faced gentleman is Capt. Albert Swenson, nautical expert in charge. Capt. Swenson is in the employ of the United States navy, and has a diploma showing that he is capable of acting as a ship-master on any ocean or fresh water body.

It is in this office and around this pleasant-faced gentleman that the sailors and mariners congregate every winter. Here they are surrounded by the government hydrographic office and with them are measured the units of time every day in the year. Having obtained these units of time at a big expense of time and labor, the government distributes them free to all the inhabitants of the country. Thus the blue signs with the white letters, "U. S. Standard Time" seen on a clock guarantees that timepiece to be correct.

An appreciation of the benefits of this service has resulted in the most minute system of co-operation on the part of the mariner. The sailor is always anxious to be warned of new dangers to navigation, moving shoals, shoals, derelicts and other dangers to navigation. Therefore, when he discovers a peril which has not come to the general knowledge of his brethren, he immediately notifies the nearest hydrographic office. The sailor's report is the basis of the report printed in the government notice to mariners, a weekly publication distributed at the times in all scientific discoveries and adapted them to the needs of the territory over which they are in charge. The work of the office on the Great Lakes is, in fact, the most important of its kind.

The government maintains hydrographic offices at five ports on the Great Lakes, namely, at Buffalo, Cleveland, Chicago, Sault Ste. Marie and Duluth, and the men in charge of these offices are required to keep abreast of the times in all scientific discoveries and adapt them to the needs of the territory over which they are in charge. The work of the office on the Great Lakes is, in fact, the most important of its kind.

There is one point, however, where the fresh and salt water sailors must join hands, for it belongs equally to piloting and to navigation, and that is, the compass. Together they must fight their natural enemy, the tendency of the magnetic needle to point anywhere but true north, and it is to learn more about this error, and how to find and correct it, that the Great Lakes mariners are daily calling at the local hydrographic office. They sometimes come in twos and threes, and sometimes spend the whole day there, and at other times spend only a few hours or less. The work of the office is the most important of its kind.

big cabinet which contains the astronomical chronograph and on the right is another clock. The chronograph is connected by electric wires to the standard clock and for five minutes every day, Capt. Swenson watches the machine and the clock and if the great timepiece is off a fraction of a second, it must be reset. A pen attachment on the chronometer marks each second on a roll of paper as it is received. In case of storm, when the wires to Washington may be down or faulty, a reference to the standard chronometer will tell if the big clock is correct or not.

The hydrographic office, situated as it is at the top floor of the Torrey building, is an interesting place for any person whether he is nautically inclined or not. The view from the windows, out upon the harbor and the lake beyond is one of the best in the city.

Friday—Leatherworkers at Labor World hall; Iron Molders at Sloan hall; Bricklayers at Axa hall; Ship Carpenters at Sloan hall.

The business of most importance to the laboring men considered at last night's meeting of the Duluth Trades assembly, was the plan for securing a new hall or labor headquarters to be used by all labor organizations of the city. This matter was first brought up a month ago, since which time a committee has been looking up new locations.

Delegate Deroche, who is a member of the committee, reported that several halls had been investigated and that the most suitable, which had been found up to date was on the third floor of the Axa building, where the organizations could have three fair sized halls, besides one or more committee and reading rooms.

W. E. McEwen, with whom the committee has been working in the hall matter, also recommended the Axa hall, and explained the size of the hall and the cost per month which would be charged the labor organizations. He added, however, that as a definite answer concerning this hall had to be given the agent today, it was impossible to engage the hall.

Upon the recommendation of Mr. McEwen, a committee was appointed to assist the regular committee to interview the members of the various local unions and see if they are in favor of establishing a general labor headquarters. If this is found to be the case, a board of directors will be organized to control the hall and it will be run on the same basis as the labor pavilion at Fairmount park.

Several other good halls were suggested by members and it is thought that by next meeting night the committee will have some good propositions to lay before the trades assembly. The present quarters are to be vacated on May 1.

TACK THIS UP.

At the first sign of backache or pain in the region of the kidneys, or weakness and urinary trouble, the following simple prescription should be used:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

Any good prescription pharmacy will supply these three ingredients at small cost, which can easily be mixed by shaking well in a bottle. This is said to force the kidneys to filter their acid and poisons from the blood, overcoming the worst cases of rheumatism.

the street railways of Duluth and the Twin Cities to grant six fares for a quarter, was ordered corrected by the committee to read ten fares for a quarter.

"I believe that we ought not to compromise in this matter," said Mr. McEwen. "We are among the first to propose the half fare for school children and workingmen and I think that we should stick to that. The street railways of all three cities are earning so much money for the company that it can easily afford to grant this."

"It is my opinion that the street railway company has seen the handwriting on the wall, and the thing to do is to grant the half fare unless a compromise can be effected. They will fight it in the courts anyway, but they would prefer to grant the six-fares-for-a-quarter proposition than the half fare one. The compromise was started in Minneapolis and it is well known that the city council of that city is controlled by the Lowry interests."

The original resolution, which has been framed by the committee appointed at the meeting two weeks ago were corrected to read ten fares instead of six, and the secretary was directed to send copies to all of the representatives and senators from the Duluth legislative district.

A communication from the Moyer-Hayward-Pettibone protest conference of Philadelphia asking for the opinion of the local trades assembly on the best methods to assist these three men, who are being persecuted in Idaho, was read. The communication was referred to a committee to be reported upon at the next meeting.

This communication was the cause of the adoption of a resolution by the assembly protesting against the treatment to which Moyer, Hayward and Pettibone have been subjected, and asking the governor of Idaho to grant a fair and speedy trial to them. The men have been under arrest for about a year charged with the assassination of the former governor of Idaho.

A letter was received from Representative C. B. Miller, acknowledging the receipt of the resolution endorsing the initiative and referendum bill which is now before the legislature, which the assembly voted at the last meeting. Mr. Miller stated that there was still some hopes that the bill would be passed, but the workers needed all the encouragement they could get.

Credentials were read last evening for the following new delegates: D. Pierce, leatherworkers; John Erickson, cement workers; W. S. Granger, machinists; H. L. Conway, typographical union; S. Z. Barnard and E. J. Dillon, switchmen, and C. H. Coppernall, barbers. The new delegates were all present and were obligated.

THE MEANING OF "CALIBER." Philadelphia Record: All who have to do with firearms know that the word "caliber" refers to the diameter of the bore of a shooting piece. Thus a pistol of .22-caliber means one in which the diameter of the bore is one-hundredth of an inch in diameter, while a .45-caliber means one with a diameter of forty-five hundredths. There is, however, a more extended use of the word, which is understood by comparatively few people outside of army and navy circles and gun-makers. A .45-caliber .45 means a .45 in diameter, which is fifty times six inches, or twenty-five feet long, and a half inch long. This nomenclature is found convenient because the shooting qualities of a piece depend in some measure on the ratio of its length to its diameter.

Palatable Recipes for Home Cooks.

By EMMA PADDOCK TELFORD.

Soda Used With Beans.

Dear Mrs. Telford: Would you kindly oblige me by telling what kind of soda is used in preparing pork and beans? C. M.

The soda used is the ordinary baking soda. The object in using it is to increase the digestibility of the beans, parboiling them with soda in the proportion of a half teaspoonful to a pound of beans and two quarts of water. The soda enters into chemical combination with the proteid material, removes the skins and modifies the gaseous character of the bean.

Hot House Asparagus.

Dear Mrs. Telford: Could you tell me which is the proper way of cooking and serving hot house asparagus? About how much would be needed for a party of six or eight diners?

Is there any medicinal value in asparagus?

Asparagus has pronounced medicinal value. In its effect on the kidneys it almost equals Lithia water, while it is also a blood purifier. It is very digestible, and is allowed invalids while other vegetables are withheld. Hot house asparagus is usually served en branche, two bunches making ample supply for eight diners. Treat the asparagus simply yet carefully. Cut off the woody part, scrape and clean, washing thoroughly, then tie with string into bundles of five or six shoots each, taking care to have the heads even, so that the stalks may be cut off at the bottom, leaving them of equal length. Put into deep saucepan with the cut end resting on the bottom. Pour in boiling water to come up to the tender heads, but not to cover them. Add a teaspoonful salt for each quart of water and place where the water will boil quite fast, having the cover half off the steam pan. Cook from fifteen to thirty minutes, or until tender. This will depend upon the freshness of the vegetable. Have ready some slices of toast without crust and lay them for sippets at the bottom of individual or a large service dish. Butter lightly. Take the bundles of asparagus from the boiling water, using great care to prevent the heads falling off. Lay them upon the toast and unite them upon it, allowing the asparagus to fall so that it will all lie in one way and the sippet be moistened with the water from the asparagus. Melted butter, with the juice of a lemon to every pint, may be poured over it or served separately in a boat. In Paris and other Continental cities oiled butter is often served with asparagus.

The large white asparagus is sometimes eaten with grated Gruyere cheese and melted butter. Many gourmets prefer their asparagus cold. Hot or cold, a plain vinaigrette sauce of salt, pepper, oil and vinegar, or lemon juice, with finely minced herbs, brings out the flavor delightfully.

Mince Pie.

Weigh after it is chopped three pounds lean, tender beef. Add to it a pound and a quarter of suet chopped and freed from strings, six pounds tart apples, preferably Baldwins or greenings, chopped, six pounds sugar, four pounds seeded raisins, three pounds currants, washed and dried, one-half pound citron cut in thin shreds, three pints sweet cider, one quart of stock in which the meat was boiled, three pints cider boiled down thick, three tablespoonsful powdered cinnamon, two tablespoonsful cloves, one teaspoonful each mace, allspice and nutmeg, two tablespoonsful salt, one teaspoonful white pepper, one pint molasses, three pints jelly and as much more juice of preserves or jelly as the housewife may elect. Brandy, sherry or rose water may be added at the last if desired. Chopped prunes are deemed better than currants by some cooks, while candied orange or lemon peel, a little cold tea or coffee may always be added with advantage. This mincemeat may be scalded before putting in the brandy or simply canned in glass jars or stone pots without cooking its richness insuring its keeping. For the flat dweller, with no storeroom facilities, this amount of mincemeat might have to be halved or quartered, but with a good cellar or cold storage room the amount will be found just about right to last the winter for the average family with normal appetites.

Jet Jewelry is Very Popular Now.

COPY OF ANTIQUE BRACELET—ROSES CARVED IN JET.

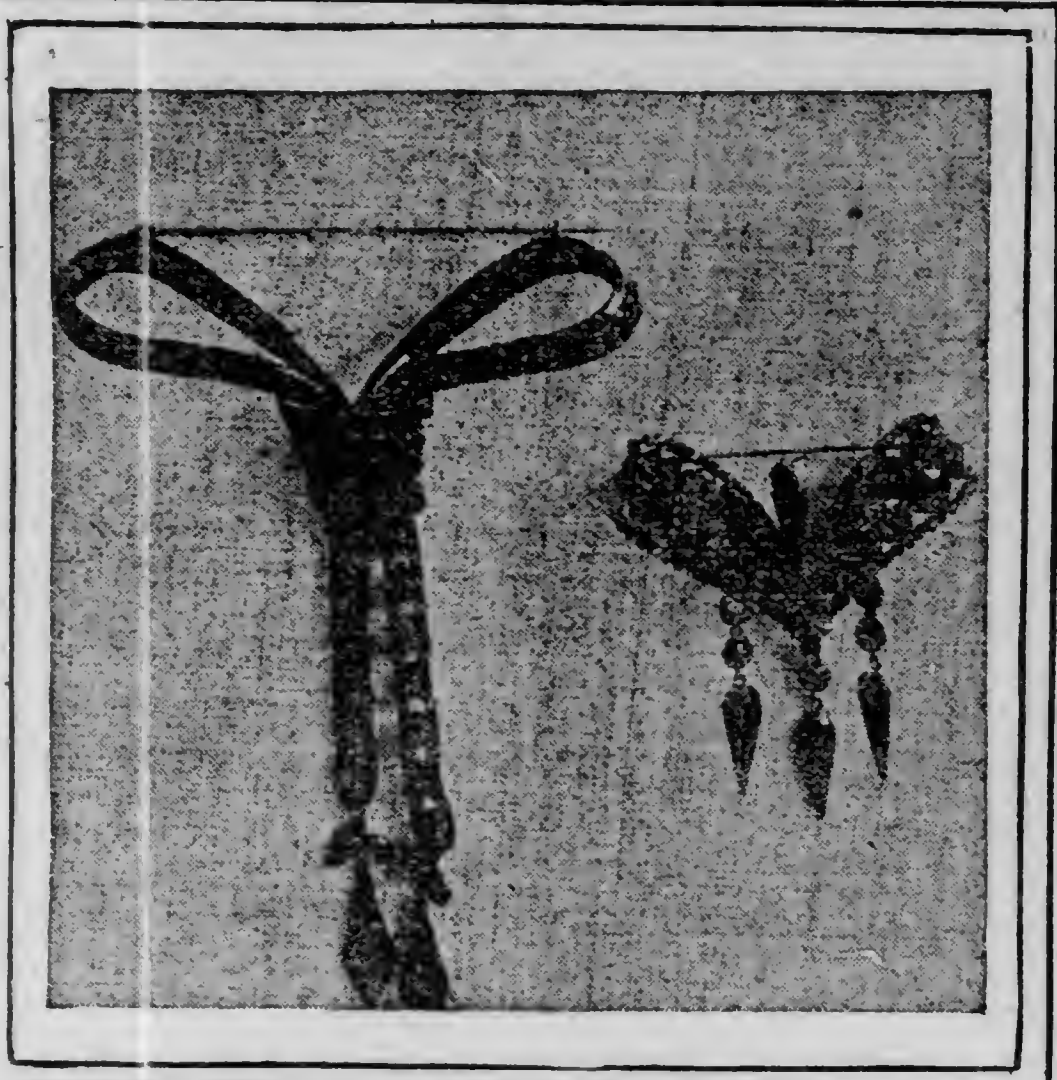

MASSIVE JET NECKLACES.

Jet jewelry is popular and is now being worn to the exclusion of many of the bright and glittering stones that have so long been smart. Necklaces of jet, copies of antiques are especially stylish and are favorites with women for both afternoon and evening wear, because of their massive and unusual appearance. Some of these necklaces are beautifully carved with medallion-like heads and intricate scroll or geometric designs. The chain proper is frequently a series of flat or round portions of jet connected with links or tiny beads. To the front of these chains three or four ornaments—large and of shapes that correspond with the chain, are attached and give curious—almost barbaric appearance.

Nearly as heavy as Romanesque as these necklaces are the wide bracelets of jet that are so much affected. Many of them are round and perfectly plain, with the exception of an oval shield-like decoration in the center, while others are elaborately carved, being covered with roses, leaves and vines, finely cut to bring out all the minute curves, etc., of the flowers.

Hair ornaments made in imitation of bow-knots, sheafs of wheat and wild flowers, are decidedly stunning in jet, as are the corsage pins used with evening gowns.

CORSAGE PINS IN JET.

ODD HAIR ORNAMENTS.

party is by no means difficult to undertake successfully. About twenty guests is a good number to invite, as a larger gathering would entail more elaborate preparations and consequently more expense and trouble.

Having decided on a suitable date, send out invitations about ten days in advance. If you are acquainted with two or three good amateurs who can sing, play accompaniments at sight, act, whistle or do anything to help in amusing the other guests, send out their invitations among the first, and secure the promise of their assistance.

For a small party the company should be asked to come about a quarter to nine, though the time depends much on the locality, etc., and on arrival the ladies must be shown to a room provided with a looking-glass, comb, brush, pins, etc., to take off their wraps, while the gentlemen remove their coats and hats in the hall. The hostess receives her guests in the drawing room, where coffee placed on a side table may be offered. Playing games will fill in the evening, and a good one for this is "revealed identities."

The whole party must be placed in a circle, after choosing one of their number to go out of the room. This individual then thinks of a person in the circle, and goes back to the room to be questioned ten times successively by each member of the company, whose endeavor it is to find out the name of the person of whose identity the outsider is thinking. The questions may be most searching; in fact, anything except the actual name, but the person who replies may give as misleading answers as he or she can. The member of the party who succeeds in discovering the identity will take the place outside the circle next time.

Adverbs Is Another.

In this case each player calls him or herself an adverb, such as joyfully, gracefully, calmly, miserably, cruelly, etc. One member of the party then takes up a book and begins to read out a page. As the adverbs occur which are represented by any person present he or she has to rise and endeavor to express the same by means of gesture or facial expression. This proceeding will be found to cause much amusement.

"Clumps" is a game that divides the party in two, one half remaining in the room, the other half going outside. Those who are seated think of some great historical event known by everyone, and the first member of the visiting half comes in and asks a leading question of each person in succession, which may enable him to discover what they are thinking. Should this prove a futile attempt on his part, he retires and another member of his clump takes his place, and so on until the secret is disclosed, and the two clumps change sides.

About o'clock a move may be made to the dining-room. The refreshments should take the form of a light stand-up supper, which can easily be managed by an ordinary cook. Sandwiches, fancy cakes and biscuits, with claret cup or lemonade, are all that is necessary; but the table should be prettily lighted and decorated with flowers, sweets and crackers, the pulling of which always causes great mirth and jollity. The claret cup and lemonade in large jugs should be placed on the sideboard with the necessary number of glasses.

REPORTER'S BRIGHT THOUGHT. Indianapolis Star: Charles M. Jacobs, the chief engineer of the Pennsylvania railroad tunnel under the North river, recently conducted a party of railroad officials and reporters through the superb tunnel on foot.

At one stage of the program there was some slight delay, and Mr. Jacobs said, with a laugh to the reporter:

"We are not very punctual, eh? We are like a little country railroad that I used to ride on."

"To the president of this road a reporter went hurriedly one evening. 'I understand,' he said, 'that there has been an accident on your line tonight.'"

"Oh, you do, do you?" said the president, with a sneer.

"Yes, sir," and the reporter waited, pencil and paper in hand.

"What do you know about this accident?" the president, still sneering, asked.

"Nothing, except that it happened to the 2:15 train," the reporter meekly answered.

"Well, said the president, 'that train came in on time to the minute.'"

"Are you sure of that?" said the reporter.

"Of course, I am, sir."

"The disappointed reporter pocketed his tools."

"I suppose," he said thoughtfully, "that must have been the accident referred to."

Princess Gown for Reception or Theater.

This smart princess costume is a splendid model for the home dress, makes to copy for it has the appearance of being elaborately trimmed, while in reality it is simply made on light fitting lines, and decorated with ribbon flowers fashioned like sweet peas in their beautiful variety of coloring. The high neck and puff elbow sleeves are a style that makes this garment appropriate for afternoon reception or for theater use if it is so desired.

Spring Wraps of Silk Like Last Year's Styles.

By A. T. ASHMORE.

Spring wraps in serge and flannel, prettily lined with light colored silks, will be worn this coming season, as will the thin mohair, linen and pique jackets.

The styles of these modish coats are not noticeably different from those used a year ago, though there are several supposedly new designs shown in the shops. Among them there is a particularly smart kind of garment that has a long shaped shoulder cape which is caught down on each side of the arm hole and thus takes the place of sleeves, but the old loose wrap with full long coat sleeves is still in vogue. Indeed a three-quarter length loose coat in white or light colored serge, worn with back velvet or colored silk or linen collar and cuffs is a most serviceable style of wrap. It may be made with the regular box back, like a driving coat, or to be set on a deep fitted yoke front and back, and shaped a little at the waist and hips like the so-called fitted empire garment. Sleeves are made full length on all simple coats and on a great many of the more elaborate models. The most popular shaped sleeve is a medium sized coat-like variety, full flat to shoulder and brought into a narrow cuff below the elbow and then finished off with narrow velvet or embroidered cuff at the wrist.

There are some light weight serges with a small check, rib or figure in the weave, that made into jackets, will be exceedingly attractive. White serge with a narrow line of black or of some color is not new this year, but will be used on many wraps, collars and cuffs and for coat and skirt suits. For light mourning, white serge or flannel, with tiny black stripes, makes an attractive wrap, and the collar and cuffs may be of plain white broadcloth, or of black silk, cloth or velvet. The newest jackets have a narrow band of white pique or linen inside all black collars, whether cloth or velvet, to the white, the white is an excellent plan, as black velvet usually rubs off, so that it is impossible to wear it directly against a face collar, and yet the velvet gives a most attractive finish to a wrap and is invariably most becoming.

Mohair is an excellent weight of cloth for hot weather, and a white jacket of this fabric is sure to be stylish. The material used may be plain, checked, striped, plaid or figured, whichever is desired, for there is now an almost indefinite number of qualities and designs in mohair, and of these the cheaper grades will give an immense amount of wear.

If one is tired of all white then the light shades of blue, pink or mauve mohair make up equally well. Fonce and rajah cloth, whether in the natural color, in white or in some light shade, is especially good for a light weight outer garment. The material will wash or clean readily, and while it is very light it possesses a fair amount of warmth also. This year the embroidered poncees are in great favor, sometimes the entire wrap being effectively embroidered, and again only the collar and cuffs and possibly a deep cape or pelerine.

Serviceable Lace Patterns for Decorations.

This lace design made either of course or fine threads is especially useful for ornamenting scarfs used on sideboards, bureaus, etc. Then, too, it could be put on underclothing as trimming and would be most effective.

The stitches of which this pattern is made are not difficult for an inexperienced person to work out, and the devices, all geometrical, are quite simple, being squares, with a few circles, to give variety.

For a sideboard scarf the design could be about the same width as the illustration above, but for trimming on underclothing it should be smaller.

St. Patrick's Day Games for Birthday Amusements.

Smart Parisian Wrap.

This stylish long cloth cloak for spring is smartly made with an Empire neck and a semi-fitting front that is comfortable for carriage use and for evening wear.

The yoke is trimmed with lace or figured silk, to give a bright, dressy touch, and falls over the sleeves in pointed caps that are strikingly pretty. The sleeves—full length, as is the fashion now—fall in large folds to the wrist and are finished with wide cuffs of lace or silk to match the decorative upper portion of the garment.

The skirt of the wrap is made on full, graceful lines that will commend the coat alike to slender and stout women. It is quite long, too, reaching almost to the ground, thus affording a real protection for sheer gowns, illustrated from L'Art de la Mode.

LOUDEST WHISTLE IN WORLD. New York Tribune: East St. Louis now has the loudest steam whistle in the world. It is a remarkable triple machine, with three voices—a three-chime whistler, whose capacity for the annihilation of peace is extraordinary. The whistle blows a ten-mile blast at half steam, and with favorable wind has a disturbing power of twenty miles. It costs $1 every time it is blown. But this great whistle is not all noise. It is an idea in economy, a whistle trust, a noise combine. Almost the little noises, yells, toots and whines of smaller mechanical threats in East St. Louis are now dumb. The giant whistle that whistles for them. The independent whistles have to whistle off time to be heard. Within the range of this whistle are said to be one hundred thousand people who tell time by it.

WERE TRAINED IN THE COLLEGE OF HARD KNOCKS

Leaders in Literature, Legislation, Finance, Transportation, Electricity and the Making of Steel Who Have Fought Their Way to the Highest Levels Without the Help of Schools---How Eight Self-Made Men of World-Wide Fame Have Won Out---Contrast Between the Training of J. Pierpont Morgan and His Greatest Rival in the Combination Line---Secretary Root's Strenuous Law Student Days.

By Dexter Marshall.

(Copyright, 1907, by Dexter Marshall.)

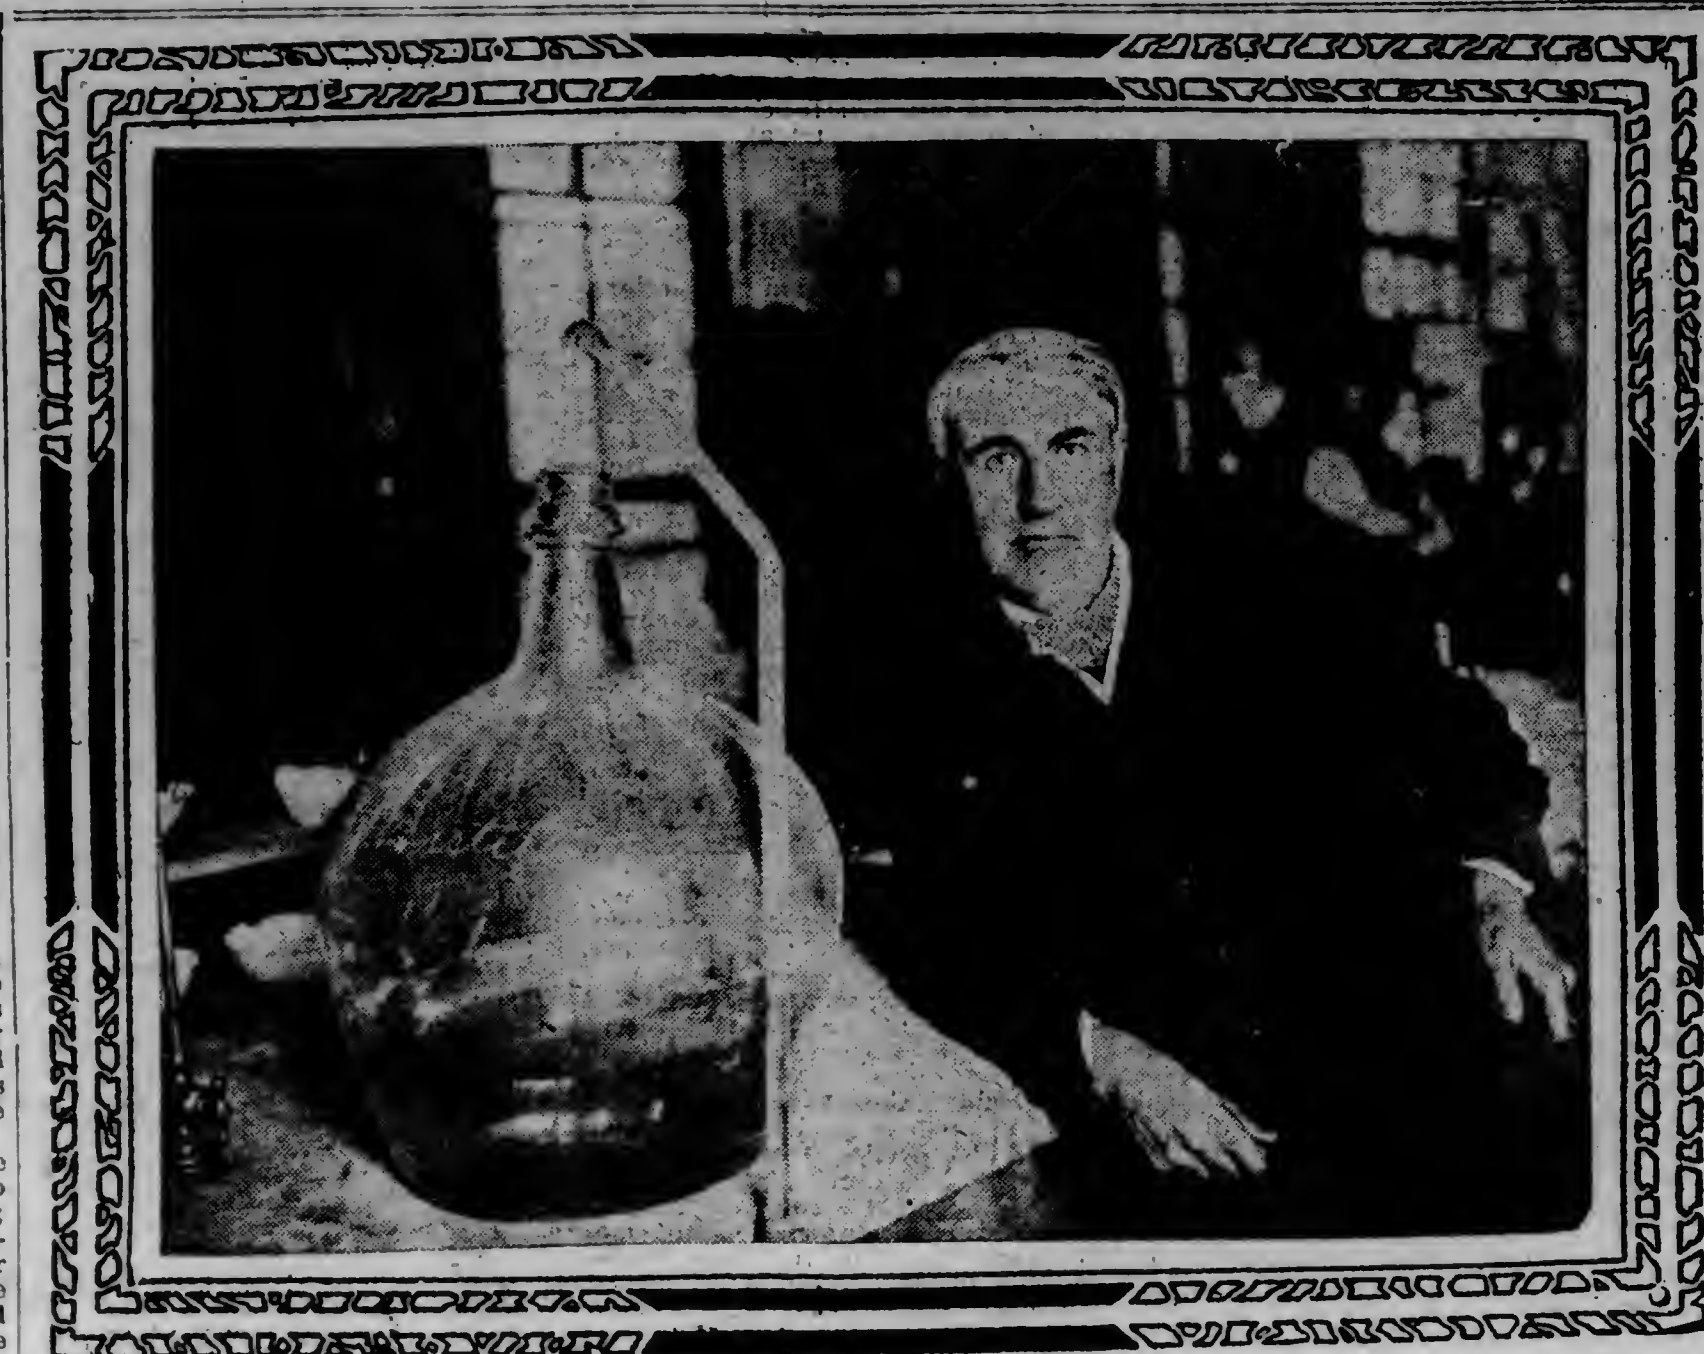

Thomas F. Ryan, owner of the Equitable Life Assurance society, head of no end of great corporations, and in whose pocket any number of relatively big financiers are supposed to rattles about like peas in a gourd, is generally as reticent as he is reported to be, and he never talks about himself.

If he could be induced to tell about his school days, the story would be well worth reading and comparing with the story of the school days of J. P. Morgan, the original reorganizer, so-called, whose work in the world Mr. Ryan has come nearer paralleling than any other man.

The two men were born almost half a generation apart, Morgan in 1837 and Ryan in 1851, and by 1879 Ryan arrived in New York. Morgan was well started disputing with the most learned doctors of Göttingen university over the most intricate problems of the higher mathematics and besting the doctors. Ryan was studying his little dog-eared arithmetic and arguing over the best ways to "do the examples" between his covers with the rural mathematics of Nelson county, Virginia. At the age when Morgan was trying to decide whether to accept a place in his father's great banking house, Ryan, seeing clearly that he could not win the goal to which he aspired in the country, was planning to seek his fortune in some great city.

You may know the story; how he got enough money together to go to Baltimore, his idea of a great city; how he tramped from door to door asking for work and finding none day after day, till all his money, save one lone twenty-five cent piece had disappeared from his pocket, and how at last he got a $3-a-week job on trial, with inand set out on his own career.

Thomas Fortune Ryan is not the only one of the men now in the top-most ranks in their respective callings whose education, aside from that gained in the "college of hard knocks," was gained mainly under the roof of a backwoods district schoolhouse.

Excellent Men of Little Schooling.
It is rather interesting that the scholarly William Dean Howells, by common consent the leading American novelist, and "Mark Twain," most widely read and most widely appreciated humorous writer in English, row living, both belong to that class. Howells did not go to school at all after he was 7 years old.

Thomas A. Edison, recognized as the most eminent practical electrician in the world today, despite the achievements of younger men in his line, didn't attend a country district school, because his boyhood was passed in and about Detroit, but his attendance at school didn't aggregate eight weeks altogether, and he never reached the grammar school grade.

William B. Allison, whose service in the United States senate has been the longest on record, and who also holds the record as chairman of the senate committee on appropriations, did manage to get two years of college training, one at Allegheny college, Meadville, Pa., and the other at Western Reserve college, Hudson, Ohio. But he had to work his way in both cases, and he got whatever he acquired of preparatory schooling in a log schoolhouse at Ashland, Ohio, and a decidedly primitive academy at Wooster, in the same state.

Andrew Carnegie, the steel master and library giver, went to school less than any of the others mentioned. Even more than Edison, perhaps, Carnegie had to hammer out his own way in both cases, and he got whatever he acquired of preparatory schooling in a log schoolhouse at Ashland, Ohio, and a decidedly primitive academy at Wooster, in the same state.

It would be hard to find a more typical hard knock school, or a more eminent half dozen, than the names of E. H. Harriman, the wonder of the age in railroad extension, and J. J. Hill, his great opponent in Pacific railroad, be added to the list, the eight will include a half dozen important walks of life.

You might not think of including Harriman because he wasn't a country boy, but he belongs among the self-educated all the same. He went first to a country school on Long Island, and afterward to a tiny school in New York, but he used to walk two or three miles every morning to get to the schoolhouse, and he fought for his training almost as hard as Hill, whom nobody would exclude. Neither of them went to college.

There isn't one of these eight who isn't envied by every young man in each of their callings—literature, legislation, railroad, finance, electricity and the making of steel—the whole country through.

Allison, the legislator, who was nearly 40 when the Civil war began, is the oldest of the eight; he is just past 75. Clemens, the humorist, comes next; he is 72. Howells, the novelist, comes next at 70. Morgan will be 70 in a few days, by the way, though he doesn't belong in this list. Carnegie, who does, decidedly, and who is so rich that he could buy up any two of the others, is also 70 this year. Edison, the electrician, is 60. Harriman is 59, while Ryan, bound, unless he dies young, to be richer than Carnegie, is only 56, the boy of the whole galaxy. Hill is 69.

Howells Had the Best Chance.
There was nothing in the boyhood or early training of any of these eight leaders among men that afforded special preparation for the life work chosen, except Howells. He was born into just the atmosphere that would naturally make a literary man out of such a boy as he was.

Ohio was his native state, as it was Allison's and the Elder Howells was conducting a country newspaper when the boy was born. He was not considered a strong lad, but his ambition was boundless, and he read and re-read not only the books of his father's library, which was unusually large and well selected for a country editor to possess, but also all the newspapers he could get hold of. That means practically all the big ones published in this country, since his father's paper, though not a big one, was highly thought of because of its ability, and its exchange list was large. For a boy who wasn't strong, William Dean Howells did a lot of work, too. Like every member of the Howells family, he took a regular job in the office years before he was ten. He began folding papers, but he learned to set type by the time he was eleven, and became so proficient at it that, while yet in his teens, his regular stint was 5,000 ems, the average day's work of any grown country compositor at that time. What is more surprising, the boy, according to his brother, Joseph A., who is still running the Howells family newspaper in Ohio, could set his 5,000 ems in half a day and was regularly allowed the other half day in which to read or study or play.

As a rule he didn't do much playing, and he never became an athlete, but one year he devoted more time than ever before to swimming and diving and skating, becoming an expert in these sports. He never did much shooting or fishing, however, presumably because he couldn't without losing too much time to fulfill his self-appointed task of keeping thoroughly posted on the world's news.

Young Howells expected to be a newspaper man all his life and what might be termed his graduation thesis was a political book—his first individual volume, by the way—a campaign "Life of Lincoln."

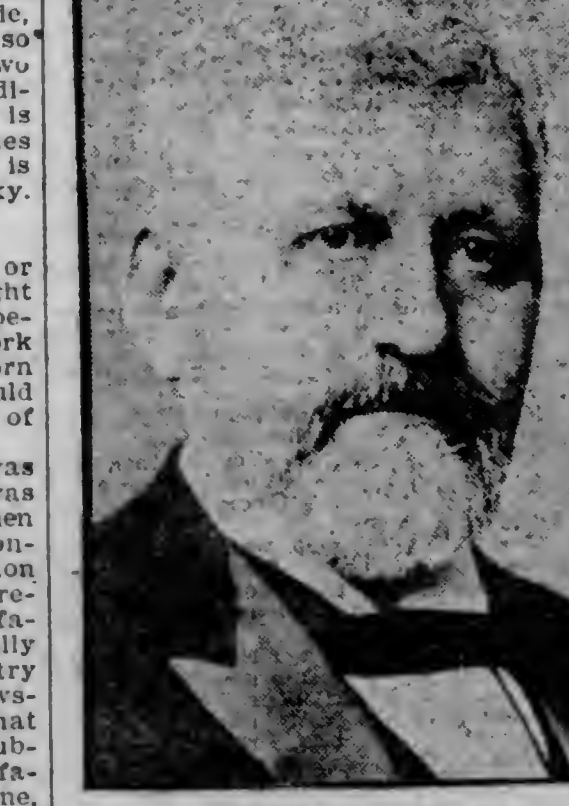

His first boy's writings, however, were avowedly literary. They included verses and fiction and essays for his father's paper, one of his pieces of fiction being a serial which he set up as he went along. He had so much trouble getting the installments ready on time, and finally in winding it up satisfactorily, that he sometimes talks about it to this day. In collaboration with J. J. Platt, he produced a volume of verse, "Poems of Two Friends," which was issued ahead of the "Life of Lincoln."

In his odd moments, when the boy wasn't settling type, writing news, literature or editorials, or claiming his few minutes a day for his own studies, he studied languages, by himself—Latin, Greek, French, German and Spanish. In the modern tongues he learned to read readily, though it is hardly probable that he acquired anything but an Ohio accent in any of them till he went abroad.

His father's activities were first at Hamilton, then Dayton, and then Jefferson, Ashland, Ohio. The boy's first work away from home was done as a compositor on the Columbus State Journal. Afterward he was news editor on the same paper, legislative correspondent for a Cincinnati paper and reporter in Cincinnati. He didn't like the last named job, because he had to write police court and crime. He made $250 in royalties on his "Life of Lincoln," and what was more to the purpose in his case, Lincoln was induced by John Hay and John Nicolay, the president's secretaries, to make him consul at Venice, after he had asked in vain for the consulate at Munich, and declined the one at Rome because it paid only $300 a year.

This was in 1861. The four years during which the Civil war raged were like a post-graduate course to the young printer-writer, since, though he did not neglect his work as consul, which included watching for Confederate privateers, he had time to absorb the best of the literature of Italy as he could have got in a four-years' university residence.

When he returned to America he was anxious to get work on a New York newspaper, not because he preferred journalism to literature, but simply to earn his living, but James T. Fields, the publisher, turned him into a more literary way of work, inviting him to Boston as sub-editor of the Atlantic. Howells had made the acquaintance before going to Venice of Lowell and Holmes, Hawthorne and Emerson, expending the last dollar of the $250 of profits on his Lincoln book on a visit to the Hub.

Only College Man in the Lot.
Nothing even remotely pointing to a distinguished legislative career was encountered by Allison, the only man in the lot who went to college in his school day years.

He had a particularly rough time as a boy. His father was a pioneer farmer, born in Pennsylvania, and settled in the Ohio woods. "Big Eyed Bill" Allison, as the boy was known, had to work ferociously most of the year at the clearing of forest land, and the planting of the land after it was cleared. He could go to school only a few weeks each winter, but fortunately for him the teacher in the log school house at Ashland, one David A. Kimberley, who afterward became a Methodist Episcopal bishop, liked the boy, and gave him much more time than any other pupil.

They knew each other away back in the late '30s and early '40s, when "boarding round" was in fashion. Kimberly slept oftener at the Allison log house than anywhere else in the district, and passed most of his Sundays there besides. This gave the boy an exceptional chance. It is recorded that he became the best arithmetician in the school, and that he could "spell down" everybody for miles around. When he was 16 his father, being more prosperous than formerly, sent him to the Wooster academy, where he was known as the best natured as well as the clumsiest boy in the school. The Senator Allison of today is one of the best posted members of the upper house at Washington.

Young Allison had to earn his own way, both at Meadville and at Hudson, and he spent some time between his terms at Wooster and Meadville as a country school teacher. His roommate at Meadville was one Cyrus K. Holliday, and the two boys had to make their own meals, make their own bed and do their own general housework. How Allison studied law after leaving the Western Reserve college, how he drifted into politics, how he settled in Iowa, and became one of Lincoln's friends and was sent to Washington when still a young man, and how he became the master of government finance that has been for some decades—all this is part of a nation's history.

Edison Had the Worst Chance.
Edison had a poorer chance for his white alley than any other of the eight, and the story of his rough and tumble training for the battle of real life has been oftener told.

As a train "news boy," when a mere child, he had to help support his family, and he lost all hope of ever getting any schooling before he was 12. He did have a little leisure, though, and he spent a good deal of it in the Detroit public library, where he planned, at the tender age of 8 or 10, to read all the books in the place, so as to know all there was to be known. Puzzled as to how best to begin, he decided, after profound thought to start with the biggest books, on the bottom shelves, and "read up" to the smaller books, on the top shelves, going through each case of books consecutively. How far he got has never been recorded, but he actually made a beginning under this unique plan.

The boy had to learn to become businesslike early. His profit on each paper was small and the number of unsold papers he could return was limited. If he bought too many, the surplus papers ate up his profits; if too few, the profits dwindled. His normal sales were 200 copies on the run from Detroit to Port Huron. After a while he got some one in the office of the Detroit Free Press to give him an advance galley proof of the biggest news in the paper every day and made his order accordingly. This was in Civil war times. One morning nearly the whole galley was filled by an immense scare head given details of the engagements now known as the battle of Shiloh, in which the killed and wounded were said to be 60,000.

The boy saw that the sales would be big if only the people along the run knew of the big news. He told a telegraph operator that he would give him "dead-head" Harper's Weekly, Harper's Monthly and a daily paper for six months and ask the station masters to chalk it up on the blackboard to buy five a line, but he wheedled the owner of the paper into trusting him for 1,000 more.

Edison was afraid the operator wouldn't do his part, but he did, and the boy sold all the papers at from 6 cents to 50 cents apiece. He has said that the incident filled him with admiration for the telegraph and inspired him to learn to tap the key. It was the most valuable lesson he learned in the years he was hustling for himself instead of going to school. It led to his beating the school-trained students of electrical science on their own ground and hastened by many years the electrical evolution which has overtaken the world since then.

The Romance of Self-Education.
Edison was a telegrapher in the field before the war was over, and he had his fill of the sort of romance that comes to every man who has to get his own education as he goes along.

It wouldn't be easy to find many men of note who encountered more romance in their formative years than Edison, but both James J. Hill and Samuel L. Clemens had their share. Hill's fortune-seeking journey into the outer world from his remote Canadian home, undertaken when he was in his teens, to St. Paul by way of the Erie juvenate the streaks of rust known as the St. Paul & Pacific railroad, which he expanded into the Great Northern of today, stretching from the Great Lakes to the Pacific, and whose charter it is now sought to invalidate.

Hill had more actual school days than Edison and possibly no more than Howells. Like the latter the big railroad man studied languages by himself when only a mere boy, and his enormously wide reading all through life has made him one of the best informed men of prominence in the world of today.

Clemens, like Hill, got much of his early education on the Mississippi, but as a pilot, not as a mud clerk. It was the soldier's call, "mark twain," when the water was found to be two fathoms deep, that gave him his pen name. But Clemens left the river much earlier than Hill, and Clemens's experiences between the river and the Pacific came before his "graduation" when he began his career as humorist, and not after it, as Hill did, in years he was canal, the Great Lakes, Chicago and the Mississippi river, would furnish a most thrilling story of world travel, and an adequate pen could be found to write it.

That journey and his years as "mud clerk" on the levee filled the years he might have developed in preparatory school; the years immediately following answered to his college course. His graduation came when he began to re-

Per Cent of College Men Increasing.
The percentage of college men among those who are reaching eminence today is much larger than among the contemporaries of Hill and Ryan, of Allison and Howells, of Clemens and Carnegie. Yet many of the college bred men have had to fight their own way through college and university, as did John on his career. That was thirty-seven years ago. Morgan had already begun to make for himself a reputation through having won a noteworthy victory over Jay Gould in a fight over a New York state railroad, while Ryan was just beginning his struggle to get into Wall street, yet, measured in money, Ryan has made a longer journey than the older man; the Ryan millions are much more numerous than Morgan's.

When you remember how much further Ryan has had to travel than Morgan the contrast is startling, for Morgan was born to wealth, while Ryan was born to poverty. Morgan was educated regardless of expense, as a rich man's son should be. Ryan had to work through every summer and to get along with a few weeks' elementary instruction each winter in a country schoolhouse, built among the hills on the eastern slope of the Blue Ridge, in the Old Dominion state. But he read every book of every kind on which he could lay his hands.

At about the age that Morgan was structions to "begin tomorrow morning at 7."

His new employer was John D. Barry, dry goods merchant. The manager was attracted to the country boy at once by his response. Almost before he had stopped speaking Ryan had hung his cap on a convenient nail. "If you are willing," said he, "I'll start right now. I won't charge you for my work today, but I don't want to lose any time."

Figuratively the boy had got through preparatory school, was now about to enter college and was eager to begin. Nobody will charge him with "losing any time" since he entered.

Ryan managed to graduate from the Barry commission dry goods house in two years and in 1870, at 19, began his post graduate course in Wall street. Continuing the analogy, he may be said to have secured the degree of doctor of finance in 1874, when, a year after his marriage, he became the son-in-law of his first employer, bought a seat on the stock exchange

A habeas corpus was asked for in the case of Charles Peterson, a saloonkeeper convicted of permitting minors to frequent his saloon. The grounds alleged are that the state provides a fine of not less than $10 and sets no maximum, and that this takes the case out of the jurisdiction of the municipal court. The case was taken under advisement until Saturday.

The trial of Nelson, on a similar charge, was continued until Monday, to await the decision of Judge McClellan.

THE YOUNGER GENERATION

Children's Fashions Are Especially Distinctive - Their Millinery Peculiarly Quaint and Artistic - Much Handwork Employed - Sashes and Hair Ribbons Varied and Various - Street Toilettes Plainly Rich and Richly Plain.

The younger generation is very much to the fore in these latter days of grace. What with colleges taking up child study, the prevalence of child dressmakers upon nearly every block along the avenue, and last, but by no means least, the way in which the Little Miss Muffet of the family is gently and gradually inducted into the ways and doings of the great social world by the way of the dancing class, the little afternoon teas, the small parties which she gives to her equally juvenile associates, all of these go to form her taste in dress and make of the little maid quite an important personage in her own small way.

Once upon a time—and, really, one cannot quite tell, as the old stories do, and a very good time it was—little girls were taught that it was wrong, even sinful, to pay any attention at all to what they should wear. Our New England ancestors would not even allow a mirror in the small girl's room for fear of cultivating and encouraging vanity, one of the seven deadly sins where the Puritan conscience was concerned. But nowadays the wise mothers direct their youngsters' tastes aright in this matter. When the little maid gets to be a half a dozen summers or so her taste in dress is taken into consideration. As one mother of a large brood well puts it: "It really takes so very little to make a child happy that we should pay more attention to their feelings and preferences than we usually do."

The unsolicited might imagine that adult styles and fashions have no bearing or direction upon those of the juveniles; but that is where error creeps in. While maintaining a distinct and distinctive style that is all their own, the garments that the nursery brood does when they saunter forth to walk and play are, nevertheless, plainly reminiscent of those that their adult elders display when they, too, are upon business or pleasure bent in the open air.

The children's tailor takes long and earnestly upon the importance of lines, correct lines, where their coats and wraps are concerned. He realizes the necessity of cultivating a correct eye in this matter, and claims that all of his little patrons will be bound to become conspicuous for their taste in dress when they grow up, since he has taken particular pains to direct their knowledge aright in this matter.

But it is with the outdoor garments of dear little Miss that are the present concern. No matter what the frock may be, whether a woolen gown, such as a "tutu" cloth or cashmere, serge or mohair, the outer wrap must express the wintry idea, the warmth that cold weather demands.

While there is a certain persistency to the vogue of white for childish wear, the many misapprehensions of the little ones, here white is very much, indeed, to the front, and the things are usually in solid silk of dellente that. One occasionally sees a lining of padded and quilted satin; but the label in such garments usually indicates a foreign make. Our home tailors seemingly prefer a flannel interlining concealed by a silk lining, this making alterations and enlargements, such as the growing child is often likely to require—a matter of easy adjustment. Those plushes are delightfully light in weight, while maintaining all of the necessary warmth that cold weather makes imperative, added to which those folks who make fashions for the rest of us have set the seal of their approval upon what, only a very short time ago, we should have termed imitation furs.

There are pillar hats, ermine (so-called), chinchilla, cinnamon bear—small boys look delightful in this—miniver and white catgut, while in the pale blue, rose pink and brilliant scarlet plushes, in which the same length of fiber and curl is maintained, there is not supposed to be any resemblance to fur noted.

The garments that hang in pinis from the shoulders and has a very loose belt passed around the hips is really the progenitor of the winter wrap, as it is likewise for the frocks that the small girl wears in the schoolroom.

The princess mode is responsible for some shapes that look remarkably well on the child of 10 or thereabouts. The all-pervading chemise, too, thrusts itself into the outer garment section, and many of the prettiest models of this season display such accessory, invariably in a contrasting color, if not material. A big choker collar is a part of this chemise, and one of the most charming models is fashioned after this wise.

The design that has a sacque-shaped coat, sufficient spring being introduced below the waist by means of louvered pleats in the side and back seams, fastening in an oblique line from the shoulder, is always a welcome one to the mother whose small daughter is at all inclined to catch cold. The double-breasted warmth of this is sure to prove effective in cold weather, and it is far smarter in its lines than are many other models whose virtues are not so marked.

The little maid's ribbon box is quite an important item in her wardrobe, and hair ribbons and sashes enter so to its furnishings. Plaid ribbons are much liked, and, indeed, the vogue that Scotch belongings are exerting in other departments seems to be over to this one.

The Wee Men and Maids.

"Oh, dear me," sigh so many mothers, "I do wish that the children would never grow up. They are everything in the world to me, and I simply cannot bear to think of the time when they must grow up and go out in the world and marry and leave me."

To the average observer such a mother seems to be going very far afield indeed to encounter trouble; and the more so since everything is done today to keep children from growing up all too soon, to keep them as long as possible in that happy time.

Childhood's Joyland! My little, merry Toyland. Once you cross its borders you can never return again!

honored and more general appellations. Their presence was taken as a matter of course at the dinner table, even when formal guests were expected. "The children need less instruction at table than you did at their age," grand-mother remarked to their mother. "They know the uses of more properly shaped spoons and forks than I did at their time of life, or than I do even now, for the matter of that," added the old lady, with a humorous twinkle in her eye.

"But it really distresses me, Adele, the way they sit with their elbows on the table and break into the conversation just whenever the notion strikes them. You would have been punished when you were a little girl if you had done even half of what they do every day and go unrebuked. Evidently you do not believe that 'little children may be seen, but must not be heard.'"

"Oh," easily responded the mother, "it is merely developing their individuality. You know that both Bob and I, were brought up on the repression plan, and as a result we were shy and reserved and awkward. I, too, used to follow your excellent advice with the children, until I happened to go to dancing school with Richard and Miffred one day, and I was simply disgusted with the awkward way they held themselves."

Their Dress and Deportment - Work Time and Playtime - Childish Manners and Development.

ribbons were all right, and there was no reason why she should have looked so desperately unhappy. But look it she did, and all at once it rushed upon my consciousness that I had rubbed that old-time saying in upon her once too often, and it had taken such root that now the poor child was afraid to be heard in public."

But between the two extremes—that of repression and that of expansion—the modern child is sure of development. There is evidence at the best classes where dancing and the old-time grace of deportment is taught—and those classes are often filled years ahead of time; mothers have been known to enter their children's names even before they have been christened—a return to the old-time formality and formalities of manner and manners.

The small child of today begins her social education when she is six or eight years old by going to the juvenile dancing or gymnasium class. A most successful Swedish teacher in New York, who has the names of many prospective little millineries on her books, says that she endeavors to teach her small charges that they must strive to do as she instructs because they are gentlemen, and that being gentlemen, they cannot possibly be guilty of the many branches of manners and decorum that are all too often indulged in by heedless childhood.

At the gymnasium a little bloomer suit of white benedict or cashmere or mohair is worn, with white stockings and white canvas rubber-soled shoes. Boys and girls stand side by side and learn the same exercises, and the nursery maids stand on one side and follow the lesson throughout, so that they may intelligently aid the little pupils in practice at home. The dancing class is a part of the regulation gymnasium curriculum, and such of the little folks whose parents desire it are taught solo dances, which really bring out quite a little of the child's personality. At an entertainment where children undertook all of the performance one little girl appeared in a dance and chorus which did not take very well, and so was not encored. At its conclusion she betook herself to her mother's box and watched the part in which her cousin appeared. This was wildly encored, and the mother forced that her small daughter's feelings might be hurt. But the little one smiled and said: "What do you think, mother; they made Mabel's class do their dance three times over. I guess they did not do it quite right the first time, and so they had to do it over again."

Very quickly do the youngsters nowadays appreciate what is good form in dress and other matters. Any attempt at overdressing is at once frowned upon by wealthy mothers of today, and it would surprise many a poor mother to see the garments that the rich children, whose inheritances are matters of almost national gossip, wear habitually.

Pinfulness, when it does not mean ugliness, is what is insisted upon. For the dancing school the favored style is a fine lingerie frock, with delicately tinted or white hair ribbons, and sometimes a sash. Either white or black silk stockings and black patent leather slippers are worn, colored footwear being considered in very poor taste. Colored silk slippers or slippers are permitted only to girls who have seen at least a dozen summers; they are supposed to find no place whatever in the wardrobe of her younger sister.

For lined coats are smart for the little folks

'Round About the Fashion Centres.

Chiffon Velvet blouses are the latest expression of the separate waist fad. Here, perhaps, the gumpie designs are seen at their best; and the richest of real laces—as well as the best of the imitations, that are nowadays frequently as expensive as the real thing—are used for this dainty accessory. Quite the correct thing is to have the gumpie a separate affair, attached to a permanent lining; and the blouse is caught to this with fancy pins on the shoulders.

The Dinner Jacket shows no sign of becoming passé. And why should it? one is tempted to inquire, since it is a fad that has not penetrated every where as yet, and therefore will present a certain appearance of novelty in certain circles for quite sometime to come.

Chiffon velvets are in the highest esteem for its making; and the favored design at present is a fitted coat bodice, with revers opening over a conspicuously shortwaisted vest, and a ripply little basquine added below the waistline, this almost invariably starting from the second dart, and considerably longer in the back than the front. The half sleeve, of scant proportions, is still the accepted thing.

Separate Skirts, too, are quite in style. Of course, here, one refers to the dressier modes, and not to the short trotter affair in which one takes a constitutional. Velvet or velveteen—for one is quite as modish as the other—moire silk, coleen poplin, lace, or a satin broadcloth, are the materials usually employed for this serviceable possession; and it is of a cut to accord with the dressiest bodices that one may have in the wardrobe.

Indian Bead Work is finding new applications, although it looked for a long time as though the fad were to be left to die out unnoticed. The furrier is making quite extensive use of it for vests, belts, revers borders, buttons, buckles, and the like; and the blending of many colors in the bead work is quite a work of art. In buttons especially does it show up in perfection; although the present workers have improved marvellously upon the designs of their Indian forefathers. A smart set of buttons appeared upon a white casual coat recently. The button center was a large forget-me-not with a little leaf, all in the natural colors, with all of the buttons outside of the flower done in gold beads.

Heavy Raised Embroideries are taking the place of the eyelet work that has occupied prominence for so long. Rarely is there any a four, or daylight, work—to give it its literal significance. Incorporated in the design; blind work, as it is known technically, being far more favored. It takes a far higher degree of skill to make this latter kind show up effectively, since the stitches must all be absolutely even, the work skilfully padded so that it stands out in bold relief and the design a bold and spreading one.

"Cutting holes in the cloth just to sew them up again," as our forefathers used to term the English eyelet work that was so fashionable for skirt and petticoat flounces, and the little steel and pearl or ivory pointed that was an essential furnishing of fashionable work-boxes in those days are once more relegated to the things of the past. Solid work has altogether taken its place.

Separate Bretelles, sashes and fold overs are among the most attractive of the many separate designs and furnishings that the present style advocates. Velvet ribbon is most frequently made the medium of their fashioning, although broad moire or satin ribbons are scarcely less considered. For use with lace and lingerie gowns these charming designs in Dresden printings—and the event of those have a shaded effect on one edge, and a floral printed one on the other—show up most delightfully, and the use of a sash as a dash in the back becomes well-nigh a necessity. To bring last season's frock up to date, hide some work spots or fill any of the requirements of the moment, they answer admirably. About as often as not, when a plain surface is employed, hand embroidered or fanciful and intricate braidings are used to their adornment.

Woman Suffrage Given Another Show by Senate Judiciary Committee.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The members of the legislature have taken a deep and kindly interest in the reports from Duluth of the prospective establishment at that point of a large plant for the manufacture of steel.

Indeed, the interest at the capital is second only to that felt in Duluth itself. In spite of the fact that the legislature is getting into the latter half of a busy session, with matter of vast importance commanding its attention, the new steel plant has formed probably the most conspicuous subject of conversation during the past week.

The final report from the finance committee of the United States Steel corporation will be watched, therefore, with about as keen an interest in St. Paul as it will be in Duluth.

IRISH RESENT CARICATURES

Of Their Race Appearing on Current Postal Cards.

Chicago, Mar. 11.—Postal cards caricaturing the Irish are to be taboos by members of the Celtic race, and Postmaster General Meyer is to be requested to bar from the mails the objectionable pictures.

Resolutions to that effect were adopted by the meeting of the Ancient Order of Hibernians held here last night.

John T. Keating, a former member of the board of education and one of the leading members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians stirred these present to enthusiasm by his vigorous protests against the cards, which he characterized as "an insult to every Irish man and woman."

The meeting was attended by 500 members of the order, most of the forty subordinate divisions in Cook county being represented.

"I want to voice a protest against the caricaturing of the Irish race on the alleged comic or souvenir post cards," said Mr. Keating. "Never has a greater insult been heaped upon any race of people than these vile caricatures are doing to the men and women of Irish blood. They are disgraceful and a libel on the Irish physiognomy."

"I claim that my ancestors and yours were as comely as any race of people under the sun, and the Irish women of today are noted for their facial charms. These post cards that caricature the Irish as phlegmatic are libels of the grossest nature."

STRIKERS STONE CARS ON LOUISVILLE STREET LINE

Company Only Able to Move About 100 Cars of the 600 Usually Used.

Louisville, Ky., March 11.—The first attempts of the Louisville Railway company, whose employees struck yesterday, to run its street cars by non-union men today were accompanied by demonstrations in many parts of the city. A few cars, sent out early, were permitted to make their runs without interruption, but as the day progressed there were several outbreaks.

At Thirteenth and Main streets, two cars bound to the city were stopped by several hundred men on their way to work, the two conductors were forced to return the fares to the passengers, reverse the trolley and take the cars back to the barns.

At Fourth and C streets the strike sympathizers surrounded a car and stoned the motorman and conductor, injuring the former, Edward Pierson,

IMPORTANT MEASURES

Passed at Recent Session of North Dakota Legislature.

People of the State Well Satisfied With Its Record.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The tenth legislative assembly of North Dakota has passed into history, and nearly all the lawmakers have reached their homes. It was a peculiar assembly in some respects. Never was public attention so focused on North Dakota's lawmakers, every move of the session was watched, every bill was criticized, and for the first time the people generally knew more than a third of the lawmakers—at least by name. The assembly was peculiar in that party lines were never so lax; bills were not defeated because they were Democratic. The people of the state would not tolerate the abuses which had crept into the laws of the state under party disguise when the affairs of a party were discussed.

ONE KILLED, ANOTHER INJURED IN WRECK.

New York, March 11.—One man was killed and another injured when a New York Central freight train jumped the track on Eleventh avenue today. The man who lost his life was William Chapman, aged 18 years. The injured man is Edward Kohler, fireman on the locomotive and was badly bruised. Snow packed tightly in a switch is believed to have caused the derailment.

President Golovin Resigns From Constitutional Democrats.

St. Petersburg, March 11.—The lower house of parliament reassembled this morning in sections for the examination of the credentials of members. Protests were submitted against the election of the entire deputations from Bessarabia, Poltava, Minsk, Mohilev, Novgorod, Voronezh, Kazan, Kherson and the city of Kishinev. The Conservatives challenged the elections of the members from Kursk and several other provinces, but with no chance of unseating them.

The radical parties are hopelessly at odds regarding the manner of raising the question of amnesty. The Socialists persist in forcing it immediately to

FOUR-MASTED SHIP ASHORE

The Dirigo, Loaded With Coal, Strikes Bottom Near Frisco.

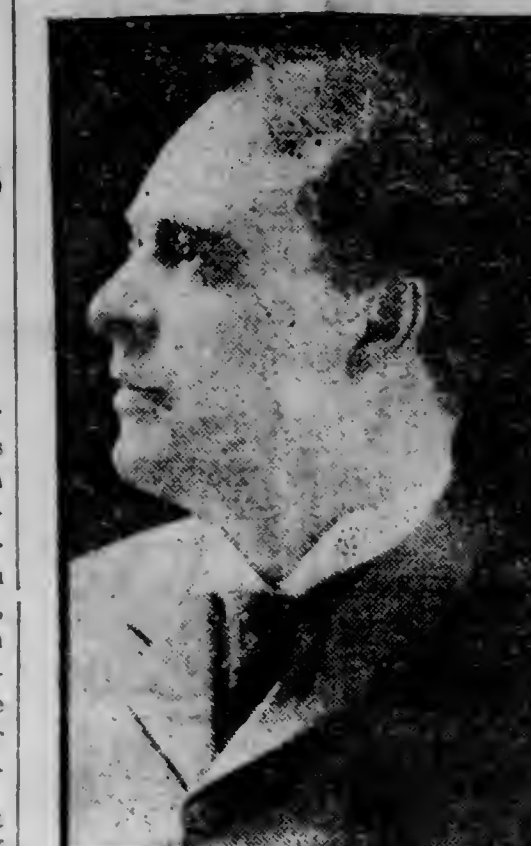

San Francisco, March 11.—The four-masted ship Dirigo went ashore on the north end of Alcatraz island, last night, striking on a mud bank, where she still lies. So far all attempts made to float the vessel by tugs sent to the rescue have failed, but it is believed that she will ultimately be pulled off all right. The ship is lying quietly where she grounded, and there are no indications that her hull has been damaged. The accident is ascribed to a combination of circumstances by Capt. George W. Goodwin of the Dirigo, among them a heavy squall striking the ship as she was about to come to anchor; a strong flood tide and fouling of the chain when the anchor had been let go. Pilot George Scott, who was in charge at the time, gives practically the same reason for the occurrence.

The Dirigo lies in about the same position as the British vessel Palgrave, which grounded there some months ago, but was pulled off by tugs.

The Dirigo was 135 days out from Baltimore with 5,000 tons of coal on board, consigned to the government.

The Dirigo is owned by the A. Sewell Company of Bath, Me., where she was built in 1894. Her registered tonnage is 3,000, her length is 312 feet, beam 45 feet and depth 25 feet. She carries a crew of twenty-eight men all told.

Inquiry Begins on Building of Pennsylvania's Capitol.

Gross Extravagance and Duplication of Items Are Charged.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 11.—The legislative inquiry into the new state capitol contracts and accounts was begun here today. The investigation grew out of allegations made during the last state campaign that there was gross extravagance, overcharges and duplications of items in the ornamentation and equipment of the building. The capitol was built under the direction of a capitol building commission at a cost of $4,000,000. It was furnished and equipped by the board of public grounds.

New York, March 11.—With the Thaw trial entering its eighth week today, District Attorney Jerome began the real work of the prosecution—the offering of testimony in rebuttal of the defense built up by Thaw's attorneys. The state's case in chief, which was concluded in less than two hours after the jury panel had been completed, consisted simply of the testimony of eye witnesses to the tragedy.

The first witness called by Mr. Jerome today was Frederick W. Longfellow, one of the Thaw family attorneys, who was called by the defense some time ago to identify certain letters which Harry K. Thaw wrote to him in 1903.

Today Mr. Jerome wanted him to identify a letter handed him by Evelyn Nesbit Thaw upon her arrival from Europe late in 1903.

Mr. Longfellow met Mrs. Thaw at that ship, which docked at 2:30 p. m., Oct. 24. Mrs. Thaw on the witness stand, said she could not fix the date or the name of the steamer.

Mr. Longfellow said he had acted as Thaw's attorney for some years prior to June 25, 1906.

"Did you represent this defendant in the suit of Ethel Thomas?" Mr. Delmas objected, but Justice Fitzgerald said the witness might answer yes or no.

"My firm handled the case," said Mr. Longfellow.

Again Mr. Delmas objected, and District Attorney Jerome asked the witness to remain silent.

A TERRIFIC EXPLOSION

Of a Locomotive Boiler Scatters Death and Destruction.

Two Killed and Several Injured at Metuchen, N. J.

Metuchen, N. J., March 11.—Two men were killed and a number of others wounded and Metuchen was shaken and threatened with many fires today when a boiler of a locomotive, on the Pennsylvania railroad exploded, while drawing a freight train through town.

William J. Sisler, engineer, of Philadelphia, and S. C. Smith, bakeman, Trenton, N. J., were the victims.

The train was passing through the town under good headway when, just opposite the railroad station, the boiler exploded. Portions of the boiler were blown two blocks away and tore through buildings. The bodies of Engineer Sisler and Brakeman Smith were found a hundred yards from the railroad tracks.

Many of the freight cars were piled in a heap and several of the trainmen were injured, but not seriously. A portion of the locomotive was blown into Hahn's drug store, two blocks from the track, and another piece of steel entered McCutcheon's pharmacy. Both stores were set on fire simultaneously, but in neither case was there any serious loss. Miss Daisy Martin, phone operator in the railroad, was thrown from her chair by the explosion and slightly injured. The building caught fire, but was not destroyed.

Dependent over the death of his mother, whom he shot in a drunken frenzy on their homestead near Tivoli, this county, Feb. 3, Daniel Aho, a Finnish boy, aged about 21 years, hanged himself in his cell in the county jail last evening.

When the body was discovered, stiff and cold, about 6 o'clock this morning the indications were that the deed was performed shortly after midnight.

Aho used his suspenders for a rope, his body, when found, reclining as if he had thrown himself in the bunk to sleep. One end of the uncles, which were made of strong web, was tied to the iron bars at the head of the bunk and the other end was knotted tightly about the boy's neck.

The noose was drawn so tightly that it caused a deep mark on the throat. Aho's plans to kill himself were laid very carefully and there are indications that he had planned the matter for some time previous to putting in execution his intentions.

Gus Ranta, another young Finlander, who is under indictment for assault, and who occupied a bunk in the same cell directly above Aho, heard no noise during the night and knew nothing of the deed.

DAKOTA'S CREW SHIPPED HOME

Majority of Passengers of Wrecked Ship to Sail on Siberia.

Yokohama, March 11.—The crew of the wrecked steamer Dakota has been discharged. The Europeans will be sent to America on the American steamer Trenton. The Asiatics will be sent to Hongkong. The majority of the passengers left here will take the steamer Siberia. Their hotel and other expenses were paid by the Great Northern Steamship company. The American consul has sent $100 to the governor of Chubu Prefecture for distribution among the fishermen who assisted in the rescue of the passengers. No salvage measures have yet been taken.

An official enquiry has been arranged, and steps have been taken for the preservation of evidence. Capt. Franke of the Dakota is still at the scene of the wreck awaiting the decision of the underwriters.

SHIPBUILDERS IN GREAT LAKES YARDS ON STRIKE

Five Hundred Men Idle at Superior—Many Quit Work at Other Points.

The strike order, which promises to tie up practically all of the shipyards on the Great Lakes, reached Superior yesterday, and this morning about 500 of the 1,200 men employed at the Superior shipyards had laid down their tools.

Only about 100 men were affected by the strike order. These were the riveters, who were called out, and they all responded to the order.

As a result of their refusal to work, however, about 400 other men were forced to remain idle. The 250 helpers, who work with the riveters, had to quit, and something over 100 reamers were also forced to lay down their tools. The packer boys, the number of about 100, also had to lay off, as there was no work for them, so that altogether about 500 men are idle.

The plant will not be shut down, however. There is considerable work for the other men to do, and they will be kept busy as long as possible.

No effort has yet been made to secure non-union men to fill the places of the men who have struck. Cleveland March 11.—In obedience to the strike order issued Saturday by the International Boilermakers & Iron Shipbuilders' union, about 450 men employed at the Globe yards of the American Shipbuilding company in this city, declined to go to work this morning. The strikers included riveters, calkers and fitters. At the Globe yards twenty ships are undergoing repairs, while two large vessels are under course of construction.

Not to exceed twenty-five men, remained in the works after the strikers left, and these were mostly laborers. A dispatch from Loraine says that the situation in the shipyard there remains unchanged. About 300 men struck in that yard several days ago. No others quit today as a result of the strike order. The union men in the Loraine yard are in the minority.

The strike leaders denied today that the employees of the companies' yards at Cleveland, Buffalo or elsewhere, had refused or would refuse to join in the walkout. They said the men at Chicago had not been ordered out, but they were ready to quit, and would do so as soon as they were officially notified.

President J. C. Wallace of the American Shipbuilding company refused to discuss the strike today.

Buffalo, March 11.—There was no strike in the works of the American Shipbuilding company.

Detroit, March 11.—The union shipbuilders in the Ecorse and St. Clair plants of the Great Lakes Engineering works walked out today, leaving only the machinists, carpenters and laborers at work in these yards. The men at the Wyandotte yard of the American Shipbuilding company went to work as usual, but are expected to quit during the day. Dispatches from Bay City say that the men at the American Shipbuilding company's yards there are at work and probably will not strike.

Weather Forecast: Snow this afternoon, tonight and Tuesday.

PLANNING A CONVENTION

Of Commercial Clubs to Boost Immigration to Northwest.

Minneapolis proposes to hold, in the near future, a convention of Commercial clubs and other business men's organizations representing all sections of the Northwest. If such a convention is held, Duluth will be well represented at it. The purpose of the meeting will be to help make 1907 a big year in Northwestern immigration and development.

"Something along this line has been talked of at different times in the past, but thus far it has amounted to nothing more than talk," said Major H. V. Iva, secretary of the Duluth Commercial club, today. "I believe the convention would be a good thing, and that it would accomplish much along the lines indicated. If it did, nothing else than to bring the different organizations of the Northwest closer together, establishing more intimate relations between them, the benefits that would result would be worth while."

Anything that will boost the immigration and tourist business to the country west of here is bound to help Duluth. The greater the population through the West, the more business the local wholesalers and jobbers will do, and the more tourists there are who visit the West, the better it will be for Duluth, for a great many of them either go to or from the West, and Duluth, which calls for a stop in this city. Business men in all parts of the Northwest are showing a great interest in the progress of immigration, and the growth of the tourist business, and are playing a great willingness to help the cause along. Nearly all the enterprising clubs and towns in the district affected have awakened commercial clubs, and it is believed a convention of representatives of many of these organizations will bring practical results. Secretaries and working members of commercial clubs in various parts of the Northwest, with whom the matter has been discussed, say they are ready to co-operate.

Minneapolis wholesalers, in particular, are interested in the movement, and what applies to Minneapolis in this respect also applies to Duluth. The Minneapolis Journal quotes a Flour City wholesaler as follows: "The future of our wholesale business depends in a large measure upon a steadily increasing development of the agricultural resources of the Northwest. We must keep the flow of immigration coming this way. We have every inducement to offer. No other section of the earth offers better opportunity than the Northwest. It is a good time for the Northwest to get together and begin such a campaign. The railroads have done great work in attracting immigration to these states. But we should not expect the railroads to do all of it. Business men in all parts of the Northwest should put their shoulders to the wheel and I believe they will. The states of Minnesota ought to have an immigration bureau. North Dakota has provided for one and will reap big results from the investment."

GOOD ROADS CONVENTION

At Pittsburg, on Tuesday, Will be Largely Attended.

Pittsburg, March 11.—Delegates from all parts of the country arrived today to take part in the convention of the American Road Builders' Association, which opens in this city tomorrow. The convention, it is said, will be the largest of its kind ever held in the United States, and the speakers who will be heard during the three days session of the gathering, will include the most notable men of America, who have taken up the crusade for good roads. Governors of the United States will head their delegations, while many congressmen, senators, mayors of cities, directors of public works, and other city officials will be in attendance.

DULUTH TO HAVE A LABORATORY

With View of Developing Federal Inspection of Grain.

Washington, March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—A long conference was held Saturday between Senator Hansbrough and Dr. Galloway, Mr. Shuman and Mr. Wood of the agricultural department on the subject of federal inspection and grading of grain. It was decided that a year ago Senator Hansbrough had inserted in the agricultural appropriation bill a provision authorizing the establishment of two laboratories under the auspices of the agricultural department with a view to developing the project of federal inspection. The laboratories were established and put into operation, one at New York and the other at Baltimore. The law was re-enacted at this last session of congress and an appropriation of $25,000 was added for the establishment and maintenance of additional laboratories. At the conference held Saturday it was decided that a laboratory should be established at Duluth, one at Minneapolis, and one at St. Louis. During the past year the department has been engaged in perfecting apparatus by the use of which a consignment of grain may be scientifically graded in a very short space of time and in such a way as to admit of no dispute as to the quality of the grain. The apparatus consists of an instrument for ascertaining the moisture contents in any quantity of grain and another instrument, very simple in itself, for ascertaining the amount of dockage. The department is still at work bringing this apparatus to a still higher state of perfection and the plan is to put it into general use. It will not be necessary to establish many additional laboratories—probably one at New Orleans and one at Seattle or San Francisco—and it is believed that the cost of this federal inspection will be nominal. Mr. Shanahan, who was a wheat inspector for many years at Buffalo, will have general supervision of inspection in the field.

rected for self-interest. Every effort was made by the defeated machine to whip the insurgent Republicans into line, but they were unsuccessful, and there were in many ways three parties—the regular Republicans, the insurgent Republicans, and the Democrats.

Among the bills passed were the initiative and referendum, the 24-cent rate on all railroads, the apportionment bill, the primary election law covering state officers, a bill providing for the redistribution of the mill tax, bills making more effective the prohibition law, a bill regulating hours of employees on railroads, new pure food law. The anti-pass bill was lost in the scramble at the last.

The first-named bill will, of course, be a constitutional amendment, and is looked upon favorably; the primary election law is thought to be a creditable one, and the people of the state are much better satisfied with it than the one introduced and passed two years ago. This bill sounds the death knell of state convictions.

The most attention of the lawmakers was directed to reduce rates on the railroads. The house first passed the 2-cent bill, and the senate did the same, making some amendments but it was, however, the railroad legislators were in favor of the 2-cent fare, and this brought about a decided change of heart in the house, which refused to pass the amendments and defeated the bill, and then passed a 2 1/2-cent bill, which has become a law. The railroads were willing to take their chances before the supreme court with the 2-cent fare, believing that it would be declared unconstitutional. In this connection the 1,000-mile family book for $20 was also adopted. Representative Stevens, the acknowledged railroad representative in the house, remarked that the railroads would fight this legislation to the last ditch, and it would be a long time before the family mileage book would be a reality.

The state was considerably wrought up over the passage of the mill tax bill, introduced by Senator Purcell of Wahpeton. The bill cuts down the income of the university $15,000 per year, and has given the state's leading

RAILROADS DEMAND VERY HEAVY

Unusual Number of Colonist Tickets is Being Sold.

No Free Fares Offered Laborers by the Railroads.

The railroads are selling a good many colonist tickets to Western points this winter than they did last. The demand for the low rate tickets is very heavy. One explanation of this fact is that the roads are not shipping men West on a free basis the way they were doing a year ago. Then they needed numerous crews for construction work in the Pacific Northwest, but at present they are depending more upon the local markets to supply them with laborers.

Just as many men needed in Washington and Oregon this year as was the case in 1906, but the demand for laborers in Minnesota, Wisconsin and the Dakotas is so heavy that the roads deem it inadvisable to keep all the men in the Middle West, and offer them no inducements to go to the far West. This is a usual business affair, for ordinarily the roads are doing everything in their power to get the laboring men started westward.

When free fares were offered, scores of men took advantage of them who had no intention of going to work after their arrival in the West. They merely wanted to get to the coast country in the cheapest manner possible. The railroads needed laborers so badly that they were willing to take long chances on their remaining at work after they arrived at their destinations. This winter those who want to go West have to pay their way and consequently the sale of colonist tickets is greatly increased.

While a large number of the special tickets are being sold by the railroads, it is not to the coast country in the cheapest manner possible. The railroads needed laborers so badly that they were willing to take long chances on their remaining at work after they arrived at their destinations. This winter those who want to go West have to pay their way and consequently the sale of colonist tickets is greatly increased.

DANIEL AHO ENDS LIFE

of his cellmate's deed until he looked over the edge of his bunk this morning. Aho lay on his side with his head to the iron bars.

Both Aho and Ranta retired when the jail doors closed. When the jail doors opened, Ranta found John Roberg made his rounds between 9 and 10 o'clock to shut off the lights, and in the course of his rounds he seemed to be all right. This morning about 5 o'clock Jaller Roberg made his rounds again, and as he passed his cell saw him reclining on his side, apparently asleep. It was rather dark in the corridor and as the suspenders hanging from the ceiling were in the way, he did not notice the small knot tied to one end of the bar which was hanging down. He noticed the condition of Aho's body and gave the alarm.

Aho's body was cut down as quickly as possible. The body was found, and was taken to Flood & Morgan's undertaking parlors, where it was prepared for burial.

When Aho's dead body was found the neck was much swollen and his features were quite black, death having been caused by strangulation.

A bruise on the right temple seems to indicate that he either threw his head against the steel wall of the cell before strangling himself, or was intent to render himself unconscious, or that he hit his head while struggling.

Of late Aho has been believed that he had killed his mother, and was being prepared for burial, was in the bank overheard and who called to the Aho family is highly respected in the community where the members of it reside, and Daniel Aho, the son, is a hard working young man, who bore an excellent reputation up to the time he became crazed with alcohol and killed his mother.

For several days after he was brought to Duluth Aho gave way to grief and was not able to sleep, and refused to be comforted, until it was feared that his mind would give way. Aho seemed to cheer up a little after the first few days in the county jail, but as he had been accustomed to outdoor life, and had always been working, the confinement in the jail was a great hardship to him. He was brooding over his troubles again, until he became despondent.

DELMA AGAIN BLOCKS JEROME AT EVERY TURN OF DIRECT EXAMINATION

trict Attorney Jerome began to argue the point. He said the contention is that "Thaw's mind was unbalanced by his revelation of the fact that Stanford White had done to her and to other young women."

It has been said that alleged acts of perversion by Stanford White added to the fury of his mental unbalance. I want to show that he knew all about these things and that he was not in the complaint in this suit by Ethel Thomas, the papers of which were served upon him.

Mrs. Evelyn Thaw had testified that she had been shown a copy of the Ethel Thomas affidavit by Abraham Hummel, who said the case had been dropped because of the character of the complainant.

Mr. Delmas, replying to the district attorney's argument, quoted at some length from Mr. Jerome's statement at the beginning of the trial when Evelyn Thaw was on the witness stand, that her testimony was permissible only as showing Thaw's state of mind and that he would not be allowed to contradict it.

"We told him," said Mr. Delmas, "we would have no objection to his attacking the truth of the witness's story."

"Now you do object," snapped Mr. Jerome.

"Yes, because you would not accept

"KNOCK IT OFF"

A Serious Mistake When You Have a Cough or Cold.

A great many people who are usually robust and healthy do not believe in taking medicine when attacked by sickness, try to "knock it off." This is mainly because they have been fortunate enough not to require much doctoring.

The renowned Philadelphia physician who established the open-air camps for consumptives in the pine forests of Maine, stated that over fifty per cent of the patients came from this class of people. They allowed a seemingly trivial cough or cold to become a chronic and the lungs to become weakened and thus easily susceptible to the attacks of the tubercle germ. He states most emphatically that a person is fool to allow a cough or cold to linger. He says check it at once when it is easy to cure; stimulate the action of the bowels and heal the mucous membrane.

He gives his famous formula which has been previously published in this paper and which has a national reputation for its remarkable quick action of colds and coughs. "Mix half pint of good whiskey with one ounce of glycerine and half ounce of the Concentrated oil of pine. Shake it thoroughly and take in tablespoonful doses four times a day."

The question was repeated—as to whether or not the papers in the Ethel Thomas case were served upon Thaw. "Objection sustained," ruled the court.

"Did there come into your possession at any time letters written by this defendant to Ethel Thomas?"

Mr. Delmas objected on the ground that any such letters must have been written prior to 1903 and therefore had nothing to do with the sanity or insanity of the defendant.

"Why, your honor," said Mr. Jerome, "the defense has traced this man's disease back to the measles and the mumps. We ought to have some right to show his condition down to 1903. The defense has put into the evidence such parts of his life as they chose from his diary, but in an attempt to show him insane, May I not go into other portions of his life to show he was sane?"

Mr. Jerome contended that if he was allowed to go into matters prior to 1903, all evidence relating to matters before that time introduced by the defense would be stricken out. This Mr. Delmas agreed to, but when Mr. Jerome said this would cause the hypothesis of insanity to be stricken out as well, he withdrew his consent.

Mr. Delmas attempted to fix the date more closely. Mr. Jerome showed the witness a legal document and asked him if it refreshed his mind as to when he represented Thaw in the Thomas case.

Mr. Delmas objected to further questioning of the witness as to the Ethel Thomas case on the broad ground that Mr. Longfellow at the time was acting as Thaw's counsel.

"Did any of the conversations relate to an affidavit?" asked Mr. Jerome.

Mr. Delmas then renewed his objection, and an argument ensued to further questioning of the witness as to the Ethel Thomas case on the broad ground that Mr. Longfellow at the time was acting as Thaw's counsel.

"What did you do with that paper?" "I handed it to the present counsel in a case."

"When?" "In February."

Mr. Jerome here demanded from Thaw's lawyers the production of the paper, and the witness refused to produce it.

Mr. Delmas hotly retorted that Mr. Longfellow had delivered to counsel no paper similar in any way to the one in question.

I prefer to take the statement of the witness," said Mr. Jerome. "He is under oath."

It is an unnecessarily insulting remark," said Mr. Delmas. "You will find out by interrogating the witness under oath that he never saw any such paper to us," continued Mr. Delmas.

"Did Evelyn Nesbit Thaw ever give you a document signed by herself in the form of an affidavit?" asked Mr. Jerome.

"Not to my knowledge," replied the witness.

After this Mr. Longfellow was excused from the stand, and knew nothing about it.

After this Mr. Longfellow was excused from the stand, and knew nothing about it.

Police Officer Dennis Wright was called to the stand to testify as to conversations he had with Thaw the night of his arrest. He said Thaw's actions that night were rational.

New York, March 11.—The foundation of the testimony by which the prosecution in the Thaw murder case hopes to discredit witnesses who swore Thaw was irrational on the night of the shooting of Stanford White, will be laid with the testimony of Anthony Debs, the policeman on the roof garret, who saw the shots fired, the fireman who aided in making the arrest, and Police Sergeant McCarthy and McCann who were in the stationhouse when the prisoner was arraigned and who noted his demeanor when he asked Reporter McElhone if it was necessary that he (Thaw) give his real name. McElhone will be summoned to rebut the testimony of Martin Green, another reporter, who testified that the manner of the defendant immediately after the shooting was not rational.

Following these witnesses, Dr. McDonald, Flint and Mahon will probably take the stand. The district attorney has several other alienists, whose names have not been made public, and they, too, are expected to take the witness stand.

Following the experts, according to state attorney's present plans, May McKenize, the chorus girl and chum of Mrs. Thaw, will be examined. She has such an intimate knowledge of young Mrs. Thaw's early life immediately after she met Stanford White that her testimony is deemed most important.

Mrs. William Thaw, mother of the defendant, will be constantly present at the trial until a verdict is returned. She has taken charge of her son's case with a greater assumption of authority than she has shown before, having absorbed much knowledge of legal procedure from the tactics of counsel on both sides. While it is thought she our offer to waive our right when the story began," retorted Mr. Delmas. Mr. Jerome declared that Mr. Delmas' argument did not cover the point at issue. It was the effect of Evelyn Nesbit's story on Thaw's mind he was attempting to contradict.

"I am not trying to show that Ethel Thomas' accusations were true," said Mr. Jerome. "That would be a collateral fact. Anyway this poor girl is now dead."

Mr. Delmas objected to the reference to the Thomas girl as "poor girl" and the statement she is now dead.

"Mrs. Thaw herself testified that she is dead," said Mr. Jerome, who withdrew the adjective "poor."

Mr. Jerome said that more than two years before Evelyn Nesbit told Thaw the story which is said to have unbalanced his mind, he knew all the evil practices of men in New York.

"Mrs. Thaw herself says she was told the story of Thaw's tying a young woman to a bedpost, and beating her. That is the story of Ethel Thomas," declared the district attorney.

Mr. Delmas rose to protest. "I must seriously object to the learned district attorney testifying in this case, and I beseech him not to give the jury as facts his understanding of the point at issue," said Mr. Delmas.

Justice Fitzgerald instructed the jury to be guided only by the testimony of witnesses and added that he was prepared to rule on the objection.

The question was repeated—as to whether or not the papers in the Ethel Thomas case were served upon Thaw. "Objection sustained," ruled the court.

"Did there come into your possession at any time letters written by this defendant to Ethel Thomas?"

Mr. Delmas objected on the ground that any such letters must have been written prior to 1903 and therefore had nothing to do with the sanity or insanity of the defendant.

"Why, your honor," said Mr. Jerome, "the defense has traced this man's disease back to the measles and the mumps. We ought to have some right to show his condition down to 1903. The defense has put into the evidence such parts of his life as they chose from his diary, but in an attempt to show him insane, May I not go into other portions of his life to show he was sane?"

Mr. Jerome contended that if he was allowed to go into matters prior to 1903, all evidence relating to matters before that time introduced by the defense would be stricken out. This Mr. Delmas agreed to, but when Mr. Jerome said this would cause the hypothesis of insanity to be stricken out as well, he withdrew his consent.

Mr. Delmas attempted to fix the date more closely. Mr. Jerome showed the witness a legal document and asked him if it refreshed his mind as to when he represented Thaw in the Thomas case.

Mr. Delmas objected to further questioning of the witness as to the Ethel Thomas case on the broad ground that Mr. Longfellow at the time was acting as Thaw's counsel.

"What did you do with that paper?" "I handed it to the present counsel in a case."

"When?" "In February."

Mr. Jerome here demanded from Thaw's lawyers the production of the paper, and the witness refused to produce it.

Mr. Delmas hotly retorted that Mr. Longfellow had delivered to counsel no paper similar in any way to the one in question.

I prefer to take the statement of the witness," said Mr. Jerome. "He is under oath."

It is an unnecessarily insulting remark," said Mr. Delmas. "You will find out by interrogating the witness under oath that he never saw any such paper to us," continued Mr. Delmas.

"Did Evelyn Nesbit Thaw ever give you a document signed by herself in the form of an affidavit?" asked Mr. Jerome.

"Not to my knowledge," replied the witness.

After this Mr. Longfellow was excused from the stand, and knew nothing about it.

Police Officer Dennis Wright was called to the stand to testify as to conversations he had with Thaw the night of his arrest. He said Thaw's actions that night were rational.

New York, March 11.—The foundation of the testimony by which the prosecution in the Thaw murder case hopes to discredit witnesses who swore Thaw was irrational on the night of the shooting of Stanford White, will be laid with the testimony of Anthony Debs, the policeman on the roof garret, who saw the shots fired, the fireman who aided in making the arrest, and Police Sergeant McCarthy and McCann who were in the stationhouse when the prisoner was arraigned and who noted his demeanor when he asked Reporter McElhone if it was necessary that he (Thaw) give his real name. McElhone will be summoned to rebut the testimony of Martin Green, another reporter, who testified that the manner of the defendant immediately after the shooting was not rational.

Following these witnesses, Dr. McDonald, Flint and Mahon will probably take the stand. The district attorney has several other alienists, whose names have not been made public, and they, too, are expected to take the witness stand.

Following the experts, according to state attorney's present plans, May McKenize, the chorus girl and chum of Mrs. Thaw, will be examined. She has such an intimate knowledge of young Mrs. Thaw's early life immediately after she met Stanford White that her testimony is deemed most important.

Mrs. William Thaw, mother of the defendant, will be constantly present at the trial until a verdict is returned. She has taken charge of her son's case with a greater assumption of authority than she has shown before, having absorbed much knowledge of legal procedure from the tactics of counsel on both sides. While it is thought she

So dainty, and rich looking, are these New Silks, one can't help but be entranced by their beauty.

They are an entire New Departure, from the fashions of past seasons—and are as fascinating as they are New.

Others are: La Chiffon Bordure, Silk Chiffon Voiles and Marquisettes.

Some have black dots on a white ground, while others are in the Persian effects.

will give way to her son where she deems it wise, she will doubtless be the dominant spirit henceforth in consultation in court as well as in private.

Evelyn Thaw will not sit at her husband's side, except on the days she appears to answer to the subpoena duces tecum, which directs her to produce all the correspondence she has in her possession which passed between herself and Stanford White, and between herself and her husband in relation to White.

It is not believed she can obey the order, as the letters have either passed out of her possession or been destroyed. With surrebutal following, the brutal testimony and the closing addresses it is not thought likely that the case will go to the jury for two weeks.

and buildings, at a cost of nearly $9,000,000.

The board under the law is composed of the governor, auditor general and state treasurer. The members of the board during the time the contractors were given out were Governor Pennybacker, Auditor General Snyder and State Treasurer Mathews, all Republicans.

Mr. Mathews was a Democrat, a year ago. Mr. Berry, who probably will be one of the most important witnesses, claims the overcharges in the furnishing exceeded $4,000,000. Mr. Berry has refused to pay several bills contracted by the board, and has become a member on the ground that they are exorbitant and excessive.

All of the contractors are represented by counsel and the array of lawyers is imposing. The investigation is being conducted by a committee created by the present legislature.

AMNESTY QUESTION

the front in the form of an open declaration to the people, which practically would be an appeal for revolution. A caucus of the Social Revolutionists and members of the Peasant league last night rejected this, as well as a proposition to make an appeal or demand to the emperor on the subject, and it was decided to introduce a regular bill providing amnesty for political prisoners. This is undoubtedly unconstitutional and hence unacceptable to the Constitutional Democrats who are anxious to observe the forms of legality. The cabinet, in any event, will not regard the introduction of any amnesty resolution as warranting the dissolution of parliament. The Reactionist campaign for the prorogation of parliament under pretense is in full swing. The Nove Vremya, which is in close touch with the so-called Camarilla at Tsarskoe-Selo, the organization which is opposed to both Premier Stolypin and parliament, significantly declared that a house is a mere organizing center for the Revolutionary movement and should be dispersed at the earliest possible moment.

Meetings were to have been held in several factories here yesterday, and addressed by Revolutionary members of parliament, but they were abandoned, owing to fear of police interference. The recent circular issued by Gen. Dragochefski, prefect of police of St. Petersburg, announcing that he would not hesitate to violate the autonomy of the university in order to prevent the holding of public meetings in that building, has made it clear that the authorities do not intend to sanction an open Revolutionary propaganda, unless it is in the form of a lecture.

St. Louis, Mo., March 11.—Frank Rockefeller, brother of John D. Rockefeller, who arrived from Cleveland yesterday, is here to attend the trial of a suit in the circuit court, which he had instituted against Henry Goss to recover $25,000 which, he claims, was lost in a mining deal.

In his petition, Rockefeller sets forth that on Oct. 1, 1906, he entered into a deal with Goss to purchase a lead mine, paying $200,000 for the mine and $65,000 for improvements. He charges that the mine did not come up to the representations.

In his answer, Goss denies that any misrepresentations were made. The case was called for trial today.

CONCERNING WOMEN

The March letter of the state president of the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. J. L. Washburn, the club women of the state, as it is given in the Courant for this month, will be of interest to the club women of this city. Mrs. Washburn is spending the winter at San Antonio, Tex., and her message to the club women of the state, as published in their magazine, the Courant, is as follows:

"Dear Friends: The great success of our recent mid-winter meeting might seem to indicate that it would be well if your president were in some remote part of the continent whenever a state meeting is held. However, she is not going to assume anything so uncomplimentary to herself. She is simply going to express her satisfaction and her gratitude that the federation is so well organized, and has such loyal and capable workers, that the absence of any one person, even though she may hold an important office, does not retard the work of the organization.

"She wishes, too, to take this opportunity to congratulate and thank every one who contributed in any way to the success of the January meeting.

"Your president is watching anxiously for some word in the Courant from the different committees, that will indicate to her that they are still alive.

"The low condition of the thermometer in the North Star state might very easily have sapped their energies or chilled their enthusiasm. Let us hope that this is not the case. In the North Star state enthusiasm is never chilled, though it sometimes becomes feeble through exuberance, and in the case of the visitor to that state, from inaction. We are due, I believe, to have occasional letters in the Courant from the clubs' committee, also from the sub-committee on arts and crafts, committee on music and others. An occasional word from the reciprocity committee, reminding clubs of the existence of such a bureau, and of its desire to be helpful to them, as well as to give a list of any new material acquired, will not be out of place, even though it may have been done many times before.

"Cannot other committees—education, forestry, libraries, etc., gain something by occasional letters in the Courant? They should be brief, pointed and suggestive. I want to say a word personally to the district vice presidents. Do you know that upon you rests the burden of further propagating club and federation ideas? We have no 'organizer' or 'lecturer,' as have many similar bodies. The vice presidents are expected to keep the spirit alive, active and prolific, each in her own district.

"Have you visited the clubs in your district? Have you talked 'club' in small places which have none, and in which you know that such organizations would be beneficial? Have you done your best to persuade unfederated clubs to unite with the state organization? All that is necessary usually is to show them the value of federation to their clubs and the opportunity offered for effective work for others. Wisconsin has a more recently organized federation than is that of Minnesota, but she has far exceeded us in the active work done in her different districts. Why the reports of her district vice presidents constituted one of the most interesting sessions at the last annual meeting of the state, held at luncheon Saturday at her home, 403 East Second street. What Retail Markets Offer.

Green peppers, 2 for 25 cents.
New beets, 12 1/2 cents a bunch.
Pineapples, 60 cents each.
Green onions, 2 bunches for 5 cents.
Lettuce, 6 cents a bunch.
Leaf lard, 12 1/2 cents a pound.
Pigs' legs, 20 cents a dozen.
Fresh pigs' feet, 6 cents a pound.
If you are longing for green peppers, stalked with nuts and bread crumbs and seasoning, your first outlay will be $1.25 for a dozen of the best green things. Much more spring like is a delicate salad of lettuce and minced green onions and it is also much more expensive.

The pineapples in the market are especially fine, big and heavy, and juicy and they are not so very expensive.

The first of the week when there isn't much else to do, is a very propitious time to render your own lard. The rolls of leaf lard, pink and clear looking in the window makes one almost think that rendering lard would be a pleasurable occupation, but a short session at the hot and greasy pastime, would give one all one wanted of that thrifty employment. Pigs' legs and pigs' feet are in the market. Also calves' tongues and lamb hearts not to mention ox tails and lamb chops and hog's brains. Horrors! Who can stand George B. Shaw for being a vegetarian?

Farmers are plowing their fields and planting cotton, gardeners are cleaning off the flower beds and lawns and burning leaves; the small boy is flying his kite. Best of all, the gorgeous red bird, with his jaunty top-knot and saucy tail, is making wood and land-escape to bloom anew, as he hops about through bush and tree, happy in his many friends and in the glorious spring time.

"May this bring to you in cold Minnesota something of the hopefulness, the new life, and the exhilaration of our season here."

"ALMA PATTIE WASHBURN."

In the Windows.

Time was when woman started on a little railroad journey with a slight roll of money. She had hardly got comfortably started before that slight roll which was to pay her hotel bills and do a half year's shopping, became fearfully large. It was so easy to put one's pocketbook down and forget to take it up, and if it contained all of one's money, it placed one in a very awkward position. "Where shall I put it," she asked her friend, companion in pleasure, the while she held the seemingly increasing sum in her hand. "Can't you put it in your stocking?" Everybody who writes anything about anybody says that, where a woman does put her money.

"May I put it in my hat, it worries me all the time. I can't get it off my mind. Oh, what shall I do with it?"

"Put it inside your—"

And the place was always whispered close to the ear of the woman with the money. And in that place it was placed, unsafe and uncomfortable. And then after some years of such inconvenience some one thought of making a little bag to wear around one's neck underneath one's waist to put one's diamonds and money in. Of course, the bag wasn't of much use on the return trip. But the heart-shaped confections which are made of linen with shadow embroidery and fringed edges of fringed lace and a little pearl button and a well worked button hole, are too nice to pass by. If you are planning to bring your money to the superior or any other long distant and out of the way place, get a little bag to hold your money.

A few diamonds on salmon colored velvet are very flashy looking in one of the down town windows.

SLAYS TWO WOMEN.

Wisconsin Man Kills Wife and Stepmother and Shoots Himself.

Beaver Dam, Wis., March 11.—At 4:20 p. m. Saturday stock market killed his devoted wife in a most brutal manner. An altercation first took place, then he knocked her down with a bill, then deliberately shot her twice in the head.

He waited about ten minutes to make sure of his death of her death. Then he went to the home of his stepmother, Mrs. E. G. Miller, where a terrible struggle took place. They induced a wild, easy, in her efforts to escape the man who must have been insane, but to no purpose; he succeeded in overpowering and slaying her twice, killing her almost instantly. He then sat down in a chair and shot himself in the right temple. He is still alive but not expected to survive.

About nineteen years ago Miller was sentenced to Waupun for thirty years for killing a man at Morrill Park. After serving fourteen years he was released.

ELECTRICIAN IS KILLED.

Henry Cholmon Meets Death While at Work at Power Plant.

Henry Cholmon, an expert electrician, who arrived in Duluth last week, working over the wires. Suddenly there was a loud cry, and when other workers in the building rushed to Cholmon's assistance, they found him prostrate on the stone floor. There was still a spark of life left in his body, however, and the men worked over him for several hours in an effort to revive him.

Dr. Graham was summoned, but by the time the physician arrived Cholmon was dead. Dr. Graham declared that the electrician was not electrocuted, but that his neck had been broken by the fall. It is supposed that he received a strong shock from a live wire, and was thrown to the floor with great force.

ATS FOR MEN

The enormous and steady increase in the number of Columbia customers is not due to accident, but to design. To do a little better by you than any other store and to preach and practice "High quality" instead of sacrificing to the Moloch "High Profit" is our constant aim; to build up here a store organization second to none in America is our selfish purpose.

All departments in the Columbia store are run on this principle and none has succeeded better than the Hat department. We've broken away from the old-fashioned five-dollar limit, pay-for-a-name, one-style-for-all, policy under which hat wearers suffered for years.

Our "Knapp-Felt De Luxe" Hats are six dollars, because they are worth it.

Our "Columbia Specials" at four dollars are next best.

Those who tried a "Columbia $3 Hat" last season are coming back for another like it this year.

The "Columbia Common" at $1.90 is a wonder for the price.

Besides these we show perhaps the largest assortment of any Duluth store, in Gordon and Stetson Hats, and another of our attractions are Young's famous New York Hats at $3.00.

WEST DULUTH MANY BID FOR STOCK

M. S. Shore Offers Highest Amount for Hendricks' Goods.

Store Was Crowded and Spirited Sale is the Result.

After some exceedingly lively bidding which lasted for about an hour and a half this morning, the stock and fixtures of the N. C. Hendricks Dry Goods company, which recently went into bankruptcy, were knocked down to M. S. Shore. The highest bid for the stock was $4,700, and for the fixtures $300, which makes a total paid for the whole by Mr. Shore slightly over $5,000.

The stock and fixtures and the book accounts were all sold at public auction by Fred Reynolds, trustee. The bidding started shortly after 9 o'clock, and at that time there were from thirty to forty prospective buyers in the store. The first bid was made by O. S. Olson, who offered $8,000 for the stock. This was raised continually by other bidders in a spirited manner, and the final high mark of $4,700 was the result. The book accounts were sold to H. W. Lammers.

The fact that among the bidders were many business men of Duluth and outside points shows that it is the general opinion that West Duluth is a fine business point, and that the prospects for future prosperity are very bright. It is not known what Mr. Shore will do with the stock, but it is expected that he will continue the business.

The inventory on the stock at the first of the year placed a value at about $8,000 upon it, and the offer of the former owners to the creditors was 25 per cent. Those who attended the sale felt much pleased over their success in getting $4,700 for the creditors.

PAY LAST TRIBUTE.

Funeral of Mrs. I. M. Merriman Was Largely Attended.

The funeral of Mrs. I. M. Merriman, who died Saturday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. D. Abbott, 559 Grand avenue west, was held yesterday afternoon at the Assembly M. E. church, and many West Duluth people attended and paid a last tribute to the memory of their departed neighbor.

Besides the personal friends and relatives, a large number of the members of the W. C. T. U., and the Garfield circle, Ladies of the G. A. R., were present. The church was crowded to the doors, and many friends were turned away. The pall bearers were all descendants of Mrs. Merriman, either sons or grandsons. The church was decorated plainly and the altar was piled high with flowers and plants which had been brought by relatives and friends.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Thomas Grier, pastor of the Assembly M. E. church, who delivered an eloquent sermon and eulogy over the remains. He praised the many kind and benevolent characteristics which Mrs. Merriman had possessed and of the excellent work which she had accomplished.

The remains were sent to Floyd, Iowa, last night, where they will be buried in a grave alongside that of her husband, who died some years ago. Mrs. Merriman was 54 years old at the time of her death.

SUGGEST NEW RULES.

Members of Republican Club Must Vote Straight Ticket.

The reorganization and rules committee of the West Duluth Republican club held a meeting Saturday evening at the club headquarters, 324 North Central avenue, and several changes in the by-laws were suggested. One of these provides that unless a member votes the straight Republican ticket at each election he will be expelled.

The committee will also suggest that the club stand for nothing but the strict enforcement of the law. Another recommendation will be that the members pay annual dues, and that the new members who wish to join the club shall be voted upon by the members in session.

The club has been in existence for many years, and has always enjoyed prosperity and a large membership. Efforts will now be started to increase the membership materially during the present year.

CHART FOR ALDERMEN

Engineers Prepare Map of Poles Carrying Electric Wires.

It is doubtful whether the council realized what a job it put up to the city engineering department last December when it ordered a chart made, showing the location, kind, and purpose of the poles in the streets of Duluth, located between Eighth avenue west and Twenty-fourth avenue east, between Michigan street and Sixth street, and farther east, from London road to Fifth street. Ever since Dec. 27 a crew of three men, headed by James Neff, has engaged on the job, and this morning witnessed the completion of their task.

Their findings are decidedly interesting, however. Within the more thickly settled district of the city, as indicated by the resolution offered by the council, the poles are located in the neighborhood of 600 poles of all descriptions, including iron poles used by the telephone and electric companies. The trees which furnished these poles would make a decidedly imposing forest.

While no definite estimate has been made of the poles outside the prescribed district, the engineering department estimates that on the plan of the city limits there must be within a few hundred of 150 poles at least.

The poles range from the little twenty-foot posts which are used on the country line to the poles used by the Northern Power company throughout the city, most of which run above sixty and some touching seventy feet in height.

A goodly share of the work of the pole survey is yet to be done as the location, kind and distances between the poles must be marked on the plan of the district and all the 600 poles will appear in their exact locations when the chart is completed.

NORTH DAKOTA'S BIGGEST FAIR

Is to be Held in Grand Forks Next July.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The biggest and best fair North Dakota has ever seen will be held in Grand Forks in July. A. I. Hunter of Grand Forks, president of the State Fair association, has announced the dates for July 22 to 27, thereby settling a lively tilt between this city and Fargo, which tried to steal the state fair dates for its county fair, and with them the state fair title. The Fargo claims have been downed by popular disapproval of the Fargo claims, and the fair, the $10,000 appropriation from the state, and all connected with it, go to Grand Forks.

Though the fair is over months ahead, preparations for it have been going on for months under the direction of President Hunter and Secretary H. E. Miller. Applications for space are coming in from large exhibitors of stock from all parts of the country, but particularly Northwestern stock raisers and exhibitors. The stock feature of the fair will excel anything of the sort ever shown in the country.

Additional interest will be attached to the fair because of the excellent program that is arranged for it. Fast horses from all parts of the country are being entered and purses that are to be offered, Grand Forks is in a circuit with Winnipeg, Minn. and possibly Fargo, though Fargo will be left out if she persists in doubling her county fair date with the Grand Forks state fair date.

The state fair moved into North Dakota is only in its infancy, but has made rapid strides in the three years it has been on. The first state fair was a surprise to the state and most loyal boosters of the state who gathered in Grand Forks to see it. The present fair will be far ahead of the first. The fair association owns ground and buildings at Grand Forks, valued at $100,000. The fair this year has an appropriation of $10,000 from the state, half to be used for buildings and half for stock premiums. Grand Forks county has appropriated $5,000 for buildings and improvements. The association has been offered $1,000 for premiums by the stock breeding associations of the country. The total value of the premiums offered for exhibits will be $12,000, and $10,000 in purses is hung up for races.

To add to the interest of the fair, the Grand Forks Commercial club has joined hands with the fair association, and will assist in boosting the movement. An excellent program of side attractions and specialties will be a marked feature of the exhibition.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMS.

Announcements Are Made for Several to be Held Soon.

An examination has also been announced to be held on March 27 for the position of land assistant to fill a vacancy in the library of the department of agriculture. The salary is $720 a year. Unitarians Making Arrangements for Coming of Los Angeles Evangelist.

Members of the First Unitarian church are making all arrangements for the evangelist meetings to be held in Duluth next month by Rev. D. Fay Mills of "The Fellowship" of Los Angeles, Cal.

The meetings will be held April 10 to April 21 and will probably be held in Steinway hall, First street and Fourth avenue west. Two meetings will be held each day. It may be arranged to hold noon meetings, at which it is calculated to reach many business men.

Rev. Mr. Mills is a famous evangelist. In Los Angeles he has a large following. He has been successful in his religious and worship and it is expected that his meetings in this city will be most interesting.

Nothing Too

Good

For the American People

BOXES A MONTH, proving that the American people recognize, that what is BEST FOR THEM is none too good.

Why this enormous patronage?

The answer is simple: Cascarets are pure, clean, sweet, mild, fragrant, harmless but effective little tablets for the treatment and cure of Constipation and all Bowel Troubles. They are put up in neat little enamel boxes, easy to buy, easy to carry (in vest-pocket or purse), easy to take and easy of action, always reliable, always the same, they "work while you sleep" and wake you up feeling fine in the morning.

They not only regulate the movement and stimulate the muscular walls of the bowels, but they keep the ENTIRE CANAL CLEAN and antiseptic, forcing out and destroying all disease germs that breed in the accumulated filth unless promptly and regularly discharged. Therefore, they are a great preventive of disease, and may be taken continuously as a precautionary measure.

The new Pure Drug Act, adopted by Congress on June 30, 1906, and in effect January 1, 1907, is a GOOD LAW and means better and PURER drugs for the American People. We endorse it and will live up to it in SPIRIT and LETTER—an easy task, as we have always been actuated by the same principles and no changes are required in our formula or packaging.

We adopted OUR OWN PURE DRUG LAW in 1895 when the first box of Cascarets came on the market and have lived and worked and produced under it ever since.

To-day, after a record of nearly 100,000,000 boxes sold, Cascarets STAND the greater in PURITY, QUALITY and MEDICINAL MERIT than any other preparation for Bowel trouble in all the world.

This should be a great argument for any one, to try Cascarets AT ONCE, and be healthier and happier for it. Some people have CHRONIC CONSTIPATION with all the horrors derived from it; others have HABITUAL CONSTIPATION from carelessness and neglect, but nearly EVERYBODY has OCCASIONAL CONSTIPATION, which, if not promptly taken care of is liable to result in its degeneration into the worse forms and cause great suffering and perhaps death.

Cascarets, if taken patiently and regularly, will remedy all of these awful troubles, but if taken promptly at the very first sign of an irregularity of the Bowels, will act as the FINEST PREVENTIVE ever discovered and will keep all the machinery running in good order.

We advise you to get a little 10c box of Cascarets TO-DAY and carry it in your purse or vest pocket. Take one when you feel anything unusual about your bowels. Your own druggist will sell you the little box, under GUARANTY of satisfaction or money refunded. All druggists, 10c, 25c, 50c.

MONEY MARCH CONGRESS

An Instance of the Sums That Were Generously Voted.

Long Public Service of Senator Allison and Other Senators.

FROM THE HERALD WASHINGTON BUREAU.

Washington, March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—It has been well said that the congress which closed on March 4, was "money mad." The exact total of appropriations which were carried by the many bills enacted into law cannot be stated at this time, but it will be very close to, if it does not exceed a billion dollars. It will be said with truth that most of the appropriations were meritorious, but it was very clearly demonstrated that the most rampant howler for state rights and the doctrines of Calhoun is willing to tear the constitution into shreds with the question of an appropriation in which the state shall individually receive a benefit.

When the agricultural appropriation bill reached the senate an amendment was added which will eventually result in the payment of a case of the states and territories $30,000, to aid the agricultural colleges and experiment stations, an increase of $2,000 of your amount now paid. This sum may not be considered large for agricultural education in a state like New York, Pennsylvania, but the act does not make population the basis for the distribution of the fund, and Nevada with its 30,000 population is placed upon the same basis as New York with 8,000,000. It is doubtful if Nevada has 1,000 children who will attend an agricultural college, while the entire school population does not exceed 8,000 or 7,000, so that the amendment added by the senate, and in which the house finally concurred, will practically pay the entire cost of education for the whole school population of that state.

During the discussion over the proposition to discuss in the senate amendment, Mr. Scott said:

"I want to call to the attention of members of this house the fact that the government of the United States is already paying to each of these agricultural colleges $2,000 of your under the Morrill act, $15,000 under the Hatch act, and when the Adams we will be paying $15,000 more a year, a total of $55,000 a year, which goes to these agricultural colleges and experiment stations in every state. Dickson, the young man, who was born at Snow Camp, N. C., in 1867.

In late years there has been a delusion on the part of states to select younger men than usual for the senate, and that body is growing younger at every election. The senator from Kansas, Mr. Allen, is thirty-six in the senate. This will rival the historic record of Senator Morrill of Vermont, but the latter's forty-four years were continuous service, which Senator Allison can hardly hope to equal for an interval of two years, occurred between his eight years of house and senate service. Senator Morrill served twelve years in the house and went directly to the senate, and you see that thirty-two years up to the time of his death in 1898.

One of the questions which will confront Secretary Taft upon his arrival in Cuba, in the course of a few weeks, will probably be the propriety and policy of abrogating Governor General Wood's decree forbidding conscription in the island. An overwhelming majority of the Cuban themselves desire to do away with the conscription as has been their custom from immemorial time and even since the application of the Wood decree, though the law has been necessary to carry out this practice is said to have had no effect.

Many all of the planters favor conscription for a rather novel reason, according to an official who has recently returned from Cuba. When the sport Wood's decree forbidding conscription was put into effect, the planters for four days a week to support his family. Another day's wages he set apart for his stock, and the next day he worked in the pit. Now that the lottery and cock fighting have been stopped, the laborer and the farm hand simply stop work for the last two days of the week, leaving the planter with no money. This practice is said to have had no effect.

It means the drying up of private benevolence and that our state will withhold the hand that should be given to the general government. "We are now, if this measure passes, contracting to give $30,000 a year in perpetuity to the states, state and territorial. What does that mean to each college? It means a sum equal to $2,000,000 every year for each of the states. To every institution. At 4 per cent that means an accrued income of $80,000 a year for each college. To the state of Michigan and every other like institution.

"It means the drying up of private benevolence and that our state will withhold the hand that should be given to the general government because the general government gives so liberally. I speak for the state of Michigan when I say I believe our great country is doing no ask it. She is rich in agriculture, rich in mines, rich in all the elements of wealth, and she does not ask the government to give her perpetual endowment, which would annually employ forty professors at every college. The most recent college is the oldest, the most renowned and one of the best endowed in the country. The president of the United States has just celebrated the 31st of May to celebrate our semi-centennial as the mother of all the agricultural colleges in the United States.

Mr. Wadsworth, chairman of the agricultural committee, called attention to the many bills pending which propose to add still more millions to the annual appropriations for alleged agricultural education and added: "Now, Mr. Speaker, the next step will be the public schools; and there you have capitalized federal government supervision of every school system and federal governmental control of your education. That is the basis of my great opposition to it, and I beg this house not to take this step; at least, let it go over and be considered on its merits and not jam it through here on an appropriation bill."

And then after the bill had been finally disposed of, Mr. Davis of Minnesota told the house about a bill which he had introduced and which he will push "for all he is worth" in the next congress. Mr. Davis' bill will probably have the backing of two-thirds of the house. It is a "pork up," a nice little "rake off" to speak. Here is the opening clause:

"Be it enacted, etc., that there shall be and hereafter is, annually appropriated out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, to be paid, and hereinafter provided, to each state and territory for the maintenance of instructions in agriculture and home economics in agricultural high schools of secondary grade and instructions in mechanical arts and home economics in city high schools of secondary grade, a sum of money equal to 10 cents per capita of the population of each state and territory, respectively, as shown by the last preceding national or state census, as shall be apportioned by the secretary of agriculture and estimated for in the annual estimates submitted to congress for the department of agriculture."

The "money madness" of the Fifty-third congress will continue in its successor. It is not "brain storming." It is a parasite which will not vanish suddenly. It continues and grows in virulence as long as there is prospect of a surplus in the treasury.

On March 2, Senator Allison of Iowa was 73 years of age. Though he has already attained the honor of having served in the United States senate longer than any man in the history of the nation, he is by no means the oldest member of the senate in point of age. Senator Pettus of Alabama is the oldest member of that body, being 80 years old, and he has two years yet to serve of his present term. He was 82 years old when re-elected to his present term. Senator Pettus, colleague, Senator Morgan, ranks second in age, being 83 years, and if he outlives his recent re-election, he will be 84.

Senator Allison is 73 years of age, but is only eight months older than Senator William C. Cullum of New York, who is 74, while his colleague, Senator Dewey is 75.

Senator Teller of Colorado ranks fifth in age, being 75. Senator Proctor of Vermont is six years older, being 81, while his colleague, Senator Depew is 82.

Senator Allison outlives his present term, which ended April 4, 1909, he will have served forty-four years in congress, and he will have served thirty-six in the senate. This will rival the historic record of Senator Morrill of Vermont, but the latter's forty-four years were continuous service, which Senator Allison can hardly hope to equal for an interval of two years, occurred between his eight years of house and senate service. really injurious effect upon the economic development of the island's industries and has considerably curtailed production.

The publication of the sensational story concerning alleged conditions in the Chicago packinghouses last year was followed by an immediate falling off in the demand for American canned meats in Europe. The slump was felt, especially in England, where our trade dropped from nearly 100,000 cases a week to less than 500.

But the enactment of the rigid inspection law, now on the statute books, seems to have restored confidence in American food products. Consul General Wythe of London reports that the English press is generally publishing a paragraph concerning the American packing industry which reads as follows:

"Following the promulgation of the new meat inspection law in the United States, the canned meat trade is, according to latest advices rapidly increasing, and it appears likely that within a very short time the consumption will be as large as formerly. The regulations are so rigid and the packers, it would appear, are so eager to carry them out to the letter that they are introducing many new ideas and methods, which will entirely disarm criticism in the future. Published figures show that the ground of the export trade in meats of various kinds from the United States during the last twelve months has been wonderful.

"Apart from the new American meat inspection and pure food laws, which are entirely new, the letter that they are introduced by any other nation in the world, the stock yards in all the great packing centers like Chicago, Omaha and Kansas City, are, we learn, being transformed into model cities, so that new conditions will appear to even the most fastidious visitors as being of the most wholesome and up to date character. Large contracts for canned beef for the British government are now being executed in Chicago, and an interview given by the officer recently detailed to be there on the spot, watching the process, said that he was extremely pleased with everything he had seen."

The revised edition contains not only information of the harbors and conditions of the lake, bays and sounds, but also on the barometric and barometric storms. Holders of Butte & Superior stock are to have an opportunity to subscribe for more shares, probably before the stock goes on the market, May 1.
Eight hundred thousand shares have already been issued and it is proposed to dispose of stockholders' 100,000 shares more. The subscribers may get the stock on the basis of one share for every eight they now hold and are to pay $5 per share, the par value. This will make a total of 900,000 shares issued and leaves 300,000 shares in the treasury of the company.

George L. Walker, in his weekly column, has pointed out the fact that the price of copper metal will have further advances, indicating that the price of copper metal will have further advances. It is said that the falling off in the price of copper metal during the winter months has rather pleased the companies against it in the matter of delivering the copper already coppered. The price of copper metal is now at a low level and the amount of metal on hand in the market for cash delivery will be slim for some time.

ACCUSED MEN ARE ARRAIGNED

John O'Connor and Fred Burke, who were indicted by the grand jury last week, entered pleas in the district court this morning.

O'Connor pleaded guilty to the charge of assault in the second degree. Burke pleaded not guilty to the charge of larceny in the second degree.
O'Connor's is claimed, attacked Gust Shiroder with a knife and inflicted serious wounds. Burke is charged with larceny in the second degree.
Burke is alleged to have accepted a due bill for $106.50 issued by the Oliver Iron Mining company in favor of another man. It is alleged that Burke paid $56.50 due him for his labor, but that he accepted the other man's check and cashed it, appropriating $50 to his own use.

The grand jury resumed its work this morning after a recess since last Friday. It was expected that the grand jurors would return this morning. A number of indictments would be returned this afternoon.

THOSE WHO HAVE PASSED BEYOND

Hanover, Conn., March 11.—Rodolphus W. Fuller, the inventor of the machine to make horseshoes, died early today, aged 85 years. Fuller's invention was copied by men who made millions through it, but the inventor died a poor man.

London, March 11.—Lord Penrhyn, whose dispute with his employees at his Bethesda slate quarries brought him into a great deal of prominence, is dead. The quarriesmen struck and Lord Penrhyn refused to parley with them in any shape or form, shut down the quarries and refused to reopen them except on his own terms. The men yielded after three years struggle, which cost the Bethesda district nearly $2,000,000 in wages and which it is claimed did not do anybody any good except the foreign quarriesmen.

New York, March 11.—Prof. John Krom-Rees, who held the chair of astronomy in Columbia university for twenty-two years and was director of the observatory at that institution, died Saturday night at Summit, N. J. He was 93 years old and the youngest of the first group of professors to benefit by the Carnegie retirement pension fund for teachers, which became operative at the close of the last collegiate term.

Boala, Kan., March 11.—John Turner, who was lately in the United States with Charles Dickens, the author, died at his home here yesterday, aged 91 years. He was born in York, England, and in 1847 he entered the British navy. He witnessed the coronation of Queen Victoria.

the boat, but the owners have several Ferry Does Large Business.

Travel between Duluth and Superior yesterday is said to have broken all previous records of this winter. The ferry steamer Pacific, which operates between the ends of the two street railroads, ran all day on a 10-minute schedule and carried 6,000 passengers.
Capt. Stevens, who operates the ferry, says that the "channel" has been cut through the ice and the floating ice has been sliced under the main body.
He does not anticipate any further trouble in keeping the channel open and maintaining the ferry on the old schedule.

curred in the advertisement of the Duluth-Superior Dredging company. The have been.

THE GIDDING STORE
Radiant With Beautiful Easter Apparel for Women and Girls.

Seldom have the women of Duluth viewed a display of beautiful things for the women of fashion that equals the superb showing of Easter apparel at Gidding's. The store is resplendent with stunning tailored suits and gowns that are simply "dreams of beauty," as one enthusiast expressed it.
It would seem that this year the style shows outdoor life and that nothing more complete and beautiful than this season's display at Gidding's is possible. To describe each separate creation would be impossible; a personal visit will be found well worth while.

USE FOR TUNGSTEN.

Will Soon Replace Carbon Loops in Electric Lights.

New York, March 11.—Ever since Edison, after searching all over the world decided that a loop of carbon was the best thing to turn an electric current into light, inventors have been striving to find something better still.
The carbon loop has served a good purpose, but now, apparently, it must soon go into the junk heap along with other things discarded on the march of science. It was efficient enough to introduce the age of electric light, but not to carry the development to its highest point. For some time predictions have been heard from scientific quarters that a revolution in electric lighting is at hand. A few weeks ago a high authority asserted that within a year the age of electric light, having a filament composed of the metal tungsten, would be on the market, and that that output of light per unit of power would be increased at least three-fold;
in other words, the light producing capacity of every electric light station in the world would be at once multiplied by three.

SENATE TRIES TO BLUFF THE HOUSE BY PASSING AN AMENDED FARE BILL

Bears the House Number But Is a Senate Measure.

Compromise Bill for 21-2 Cents May Make Its Appearance.

Bill for Construction of Implements at Prison Passes.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The senate this morning passed the house 2-cent fare bill, or rather a duplicate of the senate bill, with the number of the house bill attached to it, in a futile attempt to make the house believe it is having its own way. The bill will now go to the house again, and that body will be asked to concur in the senate amendments. In all probability the house will refuse to concur, and that will involve the appointment of conference committees from each house, which will try to find a common ground on which both houses can act harmoniously. It is not at all improbable that a 2½-cent compromise bill will yet make its appearance, and it is by no means impossible that it will be the final result of the episode. The bill was on general orders in the senate, and this morning Senator (Clague) moved that the rules be so far suspended as to permit it to be placed on its final passage. The motion was carried.

BROKE OUT OF KELLIHER JAIL

Former Boiler Inspector Thought to Have Fled to Canada.

Remond, Minn., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Deputy Sheriff E. E. Dotten of Morrison county was in Kelliher a few days ago with a warrant for the arrest of W. W. Keenan, superintendent of the village electric lighting plant at Kelliher. Keenan was charged with inspecting boilers without a license. His commission expired Feb. 1, and since that time he has been dating the license back. Keenan came to Kelliher two weeks ago to take charge of the lighting plant, but inspected several boilers there and dated the license just one month back. He was arrested and placed in the village jail, but during the night succeeded in escaping. He was seen in the building and making his escape. He was tracked across the lake, and from the direction taken, he made for the Shutey country. A deputy sheriff secured a team and followed him, but could find no trace of the fugitive. During the morning of March 9 a horse was stolen from a Shutey homestead, the presumption being that it was taken by Keenan to assist in his escape. The police have been notified at Big Falls, Northome, Itasca, Sully, and other points to intercept him should he show up in their towns. It is thought by many that he will attempt to reach the Canadian border.

ARREST STOPS IOWA WEDDING

Prospective Bridegroom Turns Out to be a Horse Thief.

Ottumwa, Iowa, March 12.—The searchlight of official investigation, turned on the mystery surrounding three recent cases of horse stealing in Ottumwa, has resulted in wringing a confession from one of the suspects. Sheriff Jackson, arrested William Mantz in New Sharon, and after several sessions in the sweatbox, Mantz confessed to having been a party in the thefts. His arrest took place in time to prevent his marriage to Mrs. Nellie Dooley, which was to have taken place yesterday. It is said, he spent $88, from proceeds of the sale of the horses, for a present for Mrs. Dooley. Without leaving any explanation as to her destination, Miss Nora M. Baker, 18 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Baker, left home yesterday, and no trace of her has yet been found. Objection to a love affair is supposed to be the cause of her action. Her father is a conductor on the Burlington.

EX-RULER OF FRANCE

M. Casimir-Perier, Passes Away Suddenly at Paris.

Treachery in the Dreyfus Case Caused His Resignation.

WILLIAM H. HATTEN, State Senator of Wisconsin, Who Is a Candidate for Spooner's Place.

Paris, March 12.—M. Casimir-Perier, ex-president of France, died suddenly at 11 o'clock last night of embolism of the heart at his residence on the Rue Nitot here. The news of his demise was not published until this morning. The ex-president had not been well for two or three days, but it was supposed he was suffering from influenza, and no great importance was attached to his indisposition. He was not even confined to his bed, but lunched and dined with his family on Sunday, and was in good spirits. At about 6 o'clock last evening an abrupt prostration occurred. The ex-president was taken to bed, Dr. Landouzy was called in and the patient was given morphine injections whereupon he slept and did not awake until 10 o'clock when he was terribly weak. Another severe attack of prostration followed, from which M. Casimir-Perier did not recover. He passed away in the presence of his whole family, with the exception of his sister, the Comtesse de Segur, who arrived shortly afterwards. In the course of the morning, President (Continued on page 10, third column.)

SONG FAILED TO SAVE ITEM

Appropriation for Statue for John Brown Fails to Pass.

Topeka, Kas., March 12.—One of the last acts of the house, late last night, was the killing of an item in the general appropriation bill of $6,000, providing for the erection of a statue in the hall of fame at Washington of John Brown of Ossawatimie. A dramatic scene preceded the demise of the appropriation. The item had been introduced by Senator B. P. Waggoner of Atchison, and when he learned that the conferees were threatening to cut it out, he asked the members and employees of the senate to follow him in singing "John Brown's Body Lies Mouldering in the Grave." A number of senators took up the song, and then Waggoner asked them to follow him. At the head of fifty legislators and employees, the Atchison senator led the way, first to the senate, then to the conference committee room, and finally to Governor Hoch's office, singing the song at the top of their voices.

Magazines of the Iena Blow Up at Toulon Docks.

Explosion of Compressed Air Torpedo Causes the Catastrophe.

Many Vessels Near the Iena Are Also Badly Damaged.

Toulon, March 12.—A powder magazine on board the French battleship Iena blew up today while the vessel was in the Miessey dock, owing to the explosion of a compressed air torpedo. It is reported that the casualties number from 200 to 300. There were about 630 officers and men on board the Iena at the time of the disaster, but many of them jumped into the water. Further explosions of the Iena occur every moment, and debris is flying over the dock yard for a distance of 500 yards. The windows of the workshops around the scene of the explosion are all broken. The electric wires flash in the fuses and then break down, all about the Miessey dock. A shell, weighing twenty pounds, (Continued on page 14, sixth column.)

DELMAS' OBJECTIONS TO TESTIMONY OF WHITE'S RELATIVE OVERRULED

Brother-in-Law Smith Will be Allowed to Testify.

Heated Arguments Made by Attorneys for Both Sides.

Dr. Flint Again Called But Not Allowed to Testify.

New York, March 12.—After counsel had spent more than two hours of the morning session of the Thaw trial in argument today, Justice Fitzgerald overruled the objection of the defense in the matter of allowing District Attorney Jerome to continue his examination of James Clinch Smith, a brother-in-law of Stanford White. The objection had been pending since adjournment yesterday. Mr. Smith had a conversation with Harry Thaw on the Madison Square Roof Garden just before White was killed. Mr. Jerome said this conversation had a very important bearing on the case and he had not learned of the conversation itself until Smith returned from Europe last month, after the prosecution's case in chief had closed. Attorney Delmas for the defense fought the introduction of this testimony to the last, but Justice Fitzgerald ruled that in the interest of justice it should be admitted. Mr. Jerome thereupon asked that the taking of Mr. Smith's testimony be postponed until after the luncheon recess. A half hour of the morning session still remained, so Mr. Jerome called another policeman who saw Thaw the night of the tragedy, and who declared that the defendant had acted rationally. Mr. Jerome also called Dr. Carlton Flint, to whom Evelyn Nesbit is said to have gone in 1902 with Jack Barrymore, the actor. Mr. Jerome promptly objected to Dr. Flint's testimony, on the same grounds that he had offered against other evidence of collateral facts tending to contradict young Mrs. Thaw's testimony. The district attorney seemed to anticipate the objection, and said he did not care to argue the point. Justice Fitzgerald sustained the objection, and Dr. Flint was at once excused.

ARE MOVING SOME CARS

Partial Service at Louisville With Aid of Strike Breakers.

Passengers Prefer to Walk Rather Than Risk Injury.

Louisville, Ky., March 12.—With the aid of strike-breakers and the protection of the police, the Louisville Street Railway company today opened a partial service on four lines. Between fifty and seventy-five strike-breakers, imported during the night from St. Louis and Cincinnati, were put on the cars, and with two or three policemen on each platform, made several trips through the downtown district. Even with the police on board, trouble began early. The disturbances today were nearer the business center of the city than yesterday, and in one instance a brick was thrown into a car from a window in an office building at Fifth and Main streets. The missile struck a St. Louis strike-breaker, injuring him severely. But few passengers rode, evidently preferring to walk in the pouring rain than to take chances on a car. Charles T. Rager, acting as a special representative of the second assistant postmaster general, arrived late last night, and after a conference between the railway management and the postal authorities, succeeded in having the mail delivered to certain suburban towns by special cars yesterday. These cars are placarded with a sign, four feet square, labelled "U. S. mail."

NAVY TO MAKE ITS OWN TORPEDOES

Factory Will be Established at Newport Naval Station.

Washington, March 12.—Admiral Mason, in charge of the naval bureau of ordnance, has just completed plans for the construction of a torpedo factory at the Newport naval station, and he expects to advertise at once for proposals for the construction of the building and the supplies for the necessary plant. This will be the first time the government has undertaken to make its own torpedoes on a large scale. The ordnance bureau has available $155,000 for beginning this work. The appropriation cannot be touched before the beginning of the next fiscal year, but to save time Admiral Mason decided to let the contract at once, with the provision that the work shall not begin before July 1. The new factory will give employment of at least 200 skilled workmen. It is proposed to make every part of the torpedo except the steel flasks which contain the compressed air used to drive the engines and propel the torpedo. Material of particular excellence is required for the flasks owing to the high pressure they are obliged to sustain, ranging in the case of the latest torpedoes up to more than 3,000 pounds to the square inch. The machinery necessary for their manufacture is expensive, and expert workmanship is required, so that it is to be cheaper to procure them from the concerns now making similar flasks for commercial uses, than to undertake to make them in a government workshop.

The present type of naval torpedo runs 3,500 yards under water at the average speed of twenty-six and a half knots. But experiments conducted by the ordnance bureau have developed a torpedo that will attain the marvelous speed of thirty-five knots per hour at a distance of 1,000 yards, and it is possible that this type will be adopted when fully developed and turned out at the new factory instead of the present standard type.

R. M. S. CLERKS ORGANIZING

Benevolent Order is Being Formed in Pacific Coast Cities.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 12.—Hugh G. Shaugh, the clerk who was suspended by the postoffice department, stated that he was preparing a report for submission to the chief clerk regarding the Brotherhood of Railway Postal clerks, which he has been instrumental in organizing. He said: "This is a benevolent order which was formed in this city and includes ninety of the 120 postal clerks who run out of Los Angeles. Within the past few days I have received applications from Seattle, Portland, Tacoma and New Orleans for temporary charters, authorizing the formation of branch organizations. These will be issued as soon as we receive our charter from the secretary of state. About 200 members of the brotherhood are at San Francisco." Shaugh further stated that the organization would not be disbanded; that the members were not advocates of striking and that they were not attempting to impair the service. He affirmed that the clerks were overworked and underpaid, and that a committee which visited Washington to secure better conditions had been informed that the matter would not be discussed.

BALL PLAYER LOSES LIFE

Patrick Hynes Shot by Bartender in St. Louis Saloon.

St. Louis, March 12.—Patrick J. Hynes, who two seasons ago pitched for the St. Louis American league team and who signed with Milwaukee for the coming season, was shot in the head and killed this morning in the saloon of Harry V. Grover, Louis W. Richardson, the bartender, was arrested and charged with the killing. Richardson declared he fired in self defense, and W. O. Stansbury, held by the police as a witness, corroborates the statement. Both said the trouble arose over Hynes having ordered some beer and then refused to pay for it. Hynes threw a pretzel bowl at Richardson, and then brandished a mop, whereupon Richardson fired.

The Mirror of Fashion!

Looking at the mirror of fashion, we find few style changes from last season in Men's Suits. What changes there are, however, are effective.

COATS ARE STILL LONG, with a decided dip in front; the lines drape somewhat to the figure.

THE LONG ROLL LAPEL is the prominent characteristic and a feature that gives distinctiveness to the garment. Most coats have three buttons, while some of the ultra styles for young men have but two. There is a great variety of treatment in the cuffs.

VESTS ARE CUT DECIDEDLY LOWER and have the wide notch flare from the last button. The pockets, in many instances, are fashioned with flaps.

THE TROUSERS follow the line of the leg, a medium peg-top, dropping straight from knee to foot—neat and shapely.

MEN OF CRITICAL TASTE will enthrall over the new Oak Hall Spring Suits—never were they so like the most expensive custom-made garments.

THE MATERIALS, THE WORKMANSHIP, THE STYLE, AND CHARACTER—all are possessed of that dignity and perfection only found in the most exclusive custom-made clothes.

DROPS DEAD FROM SHOCK

Mother Dies on Hearing of Death of Her Daughter.

Ashland, Wis., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. William Keely, the wife of a stockkeeper on Bad River reservation, received a message last night announcing the death of her daughter, Mrs. Maggie Thompson at Superior. The shock caused her to faint and she remained unconscious until this morning when she died. Mrs. Thompson was formerly Miss Maggie Morrison, a half breed woman of unusual beauty, well known throughout Northern Wisconsin and Minnesota as the "Odianah Queen."

The Duluth police knew the "Odianah Queen" as Lizzie Mitchell, a woman of questionable reputation who has been in police court several times. Whether she is the same woman who died in Superior yesterday is not known, but as she was a half breed, it is probable that she was the same. Mrs. Keely is an Indian.

Compliments Horse Market.

The Cluquet Pine Knoll issues a complimentary notice to the horse market, and we are pleased to note the success of this well known establishment at Carlton. O. W. Erickson of Cluquet, in speaking of a recent purchase of horses at the Carlton horse market, compliments that institution most highly and points out that the county has every reason to be proud of it.

Mr. Erickson is a heavy contractor for the Great Northern railway in this section, and is at present working contracts on the range and at Allouez bay. He finds work in large numbers of horses and has made several heavy purchases at the Carlton market. His last purchase of twelve horses brings his total up to the neighborhood of fifty head, which he has secured from this source. Necessarily Mr. Erickson has investigated the market for horses in this section, and that he should become a steady purchaser at the Carlton market is evidence that the horse establishment takes a front rank by reason of the high grade stock which it offers.

KILLED AT FIRST FIRE.

Captain of German Infantry Dies in Duel With Druggist.

Berlin, March 12.—Capt. Von Perken of the Ninety-third regiment of infantry, was killed in a pistol duel yesterday morning on the drill ground, near the suburb of Tegel, by a druggist whose name has not been disclosed. The conditions of the encounter were the exchange of three shots at fifteen paces. The captain fell at the first shot, in the abdomen, and died in a hospital soon after he had been conveyed there by his second and a surgeon who was present at the encounter.

YOUNG BOY DROWNS.

Oldest Boy of Paul Wall at Marcell Falls Into Well.

Deer River, Minn., March 12.—A special to the News from Marcell gives the particulars of the drowning of the oldest son of Paul Wall, at that place. The drowning occurred at about 10 a. m., Tuesday morning, on the homestead of D. J. Shulander. It is supposed that while playing about the well, which was covered with ice, the boy slipped and fell into the head first. The hole through the ice being too small for him to turn over, he was unable to get out. He had been missed only about fifteen minutes, but when found was dead. Mr. Wall came to Deer River to make preparations for the funeral.

Appeal May be Taken From Assessment to Courts. New Deposits in Montana Could Supply the World.

At the meeting of the board of public works, held yesterday afternoon, it was practically decided to draw up the advance assessment for the work of paving and grading Twenty-fourth avenue east, as at first planned, allowing the property owners above Second street for the expenditure made two years ago on the avenue, and otherwise assessing everyone evenly for the rock cut from Superior street to First street. The board was assured by a number of the real estate men at the first hearing last week that such an assessment would be appealed to the courts, and that it could not stand, but they have decided to risk the appeal and assess the avenue in the way which to them seems the fairest. The first hearing of the advance assessment of Jefferson street will be held Friday.

MONSTER DREDGE IS LAUNCHED

Takes to Water and Is Christened "Old Hickory."

The launching of the monster dredge, which is being built for the Duluth-Superior Dredging company, took place at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the yards of the builders at Sixth avenue west. The great dredge is the largest in the world of its kind.

Preparations have been going on all day in order that the initial plunge of the dredge could be accomplished this afternoon, but these were not completed before 3 o'clock. The present supply of this afternoon. When the braces were finally loosened the monster pile of timbers and steel beams slid into the water with little trouble.

It was necessary to saw out a large piece in the ice before the launching took place, and men and teams have been engaged in removing the large cakes of ice from the water this afternoon. The hull of the big dredge is 130 feet in length and her beam is forty-three feet. The total cost when completed will be about $150,000. She will be used in the local harbor during the coming season.

The Duluth-Superior Dredging company decided this morning to christen the boat the "Old Hickory," and all the formality used in launching a big passenger boat was gone through with this afternoon.

TUNGSTEN WORTH MORE

Big Demand Causes a Steady Increase in the Price.

New Deposits in Montana Could Supply the World.

(From Denver Post, March 4, 1907.) Boulder, Colo., March 4.—Tungsten shipments for the month of February fell a little short of January; the short month and a heavy snowfall the first week of the month cut off the supply of ore for the mills and cut down the output to between eighty and ninety tons of concentrates, against about 100 tons for January. The Boulder County mine made a shipment this week of 400 sacks of concentrates, which averaged about 140 pounds each, netting something like $12,000 for the shipment.

The price for concentrates continues to advance. This week it is said as high as $9.20 per unit has been bid for 60 per cent concentrates, and it is freely predicted that the price will reach $10 per unit within the next thirty days. One year ago 60 per cent concentrates were bringing about $4.50 per unit, and buyers scarce.

Today buyers are in all parts of the field, eagerly bidding for the output.

No time since the discovery of tungsten deposits in Boulder county has there been so much inquiry for good tungsten properties as at present, and the representatives of several steel manufacturers are in the field investigating various properties with a view of securing mines which will at least supply sufficient tungsten for their own use. The high price has also stimulated activity among the smaller producers, and at this time in the history of the field there has been so much activity in all parts of the field, both among the large and small producers.

On Beaver creek, south of Nederland, the Tungsten Mining, Milling & Exploration company are preparing to erect hoisting plants and mill to mine and reduce the ore of that section, of which this company has large quantities in their holdings. Development work has been going on all winter, and as soon as the spring snows are over, work on construction will commence at once.

A new company mill, and between that property and the mines, the Alton Mining & Milling company is preparing for extensive work this spring. This company is driving a tunnel to cut at great depth several well-known ore bodies, and Manager Burke is now East conferring with his associates in regard to an extensive plan of development, both of the gold and silver veins, as well as the tungsten deposits.

Several other companies, whose plans are not so far advanced, are preparing for operation this season, and it is not at all improbable that the value of the tungsten output from Boulder county will this year reach $1,000,000.

The foregoing clipping from the Denver Post was shown Mr. Harry Bush of the Pittsburgh Gold & Tungsten company, at present in the city.

Mr. Bush replied: "I am interested at the continued advance in the price of tungsten concentrates, which at the prices mentioned in the Post item means substantial profit before 3 o'clock. The present supply is not equal to the rapidly increasing demand for tungsten."

The Denver Post naturally confines itself to the Colorado field, which hitherto furnished the only known American source of supply.

"The scheelite deposits at Jardine have, however, help solve the problem. They are much more extensive and of a higher grade than anything found in Colorado."

"At Jardine the concentrates run over 70 per cent, and much of the scheelite ore breaks into the leucite contains over 60 per cent tungstic acid and is ready for shipments as taken from the mine."

"The scheelite deposits at Jardine are found in numerous richly impregnated ledges extending for miles without interruption, and the output of Jardine will be the greatest tungsten producer in the world."

Montana is awakening to the huge possibilities of the Jardine camp, and the Cobalt excitement in Canada may soon be duplicated by the tungsten excitement at Bear Gulch.

"This means the opening up of numerous properties by new companies. In any event the Pittsburgh Gold & Tungsten company will very shortly be contributing largely to the world's supply of tungsten and thus help to meet the existing and growing world demand for this valuable mineral."

"I am making my headquarters at the office of the Geofrey company, No. 15, Phoebe block, and will be glad to furnish information to inquiring parties, as well as to show them samples of various grades of scheelite and of the concentrates."

This Is Sure Easy.

SMOKERS OF CUBAN CIGARS.

Bradstreet's: In 1906 Cuba exported 255,738,029 cigars, of which quantity the United States took a little more than 50 per cent. The total value of the export of about 15,000,000 over 1905. El Tabaco, the publication from which we get the figures, shows some very interesting features of the Cuban cigar trade. Thus the average person not engaged in the tobacco business would be inclined to say that the United States takes purchases more cigars from Cuba than does England, for instance, but such is not the case. For 1905 England imported no less than 92,459,287 cigars from Cuba, as against 90,555,906 in 1905. Germany buys between 25,000,000 and 30,000,000, and France takes from 10,000,000 to 12,000,000. Seventy-five different countries are included in the list of Cuba's direct shipments. Turkey, Korea and Egyptians import them. The little island of St. Pierre at Miquelon bought 13,000 Havana cigars last year, and the Paraguayans and Bolivians, the Swedes, the Danes and the Norwegians were also purchasers. They were sent to the African possessions of England, France, Germany, Spain and Portugal. Havana cigars went to Australia, to China and to Japan. Our purchases fall below those of England because we import large quantities of Cuban leaf for manufacture here. We bought last year, about 25,000,000 pounds of leaf, while England's purchases were only about 25,000 pounds. Out of the total leaf shipments of 12,636,836 kilos, 11,413,272 kilos came to this country. Cuba's cigarettes find their largest foreign market in Colombia, to which country 5,693,248 were sent last year. American purchases were less than 500,000.

AND THEN THE SEQUEL. New York Globe: A handsome touring car drew up to the curb in Broadway near Long Acre square. Its occupant was a marked man for the idlers round about.

"Say, there's a lucky man," was another's comment. "Paid $3,500 for that machine two days ago. Hear he's ordered a steam yacht, too. He's a wonder."

Meanwhile Jim B— had entered a hotel and called for his friend, the proprietor.

"Doing the grand?" the proprietor asked.

THANKS TO PE-RU-NA.

Miss Lemm, of Minnesota, and Mrs. Harris, of Wisconsin, Write Grateful Letters.

MISS ELIZABETH LEMM.

MISS ELIZABETH LEMM, Kimball, Minn., writes: "It gives me pleasure to inform you about my health. I can never express my thanks to you, and can never recommend Peruna high enough for all the good it has done me."

"I have had catarrh of the lungs in the worst way and went to different doctors, but without success. They all claimed I had consumption, which I really thought myself, for I was all run down and had no appetite whatever. I could not sleep, was always weak and tired, and at times pains in my lungs, especially on the left side. I gave Peruna a trial, took about fifteen bottles and am entirely cured. Before I started to take Peruna I weighed 89 pounds, now I weigh 135. Thanks to Peruna."

Such a story as this shows that Peruna is a very efficacious remedy.

MRS. E. M. HARRIS.

MRS. E. M. HARRIS, Dellwood, Wis., writes:

"After following your advice and using Peruna and Manalin, I was cured of catarrh of the nose, throat and stomach, from which I had suffered for several years. When I commenced taking Peruna I could not make my bed without stopping to rest. Now I do all my work, and am in good health."

"I recommend this valuable remedy to all suffering from any disease of the stomach." It is doubtful if there is any other remedy in the world that could have done better work than this. A remedy that can do this sort of work ought to be in every household. Peruna is doing these things all over the United States. The blessing that it has been to an untold multitude of women will never be known. Only a very small per cent of such cases will ever make known their experience.

WEST DULUTH

SELECT NEW CITY DUMP

Property Owners Petition Council Against a Public Nuisance.

Present Dumping Ground Will be Covered and Abandoned.

Alderman M. J. Filiault moved the adoption of a resolution in the city council meeting last evening directing the city health commission to select a new site for the West Duluth "city dump" and to cover the present site with a thin layer of dirt. The resolution was passed by the council. The present dump is situated on Fifty-first avenue, between Main and Gensold streets, and is said to be a nuisance to the neighborhood and a menace to the public health, especially during the spring and summer months. It is not known what site the health commission will select for the new dump, but it will probably be in some more unsettled portion of the district.

Several weeks ago the citizens living in the neighborhood of the public dumping place circulated a petition to have the dump abandoned and a new one selected and about seventy citizens affixed their names to the paper. This petition was presented to Alderman Filiault last week and the resolution adopted last evening was the result.

Will Play Final Contest For Commercial Club Trophy.

The final contest for the West Duluth Commercial club trophy will be decided by the rinks skipped by Deatherage and Ashley at the West Duluth curling rink this evening. The game this evening is attracting a great deal of attention in West Duluth, and there is considerable betting on the contest. As far as the betting is concerned, the odds are set to be about evenly matched.

The line-up last evening was as follows: Eichenbach, Crosby; Curtis Sliger, Johnson; Ferguson, Sorenson; Ashley, skip 13; Meldahl, skip 8.

REMAINS SENT HOME.

Body of Young Electrician Killed at Thomson Sent East.

The remains of Henry A. Chillum, the young electrician who was killed at the Great Northern Power plant at Thomson Saturday evening, were taken to West Duluth yesterday and buried in the cemetery. He decided that the direct cause of death was a dislocated neck, but that the original cause was a shock from a live wire.

Niagara Falls was the home of the young man, who was shipped to that place last evening. Chillum had only arrived in Duluth last Wednesday and his death was a very sad one. He had been married for about a year and a half.

This Splendid Prescription is Said to Cure Kidney Troubles.

How to Find Out if Kidneys Are Affected and What to do.

A well known authority states that there are more cases of kidney trouble here now than ever before, while recent reports show that more people succumb each year to some form of kidney disease than any other cause.

When there is sickness, examine the urine. Kidney trouble is only a symptom of kidney trouble. It is nothing more or less than excessive uric acid in the blood, which the sluggish, inactive kidneys have failed to sift out, leaving it to decompose and settle about the joints and muscles, causing intense suffering and often resulting in deformity, often reaching the heart when death ensues.

Pains across the back, frequent urination and suppressed urination are not the only signs of kidney trouble; many cases of stomach disease, headache, pain in the heart, inactive liver, etc., are but symptoms; the cause of which can be traced to feeble, clogged kidneys.

The physicians for the insurance companies always carefully examine and report on the condition of the urine. It is a certain sign of sickness or health of the human body.

A test of the urine should be made by every man and woman at least once each year. A simple test is to void a small quantity of urine in a bottle or glass and let it stand overnight; next morning, if there is a reddish brick-dust sediment, or white, fleecy substance present, either consult some reputable physician or take a good vegetable treatment. The following prescription is recommended highly in these cases, and it is desirable the sufferer can mix it at home. Any good prescription pharmacy has the ingredients, which are harmless and inexpensive: Compound Kargon, one ounce; Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime. Where any of the symptoms enumerated above are present, and results are sure to follow immediately the use of this simple prescription.

JOHN P. ALTGELD

Tributes to Memory of the Former Governor of Illinois.

Chicago, March 12.—Impressive tributes were paid to the memory of former Governor John P. Altgeld at a meeting held in the Garrick theater Sunday afternoon to mark the fifth anniversary of his death with fitting ceremonies.

Mayor Dunne, Charles A. Towne and Samuel Alschuler were the speakers, and their praise of the deceased jurist and executive as "the friend of the common people" elicited frequent applause from the audience, which crowded the playhouse.

Mr. Towne, who was the orator of the day, made a forcible appeal for the high character of the deceased Governor from the abuse and calumny heaped upon him from the time of his election in 1892 almost until his death.

"It is the sacred duty of all those who knew him as he really was to testify in his defense," said the speaker. "Already a great change in the general attitude toward Governor Altgeld has set in, and with the campaign of systematic defamation waged against him still fresh in my mind, it seems a wonderful thing that only five years after his death, good men and women are helping him to the point where he is being held for him. We must work to show posterity the real John P. Altgeld, to the end that the purpose for which he worked—justice to all and death to special privileges—shall be advanced."

"No one who ever saw his sad, benignant, serious face, furrowed with thought and rescued from an almost aching mood by the kindly smile that it up—no one could fail to find that face the index to a character in which sincerity, nobility, patience and devotion to duty were the prevailing qualities. SANITARIUM PLANNED FOR THE TREATMENT OF TUBERCULAR CHILDREN.

A Sanitarium for the treatment of tubercular children may be erected on the shore of Lake Erie, not far from Cleveland, in the near future, under the direction of the executive committee of the Anti-Tuberculosis League. The committee is relying on J. I. Rockefeller to start the fund for this purpose.

Consumption is a disease much more easily prevented than cured, and it is most essential that it should be checked in its earlier stages. The disease in its incipency is most often found in apparently insignificant coughs and colds.

Ordinary colds and coughs should never be neglected. There is, perhaps, no more efficient means of checking a cold quickly than the formula prescribed by a well-known authority, as follows: Mix a half ounce Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) with two ounces of Glycerine and a half pint of water. Use in teaspoonful doses every four hours. The ingredients for this mixture cost little and can be found in any good drug store. Care should be exercised to use only pure ingredients, and to this end it is better to purchase each separately and mix them at home.

Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) is put up for dispensing only, in half-ounce vials. Each vial is securely sealed in a round wooden case with an engraved wrapper, showing the name—Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure)—guaranteed under Food and Drug Act of June 30, 1906, serial number 457, prepared only by Leach Chemical Co., Cincinnati, Ohio—plainly printed thereon. The oils sold in bulk and the many rank imitations of Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) put out under similar name and style of package are not only ineffective for the purpose, but are often dangerous. It is always well to remember that the object of an imitator is to deceive. There is no known substitute for Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure).

KIDNAPERS THREATEN

To Kill Young Marvin If Ransom Is Not Forthcoming.

New York, March 12.—The receipt by a New York detective of a second letter, purporting to come from the supposed kidnapers of Horace N. Marvin, Jr., the 4-year-old boy of Kitts Hammock, Del., was announced today. In this second letter the alleged kidnapers are reported to have declared unless a ransom was offered at once they would kill the boy. As to the authenticity of the letter, or the identity of the writer, nothing was made public.

IS DRAGGED INTO COURT

Dispute Between Church Members Aired Before Judge Cutting.

Rival Meetings in Same Building Ended
in Quarrel.

On a warrant sworn out by John Kobus, I. Ziminski was this morning arraigned in municipal court before Special Judge Cutting, charged with using abusive and indecent language in reference to the complaining witness and with calling Kobus a name which cast serious reflections on the latter's ancestry.

On the face of the complaint it was a very ordinary case, but the circumstances leading up to the case in question form a most interesting tale. The Polish Catholic church is divided into two factions, bitterly opposed to one another, and it was a clash of the rival factions which brought out this warrant for the arrest of Ziminski.

Some time ago the bishop of the church removed the priest who has been watching over his flock. A portion of the congregation stood by the bishop and the remainder were displeased with his action.

Last Sunday the faction which has backed the bishop, was meeting upstairs and downstairs in the same building, the Polish school at Fourth avenue east and Fourth street, the other party, was holding forth. Ziminski appeared upon the scene accompanied by one or two friends, a little bit late, and was making for the stairs to join the second story faction, when about fifteen of the ground floor division rushed out into the hallway, and with cries of "tritor" and "keep him down," started threateningly toward him.

Ziminski and his friends entrenched themselves on the stairs and then the wordy argument ensued. This morning's testimony brought out the fact that it was Kobus, the complaining witness, who first used the objectionable name, and that Ziminski informed him that he could not call him that name and announced that he would have to take it back.

His friends held him back, however, and the party which was bound for the upstairs meeting proceeded on its way, leaving the excited group at the foot of the stairs.

In the face of the testimony that it was the complaining witness himself who made the objectionable reference to Ziminski's ancestry, the judge found the defendant not guilty and discharged him.

A goodly number of the congregation of the church were in court during the trial and took a considerable interest in the proceedings. Their sympathies seemed to be very largely for Ziminski, and he appeared pleased with the outcome.

ANDREW SEDERLUND.

Police Searching for Ironwood Man Whose Mother Died Yesterday.

Leaving home three weeks ago to come to Duluth to work in a livery stable here, Andrew Sederlund did not expect that he was looking upon his mother's face for the last time. She died at the family home in Ironwood yesterday and the police have been wired by friends of the family to look for her son in this city, the only information which could be given to aid in the hunt being that it was understood that he was employed in a Duluth livery stable.

Capt. Resche telephoned to all the livery stables in the city without success, and the location of the young man is still a mystery.

AMONG THE FIRST SIX

Duluth Makes Good Showing in February Building Operations.

Only Five Cities Showed Greater Percentage of Increase.

In the face of a falling off of 20 per cent in building operations during the month of February, in fifty leading cities of the country, Duluth shows an increase of 128 per cent, with six exceptions.

The largest increase of any of the cities on the list. This increase is a substantial indication of growth, as there were no exceptionally large building permits granted during the month, and in most of the other cities in the table which show an increase, the big undertaking was commenced during the month.

The total falling off was to be expected, since a constant increase was out of the question, particularly in cities where all records, all anticipations, have been broken and surpassed.

In those cities, even, that have been subjected to the greatest loss, the business reported is still of great proportions, far in excess of anything recorded before the development of the building movement of the past four years. This is the waiting season, and developments as to labor, the price of material and other matters may lead to much more extensive operations in the near future.

NATURE TELLS YOU

As Many a Duluth Reader Knows Too Well.

When the kidneys are sick, Nature tells you all about it. The urine is nature's calendar. Infrequent or too frequent action. Any urinary trouble tells of kidney ills. Doan's Kidney Pills cure all kidney ills. Duluth people testify to this.

H. G. Hibke, clerk in the Northern Pacific railroad freight house and living at Hunter's Park, Duluth, Minn., says: "In a testimonial given by me in 1888, which has been published often in the Duluth papers, I told how Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of a severe attack of kidney complaint from which I had suffered for a long time. I believe that it was brought on in the first place by exposure to all kinds of weather and the jarring of driving. Backache set in and the pains and aches made stooping and lifting very painful. Whenever I took cold I felt the kidneys were affected. The kidneys became discolored, irregular and contained a sediment. I also had frequent attacks of headache. However, as I have emphatically declared and will always affirm, Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of all these conditions, and today not a symptom of my former trouble remains."

SECOND ONE IS OPENED

Sixty Settlers File on Claims in the New Town.

Eighty Took Claims in the Town Opened Monday Morning.

About sixty landseekers were in the line at the federal building this morning to make application for homesteads and timber and stone claims in the second of the new towns to be opened this week, town 62-22. This number was a little less than the number to file on town 62-21 yesterday.

Frank Verant of Ashawa, Minn., was the lucky settler this morning and was the first landseeker to be admitted to the land office at 9 o'clock. He handed in his papers and was given a homestead of 160 acres in section 2 and partly in section 3.

Martin Yakovich, who also comes from Ashawa, was the second man in the line and filed on a homestead on section 14 of the new town. Joe Zindlich was the third to be admitted and he filed for a homestead in section 14. Kenneth Folger followed him and filed for a homestead on section 2.

A party of Austrians were among the first in the line this morning and an interpreter was necessary in questioning them. On this account the land office expected to be engaged at the work during the greater part of the day.

Eighty applicants filed for land at the opening of town 62-21 yesterday. In some cases the applicants found that some one had filed on certain tracts before them and in these cases contests will be liable to result.

COMMISSION TO LIVE ON ISTHMUS

New Men Will Become More of an Administrative Body.

Washington, March 12.—After the reorganization of the Isthmian canal commission with Col. Goethals as chairman, it is probable that seven of the canal commissioners will live on the isthmus, and the commission will become more of an administrative body than it was under Chairman Shonts. Under Mr. Shonts, the commissioners were advisory officials rather than executive officials. They were consulted on engineering problems and in some cases on administrative policy, but the authority to direct affairs was largely confined to the chairman.

It is probable that the reorganization of the commission will not be completed until after Secretary Taft's visit to the isthmus late this month. Without intimate knowledge of exact conditions on the isthmus it is difficult to determine how the commission can work to the best advantage, and the secretary of war has no desire to outline the policy definitely until Col. Goethals and the army engineers who are assisting him have had an opportunity to familiarize themselves with conditions on the isthmus.

ROBBERS LOOT BANK IN A SMALL KANSAS TOWN.

Wichita, Kans., March 12.—The Union State bank of Hummel, Kans., was wrecked by safe blowers at 2 o'clock this morning. Five distinct explosions aroused the residents who gave chase to the burglars. The robbers covered their retreat by firing at their pursuers and escaped on a handcar. The amount secured cannot be estimated at present. Posses are being formed to intercept the robbers.

RESTRAINT IS ALLEGED

Two More Relatives of Mrs. Eddy Become Parties to Suit.

Adopted Son and Second Cousin Join the Plaintiffs.

Concord, N. H., March 12.—Fred W. Baker of Epsom, N. H., a second cousin of Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, and Dr. E. J. Foster Eddy of Waterbury, Vt., Mrs. Eddy's adopted son, have become additional parties plaintiff, as "next friends" of Mrs. Eddy to the bill in equity brought to secure an accounting of her property against leaders of the Christian Science church.

In joining in the bill in equity Dr. Foster Eddy says in his petition that he has "become convinced that Mrs. Eddy is, and for a long time has been, incapable of intelligently conducting or receiving an account of her business and property, and that the same is being managed wholly by the defendants without giving proper accounting thereof."

Fred W. Baker, in his petition, says that he is a second cousin of Mrs. Eddy, and that in September, 1898, he was sent by his employers to examine and repair and alter certain carriages of Mrs. Eddy. He made known to Mrs. Eddy his relationship to her, and she treated him with cordiality, inviting him to remain in her house, which he did one night. She invited him to come to visit her, with his wife and children at any time. Mr. Frye, however, told him that he ought not to make that visit.

During the next three years, he wrote to Mrs. Eddy twice, offering to avail himself of her invitation to visit her, but he received no reply, and he believes that she was not permitted to see either of the letters.

In September 1900, he said, he decided to make an effort to see Mrs. Eddy. He went to Concord and to her house, and was "refused the privilege of seeing her by Mr. Frye."

He believes, he says in his petition, that Mrs. Eddy is virtually a prisoner in her own house, that she is kept secluded by the defendants, Frye and others, and that she is not capable under all her conditions, of managing her own business.

John W. Kelly and N. E. Martin, counsel for the plaintiffs, had an interview yesterday afternoon with Gen. Frank S. Stecker, counsel for Mrs. Eddy, but at its conclusion the lawyers refused to give any statement.

Mrs. Eddy sent her carriage yesterday afternoon for her counsel, former Congressman Henry M. Baker, Gen. Baker made a long call at Pleasant View, and on his return stated that he discussed with Mrs. Eddy both personal and legal matters. He said that she was in her usual health, and spirits, and that while she was concerned about the pending proceedings, he did not think they would have any injurious effect upon her.

BULLDOG ATTACKS CHILD.

Cross Brute Tears Flesh of Little Girl at Waterloo.

Waterloo, Iowa, March 12.—Lillian Gardner, 10 years old, was attacked by a bulldog belonging to Jacob H. Griffith and badly lacerated about the chest and arm. She attempted to get away from the dog, but he followed her and bit her. The dog was shot and killed. The physician attending the child recommends that it be held to see if it develops symptoms of rabies.

LOVE IN OLD AGE.

Aged Couple, Parted in Youth, to be Married.

Omaha, March 12.—Fifty years ago Judge Isaac S. Haskell of this city, a lover of books and formerly a rich man, loved pretty Poria Hawkins of Silver Creek, N. Y. The young people were much together and spent much time at the home of the girl's father, reading Shakespeare and walking about the fields. They were engaged to be married, but events separated them. They were both married to others. In time both were divorced, having reached the opinion that their first love was the only love. Last February Mrs. Poria Hawkins Hodson of Silver Creek heard that her old sweetheart was in Omaha and sent him a valentine. It read: "Did me to live, and I will love thee."

She is 72 years old and the judge is 70. The sweet-natured old judge, kind to his earlier love by memory, and the valentine, was not slow to write, and the engagement of life's summer time was renewed in life's decline.

The marriage will take place in New York state in the spring.

MISER GIVES TO CHURCH AND DIES IN SQUALOR.

Lansing, Mich., March 12.—Charles Kux, aged 81 years, living in a cabin at the north city limits, commonly referred to as "Miser Kux," had not been seen about for two days, and an investigation resulted in finding the aged man dead in bed.

Hard by on a table sat a battered and antiquated lamp with wick charred and oil burned out. In a little heap lay $4 in cash and two $50 bank certificates also lay within reach of the withered hand which lay cold and stiff on the ragged bunk.

Little is known of the eccentric man. He made no confidences, and despite his unorthodox ways lived the life of a religious recluse. That he had means is evinced by the fact that he has been making remittances of large sums to a church in Leipzig, Germany. Within the last month he had sent $200 to the mysterious church. It may have been that, feeling death approach, he had prepared funds for his burial in the hoarded savings left on the table.

BOY FOUND.—Black River falls, March 12.—Some boys crossing the Black River discovered the body of Erick Thompson, who was drowned Sept. 15 last.

CRUSHED TO DEATH.—Des Moines, Iowa, March 12.—Stricken with paralysis while walking across the Rock Island bridge, a man, supposed to be Robert Switzer of Muscatine, fell through the ties and was crushed to death on the rocks.

WEST END SAMARITANS TO DEBATE.

Preparing for Lively Tilt on the Japanese School Question.

The question of the advisability of admitting the Japanese to the public schools of the United States will be discussed pro and con by members of the West End Samaritans, a local branch of the Y. M. C. A., at their next meeting, which will be held Monday evening, March 18.

There will be a hot debate on the subject and those representing both sides are hard at work learning speeches and preparing arguments. Each is confident of victory.

The question in full is: "Resolved, that the Japanese should be admitted to our schools." The affirmative side will be represented by Dr. O. A. Oredson, C. E. Dice and W. W. Allen.

Mr. Oredson will act as captain of the affirmative team and Dr. Oredson will command the negative forces.

It is the plan of the committee to hold a debate at every social session during the season and the interest taken in them has been marked. The question to be taken up Monday is an interesting one and it is expected that the full membership of the council will be present.

DR. OLSON INJURED.

Dentist Hurt by Explosion of Vulcanizer in His Office.

Dr. Adolph Olson, the well known West end dentist, had a very narrow escape from death yesterday afternoon, when a vulcanizer exploded and severely injured him. He was removed to St. Luke's hospital, where he is now resting nicely, although there are grave doubts as to whether the left eye can be saved.

Dr. Olson sought to mend a small leak in the vulcanizer. The tightening caused the pressure to explode the container, blowing the doctor into the air and wrecking some of his office furniture. One of his eyes being nearly torn out by the force of the explosion, Miss Millie Olson, his assistant, escaped uninjured.

AGED WOMAN'S DEATH ON TRAIN WAS KEPT SECRET.

Prairie Du Sac, Wis., March 12.—The body of Mrs. Harry Sawyer, a former resident of this city, was brought here for burial after an extraordinary trip. For ten years she had lived in a little village above Anconia, Mont., and on Feb. 8 started with her son and his wife for a visit to a married daughter at Kansas City. She had suffered for years with heart failure, and on the train sustained a sudden attack and died instantly.

As there were only a few others in the car, her condition was not noticed except by her son and daughter. They had barely enough money to carry them to Kansas City, and quickly decided to keep the secret of the death, and for two days hid the truth from trainmen. Whenever trainmen were near at hand the couple would carry on an energetic conversation as though their mother was a party to the talk. The suspicions of the original train crew were not aroused and they were readily persuaded to tell the crews of connecting trains to watch for the comfort of the old woman. This enabled the couple to keep a double seat all the way to Kansas City.

DR. RENZ APPOINTED

Health Commissioner of St. Paul to Succeed Dr. Ohage.

St. Paul, March 12.—Dr. G. A. Renz, assistant health commissioner, yesterday received from Mayor Smith the commission of appointment as health commissioner, and his term of four years begins today.

A few days ago the mayor made a definite and final announcement that he would not reappoint Dr. Ohage, and that the appointee would be either Dr. Renz, Dr. D. C. Jones or Dr. A. J. Stone.

Petitions for the reappointment of Dr. Ohage have been coming in to the mayor from all kinds of organizations ever since the story got out a few weeks ago that the mayor intended to appoint some other man to succeed him.

To every delegation the mayor made the reply that he could not force Dr. Ohage to accept the office, as Dr. Ohage had said that he would not be a candidate for reappointment. Every delegation argued that the appointment ought to be tendered, and that Dr. Ohage could be induced to accept it, but the mayor could never see it in that light.

THE EVELETH BUSINESS MEN

Favor Franchise to Traction Company Submitted by Committee.

Eveleth, Minn., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the meeting of the Eveleth Business Men's association, held last evening, it was voted to recommend that the city council grant the franchise of the Metrolina Traction company, submitted by the committee consisting of P. E. Dowling, T. P. Perry and C. S. Dawson, and that same be advertised according to law.

The franchise recommended is essentially the same as the one granted by the council of the city of Virginia, with several amendments. In this franchise it is stipulated that fares shall be upon a mileage basis not to exceed 2 cents per mile in any instance, and prohibits the company from building a short line between Eveleth and Virginia cutting out Eveleth, on penalty of forfeiting the franchise. The traction company was represented in the meeting by Attorney Frank Ross of Superior.

The committee composed of George Davis, G. A. Perham and J. A. Robb, appointed by the last meeting to investigate the advisability of placing the municipal court upon a salary basis, reported in favor of the change, but no action was taken by the association. In the course of the discussion, it was brought out that the police are collecting a fee of $1 per arrest, which was declared by the association to be contrary to law, and served to stir up considerable interest.

DELMAS' OBJECTIONS TO TESTIMONY OF WHITE'S RELATIVES OVERRULED

sumption of the Thaw trial this morning Mr. Delmas, leading counsel for the defense, continued his argument of yesterday as to the admissibility of the testimony of James Clinch Smith, a brother-in-law of Stanford White, who was absent from the country when the prosecution put in his case in chief against Harry K. Thaw and who was introduced as a witness yesterday afternoon by District Attorney Jerome to testify to certain conversations he had with Thaw on the Madison Square Roof garden, the night Stanford White was shot and killed. Mr. Delmas contended that Mr. Smith should properly have been examined at the beginning of the trial and could not testify at this time as in rebuttal.

Mr. Jerome asked that the court exercise its discretion in giving the jury the benefit of testimony of a witness who was not available at the time the case was set for trial.

Mr. Smith formally was called to the stand when the argument began this morning.

Mr. Delmas said that the matter was one of the greatest importance to the defendant, and he thought the defense was entitled to a fuller explanation of Mr. Jerome's grounds for his application.

Mr. Jerome said he was willing to go into the whole story, and tell all the facts.

"Mr. Hartridge and I have talked the matter over and I think we are in entire accord as to the main facts," he said.

court," broke in Mr. Delmas. "It will be discussed with me. I will not," replied Mr. Jerome. "Mr. Hartridge is the attorney of record."

After a little speaking Mr. Delmas resumed his seat and Mr. Jerome began to detail all the facts regarding the delay in bringing Thaw to trial, and the steps taken by both sides to secure an immediate trial, and to obtain certain testimony by commission.

Mr. Hartridge again interrupted, saying that he would not allow him to proceed.

Once Mr. Hartridge made an extensive argument, Mr. Jerome protesting the while that the attorney allow him to proceed.

Mr. Hartridge claimed that the district attorney's office had changed the case one afternoon from the court of general sessions to the supreme court without any notice whatever to the defense.

"The witness Smith left the city almost immediately after the tragedy," said Mr. Hartridge, "and he continued to absent himself for a long time. Suddenly he came back. Surely Mrs. White knew that her brother was in the city, and she was in constant touch with the district attorney. Then Smith sails away again last Christmas, when it was known this case was coming up for an early trial."

Here Mr. Jerome was allowed to proceed.

After completing the narration of what had happened between the time of the homicide and the trial, Mr. Jerome said:

"I will now present to your honor the legal basis for my request."

"I do not understand what the learned district attorney means by legal basis," said Mr. Delmas; "his language is not clear."

"Mr. Delmas will have to pardon my lack of experience and education and my inability to make myself clear in the English language," responded Mr. Jerome. "By legal basis I mean the statutes and the law in the case."

"My understanding of the term is not the same," said Mr. Delmas, "and I see no reason for the district attorney's petty sarcasm and loss of temper."

"I spoke more in sorrow than in anger," replied Mr. Jerome and the argument ended in a general laugh.

Mr. Delmas, however, precipitated another conflict with the district attorney very soon. He called attention to the fact that Mr. Jerome had not definitely fixed the dates of Smith's departure for Europe.

"I want to caution the district attorney," continued Mr. Delmas. "I need no caution, no information from the counsel," rejoined Mr. Jerome.

"No," said Mr. Delmas, "and I am not willing to undertake the arduous task of imparting any information to the learned district attorney."

Justice Fitzgerald here interrupted to say he was ready to rule on the point at issue.

The request was granted and a recess ordered.

After the recess Mr. Delmas said that he wished to state that subpoenas were issued from the district attorney's office for witnesses to appear in this case first in October last, then in November, and finally on Dec. 3. This fact, Mr. Delmas declared, showed that the district attorney could have properly summoned Mr. Smith and had him here when the trial opened.

"That statement is traversed absolutely," broke in Mr. Jerome.

"Then on that point we are at issue," said Mr. Delmas.

Mr. Jerome then proceeded to cite a number of authorities to support his contention that there would be no error in Justice Fitzgerald allowing the prosecution to give evidence in aid of the case already made, even though the defense had rested.

Mr. Jerome spent nearly half an hour on the citations and then resumed his argument. He eventually concluded with the renewed request that, as a matter of justice, he be allowed to take the testimony of Stanford White's brother-in-law. He asserted that as a matter of rebuttal, if not direct evidence, Mr. Smith should be allowed to testify, as the state proposed to contradict the contention of the defense and show that Thaw was not sound mind the night he shot and killed Stanford White.

"We will go further," said Mr. Jerome, "and show the elements in this case which go to make up murder in the first degree as defined by the statutes."

Mr. Jerome sat down and Mr. Delmas arose to reply once more, but he was interrupted by Mr. Jerome, who said that he did not know of any important facts which Smith had had with Thaw on the Madison Square Roof garden until the former returned from Europe last month.

Mr. Delmas said he was at a loss to reply to a plea from the district attorney which was of such a constantly changing character. First he desired Smith to testify in rebuttal, then as a direct witness, under the discretion of the court, and at last on the ground of newly discovered evidence.

EX-PRESIDENT CASIMIR-PERIER OF FRANCE DIES UNEXPECTEDLY AT PARIS

dent Fallieres, Premier Clemenceau, and virtually all the members of the aristocracy in Paris, the diplomatic corps, the senators, deputies, and the leading officials sent their condolences or signed the register at the late residence of the ex-president.

The cabinet met at noon and decided on a national funeral for the late president, but the family regrettably declined the honor in accordance with the wish that Casimir-Perier expressed some time ago.

The presidents of the senate and chamber of deputies have decided to move the adjournment of the sittings of the two bodies as a sign of mourning.

Jean Paul Pierre Casimir-Perier was the son and grandson of statesmen. His father, Auguste Casimir-Perier, was minister of the interior in 1871, and his grandfather was leader of the opposition when Louis-Philippe ascended the throne, and afterwards was premier.

The ex-president was born Nov. 3, 1847. After a brilliant career as a student of literature and history, he joined the militia of the Aube, during the Franco-Prussian war, and when they were summoned to Paris Casimir-Perier behaved with such gallantry that he was mentioned in an order of the day, and later was decorated with the cross of the legion of honor. When his father entered the first Republican cabinet of M. Thiers, Casimir-Perier, Jr., became his assistant in the ministry of the interior. In 1874 he was elected to the chamber of deputies and re-elected in 1878. After the crisis of May, 1877, he was one of the 363 deputies who refused to pass a vote of confidence in the Broglie ministry. He became under-secretary of state at the ministry of state at the ministry of the interior until the Defaure cabinet went out of office in 1878. In 1883 M. Casimir-Perier was appointed under-secretary of state at the ministry of war, and in 1890 was elected vice president of the chamber and president of the budget committee. In the summer of 1894 he was elected president of the republic, immediately after the assassination of President Carnot. He was popular, owing to his opposition to the agencies which threatened the national security. He was openly insulted in every possible manner and eventually the government prosecuted M. Girault-Richard, who had published libels on the president, for which he was sentenced to six months' imprisonment. This aroused a storm of popular disapproval. M. Girault-Richard was elected a deputy, owing to his opposition to the campaign to be "given to the chamber," this is to say, released.

TO INSANITYMrs. Selma Wright's Troubles Send Her to the Asylum.Brutal Husband is Still a Fugitive From Justice.

With her husband, William Wright, a fugitive from justice, charged with assault with intent to kill, Mrs. Alma Wright, a young woman residing near Twig postoffice, this county, has been found insane and committed to the state insane asylum at Fergus Falls.

Mrs. Wright's story is that of a happy home broken up by the drunken carousal of her husband, which ended with his attempting to kill her, while she was in a delicate condition. The affair happened last July. Wright, who had been drinking heavily, went to his home and, in a drunken jealous fit, seized an axe and attempted to kill his wife. Although in a delicate condition she escaped from the house, but her husband, pursuing her, struck her down and left her for dead. Mrs. Wright recovered consciousness and, after great difficulty, extended with intense suffering from her beating, she managed to reach the house of a neighbor and gave the alarm. Immediately steps were taken by the county authorities to accomplish the arrest of Wright, but he succeeded in eluding the officers up to the present time. He is claimed to have written a letter to his wife from one of the range towns, shortly after the assault, begging her forgiveness, but all efforts to follow the clue were unsuccessful, and it is believed that he has left this part of the country.

Mrs. Wright was brought to a local hospital, where she hovered for days between life and death. Her treatment at the hands of her husband brought on the premature birth of her child. She finally recovered enough to be taken to her home, where she has ever since lived alone, looking after the farm, the stock and the chickens.

The solitude and the recollections of their happy home preyed on her mind until it gave way under the strain.

Mrs. Wright's neighbors knew of her condition and for some time have been looking after her to some extent. They claim that she seemed to grieve and wrung her hands almost constantly, and recently made two or three attempts to run away from home.

The woman's condition became so bad that the neighbors could no longer take care of her properly and two of them brought her to Duluth for examination as to her sanity. The examination was held Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Wright was found to be insane and an order was made committing her to the state asylum.

SHOWER BATHS
HIS SENTENCEDrunk Must Take Two a Day for Five Days.

Kansas City, Mo., March 12.—Frank Thornton stood in police court on the west side on a charge of drunkenness. "I had just arrived in town from Kansas, your honor, when the policeman arrested me. You see, I am sick. I was looking for a hospital. I have the chills, the gout, the grippe, the 'Hold on, there,' Judge Sims said, 'your honor, you must be one of the only one thing the matter with you. You need a shower bath. I'll sentence you to two to three days in the penitentiary. You must bring your wife into court at the end of that time. If you appear sufficiently clean then you will be allowed to hike back to Arkansas.' That is the way I feel now. I have passed on me," growled Thornton as he was led to his first shower by "Pal" Richardson, a patrolman.

A COLLEGE OF COURTSHIP.

Chicago, March 12.—College of courtship for the reform of American love-making are needed to fit the loveless population of the nation for matrimony, according to Prof. Charles R. Henderson, the University of Chicago, in an article in the current "Littell's Living Age." Henderson, in the current "Littell's Living Age," issued from the University press, presses his expert instruction for those who are smitten with the "illusions" of love. Hasty marriages made in the "illusions" of convenience are classed as "reprehensible" in the "Littell's Living Age," and courtship and marriage have fallen. Fashionable society exhibits depraved standards, and matrimony is accepted as a substitute for rational marriage, he declares. Prof. Henderson points out as particular evils of modern love-making such perils as flirting, boasting of conquests, extravagance, accepting costly presents, ignorance of the training of children and courtship without intent to marry.

FIGHT OVER A SERVANT.

Men Come to Blows Over Employment of Efficient Girl.
Bluffton, Ind., March 12.—Because Stephen D. Bryce, as alleged, stole his servant girl, W. D. Burton, an insurance agent and loan man, assaulted Mr. Bryce. The two men had been good friends, and Bryce had recommended to Burton a good servant, but suddenly finding one in his own home, he employed the girl, who had obtained employment from Bryce. The two men met in the Bliss hotel and a quarrel arose, in which Bryce was worsted. Neither one was arrested.

The bewildered Klesler thought the stuff had dropped from the sky. He

I was practically helpless and bed-ridden for many years from a double rupture. I wore innumerable different kinds of trusses and appliances. Some of them were tortures, some positively dangerous, and none would hold the rupture in its proper place. The doctors told me I could not expect to have it entirely healed unless I would consent to a surgical operation. I fooled them all, however, and cured myself completely and permanently by a simple method which I send them free by mail to anyone who writes for it. I started to investigate after he had picked out the articles, which consisted of five pieces, all black from age and exposure. In the tree's branches he found a huge crows' nest, and from that the articles had evidently fallen. Klesler carried them into the kitchen of the farmhouse and showed them to his mother, who is over 80 years old. She polished them up and found that they were all solid silver. Then she remembered that the things had been stolen from the house nearly a quarter of a century ago, and for the alleged theft of which a servant in the household had been discharged.

TUGS BEING FITTED OUTGreat Lakes Company Preparing for Opening of Navigation.Same Number of Boats Will be Used This Year.

About the same number of crews and tugs will be put into commission in the Duluth and Superior harbor by the Great Lakes Towing & Wrecking company at the opening of navigation this spring as were operated by this company last season. The company has ten or a dozen tugs in this port, but not all of them will be in use.

No appointments of the masters and engineers for these boats have as yet been made by the officials, but the announcements will come probably in two or three weeks. Capt. Vroman of the tug company said yesterday that he did not know just how the men would be placed this spring on the different boats, and that he expected practically all of the old men would be back again this year.

The annual spring repair work is being pushed on the tugs at the present time, and all of the boats are being overhauled. A capable crew of carpenters has been at work several weeks on the tugs, and three of the company's engineers are also kept on duty repairing and refitting the engines and machinery. The winter quarters of the tugs are in what is known as the Lime Kiln slip, where a fully equipped shop is maintained for the use of the carpenters and machinists.

The carpenters are engaged in repairing the woodwork on the decks of the boats and about the cabins and interiors. One or two of the boats were overhauled last fall and the hulls repaired, and this spring new tops and railings have been added. Paint is also being applied where it is needed, and when the spring fitting out of the tugs will look like new. The tug Heim, which last season carried a badly damaged top and deck about, will be put into commission this year with a new top.

Several of the tugs are being fitted out with new machinery. This spring, while in others the machinery is merely being overhauled. Boilers in some have been found to be weak and are being replaced. The tug Zenith, used by the United States engineer, is also being overhauled at the Great Lakes company's yards.

The tug Heim, which last season carried a badly damaged top and deck about, will be put into commission this year with a new top.

JULIET OF 70 SUES ROMEO.

Newark Woman Asks $5,000 for Breach of Promise.

New York, March 12.—Much amusement was afforded at the trial of a $5,000 breach of promise suit before Judge Adams and a jury in Newark. The plaintiff was Mrs. Henrietta P. McIntyre, a widow of Glen Ridge, who admitted that she is seventy years old. The defendant was the Rev. William Perry, pastor of the First Baptist church of Glen Ridge, and himself past three-score. Both are negroes.

The aged woman was attired in rustling silk, with a fetching touch, trimmed with white lace, and a big bunch of violets, on her head. She wore pearl-colored kid gloves.

She told how the Rev. Mr. Perry had made love to her, and how she had advanced him about $800 on his promise that he would make her his bride, and how she was looked upon as his fiancée by the members of the congregation and the colored residents in general of Glen Ridge. When asked her age she replied: "I am seventy years old, and I am a widow of the Rev. Mr. Perry, who died several years ago, and had never told her that he would marry her. When shown a picture of the man, which the widow said he had given her, she laughed and said that there were probably half a million of those looking about the country that he had sold in his thirty-nine years as a minister to help raise his $30 a month salary. The jury quickly returned a verdict in his favor.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY IS BOTH AGREEABLE AND EFFECTIVE.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has no superior for coughs, colds and croup, and the fact that it is pleasant to take and contains nothing in any way injurious has made it a favorite with mothers. Mr. W. S. Pelham, a merchant of Kirksville, Iowa, says: "For more than twenty years Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been my leading remedy for all throat troubles. It is especially successful in cases of croup, children like it and my customers who have used it will not take any other."

COMMITTEE DISAPPOINTED

In Not Having White Officers Ready in Brownsville Hearing.

Washington, March 11.—The inquiry by the senate committee on military affairs into the facts connected with the affair at Brownsville, Tex., which resulted in the discharge without honor of a battalion of the Twenty-fifth infantry, was resumed today after a ten days' recess.

The committee was disappointed by the inability of any of the white officers of the negro soldiers to finish with the court-martial which is now progressing in San Antonio, Tex., in time to be here. White officers of the Twenty-fifth infantry, which preceded the Twenty-fifth at Brownsville, reported to the committee and will be put on the stand to testify concerning the alleged antagonism of the citizens of Brownsville to any colored soldiers being located there.

A Combination Invincible

GOLDFIELD AMETHYST AND DIAMONDFIELD JACK DAVIS

THE MINE

That is heralded throughout the Diamondfield District as the next in line to open up the wealth of Croesus, already exposed in the Great Bend and Daisy mines to the east, is the GOLDFIELD AMETHYST.

This great property lies within 800 feet of the Great Bend mine, and mining engineers who have carefully examined both properties report that it is simply a question of depth and development before opening up the same great ore bodies as in the Daisy and Great Bend. The surface formation and indications are identical and the same great ledges from which the values are being taken in the GREAT BEND, cuts the property in twain.

DIAMONDFIELD JACK DAVIS

THE MAN

Who is known throughout Nevada and the United States at large as the most successful operator in the mining world today is DIAMONDFIELD JACK DAVIS.

HIS FAMOUS DIAMONDFIELD MINES, including the DAISY, DIAMONDFIELD TRIANGLE, QUARTZITE, BLACK BUTTE, GREAT BEND ANNEX, EUREKA and others, are known throughout the land as among the richest in the Goldfield District.

The discovery and acquisition of this rich mineral section was characteristic of that marvelous mining acumen which has since won him recognition as one of the greatest mining experts of the day. It was this discovery that made him famous in Goldfield history as "DIAMONDFIELD JACK DAVIS."

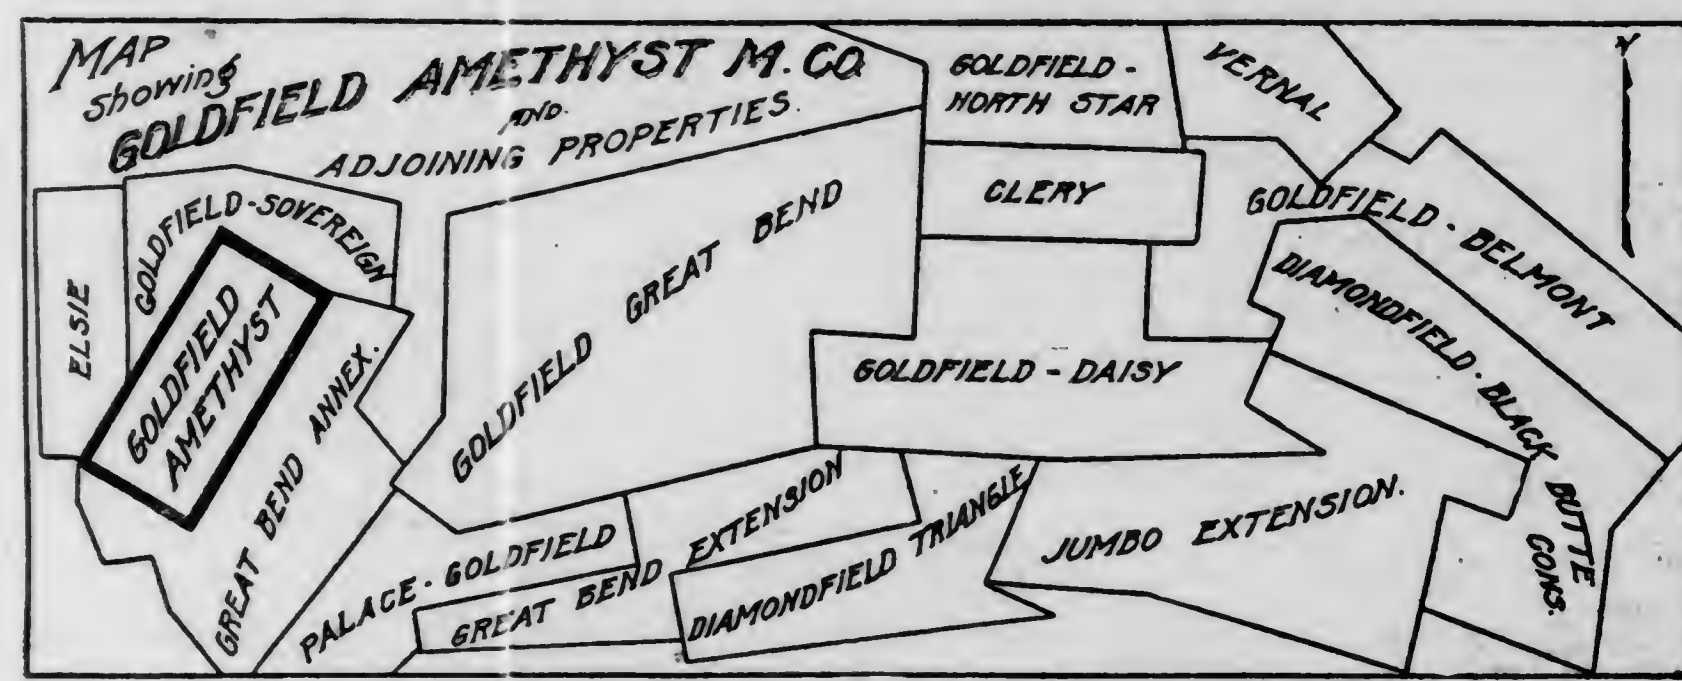

The Golden Hills of Diamondfield.

The Diamondfield mines, without a single exception, are located along a great mineral bearing formation cutting the country due east and west, marked by numerous outcroppings and mammoth ledges. Among the great properties in Diamondfield originally taken up by Mr. Davis is THE AMETHYST, situated less than 600 feet west of the GREAT BEND MINE, and on that great mineral bearing zone which is the site of the DAISY, DIAMONDFIELD TRIANGLE, GOLDFIELD BELMONT and DIAMONDFIELD BLACK BUTTE CONSOLIDATED—among the richest mines in Goldfield and every one an ORIGINAL DAVIS PROPERTY.

Yielding to solicitation of clients, brokers and investors, Mr. Davis has finally consented to place the AMETHYST on the market, and this great property has been incorporated as the

GOLDFIELD AMETHYST MINING CO.

Capital Stock, 1,000,000 Shares; Par Value, $1.00 Per Share—400,000 Shares in the Treasury; Fully Paid and Forever Non-Assessable.

"Amethyst" a Shipping Mine in Thirty Days.

The property of the GOLDFIELD AMETHYST MINING COMPANY consists of the AMETHYST lode claim, situated less than 800 feet west of the GREAT BEND mine, and the STORMY NIGHT lode claim, situated north of Diamondfield in the Klondike Mining District, midway between Goldfield and Tonopah and in the heart of one of the richest mineral districts ever discovered; approximately a total area of 40 acres.

The most cursory examination of the accompanying map will show the unequalled location of the AMETHYST property, situated as it is on the same great mineral zone and traversed by the same great ledges that cut the Belmont, Black Butte, Jumbo Extension, Daisy, Diamondfield Triangle, Great Bend and Great Bend Annex.

On this property in the main shaft, on the 20-foot level, values as high as $52.60 have been encountered. The ore at this depth is on the same general character and formation as that found in the DAISY and GREAT BEND mines.

The STORMY NIGHT lode is one of the richest pieces of mineral property in Nevada today, traversed by an enormous mineral bearing ledge that cuts it from end to end. Mr. Davis has held this property for over four years, and up to the present time has developed it solely upon his own resources. He has already made two shipments of high grade ore from the property, and a recent assay in the main shaft disclosed values of $238 to the ton. It is safe to predict that this mine will make a shipment within thirty days after the development work is under way.

It is no exaggeration to say that NEVER WAS THERE A GREATER IMMEDIATE PROSPECT FOR A GREAT GOLD-PRODUCING MINE THAN IS EMBODIED IN THE PROPERTY OF THE GOLDFIELD AMETHYST MINING COMPANY.

DIRECTORATE OF FAMOUS MINING MEN

President. G. H. HAYES
Principal owner of the world-famous Hayes-Monnette Mohawk lease which expired in 1907, after netting the lessee more than $10,000,000; capitalist and mine-owner, heavily interested in many of Goldfield's richest mines.

Vice-President. JACK DAVIS
Mine owner and MINE MAKER, whose record in developing producing mines has never been equalled. His marvelous success with his Diamondfield mines has won him recognition as one of the greatest mining experts of the day.

Secretary. A. K. WHEELER
Capitalist and mine-owner; formerly vice-president of the Gold Exchange Bank of Nevada, and one of the original owners of Montgomerie Mountain, adjoining the world-famous SHOSHONE MINE.

Treasurer. J. L. LINDSAY
One of the best-known banking authorities in the West and at present cashier of the State Bank and Trust Company, one of the strongest institutions in the State of Nevada.

Limited Offering of Treasury Stock at 20 Cents.

Last week we announced the offering of 100,000 shares of the treasury stock of the Company at 20 cents. Since that date we have received telegrams, orders and inquiries from all parts of the country. Every indication points to an oversubscription of the present treasury allotment. After the present offering is exhausted no more stock will be sold AT ANY PRICE.

There is not another mining stock in the Goldfield District which represents such value. GOLDFIELD AMETHYST TODAY HAS A FAR BETTER SHOWING THAN DID THE DAISY, BELMONT or DIAMONDFIELD TRIANGLE WHEN MR. DAVIS FIRST TOOK CHARGE OF THESE NOW FAMOUS PROPERTIES. We believe GOLDFIELD AMETHYST with development will prove to be one of GOLDFIELD'S LEADING MINES.

Remember Our Diamondfield Record.

We have never been connected with a failure and those who have followed our Mr. Davis in the past have made fortunes. The DAISY, BLACK BUTTE CONSOLIDATED, BELMONT TRIANGLE, EUREKA, GREAT BEND ANNEX and others of our Mr. Davis's original holdings are among the most valuable and active stocks in Goldfield today.

FOLLOW HIM WITH THE AMETHYST. THIS STOCK WILL BE QUICKLY OVERSUBSCRIBED. WIRE YOUR RESERVATIONS TODAY AND REMIT BY FOLLOWING MAIL.

OVERPLAYED HIS HAND.

Inscription on a Gravestone Down at Platon, Ark.

Platon, Ark., March 12.—"He overplayed his hand." This is the inscription on a gravestone in a local cemetery, and it recalls a poker game in which the late Charles Folk once played.

Folk was a remarkable man and participated in games of various sorts during his wonderful career. He did the playing, the other fellow generally was a spectator.

Several months ago he entered a sitting with several men from the Indian territory. They played well, but were as novices with Folk. He kept on winning hand after hand until finally one of his opponents grew suspicious, and, following a show of four kings, demanded a count of cards. Unfortunately for Folk it showed fifty-four cards. There was some gun play, and Folk was buried soon after.

CENTENARIAN WHO HAS RECEIVED SECOND SIGHT.

New Albany, Ind., March 12.—David Detrick, uncle of Former Councilman Theodore Detrick of this city, if he lives until May 9, will be 100 years old, and the event will be celebrated at his home in Elizabeth, eighteen miles southwest of this city. He is a native of Kentucky but was brought to Indiana in infancy by his parents. More than twenty years ago he received his second sight, and he reads the finest print without the aid of glasses. With the exception of increasing deafness, he is a remarkably preserved man.

He is one of the few men in this vicinity who voted for John C. Fremont in 1856 at the birth of the Republican party, and he has voted for every Republican presidential nominee since that time. Henry Funk and John Goesswein, who are near neighbors of Mr. Detrick, are approaching their ninety-ninth birthdays.

DRAINAGE OF CEDED LAND

Of Chippewa Indians in Minnesota Urged Upon Congress.

Recommendation Based on Surveys Made by Geological Survey.

FROM THE HERALD WASHINGTON BUREAU.

Washington, March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—A report recently submitted to congress through the secretary of the interior will be of very great interest to the people of Minnesota. It contains recommendations for the drainage of the ceded lands of the Chippewa, especially those swamps tributary to Mud river near Thief River Falls. These recommendations are based on surveys recently made by topographers of the United States geological survey, as authorized by an item in the Indian appropriation act approved last June.

The Chippewa lands ceded under the Nelson act of 1853 cover an area of over 6,000 square miles in Northern Minnesota. As it is obviously impracticable to survey and report upon this entire area in one season, especially with an appropriation of only $15,000, the examinations of the first year were confined to one particular part of the area. It was decided, after consultation with settlers and business men in the region of the old Red Lake Indian reservation, that the lands most urgently in need of drainage were those just northeast of Thief River Falls. A map which accompanies the report made to congress shows the location of the 600 square miles surveyed.

The farmers living upon this area find themselves practically isolated for several months each year, because of the great stretches of swamp which entirely surround their holdings. When reclaimed by drainage, these swamp lands will rank with the best farms of the region. The soil, which is a black sandy loam, is particularly suited to the crops which grow in this latitude. There is no doubt but that the value of the reclaimed lands would be far greater than the present valuation and the cost of drainage.

The report sent to congress contains a recommendation for the construction of a complete system of drainage which would cost nearly $1,100,000. The suggestion is made that if congress will appropriate this sum for the work, the money may be returned to the government in the manner provided under the reclamation act of 1902, in ten annual installments by settlers upon the reclaimed land or by present owners of improved lands.

The plan of drainage recommended provides for two main ditches, from four to six miles apart, each about forty miles long, with laterals at right angles located about seven miles apart. Minor drainage ditches should reach each 160-acre lot. Such works will accomplish the drainage of 26,750 acres of government and private land and the improvement of 155,750 additional acres, making a total of 402,500 acres that would be benefited.

The government lands are open to settlement under the homestead act upon the payment of $1.25 an acre, the fund thus obtained being devoted to the Chippewa Indians. Pending action by congress upon this matter of drainage, the government lands involved must remain withdrawn from sale and occupancy.

This particular drainage problem rather emphasizes Minnesota's need of topographic maps, for without them much money must be spent on special surveys before any comprehensive plan of general reclamation of the state's swamp lands can be inaugurated.

WOMAN'S BUILDING AT WISCONSIN U.

Adequate Gymnasium to be Provided for Eight Hundred Women.

Madison, Wis., March 12.—Because it is impossible to give its 800 young women students adequate physical training in the present gymnasium, which can accommodate conveniently but not comfortably the entire body, the University of Wisconsin is planning to erect a woman's building at the University of Wisconsin. At present about 350 of the university girls are crowded into large classes in the little gymnasium in Chadbourne hall. There are but fifty four dressing rooms and fifteen shower baths for these 350 freshman and sophomore girls, all of whom are required to take physical training. Owing to the present crowded conditions, only twenty of the 400 junior and senior girls are taking gymnastic work at the present time. In view of these conditions a woman's building with adequate gymnasium facilities is regarded as one of the imperative needs of the state university.

Plans for the proposed building which have been made subject to the appropriation now pending in the legislature, provide for a large and attractive structure. If one plan can be carried out, the new building will be located on University avenue, immediately west of Chadbourne hall. It will form a part of what is to be known as the eastern or gymnasium quadrangle for women. This women's quadrangle will include Chadbourne hall as remodeled and enlarged, and the proposed building and gymnasium. The new structure is to afford a modern and completely equipped gymnasium for women, together with a building for social functions of every kind. It will thus become the center of all the activities of the young women of the institution. Rooms are provided for meetings of the girls' literary, musical, and social organizations, of which there are a number. An auditorium for lectures, musical entertainments, and other large functions is also to be an important feature. Rest rooms, lunch rooms, reading and writing rooms will make the proposed building a pleasant and home-like meeting place for the 800 young women now in attendance. SAYS WOMEN'S CLUBS RUIN MOTHERHOOD.

London, March 12.—Addressing the National Council of Free churches now in session at Leeds, the Rev. J. C. Greenbough deplored the increasing breaking up of family life in England, owing, he said, to a falling off in quality of the mothers. He added: "I have heard of the rapid multiplication of ladies' clubs. I fervently hope our best women will not rush into the political scrimmage while the highest and best work of motherhood is awaiting them. Let more men be forced by political agitations to drop voting papers into the ballot box. I do not take account of the smart set, which is as homeless as the most miserable street arag, because home and its dear affections and unselfish thoughts and sympathies have no place whatever in the wholly frivolous and hugely selfish and loveless lives these people are living."

Do Not Crowd the Season.
The first warm days of spring bring with them a desire to get out and enjoy the exhilarating air and sunshine. Children that have been housed up all winter are brought out and you wonder where they all come from. The heavy winter clothing is thrown aside and many shed their fannels. Then a cold wave comes and people say that grip is epidemic. Colds at this season are even more dangerous than in mid-winter, there is much danger of pneumonia. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, however, and you will have nothing to fear. It always cures, and we have never known a cold to result in pneumonia when it was used. It is pleasant and safe to take. Children like it. For sale by all druggists.

GIRL CARRIED NEEDLE IN HER LEG SEVEN YEARS.

Ithaca, Mich., March 12.—By the aid of X-ray photographs and two operations, a needle has been removed from the leg of Miss Minnie Pentony, daughter of Steve Pentony of Crystal, after it had been in the limb for seven years. In 1890, when the girl was 13 years of age, she shoved against a bureau drawer to close it, and felt a sharp pain in the calf of her leg. An examination revealed nothing at the time, but the pain continued to increase. She then went to a physician, who told her she had a splinter. The needle, very much corroded, was buried in the flesh to a depth of three and one-half inches.

Husband Who Signed His Rights Away, Repents and Argues.
White Plains, N. Y., March 12.—A novel suit has been begun before County Judge Platt by Mrs. James H. McCormack, wife of a buyer for a lace and embroidery importing firm of 100 Fifth avenue, New York, to compel the enforcement of an agreement by which it is alleged he was to pay her $25 a week while they were living apart because of domestic troubles. The couple formerly lived in Pelham, N. Y.

A MEASURE LOOKING TO SELECTION OF SENATORS BY THE PEOPLE APPEARS

Candidates to be Voted for at the General Elections.

Choice of People Would Then be Ratified by Legislature.

House Refuses to Concur in Senate's Two-Cent Fare Bill.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Senator McCall of St. Paul this morning introduced in the senate a bill providing for the selection of candidates for United States senator by direct vote of the people, after the fashion now in use in Oregon. Candidates are to get on the primary election ballots by paying $100 to the state, and the successful party candidate will go on the general election ballots by payment of another $100. The man finally selected is declared to be the choice of the people. His election cannot be made obligatory upon the legislature, but legislative candidates are to be allowed to sign either one or two statements—one that they will be guided by the people's choice, and another that they regard it as merely a recommendation which they can accept or reject as they please.

PERIL FOR CONSUMPTIVES

Order Removing Tents From Denver May Have Dire Results.

Denver, March 13.—Great suffering, possible death in some cases, will result if an order of the fire and police board, already enforced in several instances, should be made general.

The word has gone out that every house tent within the city shall be removed, and, as shown by what was done six months ago, this order will be enforced more rigidly in cases where the tent dweller is a consumptive than where he is in good health.

Real estate men are behind this order. Thousands of consumptives will be driven out of Denver, because it is difficult to induce a house owner to rent to a consumptive whose disease is far advanced.

PUZZLE FOR UNCLE SAM.

Shall Christian Science Healers be Regarded as Physicians?

Baltimore, March 13.—William H. Meyers, an inspector of customs, who is a faithful believer in Christian Science, has put a puzzle up to the treasury department.

Some time ago he was troubled with rheumatism and was obliged to discontinue his duties. When he returned to the customs house he submitted a statement from a Christian Science healer that he had been unable to work. He did this to protect his pay, the law giving an employe thirty days' sick leave, providing a physician's certificate is presented. The regulations, however, provide that sick certificates must be given by physicians licensed by law. When Mr. Meyers presented the healer's statement the surveyor refused to accept it, but turned it over to the collector of customs. The latter, while he agreed that the healer was not a regular physician, thought the constitution guaranteed citizens protection in their religious beliefs, and, therefore, hesitated about turning down the certificate. Finally he decided to turn the puzzle over to the authorities in Washington.

LOUISVILLE PEOPLE MAD

Street Car Strike Compels Them to Walk in the Rain.

Commercial Organizations to Take Up the Matter.

Louisville, Ky., March 13.—No improvement was shown this morning in the strike situation. Discomfort was added to inconvenience, and the citizens, with the novelty of the strike worn off, walked to their places of business through a heavy rain. The railway company started four cars at 8 o'clock, the first one out carrying fourteen policemen.

The company promises to increase the number hourly if they can induce the men they claim to have to take charge of the cars. Through the intermediation of various commercial organizations in this city, a meeting of the directors of the street railway will be held this afternoon in an attempt to settle the strike.

MAY NEVER BE TRIED

The Evidence to Convict Wright of Murder Is Lacking.

Alleged Confession Worthless as It Was Obtained by Force.

Denver, March 13.—Unless new and important evidence is found against Benjamin C. Wright, formerly of Chicago, he will probably never be tried on the charge of murdering his wife and child. District Attorney George A. Stidger admits that evidence to convict the man is lacking, but he has not yet dropped the case. The alleged confession made by Wright to Chief of Police Michael A. Delaney is said to be worthless as evidence, having been obtained by use of physical force. Three physicians who examined Wright after he had made the confession, declared that he had recently been beaten, as the prisoner asserted. No poison was found in the bodies of Mrs. Wright and her child, and it is alleged by the defense that their deaths probably were caused by carbon dioxide from a defective gas heater in which fire had been burning all night when the bodies were found. As a test of this theory, the defense placed a dog in the house with the gas heater burning two hours. It is asserted, the animal was asphyxiated.

New York, March 13.—Handsome "Jack" Gallatin is now free to sail over the blue seas with his bride on the honeymoon trip, which was recently interrupted by a former sweetheart. His family has agreed to settle the $20,000 breach of promise suit brought against him by Miss Ethel Kelly, an actress, by the payment of $20,000.

COOLIES IN WISCONSIN.

Madison Man Uses Japs to Clear Cut-Over Lands.

Marshfield, Wis., March 13.—A novel experiment is being made by a Madison, Wis., promoter, who has engaged the services of ten Japanese laborers in the work of clearing up cut-over lands near Spencerville, Wis., an act which, by putting the land in a condition for tillage, while not educated in the art of using tools and farming implements, the Japs are making good progress in the work and it is the intention of the promoter to increase the number of coolie laborers to thirty or forty within the next few days.

RAILROAD TRAIN FALLS INTO RIVER OWING TO THE COLLAPSE OF A BRIDGE

M. GOLOVIN, President of the Lower House of the Russian Parliament, Has Resigned Membership With the Constitutional Democrats as Being Incompatible With the Presidency of the House.

Heavy Rain Washed Out the Supports of Structure.

The Engineer, Fireman and Brakeman Lose Their Lives.

Loaded Freight Car Carried Quarter of Mile by Current.

Pittsburg, March 13.—Three men were drowned, a railroad bridge washed away and an engine and five freight cars were precipitated into the water, are the first results of the rapid rise during the night of Deer creek, near Harmsville, Pa., on the West Pennsylvania railroad. The dead:

J. B. MIKESSELL, an engineer.

W. J. CANTWELL, fireman.

J. M. JOHNS, brakeman.

Early today an eastbound freight train was crossing the bridge, when it suddenly gave way. Before the men on the front part of the train could escape the bridge went down, carrying the engine, trainmen and four to six feet. One of the five freight cars, heavily loaded, was carried down the creek over a quarter of a mile by the current.

Rain has been falling for more than twenty-four hours at Pittsburg, and the head waters and high water is expected, although a flood stage at Pittsburg may not be reached. The upper river streams have risen from three to five feet since yesterday.

He had been in poor health and his mind was giving way under the worry of making his annual payment on his farm.

Smith and Abe Hummel the Witnesses Presented.

Jerome Preparing Question Which Will Take Hour to Read.

New York, March 13.—James Clinch Smith, Stanford White's brother-in-law, was called as a witness in the Thaw trial this morning. Mr. Smith was tardy in arriving and Mr. Jerome summoned Abraham H. Hummel to the stand. Hummel had scarcely taken his seat, when Smith put in his appearance. Thereupon, Hummel was temporarily excused.

Mr. Smith was questioned by Mr. Delmas for the defense as to the cablegram from Mr. Jerome, summoning him to appear as a witness.

Mr. Smith said he did not have either the original of the cablegram or a copy.

"As I remember the message," said Mr. Smith, "it read: 'Your evidence most important. Your attendance desired.'"

He had first communicated this evidence to his lawyers.

Mr. Smith said he returned to this country on Feb. 17 last, and communicated with the district attorney's (Continued on page 7, third column.)

BLOODSHED IS AVERTED

Speaker Johnson and Attorney Will Had a Street Encounter.

Friends Interfered and No Serious Damage Was Done.

Minneapolis, March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—L. H. Johnson, speaker of the house, and G. A. Will, a Minneapolis attorney, had a bit of a row late yesterday in front of the Andrus building on Nicollet avenue.

It is said that a fist encounter was narrowly averted by the seconds of both men. The men were separated after several passes had been made.

The two men have long been unfriendly. They were the opposing candidates in the last election for the representation of the Forty-third district in the legislature.

Will has claimed Johnson as an enemy to the good roads cause. Johnson maintained that a fist encounter would become the result.

NEGRO WANTS TO BE MAYOR

Voochie, a Kansas City Man, Files Petition for Nomination.

Kansas City, March 13.—Josiah Wallace Voochie, a negro, filed a petition, signed by 678 members of his race, with the city clerk in Kansas City, Kan., yesterday, asking that his name be placed on the ballot for mayor on the independent ticket, to be voted at the coming municipal election.

Voochie was born a slave in Nashville, Tenn., just before the close of the Civil war. He has been a member of the police force and a deputy street commissioner, and now is in business for himself.

"Do you expect to win?" was asked Voochie.

"Sure I do. Wouldn't have entered the race if I hadn't. No man ever lost yet that I backed for office. I can push myself in the same way."

THE MISSING NUMBER 153

Although Some of Battleship's Crew May Have Gone to Friends.

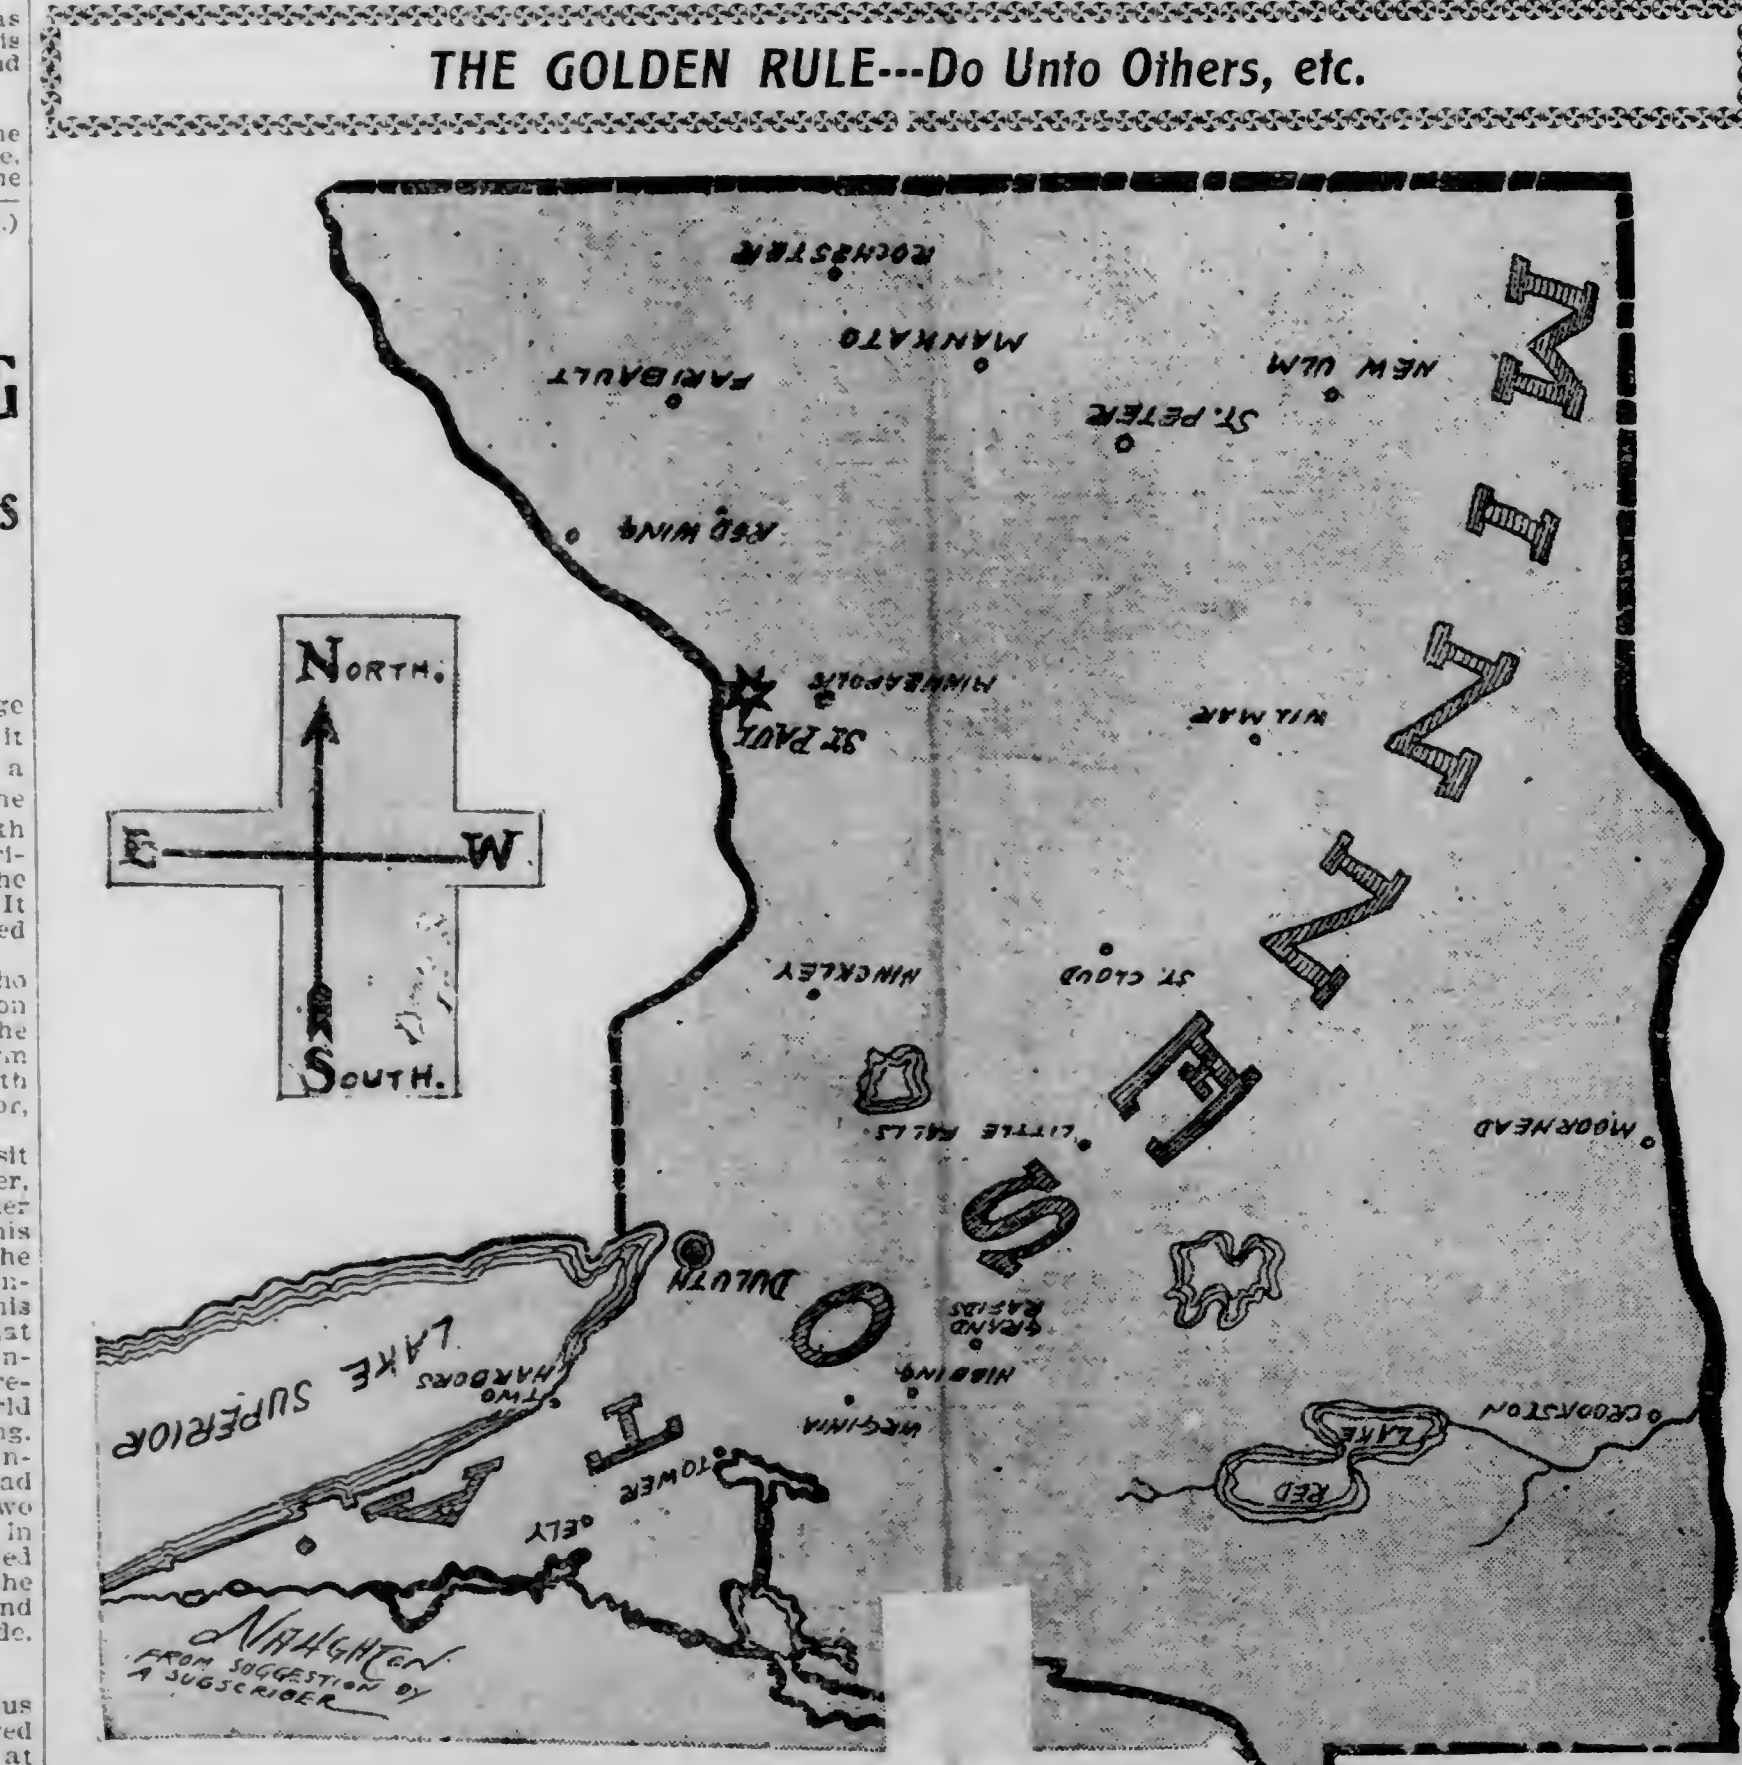

Toulon, France, March 13.—Minister of Marine Thomson arrived here this morning from Paris. The roll of the battleship Iena, on which the disastrous explosion occurred yesterday, was immediately called and 400 men replied to their names. Those of the crew who are injured are quartered temporarily in the naval barracks. Twenty-four officers and men are also reported safe, and besides these, forty-four of the crew are lying in the hospitals, seriously injured. As the officers and crew numbered 630, it will thus be seen that 153 are not accounted for, but the naval authorities consider it most probable that a large number of these have sought refuge with relatives or friends in Toulon.

OFFICIALS RETICENT

Concerning Rumor of Injunction Against Calumet and Hecla

To Keep Them From Voting Osceola Company's Proxies.

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 13.—The officials of the United States court continue today to maintain their reticence as to whether or not the Bigelow syndicate, owners of the Osceola copper mine, yesterday applied for and received an injunction preventing the Calumet & Hecla Mining company voting the proxies which they held at the Osceola company's annual meeting, Thursday. It is the general impression here, however, that a restraining order was issued by Judge Knappen and sent to the Deputy United States marshal at Marquette, Mich. Court officials say that if any news of the matter is given out, it must come from Marquette.

To the Members From Southern Minnesota: If the map of the state looked like this would you vote tax on iron ore and allow every other productive industry to escape a similar tax? Would it be a "Square Deal?"

Full Spring Readiness In Men's Clothing

Our cases are filled and our tables are piled high with Men's and Youths' New Spring Suits and Overcoats, reflecting to a turn the smartest conjurings in clothing fashions for the spring of 1907. It is truly a wonderful gathering. The variety alone is beyond easy comprehension. This showing of clothing in every way transcends our own best efforts of past seasons, promising all that even the hypercritical can ask in the three essential attributes—fabrics, tailoring, and style. There are points of exclusiveness in the various models, together with certain little knacks that impart that one and individuality for which Oak Hall clothing is justly famous. The scope and excellence of this new spring stock of Men's and Youths' Clothing is vivid in its force and logic, again demonstrating to a certainty the fact that we are undeniably Duluth's leading clothiers.

NOTED MEN'S DIVERSIONS.

How Rockefeller, Taft, George Gould and Others Enjoy Themselves.

Louisville Post: Somebody has advanced a theory that the best way to get at the essence of a man's character is to learn how he spends his time when he is not engaged in following whatever pursuit he depends upon for his income and his reputation in this world of various affairs. This theory is based, of course, upon the notion that a man in the way of his business or profession has to do many things that are foreign to his real nature, yet when he can choose how he will occupy his leisure hours, he will he will naturally turn to some occupation to which his real self is attracted. Perhaps it would scarcely be fair to apply this test to John D. Rockefeller, since John D. Rockefeller has not been actively connected with the management of the Standard Oil company in fifteen years. But perhaps there is something to be learned from the fact that the oil active years of the formation of the oil trust Mr. Rockefeller had no time for recreation of any sort.

Just now he plays golf whenever he gets a chance, and his son is authority for his statement that his father looks up to this gentle pastime for the benefit of his digestion, which is, in consequence, just the way of the best of men.

In order that he might gratify his taste for golf unhampered by the duties of his office, Mr. Rockefeller paid $50,000 for the property of the Lakewood Country club, and swipes the exclusive "quiet" right over a first-class nine-hole course without any of that publicity which everybody knows he finds annoying.

Difficult of approach as Mr. Rockefeller is when alone, because he has been shipmates with him on trans-Atlantic liners declare that he makes no special effort to keep to himself, he mingles freely with the other passengers, and even takes part occasionally in a game of shuffleboard, which is rather less exciting than the pastime he follows when on land.

The case of District Attorney Jerome is most dissimilar. Whenever he has the time he makes clocks.

When he steps aside for a day or two from the busy of his office routine, he retires to his country home at Lakewood, Conn. There he has a workshop in which he loves to potter about, and he finds the right sort of animals in Washington.

He isn't much for style, and when he appears arrayed for his favorite sport at Washington stops whatever else may be causing it at that particular time in order to stare. Mr. Taft's activities as spokesman of the president have in the last year become so pressing and varied that he hasn't had as much time for riding as he used to have, and the spectacular side of Washington is greatly the loser thereby.

Whenever the secretary has a few spare moments he likes to rest his mind by playing solitaire. The game called "Canfield" is his special favorite, and he keeps an accurate account of how it comes out in the long run.

He isn't much for style, and when he appears arrayed for his favorite sport at Washington stops whatever else may be causing it at that particular time in order to stare. Mr. Taft's activities as spokesman of the president have in the last year become so pressing and varied that he hasn't had as much time for riding as he used to have, and the spectacular side of Washington is greatly the loser thereby.

George J. Gould has in his time had many amusements. He has sailed and owned both steam and sailing yachts. For years he has been a cross-country rider and still loves to follow the hounds though he has had several automobiles. He owns several automobiles and drives his own machine whenever he has a chance. In the summer of 1906 he was motoring in France along a country road with Mrs. Gould, when the machine skidded and made for the top of an embankment. Mrs. Gould jumped, but her husband stuck to the steering wheel and went over the 10-foot embankment with the car. Neither Mr. Gould nor his wife was seriously injured.

But so far as sport is concerned, polo is Mr. Gould's hobby. Not only does he play himself, but he has trained those of his sons who are old enough until they are finished players.

With the exception of a single position there are enough Goulds who play to make up an entire polo team. On his estate at Georgian Court, Lakewood, he has one of the most completely appointed polo grounds in the country.

OPPOSED TO THE CHIEF

New Members of Fire Board Less Friendly to Black.

He Loses One of Staunchest Friends in A. R. Merritt.

A retrospect of the mayor's appointments for the coming year as submitted to the council last evening, brings out some rather interesting points.

On the fire board Chief Black has lost out heavily. A. R. Merritt, president of the Civic league, who, for some not very obscure reason, was not reappointed to the board, was a strong friend of the chief. On the other hand, William Burgess, the new commissioner, is said to be not very friendly to the chief.

Ever since the trouble over the city electrician and the electrical inspector some time ago, when Mr. Burgess, in his capacity as head of an electric company, and Chief Black as electrical inspector for the city clashed, relations between the two men have been decidedly strained, and the appointment is thought by many to bode no good for the chief.

In the opinion of some however, the appointment was made in order that the faction which has been bucking the head of the fire department so strenuously, may have a chance to get a good view of the operation of the department from the inside, and so form more definite opinions in regard to whether the present chief is running the department as economically and as well as could be done.

The appointment of M. M. Clark is a source of great satisfaction to the western end of the city, as Mr. Clark is the first member of the board since W. F. Bailey's incumbency, who has been a resident of West Duluth. A. R. Merritt was from the West end and was supposed to look after the interests of the western end of the city in general, but a bona fide West Duluthian is a much greater source of gratification.

Theodore Hollister has not been serving on the board or been in attendance at its meetings since the time of the investigation of Chief Black's methods, some time ago, saying that he could not give the time from his private affairs.

The reappointment of O. G. Olson to the board of public works probably means his re-election to the presidency of the body, the choice to be made at the meeting of the board tomorrow.

Whether the mayor intends to pass up the appointment of a civil service commissioner for the present remains to be seen. According to the provisions of the city charter, a member of the board is to be appointed each year on the second Tuesday in March, but no mention of the appointment was made by the mayor last evening. C. B. Nunan is the member of the commission whose term expires, and he will continue in office until an appointment is made.

General opinion seems to be that Noble Sampson will again win out in the fight for city seal of weights and measures. The election hung fire for two months last year in this regard, and the city seal of weights and measures was not made until the end of the year.

It is considered very unlikely that Mueller and Mork, the two second-seceding Democrats who have their votes for Sampson, will yield at this stage of the game.

Alexander Longmire, the rival candidate, is a member of Gorman Post G. A. R., and at the meeting of the post last evening, the old soldiers went so far as to put a motion that they adjourn to the council room to support their candidate. It was decided that they do no good, however, and the motion was lost. Just what effect the appearance of the veterans would have had on the ranks of the rock-ribbed Republicans is a question.

Pleasant Surprises for Wearers of White Waists—Pantons & White Company Offering Usually $1.50 Waists at a Sale Price Thursday, 98c Each.

This season, with its advance in market prices of cottons and white goods generally, has, in the minds of many women, precluded the possibility of securing beauty, style and service in waists for ordinary wear at the economical prices prevailing in former seasons.

And now comes word from Duluth's big department store, the Glass Block, of a splendid offering of beautiful and serviceable white waists of the latest quality, selling at $1.50 in most stores over the country, for 98c each.

It is possible only because of a very extraordinary and somewhat lucky purchase from an Eastern manufacturer, who obtained a quantity of materials at a bargain, and shared it with the above firm for a cash consideration for the entire lot.

The waists are advertised on page 5 of this issue for sale at the Glass Block, at 8:30 tomorrow morning, at 98c each.

STRIKE OUT OF SYMPATHY
Boilermakers Go Out Although Satisfied With Their Conditions.

Chicago, March 13.—Eleven hundred boiler makers and their helpers struck today at the plant of the Chicago Shipbuilding company after their demands for increased wages had been raised by the company. The majority of the men expressed themselves as dissatisfied with the conditions but struck in sympathy with the striking shipbuilders of Cleveland and other places who have not the working advantages of the Chicago workmen. Three vessels are on the ways at the yards of the company and work on these was completely stopped.

The winds of March have no terror to the user of Dr. Witt's Carbolized Witch Hazel Salve. It quickly heals chapped and cracked skin. Good, too, for boils and burns and for piles. All druggists.

SAFE OPENED AND RIFLED Superior Telegram Loses $30—Office Boy Held on Suspicion.

The safe in the office of the Superior Telegram was opened last night and cash amounting to about $30, with checks amounting to several hundred more, were taken from the safe. The safe had been left unlocked, the door being shut but the combination lock not set.

The Telegram does not keep a watchman, and it is not known at what time the thief got in. Payment on the checks has been stopped, and as none of them have been cashed to date, the $30 is all that the thief secured.

It is thought that the thief must have been one thoroughly familiar with the office, and the fact of the cash and checks and a former office boy of the Telegram, Antonio Razvinsk, has been arrested by the police and is held on suspicion.

A CHINESE WOMAN IN IOWA WINS A DIVORCE.

Britt, Iowa, March 13.—What is said to be the first instance of a Chinese woman suing for divorce in this state is the suit started by Mrs. May Pond Fong Tin against Fong Tin.

Mrs. Fong Tin was brought to this country when 12 years old, and was educated at a missionary school. She came to Vinton, Iowa, where she married Fong Tin, a well-to-do laundryman. Afterwards they came to Britt, where they have remained for eight years.

Some time ago Fong Tin decided to dispose of his laundry to a fellow countryman, and, it is alleged, bargained for the sale of his wife. When the purchaser attempted to enforce his bargain, Mrs. Fong Tin objected, and her story, becoming known, citizens of Britt chased Fong Tin and the other Chinaman out of town.

Mrs. Fong Tin since has conducted the laundry business. As her husband never returned, and she was desirous of protecting her property rights, she asked for a decree of divorce, which was granted, and she will hereafter be known as Miss May Pond Fong.

New York, March 13.—When Cherry Volkman, 19 years old, weighing 490 pounds, and whose occupation is posing in a museum, went to see her attorney, Abraham Goldfarb, 802 Broadway, to institute suit for divorce against her husband, William, her size prevented her from going to the elevator. After a futile attempt to get to the basement, where she might have entered the freight elevator, she held a consultation with the janitor what it now is. It was a most interesting story, and should have been heard by the people of the city.

If our high school students could hear these men tell the stories we listened to with breathless interest, they would appreciate the men who gave them this city and its outlook, and would understand the importance of the men who are striving to develop the raw resources of nature for a world's good; perhaps some of the lads would concur in the giving up of foolish pastimes and silly indulgences to attain the eminence this young engineer gives, at separate times, in enlarged form, these instructive and inspiring addresses. And it is to be the proper thing for the judge to be requested to write the history of the city and the men whose relations to its development are inseparable. The story would make all feel a new interest in the pioneers of the city, and inspire in all a greater hope for the city's great future.

WASHINGTON'S GHOST.
Discussing Washington and his birth-day, John Kendrick Bangs said recently: "I have made a study of ghosts, as my Sixty stories show. And I once dreamed, or saw in a vision, the ghost of Washington and the ghost of Gen. Howe conversing."

"The two ghosts seemed on excellent terms. Howe insisted that Washington was taking on weight—joked him about it—finally said: 'George, I'll run you a mile for a shilling.' Washington gave Howe a mocking smile. 'No, thank you,' he said. 'I was always behind you when it came to running.'"

A LAWLIKE ACCOUNT.
A New York editor was praising Post Wheeler, the wit and poet, who has married Ermine Rives in Japan. "One night at the Princeton club," said the editor, "Wheeler was very indignant over a long and extortionate bill that a lawyer had sent him for some trifling service. He said he could heartily sympathize now with the tailor who, having been legally done in similar fashion, afterward persuaded his lawyer to have a suit of clothes made, and sent in the following account for the garments: To measuring and taking order for suit, $4.50; warrant and instructions to my foreman for executing the same, $3.25; going twice to the cloth merchant's, $2.25; fees to the cloth merchant, $3.50; cutting the cloth, $2.75; materials for working, $3.50; sundries for working, $9; trying on the suit, $2.75; alterations and amendments, $4.50; entering transaction in day book, $2; posting same to my ledger, $2; engraving same, $3.50; writing to the button dealer, $1.25; doing his calculations—eight sheets, $8; fees to button merchant, $3.75; removing the suit by certifying to your residence, $2.25; writing receipt, $1.75; filing same, $1.25; service of same, $1.50; ditto, $1.50; total, $100.25."

CRUSHED HOPES.
"Times are changed," said Mark Twain, speaking of Washington. "I doubt if nowadays a man of Washington's unswerving integrity would be able to get on."

"A rich lawyer, after dinner the other night, went into his den for a smoke. He took down from his pipe rack a superb meerschaum, a Christmas present from his wife; but, alas! as he started to fill the pipe, it came apart in his hands. The bowl had been broken in two, and then carelessly stuck together."

"With loud growls of rage the lawyer rushed from his den and demanded to know who had broken his new meerschaum. His only son, a boy of 11, spoke up bravely: 'Father, he said, 'I cannot tell a lie. I did it.'"

"The lawyer praised the lad's Washingtonian veracity, but that night on his pillow he groaned and went on terribly about the incident."

"Heaven help me," he said, 'it had been my life's dearest wish to rear up my son to my own profession, but now—alas—alas—"

TO EXTEND TO DULUTH

Mesaba Traction Company Has This Object in View.

Lowry Interests Said to be Behind the New Concern.

The recommendation for the granting of a franchise to the Mesaba Traction company by the business men of Eveleth last evening, marks another step toward the completion of what will ultimately be an electric road connecting Duluth and the range towns, and it is believed by those who are familiar with the affairs of the company, that the completion of this plan is not very far in the future.

It is stated on good authority that the Twin City Traction company interests are behind the new project, and that Thomas Lowry and C. C. Goodrich were largely instrumental in financing the project.

It is claimed that the plans contemplate the completion of the road connecting the range towns, and when this is accomplished, the extension of the system to Duluth.

This idea is borne out by the fact that Frank Ross of Superior, was the attorney to represent the traction company at the meeting. Mr. Ross, who is a member of the firm of Ross & Dwyer, is the legal representative for the Lowry interests in Superior, and this fact is fairly good evidence that the Lowry interests are behind the new company.

The new road has a franchise from Virginia, and the survey of its line between Eveleth and Virginia is already under way. It is planned to construct the line between two towns this summer.

PEOPLE'S TICKET IS TRIUMPHANT

At Chisholm, With Exception of Recorder and Treasurer.

Chisholm, Minn., March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The People's ticket was triumphant in the village election held here yesterday, all its candidates, with the exception of W. G. Shane, candidate for recorder, and Matt Matzelle, who ran for treasurer, being elected. E. I. Casey, the independent candidate, made a surprisingly strong run for the treasurer's job and won out by a good majority.

Shane lays his defeat to the liquor and gambling interests of the village which got out a vote of over 80, the heaviest ever polled in the village. Shane bucked them strongly last year and they have not forgotten it.

The results of the election were as follows:
For president—R. S. O'Neil, 405; B. Magnuson, 188; George Wilkin, 183.
For treasurer—James Rosewall, 322; S. W. Lundall, 65; T. A. Howson, 48; Mike Tallus, 28; Thomas Dandrea, 23; Steve Zegene, 18; Oscar Eklund, 17.
For recorder—W. A. Masters, 261; W. G. Shane, 303.
For judge—E. I. Casey, 317; Matt Matzelle, 279; Edward Ahonen, 250.
For assessor—John J. Pickett, 270; Fred Couture, 270; W. J. Enart, 133; Pickett (independent), 1.
For municipal judge—Freeman, 499; Woods, 152; Thompson, 152.
For justice of the peace—Bateson, 230; For constable—Simonsen, 463; Vidlic, 107; Tendell, 155.

DAMAGE SUIT BEGUN.
The personal injury case of Oscar Laitinen against the Shenango Furnace company was started for trial in Judge Dibel's room yesterday afternoon. Up to noon the plaintiff had not finished putting in testimony in his own behalf. Laitinen was on the witness stand practically all the morning and his cross-examination was completed at noon.

Laitinen claims that he lost an eye and was badly crippled by reason of a premature explosion in the No. 10 mine near Hibbing. It is claimed that the fuse was defective and that the company is liable for damages in the sum of $2,000 for the injuries Laitinen received.

Theodore Hollister and John R. Helmo represent Laitinen and E. C. Kennedy represents the furnace company.

NEWS FROM WEST DULUTH

WILL CALL MEETING

West Duluth Will Hold a Good Roads Convention.

Completion of Road to Wrenshall Cause of the Call.

West Duluth will probably be the scene of an important good roads meeting to be held within the near future, and a large delegation of Wrenshall people and Carlton county farmers will be in attendance. A movement has already been started and the date for the meeting will soon be announced.

A communication was received today by L. A. Barnes, president of the Commercial club, from F. B. McLeran of Carlton, who suggests that a good roads meeting should be called in West Duluth soon to consider means of raising funds for the completion of the Fond du Lac road to Wrenshall. When this road is completed, the Wrenshall farmers have practically promised to bring their produce to West Duluth. Mr. McLeran says that he can promise that a committee will be appointed to represent Carlton and the county at the meeting and promises that Wrenshall will also send a delegation. Mr. Barnes will place the matter before the Commercial club at the meeting Friday, and it is likely that the meeting will be called within the next two weeks.

FORESTERS MEET.

St. James Court, C. O. F., Initiate: Many New Members.

Members of St. James court, No. 614, C. O. F., held a regular meeting last evening at Gilley's hall, at which there was a large attendance. The degree team, with new regalia and uniforms, initiated a class of candidates in the second degree of the order.

Next week the degree team will visit St. Clement's court in Duluth and assist in the completion of the second degree work, and on Sunday the members of the team will journey to Eveleth where a class of new members of the court of that city will be put through the mysteries of the order. The local court has one of the best degree teams in the state and it is possible that the members will visit the Twin Cities during the year and assist in the initiatory work of that court.

The team is composed of the following officers:
Grand Chief Ruler Joseph Bellemuer, Grand Vice Chief Ruler Chris Traut, Grand Past Chief Ruler Dan Bellemuer, Grand High Prophet Chris Hugh, Grand High Guard Edward Madden, Grand High Treasurer August Schulte, Grand High Secretary John Cashin, Grand High Inside Sentinel George Method.

ROYAL LEAGUE.

Regular Monthly Social Sessions Will be Held in Future.

West Duluth Lodge, No. 255, Royal Leagues, held a regular meeting last evening at the club rooms over the Western State bank. There was a good attendance of the members and several matters of importance were considered. Four candidates were initiated into the order.

The most interesting business which was accomplished was the passage of a resolution which directs that the near future the organization will hold regular social sessions once a month. These will be held at the club rooms and the first will be given at the next regular meeting on March 26.

It is the plan of the meetings to have a short and interesting program of music and addresses followed by a smoker and card games.

Will Build Four Houses.

J. P. Mattson has decided to do his share in relieving the house famine in West Duluth this spring, and has purchased a 100-foot corner at Forty-eighth avenue west and Magellan street, upon which will be erected four large houses, each to accommodate two families. The construction work will be started immediately, and the houses will be ready about the middle of May.

In this enterprise Mr. Mattson has associated himself with L. A. Barnes, and the firm name will be Mattson & Barnes. The houses will be suitable for working people, and the smaller salaries class, and each apartment will contain five rooms.

It is said that several other firms are considering erecting one or more small rows of houses in West Duluth this spring, and deals for lots are already pending at the real estate offices. The house famine this spring will be serious unless many houses are put up, and the Commercial club will probably take up the matter Friday evening.

CLUNG TO HAND RAIL

D. R. McKinley Had an Exciting Ride to Smithville.

Door of Pullman Was Locked and He Hung Outside.

Dr. D. R. McKinley, the popular West Duluth veterinarian, has a fellow feeling today for the old time hobbo who used to bear his way from one town to another by riding the "blind baggage" of a passenger train. He thinks it would be all right in warm weather, but when the cold March winds are blowing, the experience is not pleasant.

Mr. McKinley had made his plans to go to the Twin Cities this morning on his way to an Iowa town where he had some business to transact. Shortly before train time, however, he wandered over to the police station, and in chatting with Lieut. Briggs, forgot all about the approach of train time, and finally when he got back on Central avenue the train was standing at the depot platform all ready to pull out.

Making a run for it Mr. McKinley reached the side of the train opposite the depot just as the wheels began to move. On this side, however, the vestibule doors were all locked and he could not get inside. Hoping to be admitted by a brakeman or conductor before the train reached any great speed he hung to the hand rails all the way to Smithville, but no one noticed him.

At Smithville, which is only a flagging station, the train stopped for one passenger and Mr. McKinley tried to run around behind the train and get aboard on the other side, but he could not make it before the train started, and he was left on the track to be picked up a few minutes later by the Clouet train which brought him back to the depot at West Duluth.

West Duluth Member.

M. M. Clark, a prominent citizen of West Duluth was notified last evening of his appointment by Mayor Callum to the position of city fire commissioner in place of Theodore Hollister, who resigned. Mr. Clark was formerly president of the West Duluth Commercial club, and is still an active member.

It will be remembered that last fall a petition was circulated by West Duluth people asking Mayor Callum to give this section of the city some representation on the board of fire commissioners. The petition was signed by a large number of residents who will be pleased to hear of Mr. Clark's appointment.

Orders New Launch.

I. Deatherage of West Duluth has given the contract to a Park Point firm of launch builders for the construction of a fine gasoline excursion boat, which will be ready about the middle of May and which Mr. Deatherage intends to use in the excursion business up the St. Louis river to Fond du Lac and other points.

The plans for the boat, which were decided upon by Mr. Deatherage last week, give the total length of the launch as forty-five feet and a corresponding beam. The boat will be equipped with a forty-horse power Doman engine which will give a speed of from twelve to fifteen miles an hour.

When put in service the boat will have a seating capacity of about sixty passengers. The launch will have a large cabin with windows, which may be opened or closed, and will be lighted by electricity.

Card Party.

Mrs. Charles C. Salter entertained a number of her friends and neighbors at an informal card party last evening at their new home on Central avenue. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Keyes, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Deatherage, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Barnes and Miss McCoy.

Directors Meet.

The regular monthly meeting of the directors of the Western State bank was held yesterday afternoon. The officials of the bank were directed to put in steel ceilings throughout the bank building, and were authorized to improve the Commercial club room and the rooms occupied by the Royal Leagues.

Pretty New Apparel

Moderately Priced.

Because our lines of Women's Garments are said to be of unapproachable style and winning grace, does not necessarily mean they are high priced.

In Fact,

Value for Value, in popular priced garments, we actually undersell any competitors in this field.
Take for instance our

Tailored Suits at $19.50 consisting of a beautiful assortment of checks and stripes in Eton effects.

We could easily have marked these $25, or even $29.50, for they look every bit of these prices, and are like those shown elsewhere at those prices. (Barring of course their "exclusiveness," which we aim to retain even in our popular priced lines.)

At $32.50, $35.00 and $45.00 we show a range of styles in Etons, Pony Coats, in strictly exclusive materials, that are unexcelled when brought into comparison with similar garments shown in the large Eastern stores.

Waists From $1.00 Up

At little prices it would be very poor judgment to buy waists of the character of these at "cheaper" stores, for at the same price you have to pay there, you get here a far superior waist with the name of the S. & B. Co. stamped in each one.

You know what distinction that name alone adds to any garment in this community.

MR. PANTON BACK FROM THE EAST

Returns After Making Extensive Purchases for the Glass Block.

John Panton, president of the Pantan & White company, returned yesterday after an extensive buying tour with the Glass Block's corps of buyers, in Eastern markets.

Mr. Panton and buyers have on this trip visited a greater number of markets of the East, and made more thorough and extensive search, than in seasons heretofore, which course they found necessary on account of the scarcity of desirable merchandise. His reports sharp advances in the East on several lines of raw materials, although the increased cost of the finished product is more generally caused by the increase in wages paid by manufacturers.

Mr. Panton stated that the advantage of having a large corps of expert merchandise specialists right "on the ground" is of almost incalculable value to the placing of a select stock of high-class merchandise at prices that will meet with popular approval. He considers he has been extremely fortunate in this respect.

By reason of some important purchases, the people of Duluth can expect some exceptional bargains in special sales of ribbons, rugs, embroideries and glassware in the near future.

RAILROADS ARE READY FOR WORK

Foley Bros. Will Rush
the Soo Extension Contract.

Western Roads Will Lengthen Running
Time of Trains.

Foley Bros. of St. Paul, who recently were awarded the contract for the construction of the Soo line from Broken, Minn., to the Head of the Lakes, already are taking steps looking to the building of the extension. A letter was received by the National Employment company this morning asking concerning sub-contractors of Duluth and vicinity who might be looking for railroad work, and requesting that they place themselves in communication with the contracting company immediately. Work on the new line is to be pushed forward with all possible speed.

It is learned that the road does not intend building into Duluth. The same effect will be attained, however, for the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic tracks will be used into this city from Superior, or the tracks leased by the South Shore. Just as many trains of the Soo will enter Duluth, and the same amount of business will be transacted, as would be the case if a new line were run clear into the city, for the same interests are behind both the Soo and the South Shore roads. The extension will run direct from Broken to Superior, probably connecting with the South Shore at Twenty-eighth street, just west of where the South Shore tracks cross Tower avenue, between Superior and South Superior. It probably will be necessary for the interests of the South Shore to be greatly enlarged to accommodate the increased amount of business, and possibly the Soo will build terminals of its own in Superior. In any event, it is expected that a roundhouse will be constructed which will be used by both the Soo and the South Shore lines. The Soo has been very large, both passenger and freight, and it is thought that there is enough for another line. The chances are that the Frederic extension, if built, will give a shorter route to St. Paul and Minneapolis than any now in operation.

RUNNING TOO FAST.

Western Officials Plan to Extend Running Time of Trains.

Chicago, March 13.—The Record-Herald today says: Western railroad officials are discussing the advisability of lengthening out the running time of fast trains, with a view to greater economy of operations. A meeting to discuss passenger schedules has been called for today. It is the second gathering of the kind within a short time.

It is stated that owing to the 2-cent passenger legislation and the necessity of conserving revenue everywhere, the Western officials believe a general lengthening in train schedule is advisable. It is said all that remains to carry the plan into effect is an agreement as to the time it is advisable to make tentative schedules are being prepared by several roads with a view to presentation to the meeting.

Although no understanding has been reached, there is a general feeling that the time of the fast trains between Chicago and Omaha and Kansas City should be lengthened by about two hours, the time of the fast trains between Chicago and Denver by one hour, and the time of the fast trains between Chicago and the Pacific coast by nearly half a day.

The Burlington's fast train between Chicago and Denver, for example, now makes the run in twenty-seven and one-half hours, and it is proposed to place it on a schedule of thirty-three hours, or even slower. If this is done, corresponding reductions will be made in the time between the other cities mentioned.

The saving in expense by such a rearrangement in schedules is expected to be considerable, and would also make it possible to take off a large number of local trains. With lengthened schedules

OBJECT TO THE ASSESSMENTS

Two Local Corporations File Petitions in District Court.

Two local corporations filed petitions in the district court yesterday asking that their tax assessments be reduced on account of alleged excessive taxation.

The Interstate Traction company claims that its property in Oakka Beach was assessed 50 per cent higher than its true value and that when the matter was brought to the attention of the court relative to the taxes for 1904, they were reduced two-thirds. It is claimed that the assessment for 1905 was reduced by the county auditor, without the company's knowledge, to the same figures as the 1904 assessment, but the company objects to paying the penalties, cost, and interest. The court is asked to reduce the 1905 assessment two-thirds and cancel the penalties and interest.

The Duluth Telephone company objects to the taxes and street assessments against the east half of lot 42 on West First street. The assessments amount to $123.23 and taxes to $18.61. The company claims that it is exempt from local taxes and assessment by reason of the gross earnings tax that it pays the state. The lot in question is claimed to be used for storage purposes.

NORTHERN TRACTION CO.

To be Organized With Duluth Capitalists as Stockholders.

Hibbing, Minn., March 13.—A mass meeting of the citizens will be held at Hibbing tonight to meet Col. Jasper E. Brady of the Germania Trust company of Chicago, who is here investigating the range with a view of financing the Northern Traction company. Col. Brady said last night that the conditions are most favorable and that the proposition is one of the best that he has ever seen. At the meeting an effort will be made to have the residents of Hibbing subscribe for bonds to the amount of about $25,000. It is estimated that about $800,000 will be required. Plans are now under way whereby the Northern Traction company will be organized. The men who have been promoting the company will retain their present interest, but it is proposed to have a well known Duluth capitalist, whose name has not yet been announced, at the head of the concern. Several wealthy Duluthians have already been interested and have or will take large blocks of the stock.

Two miles of the graded road have already been graded between Hibbing and Chisholm. A crew of from fifty to 100 men have been working there for the past two months, and are making rapid progress.

DECISION IS FILED

Court Refuses to Dismiss Wisconsin Central Condemnation Action.

Railroad Company Wins on the First Point Raised.

The first ruling in the condemnation proceedings instituted by the Wisconsin Central Railway company to acquire its right of way into Duluth, has been made in an order by Judge Dibel denying the motion of several of the property owners to vacate and set aside the award of the commissioners, filed in the district court Nov. 16, 1906, and to dismiss the proceedings against the property described.

The action is entitled the Wisconsin Central Railway company, petitioner, against Harriet A. Southworth, et al, respondents, the respondents in the particular instance being John J. Murphy, who owns lot 110, block 3, Third division, A. Buchanan, who owns lots 1 and 2, block 1, Helm's addition and fractional block 44, Second division; and Elizabeth M. Richardson, owner of lot 338, block 41, Second division.

The respondents mentioned were represented by S. T. & William Harrison, and the railway company was represented by Craswell & Craswell and Sullivan & Grant.

The effect of the motion, had it been decided adversely to the railway company, would have been to dismiss the condemnation proceedings entirely as regards to the property of the parties mentioned. The effect of the court's order denying the motion will leave the respondents concerned just where they were before the motion was made; they will still be parties to the appeal from the award of the commissioners by the railway company.

The motion of J. J. Murphy et al, to vacate and set aside the award, was made on the following grounds: That notice of the filing of the award was served on the petitioner, the Wisconsin Central Railway company, Nov. 16, 1906, that more than sixty days have elapsed since the filing of the report and service of the condemnation proceedings, and that the amount of the award has not been paid or tendered.

Further grounds are that an appeal from the award was taken by anyone within thirty days after service of the notice of filing of the award upon the railway company and that no appeal whatever has since been taken by the respondents, owners of the property described.

The court filed no memorandum with the order denying the motion. It is understood that a motion to dismiss the proceedings, filed by the company from the award, by certain of the property owners concerned in the condemnation proceedings, is likely to be made in the near future.

site of the railroad machine shops, the machinery of which will be driven with power furnished from the mill powerhouse.

Ever since the lath mill has been in operation, the company has been using the refuse from the mill to fill in the city land, which is swampy in character, an indication that the company has all along intended to make use of the property in some way.

The present roundhouse and machine shops of the company, as well as the depot, located to the northwest of the city, are all temporary in character, being of cheap construction, and if the present intention is followed, the buildings erected will be of a permanent nature, substantially built. It is therefore inferred that this is the reason that objections are now made to restrictions in the deed and lease that were not made at the time the city originally acquired the property.

MEADOWLANDS ELECTION.

Township Officers Are Named by Voters of the District.

W. B. Kirkwood of the land department of the Duluth & Iron Range road, arrived in the city this morning from Meadowlands, on the Coleraine branch of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern. He says a very spirited election was held in that township yesterday, when the following ticket was elected:

Supervisor, A. Kirkwood; town clerk, W. R. McManis; treasurer, R. J. Black; assessor, Joseph H. Miller, Jr.; justice of the peace, S. B. Tidd; constable, Albert M. West.

There are three members of the board of supervisors, but two of them hold over. Almost twice as large a vote was polled at this election as last fall.

CLEAR AFTER YEARS.

Discovery of Wheat in Concealed Bin Restores Deal's Good Name.

Mount Pleasant, Iowa, March 13.—After resting under the stigma of supposed theft for three years, Edward Deal has been cleared in a peculiar manner.

Three years ago Deal was arrested on a charge of stealing wheat from the grist mill at Oakland, near where he lived, but the case was dismissed for lack of proof. Workmen who were engaged in demolishing the old mill yesterday discovered twenty-five bushels of wheat in a concealed bin whose existence appeared to have been forgotten.

JUDGE ORDERS SALVAGE PAIDA. Booth Company Gets $3,200 for Towing Barge Constitution.

Judge Page Morris of the federal court yesterday awarded judgment in the sum of $3,200 to the A. Booth Steamship company for salvage to the barge Constitution. The Booth company sued for $10,000.

While the Constitution was being towed by the Victory from Two Harbors, on Nov. 30, 1905, the tow line parted and she was cast adrift. She was discovered the next day by the steamer C. W. Moore of the Booth line and towed into Bayfield.

It was claimed by the Booth company that the steering gear of the Constitution was badly damaged, and that the boat was helpless.

pleaded up. The Constitution's crew and captain maintained that they had been in no danger, and that the steering gear was undamaged. It was alleged by them that no distress signals had been given.

RUGGLES SELLS MUCH TIMBERLarge Tracts Are Sold to T. B. Walker and B. F. Nelson.

Benidji, Minn., March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two big timber deals, transferring standing timber in the Leech Lake vicinity, were made a few days ago, in which C. F. Ruggles, the Michigan lumber baron, disposed of huge tracts of pine to T. B. Walker and B. F. Nelson.

Mr. Ruggles sold to T. B. Walker of the Red River Lumber company all his holdings in the Leech Lake and Keweenaw country of over 20,000,000 feet, the consideration being between $500,000 and $600,000. This timber is for the most part on lands adjoining Walker's property. It is supposed that all this timber will be manufactured into lumber by the Keweenaw mill.

To B. F. Nelson of the Leech Lake Lumber company of Walker Mr. Ruggles disposed of all his holdings in Beltrami county in the vicinity of Benidji and Turtle River, the consideration in this instance being about $500,000. This land is nearly all tributary to the Minnesota & International, and the logs can be easily shipped to the mill of the Leech Lake Lumber company at Walker for manufacture.

NEW BENIDJI BLOCK.

To Be Erected by Thome & Mayer, Will Cost $25,000.

Benidji, Minn., March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Having the utmost faith in the stability of Benidji and its future growth and development, Thome & Mayer will erect a handsome three-story brick block, to replace their building which was destroyed by fire on Nov. 15, 1906, and caused them a loss of over $15,000.

The new block will be of solid brick, 60x100 feet, three stories in height, and will be so constructed as to be used for a first-class hotel with many rooms, a cafe, barber shop, store building, warehouse and several office rooms. It will cost, when completed, about $25,000.

CAME AFTER SON'S BODYLeander Aho Not Able to Pay Funeral Expenses.*Believes Death of His Wife Was an Accident.

Leander Aho, the Tivoli homesteader from whose family circle two men have recently met death in a violent form, arrived in the city yesterday in response to a telegram from Sheriff W. J. Bates which stated that his son, Daniel Aho, had been found dead in the county jail.

Owing to the circumstances surrounding the death of the Finnish boy who shot and killed his mother in a drunken frenzy, Feb. 3 last, Sheriff Bates thought it best to notify the father of Daniel's death and have him come to Duluth to learn the details and get his son's personal effects, which comprise some clothing, a Bible and a Testament.

The remains of the son have been held at the undertaking rooms of Flood & Horgan, ever since he committed suicide by hanging in his cell Monday morning. It was expected that the father would take the body back to Tivoli for burial beside the wife and mother. Mr. Aho desired to do this, but he could not meet the expense. The city authorities interested themselves in the matter to see if it would be possible to allow Mr. Aho $15 usually provided by the county in case of a pauper burial, but it was found that this could not be done. The county can bury the remains of Daniel Aho in the county graveyard at the poor farm, but it cannot provide funds to the relatives of deceased paupers in case they intend to provide a burial. It is probable that the body will be interred at the poor farm.

Leander Aho, the father, is a hard-working farmer, highly respected by his neighbors. He is a quiet, and said very little about the tragedy that had taken the second member of his family within a few weeks.

After he viewed the remains of his son at the morgue, Mr. Aho visited the county jail where, through an interpreter, the circumstances surrounding his son's death were explained to him. He made only one comment, stating that "it was an unusual event."

To the interpreter Mr. Aho expressed his belief that the killing of Mrs. Aho by her son was entirely an accident. Mr. Aho said that he had purchased the alcohol that the son drank, a day or two previous to the tragedy, intending to use it in an ointment for an aggravated form of skin disease with which he, the father, was afflicted. In some manner, unknown to the parents, young Aho found the alcohol and drank a little over one-half a cup of it. Mr. Aho said he did not know whether the alcohol was diluted with water or not, but thought it must have been, or it would have killed the boy outright.

Mr. Aho says that Daniel ate three hearty meals after drinking the alcohol, one at home and two at the homes of neighbors, before the liquor seemed to affect him. He seemed to become crazed and acted like a wild man but, until he seized the rifle Simply SwallowMany Eat as Though They Were Blind and Their Tongues Cut Out.

Dyspepsia is built on confidence—too much confidence in the ability of your stomach to digest anything and everything you put into it.

In this age we have developed speed in every line of action, and we have also developed speed in mastication. We don't take time to eat right, and sometimes we do not eat the right kind of food. Sometimes we carry our business to our meals and as a result eat mechanically. We eat as though we were blind and our tongues cut out.

The result is that the food we eat is half chewed, and lies like a lump of lead on the stomach.

You may deny to yourself that you abuse your stomach, but when you get a bloated feeling, you can't deny you've got it.

When you get brash, eructation, burning sensations, bloating, aversion to food, loss of appetite, belching and other kindred ailments there is not much use asking yourself, for the time being, why you suffer. The fact is you've got these ailments, and the question of the hour is how to get rid of them at once, so that at your next meal you may be able to sit down and look at your meat straight in the face, with a keen appetite and a smile, and enjoy thoroughly everything you eat.

Just one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest an ordinary meal, without the help of the stomach. One ingredient of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest 3,000 grains of food. The strongest stomach couldn't do the work any better than one of these wonderful little Tablets can do it.

Each tablet contains the strongest digestive agents it is possible to obtain. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not a patent medicine. We come out and say just what is in them—hydrated golden seal, lactose and aseptic pepsin. They are recommended by 40,000 licensed physicians in the United States and Canada.

And they are recommended by everyone who uses them—they can't help it, for they immediately invigorate the stomach by letting it take a rest; they strengthen the gastric juice and cause the appetite to become keen and regular.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will surely destroy dyspepsia, brash, belching, that "lump of lead" feeling, burning sensation, indigestion, loss of appetite, and aversion to food.

Have Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets handy where you can take one or two after each meal. Then you will know what a blessing it is to have a good appetite and to get all the good possible out of everything you eat. You'll feel rosy and sweet, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at any drug store on earth.

and began shooting promiscuously, the family feared no harm to themselves.

Mr. Aho further told the interpreter that his son had always been a good hard working boy and thought a great deal of his parents. He said that the boy was so conscientious that the thought he had killed his own mother preyed on his mind constantly and it was the remorse that had driven him to end his life by hanging.

Mr. Aho denies the report that he received a letter from his son, in which the latter said not to worry, that he would soon be with his mother. As a matter of fact the relatives of the dead boy have received no communication from him since he was arrested.

Mr. Aho's son-in-law and daughter are residing on his homestead and keeping house for him since Mrs. Aho was killed.

$10,000,000 FOR THE ENDOWMENTOf Sage Foundation for the Improvement of Social Conditions.

Albany, N. Y., March 13.—Mrs. Russell Sage, through her counsel, Henry W. DeForest, authorized the following statement in relation to the Sage foundation, a bill incorporating which has been introduced in the legislature. "I have set aside $10,000,000 for the endowment of this foundation. Its object is the improvement of the social and living conditions in the United States. It will be within the scope of such a foundation to investigate and study the causes of adverse social conditions, including ignorance, poverty and vice; to suggest how these conditions can be remedied or ameliorated; and to put in operation any appropriate means to end."

"While having its headquarters in New York, where I have lived and where social problems are most pressing and complicated, partly by reason of its extent and partly because it is the port of entry for about a million immigrants a year, the foundation will be national in its scope and in its activities."

"I have sought to select as my trustees men and women who are familiar with social problems and who can bring to their solution not only zeal and interest but experience and judgment."

The trustees named by Mrs. Sage to carry on the work are: Robert W. DeForest, Cleveland; H. Dodge, Daniel C. Gilman, John M. Glenn, Miss Helen Gould, William B. Rugg, and Miss Louisa L. Schuyler, all of whom have had wide experience in this work.

Shreveport, La., March 13.—At midnight last night, in the courtroom where he had five minutes before been declared not guilty of murder, Lee Brock was married to Mrs. Hattie Kelley, the woman in whose defense whose reputation he did the killing which caused the trial. The jurymen who had acquitted him were the witnesses, and the trial judge performed the ceremony.

THE COX CHILDREN SUE THE HARGISES.

Lexington, Ky., March 13.—Suit to recover $100,000 damages was filed last night in the Fayette circuit court against James Hargis, Edward Callahan and Elbert Hargis, by the three minor children of Dr. B. D. Cox. In the petition it is alleged that the defendants, James Hargis, Edward Callahan and Elbert Hargis, who are awaiting trial for alleged complicity in the murder of Dr. Cox, conspired together with each other and with John Smith, John Abner and Asbury Spicer and others, whose names are not known, to kill their father.

Alonzo Jolly of Pana, Ill., aged 40, was shot and killed Tuesday night by John Collier, his son-in-law, who was arrested and hurriedly taken to Taylorville, Ill., as mob violence was feared. Last Saturday Jolly professed charges against Collier alleging cruelty to Jolly's daughter.

Through passenger train No. 3 on the Chesapeake & Ohio, struck a landslide and three weeks east of Hinton, W. Va., Tuesday, J. W. Flanagan, one of the oldest engineers on the line, was killed. Flanagan, Michael Quinn was fatally injured. None of the passengers was injured.

The refusal of Dunne to admit Ruef to bail was followed by the filing in the state supreme court of an application in the form of a petition for a writ of habeas corpus. The application was taken under advisement by Chief Justice Beatty.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS.ICE CROP HARVESTED.

Local Companies Have Now Secured Enough to Last a Year.

Duluth will not cut any more ice this year.

This statement is not intended as a slanging slam on this fair city, but rather as a statement of fact, the local companies having announced that they have completed their annual harvest, and that there is now enough of the cold stuff in store to last until the next cutting season.

More than 100,000 tons of ice have been cut this year. During the last sixty days 150 men and twenty teams have been hard at work harvesting the ice crop. The Duluth Ice company's houses are now estimated to contain 42,000 tons, and the East End company is said to be harboring something like 30,000 tons. The breweries, store plants and railroads maintaining ice houses are also well supplied with local ice, bringing the total Duluth crop up to 100,000 tons, as stated.

Most of the ice was taken from Lake Superior, although some of it is harvested from Spirit Lake and the St. Louis river, near New Duluth. The cost of harvesting of hares from 40 to 80 cents a ton, and the ice will retail at $4 a ton, anyway.

RIVERS ARE RISING FAST

situation prevails nearly all over the state. A report from Bridgeport says that the worst rainstorm in years visited that vicinity last night and today, and all the streams are out of their banks. Landslides are reported on many electric roads in Eastern Ohio.

At Hamilton, Seven Mile creek washed away the Pennsylvania track and freight train No. 76 was derailed near Collinsville, and thirteen loaded cars were wrecked. No one was hurt. At Dayton, the Miami river is at flood stage, and hundreds of acres of farm lands are inundated. The electric railway traffic is delayed.

Reports from Zanesville, Springfield, and Logan say that portions of these cities are flooded.

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 13.—Heavy electrical and rain storms throughout the Ohio valley did much damage yesterday and last night, according to reports received today. The Ohio and tributaries are rising steadily, the low lands being already covered with water. In this city an unprecedented rain storm burst over the city, flooding the streets and at the same time checked all traffic. Several landslides covered traction lines in the western section of the city and laborers worked all night to clear the tracks. Much scattered damage was reported in the Mill Creek valley and other suburban sections.

Zanesville, Ohio, March 13.—A windstorm occurred five miles southwest of this city early today, and as a result property has been damaged to the extent of thousands of dollars. Traffic on the Zanesville & Western and the Cincinnati & Muskingum Valley railways, and the Southeastern Ohio Interurban, is completely tied up, the trains being under water.

At Cookeville, Roseville and White

Cottage, small towns on Jonathan Creek, hundreds of houses have been flooded and the residents are moving to the hills for safety. At Roseville the water on the main street of the village was five feet deep this morning. So far no lives are reported lost.

BLOODSHED IS AVERTED

that he is as good a friend as the good roads people have. The men went in the elevator, Johnson having been at the Commercial club. They became involved in political discussion. As they alighted from the elevator it was seen that there was trouble. They walked into the street and continued their brawling on the sidewalk. Johnson pushed Will and then knocked his hat off. It is said that Will started to strike back, but others intervened and prevented either loss of blood or the landing of heavy blows. Johnson left the scene escorted by A. C. Finney, assistant county attorney, the two walking along arm in arm. A large crowd had gathered and Will stood still and explained the trouble to them. He did not seem perturbed. He claims to have asked the senator what he was going to do with the state highway commission. Johnson said that he was a friend of the highway commission and yet there were some who were blaming him for opposing it.

"I simply told him," said Will, "that when he had done one hundredth for the good of the state that he should be able to begin to boast about it. He was very profane from the start. He did not strike me, but he made a pass and I ducked, my hat falling to the sidewalk."

Johnson says that Will became insulting to him and he pushed him away.

"I did not hit him," said the speaker.

"He asked me if I was trying to put the highway commission out of office. I said that two years ago I admitted that the commission had no show but this year it would get what it wanted."

JUDGE ADJOURNS COURT

office on the 12th. He had reduced to writing his conversation with Thaw on the Madison Square Roof garden, and had showed the memorandum to his counsel and assistant, District Attorney Garvan. Mr. Delmas had no further questions, and Smith was excused. Mr. Hummel once more took the stand. He had testified before the arrival of Mr. Smith that he saw Evelyn Nesbit at his office, Oct. 25, 1903, after her return from Europe.

"Did you, after a conversation with Evelyn Nesbit on Oct. 27, dictate something to a stenographer?" asked Mr. Jerome.

Mr. Delmas promptly objected, on the ground that this was not in rebuttal of any testimony offered by the defense.

Justice Fitzgerald overruled the objection.

"Yes, sir," answered the witness.

"Did Thaw tell you that Thaw wanted to injure White and put him in the penitentiary, and that Thaw had begged her time and time again to swear to documents he had prepared, involving Stanford White, and charging that he had drugged and ruined her?"

"Yes," answered the witness.

Mr. Delmas arose to the ground for an objection. He asked if it was at the time of the conversation with Miss Nesbit he was acting as her legal adviser and attorney?

"And did you not contemplate some action in Miss Nesbit's behalf?" asked Mr. Jerome.

"No. There was a legal action contemplated so far as she was concerned."

"There was no communication between the witness and Miss Nesbit as counsel and client."

"I must object," said Mr. Delmas, "to the question on the ground that it is not proper rebuttal."

Before the court could rule, however, Mr. Delmas put further questions to the witness, which had reference to the payments he received from Stanford White for legal services. The amount paid for this particular item of service, witness said, was about $100.

Mr. Delmas renewed his general objection.

"It is not rebuttal," said Mr. Delmas, "it is immaterial and irrelevant and not proper testimony."

District Attorney Jerome proceeded to argue the points of law involved in her story.

"If her story is true," continued Mr. Jerome, "I know of nothing in history or literature more sublime than Evelyn Nesbit's sacrifice in her renunciation of the love of the man who, we are told, was paying honorable court."

But she returned to America on Oct. 24, and on Oct. 27 she was in Hummel's office with the man who she says ruined her, and there she said that in Europe Thaw had stripped her and beat her with a whip because she refused to sign a paper accusing White of drugging and ravishing her. Stanford White, she said, never harmed her."

Mr. Jerome then read a large number of decisions bearing on the subject of introduction of evidence in such cases, and showed that a witness has made statements out of court which do not agree with statements made on the stand.

In all the cases, he declared, the courts have held that when the attention of a witness is properly called to a contradictory statement made out of court, it is competent to bring testimony in rebuttal to prove the statements.

"The proposition I made to the court is very simple," continued Mr. Jerome. "If Evelyn Nesbit did not tell Thaw this story in Paris, the reason for his making it disappear is plain. He did not tell the story, the hypothetical question on which the experts have based their opinion disappears. I contend that under the law, under the authorities, I have quoted, I have a right to show that this woman made the statement in Paris, and that under oath, that she did not tell Thaw—would not agree to any such story as she has told here."

Mr. Jerome sat down and Mr. Delmas arose. He said that as the hour for the luncheon recess was approaching, and as Mr. Jerome's argument necessitated an extended reply, he would ask that the recess be taken immediately so that his argument might not be interrupted.

Mr. Jerome amended the motion by asking that the court adjourn for the day.

"I am very desirous of getting through this case," said Mr. Jerome, "and I am sure both Mr. Delmas and your honor feel the same way. I have discussed the matter of the hypothetical question with eight scientists whom I am consulting and I find that they are not willing to express an opinion on a question which is only a summary of the evidence. I therefore will be obliged to go into the case in full, making a question which will require at least an hour to read, and I have as yet been unable to finish it. I think we could save time if we adjourned now until tomorrow morning, and in the meantime Mr. Delmas and I can probably agree on the working of the question and thereby save the time of the court which would otherwise be taken up by arguments and searching through the records. Mr. Delmas would also have time to consult authorities to reply to my argument of today."

"Unless Mr. Delmas takes up a long time in his cross-examination of the experts, I see no reason why the case should not be closed on Friday."

Mr. Jerome suggested also that the experts might all be sworn at once, which would necessitate the reading of the long hypothetical question only once instead of to each one of them in turn.

Justice Fitzgerald ordered the adjournment until tomorrow morning.

NEARING AN END.

Thaw Case Will Go to the Jury Within Two Weeks.

New York, March 13.—It now appears that the Thaw case will go to the jury within two weeks. The prosecution has practically finished its rebuttal, with the exception of its experts, and tonight Mr. Jerome will have examined all of his witnesses, except the scientists, who will be called to show, by their answers to a hypothetical question, that in their opinions Thaw was sane when he shot Stanford White.

It is doubtful whether any of Mr. Jerome's witnesses other than the scientists, will be allowed to testify, as the court has repeatedly ruled that no evidence may be introduced to show that the story Evelyn Thaw testified she told her husband was not true. Mr. Delmas who, in the early days of the trial, stated that the defense would not take advantage of that rule, but would open the gates and allow the district attorney to go as far as he liked in testing the truth or falsity of the story, has since Mr. Jerome began offering evidence in rebuttal, invoked the rule and shut out the offered evidence.

May McKenzie, Evelyn Thaw's chorus girl friend, and Muzie Follette, her chorus girl enemy, are both under subpoena by the prosecution, but it is doubtful if either of them will be called. It does not seem probable that either would be called, in testimony, even if called, it seems likely that today's session of court will be a brief one, and that an early adjournment will be taken, in order that Mr. Jerome and Mr. Delmas may agree on the exact language of the hypothetical question which Mr. Jerome will read to his first expert tomorrow.

ALDERMEN NOMINATED

At the Ward Caucuses Held at Two Harbors.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 13.—(Special to the Herald.)—At the ward caucuses held here last evening the following were nominated for aldermen: First ward, Iver Amundson; Second ward, P. W. Thaw; Third ward, J. H. Peterson; Fourth ward, H. D. Osterlee.

"I was acting only for Mr. Stanford White, caused about $5 damage to the store building on popular street, owned by J. Chase. Most of the damage was by water. The First M. E. church, owned by Richard and Ernest Bennett, building, was in danger for a time."

health, and was able to do active work but little. Monday morning his grand-daughter, Mrs. William Thomas, died at her home in Newton, and made two deaths within twenty-four hours in the one family. Mr. Bennett was known to almost every resident of Calumet localities. He was a staunch member of the Calumet M. E. church and his death will cause many expressions of sympathy for the bereaved family. He is survived by a wife and six children, twenty-eight grandchildren and twenty-three great grandchildren. The children surviving are Mrs. Thomas Cook, Mrs. J. Laione, Mrs. Richard Dingle, Mrs. Lottie Bennett and Richard and Ernest Bennett. The result of the election at Laurium was: President, H. P. Roehm, 32; trustees, Thomas Hoatson, 44; William R. Vivian, 47; Gus Preuss, 42; John McLean, 23; August Leppanen, 27; James H. Green, 24; clerk, Peter Charrier, 40; Martin Prisk, 17; treasurer, Matt Sailer, 21; assessors, Albert Bray, 21, and Fred J. Jett, 21.

Red Jacket elections were rather quiet and entirely according to program. The officers elected are: President, Frank Shumaker; councilmen, Edward Ulsch, Angus McLean, and James McFarley; clerk, Nicholas P. Kaler; treasurer, Paul Schneller; assessor, John J. Ellis, Jr.

Negannee.—The aldermen were yesterday officially notified by Recorder W. H. Mitchell that Mayor J. H. Winter had vetoed the resolution passed at the regular meeting of the council last Thursday evening authorizing the free use of the U. S. national voting machines in the city election.

Houghton.—Sunday night a telegram from St. Augustine, Fla., brought the sad news of the unexpected death in that city of William Walls, and plunged the home on College avenue in gloom. Mr. Walls is well known all over the Lake Superior region, and more particularly in Houghton, where the general esteem in which the man was held, as well as the confidence which the people of the region reposed in him, and with reason—has been manifested several times by his election to public office of trust and responsibility. After retiring from active business he devoted his time to his family life in the cozy home he bought in East Houghton. He leaves besides his widow, four sons, George, John, William and Miss Mame of Houghton, his son Jack, and Miss Adele, the youngest daughter. Four sisters survive him. They are Mrs. Emma Evans, and Mrs. S. Carkeek, both of Houghton, but the latter now in California, Mrs. A. L. Worthley also of Houghton, and Mrs. W. H. Worthley of Calumet. One brother, John, of Great Falls, Mont., survives him. Mr. Walls was 61 years old.

Ishpeming.—Gust Carlson, an old and well known resident of this city, died at an early hour Monday morning. He had been ill about two months, the greater part of which time he was confined to his home.

Marquette.—After one of the warmest fights ever developed at a meeting of the city council, the following appointments of Mayor Cuiver for the two new boards created by the recently enacted legislation revising the city charter, were confirmed.

Police commission.—Joseph Fay, five years; George D. McCormick, four years; Henry Hallam, three years; Herman Blitt, one year.

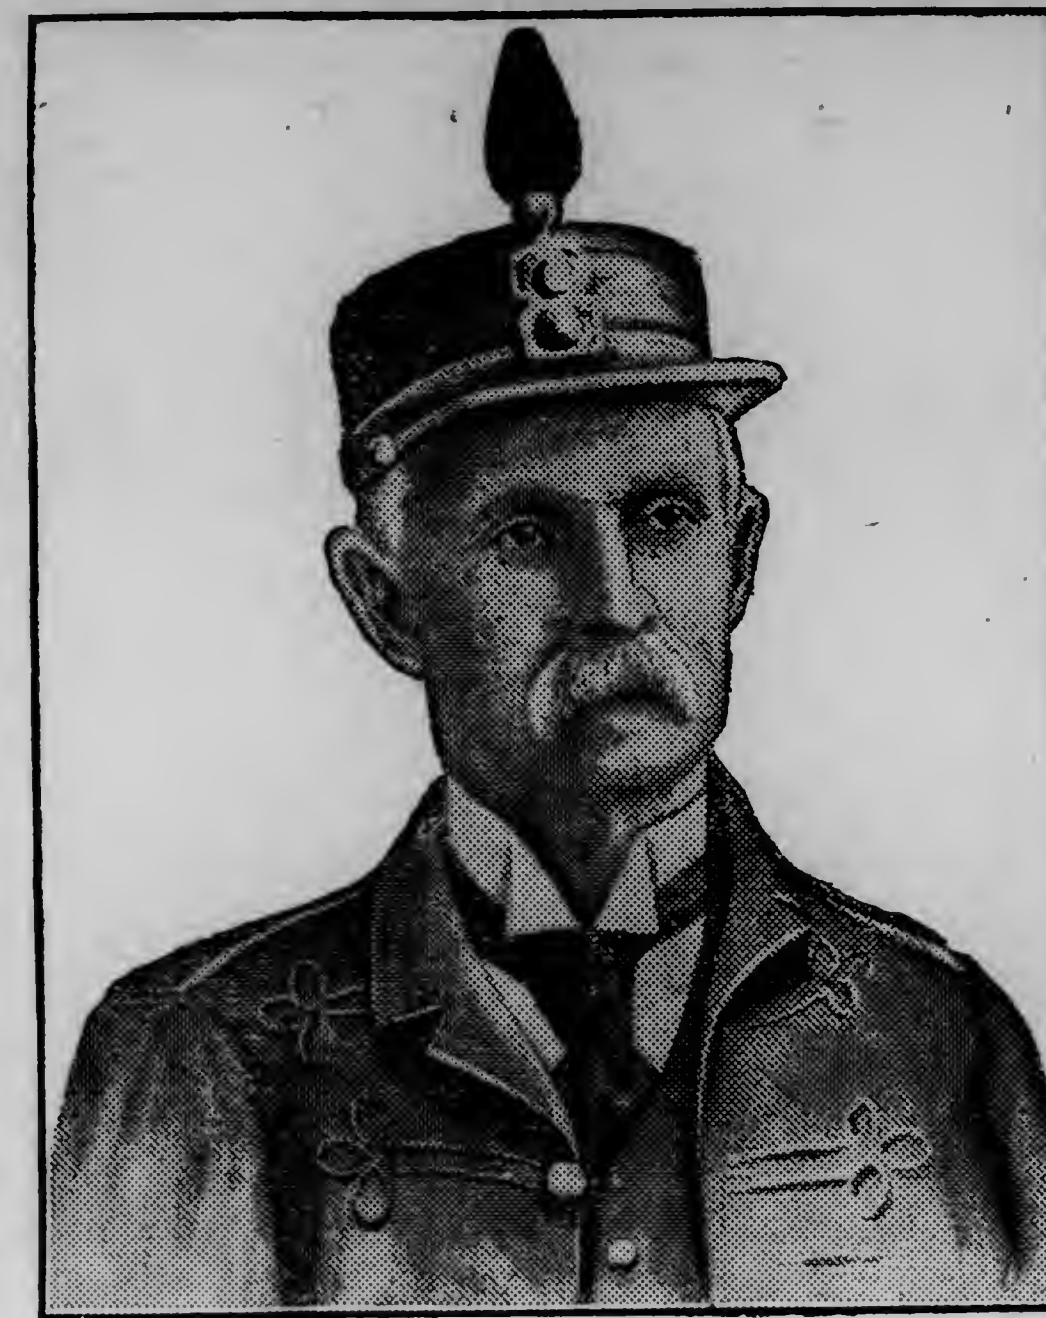

Park, cemetery and street commission.—Michael W. Shea, five years; Nelson Carr, three years; Michael H. Ford, three years; Alfred E. Archambeau, two years; Peter White, one year.

Menominee.—A deer chased by dogs was in the streets of this city yesterday morning. The animal, a young doe, was in a state of extreme exhaustion and was pursued by fast clothing in upon it when they were driven off by Mrs. Albert F. Benit. The deer dropped at her feet and was removed to the house in a wheelbarrow. Being given food and water it recovered shortly.

HAPPENINGS IN THE DAKOTAS

President Merrifield of North Dakota University Has Resigned.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Grand Forks.—President Merrifield of the university of North Dakota has resigned, and his resignation will be considered at the next meeting of the board of trustees, which will be held April 3.

The resignation is a result of the spirit shown by the legislature in making a small appropriation for the university. It is stated that President Merrifield has been at the head of the university for twenty years, and is regarded as a leading educator of the West.

Fargo.—As a result of an accident last night, George Harmon, of this city, sustained serious injuries. He was employed as a switchman in the local yards, and caught his foot in a wire ring beside the rails. A refrigerator car was backed against him and his foot was crushed.

Plumley, recently appointed postmaster in Fargo, has been notified that he is expected to put up $25,000 bond. His predecessor had to give $50,000 when first appointed and $100,000 additional afterwards.

Valley City.—J. B. Taylor has started for Alaska with a carload of horses which he came to North Dakota to purchase. The animals average 1,500 pounds in weight and are fine specimens of farm horses. The car was attached to a passenger train in order to make a quick trip to Seattle to catch a northbound steamer.

Minot.—Gracie, the 1½-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. William Scofield, is dead from taking carbolic acid. A bottle of acid was on the window sill of a neighbor's house where the family was spending an evening. The child took a deep drink from the bottle and expired in a few minutes.

Harvey.—County Judge Aloys Wartner Monday ordered all "blind piggers" to discontinue the sale of all intoxicating liquors at once. Harvey has for years been known as a "wide open" town, and there has been little or no attempt to prohibit the sale of all kinds of drinks. The saloons in other towns in the county, Fossenden, Martin and Manfred, were also ordered closed.

Grafton.—The defense in the Otto Wegberg murder trial brought out some strong evidence regarding insanity in the Wegberg family.

Williston.—Willingness to lessen the labor of Jailer McKay won for Teddy Reig, confined on a charge of burglary, his liberty, and materially increased the work of Sheriff Lammiman, who now is bent upon the prisoners' recapture. "Lemmy empty the ashes for you," Reig said, and the keeper of the battle keys, pleased by the courtesies of the youth, permitted him to leave the jail to do his work. He did not return, and while the jailer was searching for him, the balance of the prisoners were saving their way through the bars of the jail window. Upon his return the jailer discovered their work and promptly stopped it.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Elk Point.—A three-room dwelling house, owned and occupied by Mrs. Maria Lee, a soldier's widow, over 70 years of age, was nearly destroyed by fire. A hot stove, too near the wall, ignited the paper and fired the little house. A small pension and the little house were the widow's only assets. Within twenty-four hours the entire amount needed to rebuild the house was pledged and paid in small amounts by citizens, who knew the circumstances.

Canton.—State Treasurer Cassell has closed a deal whereby the First National bank of Rapid City secured the $250,000 revenue warrants issued at 5 per cent for one year. There were many competitors. The lowest bid from New York city was 6½ per cent. These warrants were sold to take up 7 per cent registered warrants. South Dakota is proud of Rapid City.

Huron.—Capt. Phil Lawrence, commander of Kilpatrick post, G. A. R., is in receipt of the official notice from Gen. N. C. Lowthian, department commander, announcing the location of the next annual convention for twenty-three years, and fixing the dates for June 4, 5, and 6.

Miller.—Fears are expressed that Count Sparr, who, after coming here last year from South America and establishing a large ranch, returned to Germany has met with some accident or foul play, as he has not been heard from.

"The Royal Chef," the great New York and Chicago musical success, is announced to appear at the Lyceum, Friday and Saturday, with a Saturday matinee. This musical play abounds in music of a high order, while the story is one of the most interesting and novel ever written for the background of musical comedy. In song hits, "The Royal Chef" is specially prolific.

They include, "It's a Way They Have in Chicago," "When Old Glory Floats From Everywhere," "Tale of a Tailless Frog," "Let Me Go Back," "I'd Like to Break My Way Into Society," "Maiden and the Kissing Bug," "Wouldn't You If You Were I," "O'Grady," "In the Morning," "What Color of Eyes Do You Love Best," etc. They range in theme from the serious to the comic, from the sentimental to the patriotic. Messrs. Stoddard and Taylor have furnished good verse, while Mr. Ben M. Jerome's music is of the kind that you carry with you from the playhouse and hum on your way home.

GILLILAN IS IRRESISTIBLE. "Gillilan is one of the most original and unique characters on the platform today," said a writer in an Elmira paper. "He is irresistibly funny. You are compelled to laugh whether he says anything or not. An evening with Gillilan is like a mixture of Bill Rice, Whitecomb Riley, Edgar Allan Poe, and Will Carleton. His monologues are done in that droll, easy, conversational style that keeps the hearers in constant good humor. His wit fairly sparkles, and his inimitable bits of original verse contain the best that is in humanity and a dash of pathos that is truly delightful."

HAVE CATCHY SONGS. The Washington Society Girls sing some catchy songs during the action of their two burlesques, "Levy in Japan" and "The Third Degree." The Chin-Chin girls, in the first skit, have a fetching number, and others which make a hit are "Click, Click, Click," "Queens of the Stage," "Scintillating Star," "Lillette," "Bill Simmons" and "Matinee Maestros." Many of the songs were written especially for this production.

DON'T NEED BREAD.

Found True Food for Brain Workers.

A distinguished writer, 69 years old, with the vigor of youth, writes of the benefits derived from proper food.

"I have been employed for several years in preparing a series of historical papers on the subject of the necessary research has been laborious and exhaustive, involving the examination of more than 100,000 pages of the official records.

"The more than ordinary interest I took in the work (for I bore a part in the conflict) caused incessant worry and proved too great a strain. Overwork brought on brain fatigue; constant worry did the rest.

"Insomnia followed, then loss of appetite followed by absolute inability to control my mind. Labor was without accomplishment. Remedy after remedy was vainly employed, but the work began could not be dropped. And yet it seemed as if I was going to pieces.

"At last I tried Grape-Nuts food, and less than a week brought benefit; continued use resulted in steady improvement, and I soon found myself again in possession of full mental efficiency. I am ten years younger in looks and feelings than when I began to eat Grape-Nuts, over three years ago. I can now easily write 2,500 words a day and maintain that rate of production without feeling overworked.

"Brain fog and insomnia are strangers to me now, and my appetite is all right. I sleep soundly and rest fully, and arise ready for work. A shallow complexion has given way to pink and white, my weight has increased 30 pounds, and my cheery good spirits are in strong contrast to the crossness and irritability that had settled down upon me.

"I can safely say that Grape-Nuts food has given me a new lease of life. I can get along without bread and butter, but I cannot get along and achieve best results without Grape-Nuts." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. "There's a reason." Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkg.

In a letter to Secretary Garfield, dated yesterday, President Roosevelt issued a modification of the orders issued under his direction, last year, withdrawing certain lands from coal entry. Conformably to the president's directions about 25,000,000 acres of coal land will be immediately opened to entry with other lands to be opened as rapidly as the geographical survey can make these proper examinations. The president's letter to the secretary is as follows:

"In view of the reports made by ance of title to bonafide settlers and homesteaders, would reduce the illegal entries to a minimum, and bring the work of the land office up to date. With the amount actually appropriated, it is not possible to carry out the order, or to provide with certainty for the detection of fraud without causing unreasonable hardship to bonafide settlers and homesteaders.

"In order to accomplish as much as can be accomplished with our present means in preventing illegal acquisition of public lands, the commissioner of the general land office will detail all his available field and office force in such manner by concentration, or otherwise, as will effectively be possible, with the actual appropriation, restrict fraud, enforce the existing laws, and promote the bonafide settlement of public lands by homesteaders."

THE PRESIDENT CANCELS ORDER

Relating to the Issuance of Evidence of Land Titles.

Washington, March 12.—President Roosevelt yesterday sent the following letter to the secretary of the interior, cancelling his order of Feb. 12, relating to the issuance of evidence of title under the public land laws:

"My order of Feb. 12, 1907, relating to the issuance of evidence of title under the public land laws, is hereby canceled, for the reason that congress did not appropriate an amount sufficient to enable the commissioner of the general land office to properly carry out the purposes of that order, which were to have such examination made of all applications for patent as would facilitate the issuance of title to bonafide settlers and homesteaders, would reduce the illegal entries to a minimum, and bring the work of the land office up to date. With the amount actually appropriated, it is not possible to carry out the order, or to provide with certainty for the detection of fraud without causing unreasonable hardship to bonafide settlers and homesteaders.

SPORTS OF THE DAY

THE MANLEY-MCLENNAN

High Average Trophy Event is Nearing Its Close.

Two Squads Complete Finals at Western Club Tonight.

The Manley-McLennan event is attracting the most attention from local curlers just at present and four squads are nearly ready to let the respective winners play down in bonspiel style for the trophy. In the second and third squads Dinham and Fred Smith have led their fours to victory. Dinham having an average of 530 as compared to his nearest rival's 505.

In the first and fourth, however, the games have not been completed, and the winners are undecided. In the fourth, the smaller of the squads, where each team had but five games to play, four of the contest of the teams, which were: Phelps, A. H. Smith, Myron, and Anneke have tied with percentages of .660 each, while Stillman has a .440 percentage and McLeod has .200.

Cattin leads in squad No. 1 with Jones second and Dunlop third. The standings are as follows:

	W. L. P. C.
Cattin	4 0 100
Jones	3 1 96
Dunlop	2 2 50
Dinham	1 1 50

The Mender event is still lagging far behind, and it begins to look doubtful if the contest can be decided before the ice goes. Afternoon play is impossible already on account of the thaw, and in the evenings the ice is soft and treacherous.

The finals in the West Duluth Commercial club trophy were to have been played last night at the Western club, but between the fogs skipped by Frank Ashley and Ike Deatherage, but the ice was too soft to permit the game being played. Today's cold snap has put the ice back in condition again, however, and the final contest will be played this evening.

TWO MATCHES FRIDAY NIGHT

Middies at Armory and Two Big Fellows at Met.

Two lively wrestling matches are billed for Friday night. At the Armory the naval militia is planning to pull off a rating fast match between Sholly (Cyre) and Hugh McMillan, and the middies are looking forward to the match with much interest. Sholly is a very little man and knows considerably more about the fine points of the game than does Cyre, but the less experienced man will weigh in at about 135 while McMillan will be thirteen pounds lighter, going on at 122. The match will commence at 9:45 sharp.

At the Metropolitan two bigger men than those who have been in the arena act after the merry maidens have finished their stunts, are booked to go on, and as the lowest which either of the men can reach is 135, it is likely that Friday's match may go into the heavyweight class, especially as the men will hit the match at catch weights.

W. H. Beaulieu of the Gowan-Peyton-Twohy company is one of the aspirants for mat honors and Harry Marshall, a West Duluth husky, is the other contestant. Both men are said to have substantial backing from the national amateur billiard tournament. The score was 300 to 243. Gardner has now won three games and lost one.

Sax Win in Mexico.

Mexico City, March 13.—The pennant winners of the Mexico City league, "The Records," were defeated by the Chicago American league team yesterday by a score of 12 to 2. White, Altrock and Walsh alternated in the box for the Chicago team.

Gitch Throws Burns.

Omaha, March 13.—Frank Gitch won from Farmer Burns at the Auditorium last night in two straight falls, catch-as-catch-can, taking thirty minutes each time. Gitch's weight was 200 pounds, exceeding that of Burns by thirty pounds.

Gardner Wins Again.

New York, March 13.—Edward W. Gardner of Passaic, N. J., defeated Dr. Mial of New York last night in the thirteenth game of the national amateur billiard tournament. The score was 300 to 243. Gardner has now won three games and lost one.

MORRISON, Tailor,
8 LAKE AVENUE SOUTH.

The Minnesota Boat club is not the only rowing organization in the Northwest that is showing signs of life.

The Minnesota Boat club of St. Paul is getting busy these days, and one or two of the members of the Duluth club, who have been in the Saint City recently, bring back reports of greatly increased interest in rowing matters. The Minnesota club has taken a lot of new graduates of the university, who are going in for rowing in earnest, and with the determination to carry off the junior events at least, in the regatta to be held at White Bear lake this summer.

You fellows from Duluth and Winnipeg can't come down here every year and walk off with the prizes, was the parting shot given one of the Duluth men, who was in St. Paul last week. "We're going to have some crews on the water this year that will make you go some."

That is the kind of spirit in rowing matters that the officers of the association have been trying to work up for years, and it promises well for the regatta this summer at White Bear lake.

BIG DULUTHS WIN THREE STRAIGHT

Are Giving Columbias Tight Race for First Place.

The Big Duluths rolled one 1,000 games and two others above 900 last evening, finishing with a total aggregate of 2,533 a lead of 340 over their opponents, the Kenney & Anker five, who did not succeed in hitting the ten on any of the games and aggregated 2,405.

Sam Olson carried off the high average with a mark of 233 2-3 and Stiegler with a top mark of 225 in the first game took high score.

Though the Big Duluths now have one more game than the Columbias to their credit they have lost two more and so are relegated to second place. The Kenney & Anker five are due to meet the Olson & Leveaux's Orphans Thursday, things look rather dark for the Big Duluth's leadership, though they are looking the best games in the league at present.

The scores last night were:

SHERIFF LOSES HIS POSITION

Governor Removes Alexander B. Riddell of Cass County.

St. Paul, March 13.—Alexander B. Riddell, sheriff of Cass county, has been removed from office on a charge of padding his expense account. Governor Johnson yesterday granted the request of the state board of control that Riddell be removed.

The decision was reached after a long hearing during the morning, at which considerable documentary evidence was produced. The specific charges made against Riddell were that on two occasions he represented having been accompanied from Walker, the county seat of Cass county, when in reality he was unaccompanied by a guard.

Riddell explained the fact that neither of his guards had appeared with him at the reformatory, by saying they both had friends in St. Cloud and asked to be excused from going the remainder of the distance, so he secured the services of local men for the remainder of the trip across the city.

Gregg, of the Four City Highway association, which Riddell had been representing, said that on two occasions he represented having been accompanied from Walker, the county seat of Cass county, when in reality he was unaccompanied by a guard.

HIGHWAY BY JUNE FIRST

Four City Thoroughfare Will be Ready by That Time.

Duluth to Twin Cities in Six Hours, Via Autos.

Duluth to the Twin Cities in six hours, via the automobile route. That is what will be possible after the first of June, when the Four City Highway will have been completed. The route will be a continuous roadway from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Duluth and Superior.

True, there are already roads between the cities mentioned, and they will be still used by automobilists and others after the first of June, but they will be so improved and renovated that a near-sighted person will take them for entirely new thoroughfares.

This plan of fixing up a good highway between Duluth and the Twins has been brewing in the minds of the automobile owners of this city, Superior, St. Paul and Minneapolis for some time, and now it is to be realized. The plan is to be carried out by the Four City Highway association, which has been appointed to raise the money for the improvements.

A good highway, such as is planned, will be of untold benefit to Duluth in the opinion of those who have been following the project since its inception.

When the hot days come in the Twin Cities, the automobile owners of those two towns will hop into their autos and set sail for Duluth, and the trip can be made in six hours, at the very most. Many Minneapolisians and St. Paulites will come up here at week-ends to escape the heat, and the trip will be a desirable one. A road of this kind, which might be called a "four city" road, would be a great benefit to the people of the four cities.

On the other hand, Duluthians desiring for one reason or another to go to Minneapolis or St. Paul, can get there with ease and comfort, and with speed and in their long, low touring cars.

The money to improve the roads will be raised in Minneapolis, St. Paul, Duluth, Superior and Intermediate cities. The money will be raised in Minneapolis, St. Paul, Duluth, Superior and Intermediate cities.

HILL AGAIN A WINNER

Great Northern was present as a witness. Attorney Nathan conducted the examination, and General Counsel Begg of the Great Northern was present to see that the examination was confined within due bounds.

Mr. Nathan wanted Mr. Hill to state what a railroad ought to earn on a fair valuation of its property, and Mr. Hill said that it ought to earn at least as much as money will bring in the loan market. He said that the Great Northern earned 5.7 per cent, and money cannot be borrowed for that, so the yield was not earned. He asked if it was 6 per cent was good enough, he said that it would not be possible to say that that figure could be safely fixed. He gave the earnings of the Great Northern, 1934, 1935, 1936, 1937, 1938, 1939, 1940, 1941, 1942, 1943, 1944, 1945, 1946, 1947, 1948, 1949, 1950, 1951, 1952, 1953, 1954, 1955, 1956, 1957, 1958, 1959, Dr. Pierce's world-famed medicines are put out under the belief that publicity is the best possible guaranty of merit, and that the most intelligent people generally want to know what they take into their stomachs, whether it be as food, drink or medicine. Although it was a bold step to take, and quite out of the usual practice of makers of proprietary medicines, yet Dr. Pierce, some time ago, decided to publish broadcast and on all his bottle-wrappers all the ingredients entering into the composition, or make-up, of his celebrated family medicines. A square deal is therefore assured every one using his medicines, for one knows exactly what he or she is paying for when purchasing them, since every ingredient is published in plain English on the bottle wrappers and the correctness of the same attested under solemn oath. These several ingredients are selected from among the very best known, to medical science for the cure of the various diseases for which these medicines are recommended.

medicines. The exact proportion of each ingredient used in Dr. Pierce's medicines as well as the working formula or manner of preparing the same, and the specially devised apparatus and appliances used in the treatment, are withheld from publicity that Dr. Pierce's proprietary rights may be fully protected from such unprincipled imitators as might be piratically inclined. No person is permitted to sell or dispense without the use of a drop of alcohol, so during pain and bringing about a healthy, vigorous condition of the system.

Women suffering from diseases long standing, are invited to consult Doctor Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Advertiser (1000 pages) is sent free on receipt of 21 enclosed stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound copy. Address as above.

(Washington, March 12.—Regis Herald) Post, the new governor of Porto Rico is one of those rich young men with a mission whom the example of President Roosevelt has brought away from their tennis courts to take part in running the government.

His father, Joseph L. L. Post, who was born in New York city in 1870, his father being Albert Kintzing Post, and his mother, Marie Caroline Post, was born in New York city in 1870, and studied law at Harvard in 1891, and then studied a year in the law department of the University of New York. In 1892 he was admitted to the bar, and in 1893 he was elected a member of the state assembly, and in 1893 was sent to Porto Rico as auditor of the government. The next year he was promoted to colonial secretary, and now he goes upon one more step and becomes governor.

He is a swell, as swells are defined in New York. He belongs to the Union, Harvard and New York Yacht clubs, and while in college was a member of the Delta Phi fraternity society.

In personal appearance he is young-looking, and will be quite the kid governor of the Roosevelt administration.

URGES FIRM STAND ON RAILROAD TAXATION

Mayor Advises Council to Stand Pat on Franchise Question.

Discusses High Rents—No Surprises in Annual Elections.

"Stand pat," was the gist of Mayor Cullum's message in regard to the Wisconsin Central and the city's chief executive, in his formal communication which he delivered to the council last evening, pointing out in an able manner the necessity of making incoming roads pay assessments on property.

That about 1,000 men are working in Duluth, but forced to keep their families elsewhere on account of the scarcity of houses and high rentals, was one of the most striking statements in the message and the mayor pointed out how seriously this was bound to retard the growth of our city. The mayor's belief in the future of Duluth is most enthusiastic and he promised the best service that the administration could give in advancing the highest interests of the community.

Whether the aid agitation had anything to do with it or not, A. R. Merritt, president of the Civic league, whose term on the board of fire commissioners expired this year, was not reappointed by the mayor, and William Burgess will officially on the board in his place.
Theodore Hollister lauded in his resignation from the board and M. W.
Clark of West Duluth was appointed to succeed him.

O. G. Olson, president of the board of public works, was reappointed to the board, and L. B. Manley will retain his old seat on the water and light board.
James Walsh succeeded Patrick Mc-Kay on the labor board.

The stamp of approval of the council is only necessary for the last of these positions and the appointment of Walsh was approved by acclamation. The other appointment in the mayor's gift, that of a member of the board of the park board, is not subject to the approval of the city fathers, but must be submitted to the district judges and the name of John J. Merritt, Jr., was sent up for approval yesterday by the mayor.

As predicted in The Herald last week, the choice of sealers of weights and measures was the only contested feature of the election, and after eight ballots had been cast, each siding in an eight to eight vote, the meeting adjourned with both the Sampson and Longmire factions in the Eight of the Democratic result stand firm for Longmire, while Sampson's two Democratic supporters Almeron Moore and Mueller immediately with the public millitary and tied the vote. Until one faction or the other shows a disposition to yield, the council will remain in office.

The other elections resulted as follows: Alderman George G. Gatchell being re-elected to the offices of president and vice president, respectively, and Thomas Burke being elected to the office of clerk. The applause greeted the announcement of the unanimous election of Harry Chadwick as clerk of the city.

In response to a request by the mayor, on a motion by Alderman Haven, a committee consisting of the mayor and Mr. Haven was appointed by the council to investigate the city's chief executive is as follows:

The message of the Mayor.

"I am pleased to be able to repeat again the statement that the old council has rendered a good account of itself in the performance of its duties. The message of the Mayor is a full and complete one. It is sincerely grateful for the impartial, economical and businesslike manner in which our legislative affairs have been conducted. The public is critical and prone to complain, and often makes demands that appear to them reasonable, but it cannot keep all the various restrictions placed around your body in the way of charter provisions and at your command all the various departments of the city. I have to thank you for the assistance given to them in the performance of their duties. The message of the Mayor is a full and complete one. It is certain, I endeavor to so conduct myself as not to in any way impair the reputation you have established."

"The coming year promises to be a busy one. Extension, enlargements and changes will be demanded in order to meet these new conditions. New concerns will be established here. They must be treated in order that the city may follow them. The various departments will undoubtedly call upon you for assistance and advice.
I have no doubt that this will be fruitful coming as heretofore. We must not in any way lose our heads or be carried away, but so conduct ourselves as to be a steady influence in all directions."

The City Departments.
"You have before you the reports of the various departments. Without exception they seem to have made commendable progress. Many severe extensions have been made and much paying has been done, under the supervision of the board of public works, and at a less average cost than ever before. The engineering department has done at least a third more work, with practically the same force, than has been done in previous years."

"The health department has made good in every respect. In this connection it must appear to those familiar with the situation that we cannot much longer postpone the building of a pest house. Our present situation is uncomfortable, poorly constructed, and expensive to maintain.
Our legal department has taken care of the growing affairs of the city in a most commendable manner. It must be evident to you that the department has been very busy, and yet there has been no demand for assistance."

"The building inspector has had great difficulty in enforcing the building ordinances. From the fact that a number of provisions seem inconsistent and unenforced and it is to be hoped that the ordinance may be corrected as mistakes appear, so that it may be enforced with justice to all.
The police department, in spite of the fact that it is handicapped because of not having a larger number

MAYOR M. B. CULLUM.

of patrolmen, has maintained the high order of efficiency that has characterized that arm of the city government in the past. While it is not contended that it has or can accomplish all that could be desired, yet there is less crime committed in the city of Duluth than in any city of its size in the Union.

Evidence of Growth.
"If any evidence of our growth were lacking, it could be found in the increased demands on the water and light department. This board, composed of splendid business men, has been put to its wit's end to justify such demands. The difficulties in disposing of the bonds on advantageous terms was a serious handicap.
The members are as anxious to make desired extensions as the patrons along the various lines, and have determined at some considerable sacrifice, to proceed with the development of the proposed extensions. The people have been long suffering and patient in their demands. It is not only just that they should be properly served, but it will bring about a healthier and more prosperous condition in the outlying districts."

City Playgrounds.
"The park board has demonstrated its ability to do a very large business on small capital, and while we are discussing the future of our city in a commercial way, it is high time to consider a scheme—a perfectly practicable scheme—a comparatively sacrifice, to proceed with the development

WOMEN WHO CHARM

Health Is the First Essential Toward Making a Woman Attractive.

MISS HULDA KUGLER

MISS ELIZABETH WYNN

There is a beauty and attractiveness in health which is far greater than mere regularity of feature.

A sickly, irritable, and complaining woman always carries a cloud of depression with her; she is not only unhappy herself but is a damper to all joy and happiness when with her family and friends.

It is the bright, healthy, vivacious woman who always charms and carries sunshine wherever she goes.

If a woman finds that her energies are flagging and that everything tires her; if her feminine system fails to perform its allotted duties, there is nervousness, sleeplessness, faintness, backache, headache, bearing-down pains, and irregularities, causing constant misery and melancholia, she should remember that Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made from native roots and herbs will dispel all these troubles. By correcting the cause of the trouble it cures where other treatment may have failed.

Miss Elizabeth Wynn, of No. 205
8th Avenue, New York City, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"For months I suffered with dreadful headaches, pain in the back and severe hemorrhages. I was weak and out of sorts all the time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me when all other medicine had failed. It seemed to be just what I needed and quickly restored my health."

Without complaint much valuable time from their private affairs. In some cases however, and on some boards, a few of the more enthusiastic have been allowed to do all the work. This is not as it should be, and I have to request, most respectfully, that those who, from any cause whatever, find themselves unable to attend, tender their resignations, as every man will be expected to be at his post in the future.

"The comptroller and city treasurer, as well as the clerk's office, have always shown a commendable desire to further the interests of the city by working in courteous harmony with other public services."

"The House in Rents.
"During the last year I have heard many complaints—especially from our business men—of the high cost of procure living in the city, and I believe it is true that there are at least a few of our citizens who are unable men living in our city and supporting their families in other communities, because of the lack of moderate and comfortable houses to rent. Now this is a very serious handicap to us and if it is true as reported that there is an inclination to make a general raise in rents this spring it will further militate against the growth of the city. Now this is such a serious problem that it is high time it was being solved in some way or other. Large interests in the East care for this matter by building blocks of healthy comfortable homes are built such as can be either rented or sold to the working man. This is particularly true around the cities of Baltimore and Philadelphia. Now if this city is ever to be a large manufacturing center this problem must be solved. Good wages alone will not attract the mechanic unless living expenses are kept at a moderate level."

The Traction Company.
"In regard to the street car situation, certain arrangements were made some time ago between the street car company and the city. The company has agreed to build certain necessary extensions and do certain other things.
It claimed that it was crippled as to the amount of power obtainable, and that because of that it could not render the service expected. The company expected to obtain such power at least a year ago, and at that time it was expected to increase the service to the public at a reasonable degree of efficiency. We did not know then that the company was building a new power plant for so short a period, as it would appear to be hardly out of the ground in the near future when the company will have sufficient power, and the city authorities will be absolved from showing any further leniency in the matter of service, and certain demands should be formulated and strictly insisted upon—that it equip itself with the necessary cars to render the required service promptly. The matter of reducing fares is an important thing to consider, and any movement in that direction will meet with my hearty co-operation, but under the new conditions there will undoubtedly be extensions called for not only into the more thickly settled portions of the city, but to open up the outlying territory, to encourage the building of modest homes, so that the laborer and mechanic may escape the burden of high rents. The street railway company and other public service corporations must be given to understand that they must not be found lagging behind in any particular, under what may be new and changing conditions."

Railroad Taxation.
"The merchants, the manufacturers and the private citizen, are paying over $300-000 a year in taxes that should be borne by railroad property. This amounts to about one-third of our tax levy, or about $100,000,000. It is a question of justice that this railroad territory and property with its protection, police protection, water and sewer service, and in many cases with lights. It cannot be very difficult to pay their local assessments in return for privileges granted to them by the city. That has been their practice for several years."

Stand Pat on Franchise.
"Now there is any sound reason why we should not pursue the same course?
The tax question is a serious one, and with prospective enterprises. Should we not then in every possible way seek to equalize the burden? In fact, we must not have a precedent, and I take it that it is your intention to carry out this idea with

Miss Hulda Kugler, of No. 25, West 15th Street, New York City,
writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"For months I was ill with an internal trouble. I suffered terrible agony, was nervously irritable, and sick all the time. I took different medicines without benefit.
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended and within six months I was completely restored to health and I want to recommend it to every suffering woman."

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular functions, backache, bloating (or flatulence), displacements, inflammation or ulceration, that bearing-down feeling, dizziness, indigestion, or nervous prostration may be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Pinkham's Invitation to Women.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs.
Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. From the symptoms given, the trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised. Out of her vast volume of experience in treating female ills Mrs. Pinkham probably has the very knowledge that will help your case. Her advice is free and always helpful.

The Wisconsin Central. The possibility that in the next ten years they might be asked to expend some $200,000 for the improvement of their own property and their immediate surroundings does not appeal to me as a hardship, but as a perfectly fair and reasonable demand.

"One of the important matters that I desire to urge upon this council is the great necessity of finding out by careful investigation just what opportunities exist for lines of transportation to enter our city. It has been said that it was almost impossible for other lines to get into the business districts of the city, and this must necessarily have a disastrous effect on those lines seeking to enter.
I believe that this condition of affairs has been exaggerated, and has consequently discouraged us to a considerable extent.
I believe that it is of the highest importance to

RELIEF FOR THE STRAP HANGERS PROPOSED IN NEW BILL IN THE HOUSE

Prohibits All Street Railways From Crowding Their Cars.

Can Carry But Fifteen Passengers Beyond Seating Capacity.

Senate Bill Provides Payment of Road Taxes in Cash.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, March 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Relief for strap hangers is proposed in a bill offered in the house this morning by Representative Brady of St. Paul. It prohibits street railways crowding their cars, and makes it a misdemeanor to carry more than fifteen passengers in any car in excess of its seating capacity, punishable by fine and imprisonment.

The house this morning passed the following revenue bills: Representative Tighe's measure requiring cigarette dealers to pay the state an annual license fee of $15, passed, 87 to 22; Representative Tighe's bill requiring foreign corporations to make annual reports and pay a tenth of 1 per cent in proportion of their capital stock represented by their Minnesota business; Representative Becknell's bill, imposing a tax on net incomes in excess of $5,000; Representative Rines' bill giving only heads of families the benefit of the 300 personal property exemption from taxation. The house also passed Representative Lemon's bill, providing ball sentences for rebating.

Representative Knutson introduced a bill apparently aimed at minority parties and the intermingling of voters at the primaries. It provides that successful primary election candidates cannot get on the general election ballot unless their party casts at the primaries at least 20 per cent of their average vote at the last general election.

Representative Adams tried to get a reconsideration of the vote by which the bill imposing an additional $100 license fee on every saloon for the

SEARCH FOR NEW GRAFTS.

Peoria Probers on Trail of Corruption in the Fire Department.

Peoria, Ill., March 15.—Charges against the management of the fire department involving the purchase of feed and supplies, are the latest in numerous graft charges being made against Peoria city officials. It was learned yesterday that for the past two years, the fire and water committee of the city council has been purchasing supplies of feed and grain from a firm known as the Peoria & Horan. Instead of feed and grain, the two are saloonkeepers and under indictment for running the places of business without licenses.

"From an investigation of the records," said Mayor Totsen yesterday, "the combination seems to have been very liberal, the profits all going to the saloon men. But while there are profits have ranged in the neighborhood of $2,000 a month."

STEALING OF A MULE

The Cause of the War Between Nicaragua and Honduras.

Nothing But Skirmishes Have Yet Occurred in the Field.

Puerto Cortez, Honduras, March 10.—via New Orleans, March 15.—In spite of the claims made by commanding officers on each side that the "enemy" has been vanquished in an important battle," the fighting between Honduras and Nicaragua, has, up to the present time, been confined to small engagements between scouting parties on one or the other side of the frontier, encounters that anywhere else would be classed as skirmishes. Each side has made claims of victories not warranted by the facts, and each has called the reports sent out by the other false and misleading. But while there has been no battle as yet, all the conditions are ripe for a serious engagement. It is a mistake to characterize all Central American fighting as comic opera performance. Much of the fighting here is comparatively not serious, but the warring elements of these states

RENEWAL OF CONFIDENCE

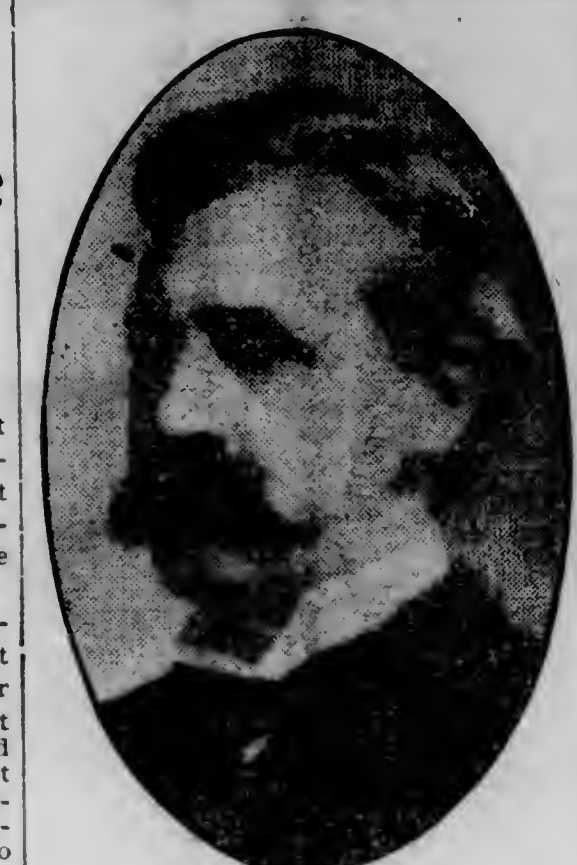

Established to Some Extent on the New York Exchange.

All Brokers Pass the Clearing House Without Failure.

New York, March 15.—Excitement prevailed in the financial district previous to the opening of business at the stock exchange owing to the consequences to be dreaded from the slaughter of prices yesterday. A convulsive rebound in the opening prices for stocks showed the result of protective measures adopted over night, and of the scramble amongst shorts to cover which was precipitated by the developments. The first buoyant upward of prices was immediately taken advantage of to resume the unloading of stocks and prices began to crumble again in a manner which revived the feeling of uneasiness prevalent yesterday. Fluctuations were very wild and feverish for a time below the opening level, without all the opening gains being sacrificed. The extreme rebound at the opening reached in leading 11 points, Delaware & Hudson 12 1/2, Amalgamated Copper 9, Sugar 8 1/2, St. Paul 7 1/2, Smelter 7, Louisville & Nashville 6 1/2, Union Pacific, Northern Pacific and Missouri Central 6, New York Central and Great Northern ore certificates 5 1/2, Pennsylvania 5 1/2.

WATERS AT PITTSBURG REACH HIGHEST MARK IN HISTORY OF THE RIVER

A. D. CUMMINS, Governor of Iowa, Who Says the Legislature Will Not Pass Any Measures That Will Hurt Legitimate Interests.

Enormous Damage Done to the City and Its Vicinity.

Waters Are Now Receding, But Business is Paralyzed.

Disastrous Fires Add to Damage Done by the Flood.

Pittsburg, March 15.—Pittsburgers today are amazed at the immensity of the flood in the Monongahela, Allegheny and Ohio rivers, which has submerged ten square miles in the down town section of the city. After reaching the highest stage ever known, which was thirty-seven feet, at Market street, the water is now slowly receding. Enormous damage to industries has been caused; over 100,000 persons have been temporarily thrown out of employment; every transportation company in the city is crippled; skiffs are carrying hundreds of people to their places of business; the utilization of wagons and horses as conveyances, which did inestimable service yesterday, were discontinued, owing to strenuous protests by the humane society; twenty fatalities have occurred in Allegheny county directly due to high water, and the most unique sights ever seen here are apparent today.

Four massive bridges, the Sixteenth, Ninth and Seventh and Sixth street structures were threatened with destruction, owing to heavy ice gorges which came down the Allegheny river. That the bridges were not swept away is considered marvelous by river men today, and it is said that these structures will be found to have been greatly weakened when the water subsides.

Frightened feminine guests in the Lincoln, Colonial, Annex and Anderson hotels, located in the midst of the flood zone, are harrowed, and are watching the high water from the windows.

Four theaters, the Gayety, Alvin, Belasco and Bijou are flooded, and will be dark for several days. Most of the fire engines in the down town districts are jumping water from buildings along Fifth avenue. At the First National building, Fifth avenue and Wood street, the basement is submerged to a depth of several feet and strenuous efforts are being made to protect the dynamo which generates power to the Western Telegraph company. The office of the Associated Press is located in this building and momentarily it is expected through-out the night that the wires of these

APPOINTIVE COMMISSION

In Place of Elective Railroad and Warehouse Commission.

Special Ore Tax Committee to Have Report Ready Monday.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, March 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Some very pointed charges against the railroad and warehouse commission of Minnesota, as it has existed since it became an elective body, were made before the house yesterday afternoon, when Elias Ruehl's bill making the commission appointive by the governor came up for consideration.

Incidentally, Governor Johnson came in for some pleasant compliments from Republican members who said they were not afraid to let him appoint the members of the commission, even if he is a Democrat.

No action was taken on the bill, however, as Representative Tighe of St. Paul offered an amendment increasing the commission's membership from three to five, and providing that J. F. Jacobson of Madison and W. D. Jacobson of Minneapolis should be the two additional members. This was

USE TUNNEL TO GET IN.

Freshmen Have Harrowing Experience Getting to Banquet Hall.

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 15.—Assisted by President Angell, the university engineering and electrical force and their friends in the upper classes, the freshmen held their annual banquet in Barbour gymnasium.

Four of the veritable ones down on the program for the evening were unable to respond because held in durance by the sophomores. Several in the company were present in dress coats and cutaway trousers, or with dress shirts and with one patent leather pump and one half boot.

The freshman in the main, however, outwitted their adversaries. In the first place, a few nights ago they raided a farmhouse in which the sophomores were holding six of their speakers, battered down the door, and carried their fellows away through a blinding storm. It was a Washington crossing-the-delaware stunt in miniature. Then Sunday night most of them succeeded in getting into Barbour gymnasium via the tunnels through which hot air is conveyed from the heating plant to the different buildings on the campus.

The women escorted by the freshmen were taken to the hall last night under guard of seniors. As they traveled in carriages they had to traverse a black long gauntlet of sophomores, who kept up an uproarious noise as the girls passed. Some of the girls made their way to the gymnasium through the tunnels.

DROWNED IN FRESH WATER.

Monster Sea Turtles Could Not Rise and Were Smothered.

Penn. Ind., March 15.—Two monster sea turtles, the property of the Wallace-Hagback shows, were drowned in winter quarters Saturday. Since these turtles were taken from the ocean they had not been in water. A new employee was engaged to water the turtles, and he drove them into a big tank where they immediately sank to the bottom and drowned. Fresh water would not support them like sea water, and they could not rise again. It was several hours before the man's mistake was discovered. Since taken from the sea the turtles weighed about 80 pounds. Thousands of children rode on their backs during the St. Louis exposition.

NO INJUSTICE WILL BE DONE

Any Property Interests by Railroad Legislation, Says Cummins.

Chicago, March 15.—A dispatch to the Record-Herald from Des Moines, Iowa, says: Governor Cummins, when asked yesterday for a statement of his views with respect to railroad legislation, said there was no danger that the Iowa legislature would do injustice to any property interest.

"There is no danger that the Iowa legislature will pass any laws unjust to railroads or any other kind of property," he said. "No legislation is proposed that will reduce the rates of railroads below the point of absolute safety to those who have their money invested in stocks and bonds."

"The men who hope to make fortunes out of the manipulation of baseless securities are the men who are attempting to flatter the real investors. These are the men who have made legislation necessary and they are now endeavoring to use a natural business sentiment as a shield to protect their indefensible methods."

DUMA HALL IS WRECKED

The Heavy Ceiling Falls on Seats of the Members.

Early Hour of Catastrophe Prevents Death to Many.

St. Petersburg, March 15.—The ceiling of the hall in Taraida palace, in which the lower house of parliament meets, collapsed at 6 o'clock this morning and caused widespread wreckage among the seats below.

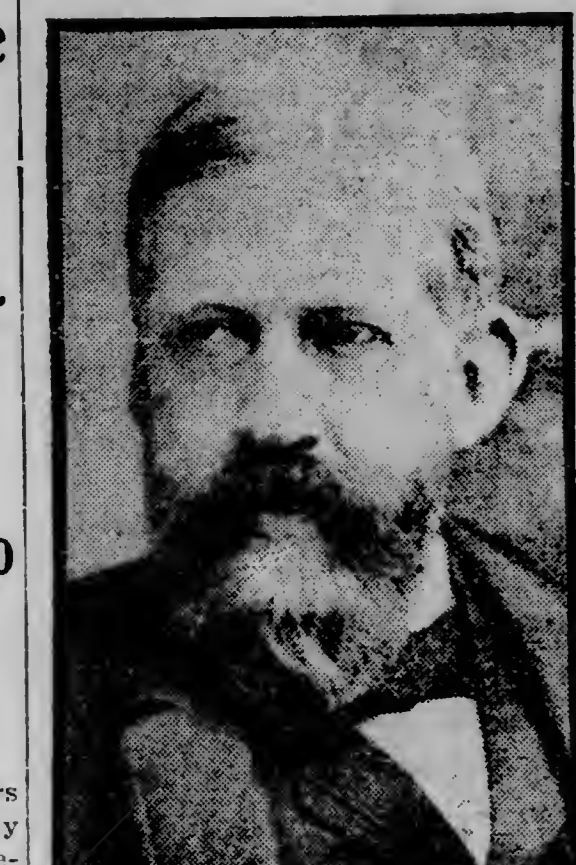

Though many rumors were circulated to the effect that the fall of the ceiling was the result of a plot to interfere with the meeting of parliament, its purely accidental character was clearly established. An examination showed that the nails and other fastenings binding the ceiling

ATTORNEY DELMAS, FOR THE DEFENSE, SPRINGS SURPRISE ON JEROME

A. B. STICKNEY, President of the Great Western Railway, Who Called on President Roosevelt Thursday and Told His Views Concerning Railroad Legislation.

Announces He Will Not Cross-Examine State's Experts.

Five Allenists Give Their Opinion That Thaw Was Sane.

Dr. Hamilton, State Witness, Will Go on for Defense.

New York, March 15.—Delphine M. Delmas, leading counsel for Harry K. Thaw, sprung a decided surprise upon District Attorney Jerome today by announcing that he would not cross-examine any of the experts for the state.

Mr. Jerome thereupon during the morning session of the trial put five allenists upon the stand, one after another, and claiming their familiarity with the hypothetical questions put to the experts for the defense and also Mr. Jerome's 15,000 word exposition of the evidence, they declared their opinion that at the time Thaw shot and killed Stanford White, he knew the nature and quality of his act and knew that the act was wrong. Mr. Hartridge, for the defense, undertook a cross-examination of Dr. Mabon by adding certain details to Mr. Jerome's long hypothetical question.

In order that he might prepare the additions to the questions more definitely than he made them in his extemporaneous statement, the luncheon recess was ordered earlier than usual. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw may take the stand this afternoon to testify as to whether or not Abraham Hummel was acting as her attorney when he made the now famous affidavit.

Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton, who has been summoned as a witness in the case, had a conference with Mr. Delmas and others of Thaw's counsel before the trial.

GOLDFIELD TO FIGHT MINERS

Who Are Members of the Industrial Workers of the World.

Goldfield, Nev., March 15.—Last night citizens of Goldfield organized to fight the Industrial Workers of the World. Every mine and every store will be closed indefinitely after 6 o'clock today. It is agreed that no persons in Goldfield shall employ any worker who is a member of the Industrial Workers of the World. It has also been determined to back up the American Federation of Labor in its effort to organize the local trades. The citizens have appointed special officers to patrol the city and preserve order.

RAILROAD MEN SILENT

As to the Time of Their Visit to the President.

Executive Hears Nothing of Conference Arranged by Morgan.

Washington, March 15.—The president is still without word from the railway officials who, it is said, are coming to Washington at J. P. Morgan's suggestion to talk about the relations between the railroads and the government. Secretary Loeb expressed the positive opinion that there would be no conference today. If the gentlemen named by Mr. Morgan expect to be here today the president, Mr. Loeb thinks, would have heard from them by this time.

Two early visitors to the White House set the newspaper reporters to speculating. They were Commissioners Harlan and Prouty of the interstate commerce commission. The two commissioners are about to start for Chicago to hear additional testimony in the case of the City of Spokane against various Western railroads, the complaint in which involves an alleged violation of an important provision of the amended interstate commerce act. Considerable testimony already has been taken in the case in Spokane and other cities.

No information was obtainable at the executive offices as to the reasons for the call of these two commissioners.

BUMPS ARE GOOD THINGS

For the Speculators in Wall Street, Say Chicagoans.

Middle West in No Way Affected by the Slump.

Chicago, March 15.—Characterizing the slump in stocks as a "New York affair," and declaring that the agitation relative to the railroads has had little to do with the Wall street panic, Chicago bankers assert that they are not troubled over the outlook, and that the Middle West will be in no wise affected.

There is manifest among the bankers, with perhaps one or two exceptions, no alarm or misgivings. The consensus of opinion is that the rate for money in Chicago, 6 per cent, would not be lifted; that there are millions in reserve here which can be utilized, and that the country as a whole is unusually prosperous.

One other idea of special interest also expressed, namely that the "bumping of the speculators" out East will do the nation, as a whole, good. The local men of finance consider the bottom has about been reached in the Wall street slump and that stocks, instead of being too low at their new figures, are gradually approaching a fair valuation.

PROPHETS GALORE RISE.

One Woman Has Angel Vision and Makes Some Predictions.

Chicago, March 15.—New "prophets" arising on every side are creating a condition of bedlam in Zion. Chaos brought about by Dow's death is increasing in consequence, and the holy city of the north shore is in a state bordering on frenzy.

Mrs. G. L. Colman is the latest to arise as a prophetess and make trouble. Mrs. Colman had a vision in which the angel directed her to go to Duluth, Minn., and proclaim aloud that they were being deceived. She predicts a terrible calamity in Zion if its people do not repent their ways and renounce the worldliness to which Mrs. Colman declares they are returning.

Mrs. Colman is the wife of C. L. Colman, a retired merchant of Zurich, Switzerland, who is in Europe. Mrs. Colman joined the Zion City religionists two years ago. She is said to have a magnificent home in Zurich, as well as a home in California. One of her present plans is to conduct a series of mothers' meetings in Zion.

OUT ANOTHER $100.

Third He Has Been Called to Pay for Grandsons.

Barnesville, Minn., March 15.—County Commissioner Siber is out another $100, as the result of a visit by the stork to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dahm, where it left a son. A few years ago, Mr. Siber promised to present $100 to every grandson born to his children, and this is the third $100 which he has been called on to pay. He is game and says his promise still holds good, even if it bankrupts him.

to the rafters had not been replaced since the time of Catherine II, and broke under the extra weight of the new decorations. The entire section of the plastering and lathing covering the center and left of the house, and a small portion of the right, fell to the floor, thirty feet below. A few heavy beams and timbers were affected, but the regular structure of the roof was not injured. The aggregate weight of the ceiling was so great that in its fall it twisted the massive bronze electrolites in such a way as to indicate that a terrible catastrophe would have resulted had the fall occurred a few hours later, during the session of the house. The places occupied by the president and ministers were not touched, but it was judged that few members of the Center party or of the Left would have escaped death or serious injury. It was at first thought that it would be necessary to abandon today's session of the house, but President Golovin, after a hasty consultation with the party leaders, and an inspection of the available rooms, ordered chairs to be placed in the rotunda, at the entrance of the palace, and the session began with scarcely half an hour's delay. The lower house will continue to hold its sessions in the rotunda until the big hall is repaired.

vania 44, Baltimore & Ohio 5, and many others up to three points. These extreme gains at the opening brought prices up closely to the London parity. This buoyant rise in London was the prime factor in lifting prices here. Sentiment was somewhat assured also by several other new developments. The orders issued by the secretary of the treasury after the markets closed yesterday gave hopes of relief from the money stringency, although considerable confusion was shown in the opinions held as to how great the effect of these measures would be. Previous responses to offers for redemption of government bonds had been so light as to leave a question of the response in this case, although the offer insured full return on the bonds to their maturity on July 1.

It was hoped that the large disbursements falling due today of dividends and interest would cause a prompt return to the money markets of funds tied up in preparation for these disbursements. In the same way it was expected that payments of subscription on new stocks and railroad notes would be redeposited with the banks and become immediately available in the money market.

An even potent factor in establishing some renewal of confidence was the belief, founded on published reports that large banking and financial interests had been in conference overnight in regard to the situation and came to a determination to adopt protective measures for supporting prices. Satisfaction was felt that no failures had resulted from yesterday's violent unrest and over the general tenor of bankers that they saw no signs of soundness in the banking situation or the condition of credits. The completion of the clearing of brokers' sheets through the stock exchange clearing house was looked for, however, with keen attention. The reaction from the opening carried Reading back five points and some of the other most active stocks to four points. In a few stocks there was evidence of further forced liquidation, the stock island stocks and the Mackays falling away sharply to below last night. Supporting measures were persisted in and the wild fluctuations of the first dealings showed a narrow tendency. The first hour's business amounted to $20,000,000.

Shortly after 11 o'clock it was stated that the clearing house members had gone through with difficulty. This was accepted as an indication that no failure would be announced today. Call money loaned at 15 per cent shortly before noon.

FOUR DROWNED

In Attempting to Leave Tottering House at Riverside, W. Va.

Parkersburg, W. Va., March 15.—Four persons were drowned last night in an effort to escape from their tottering home at Riverside to a place of safety. William Francis, his wife and daughter Esther, aged 18 years, and son John, aged 9 years, are the victims.

The Francis family had remained in their home until the last minute, fearing to venture out to rafts that were organizations would fall. Strenuous efforts of a force of men assisted by a fire engine, saved the dynamo, but shortly before 9 o'clock the electric light dynamo succumbed to the effect of the waters.

The situation outside of Pittsburg is serious. Damage running into millions of dollars has been done; many towns are entirely cut off from this city; thousands of families have been forced from their homes, and these conditions, it is expected, will prevail for several days.

At Wheeling, W. Va., great damage has been done. Train and telegraph services are out of commission, and the residents are panic stricken. The crest of the flood has not reached that point and the flood situation still grows serious.

To add to the confusion in Pittsburg, two early morning fires broke out. The firemen experienced difficulty

TWO BAD FIRES

Add to the Damage Caused by the Flood at East Liverpool.

East Liverpool, Ohio, March 15.—The Electrical Porcelain plant in the East was destroyed by fire today. The loss is about $50,000.

At Empire, below Volleville, the Standard Brick works burned today with a loss of about $60,000.

The city is in a serious condition on account of the flood. All business is at a standstill. The river is higher than it has been since 1884. Telegraph wires are down. All the potteries have flooded. The electric light plant is closed. The water works is out of commission and the reservoir supply is running low.

Cleveland and Pittsburgh railway trains have been annulled. Probably no trains will get out of here before Monday.

fore the morning session of court. When Mr. Jerome purposed calling Dr. Hamilton he seemed intent on proving that Thaw suffered from an incurable form of insanity. Then came the discovery of the James Clinch Smith testimony as to Thaw's rational conversations on the Madison Square Roof garden and his roaming about the place as if looking for the man who became his victim, and Mr. Jerome's switch to a policy of pressing the trial to a conclusion on the indictment for murder in the first degree.

Dr. Hamilton has expressed the opinion that Thaw was insane when he saw him in the Tombs, and remains so.

New York, March 15.—At the opening of the Thaw trial today District Attorney Jerome consented to a request from Mr. Delmas that he be allowed to defer the cross-examination of Dr. Austin Flint, who, in answer to the two hypothetical questions yesterday, declared the opinion that Thaw, at the time he shot and killed Stanford White, was sane and knew the nature and quality of his act, or that the act was wrong.

"He certainly was not," was the reply. Dr. Hirsch gave the same answer as to the longer hypothetical question framed by the district attorney.

"Now, doctor," said Mr. Jerome, "what is a brain storm?"

"There is no such thing as a brain storm known among scientific men," came the response.

When Dr. Wagner was on the stand for the defense, he cited to Mr. Jerome a case of brain storm described in a recognized book on insanity. Mr. Jerome called this case to attention. Dr. Hirsch's counsel, Delmas, objected, on the ground that it was the collateral issue. Justice Fitzgerald overruled the objection, and Dr. Hirsch said the case cited was no more similar to the Thaw affair, "than a case of smallpox resembles a broken leg."

"That is all," said Mr. Jerome. "No questions, doctor, you may step aside," said Mr. Delmas.

Dr. William B. Pritchard of the New York Polyclinic institute followed Dr. Hirsch on the stand. His responses to the two hypothetical questions were identical with those of Dr. Hirsch.

Mr. Delmas waived Dr. Pritchard aside, when he was turned over by District Attorney Jerome for cross-examination.

It was then announced from the defendant's counsel table that there would be no cross-examination of the experts for the state. Dr. Albert Warren Ferris of the college of physicians and surgeons, was the next expert for the prosecution, and was on the stand but a few moments. He answered the two hypothetical questions as the others had done and was dismissed by Mr. Delmas.

Dr. A. R. Dieffendorf of the state hospital at Middletown, Conn., and a professor of mental diseases at Yale university, was the fifth of the prosecution experts to testify that, in his opinion, based on the two hypothetical questions, the prisoner was sane when he killed White.

Mr. Delmas started to ask Dr. Dieffendorf a question as to certain statements made in one of his works.

Mr. Jerome objected and Mr. Delmas withdrew the question.

Dr. Dieffendorf thereupon was excused, and Dr. Mabon, the last of the six experts, was called. Dr. Mabon was of the same mind as the five doctors who preceded him on the stand.

BAY CITY EMPLOYER

Distributes From $40 to $100 to Each of His Employees.

Bay City, Mich., March 15.—The first distribution of dividends to the employees of the Chatfield Milling company has been made, in accordance with a promise made by C. B. Chatfield a year ago.

At that time Mr. Chatfield gave a banquet to his employees, at which he announced that he would inaugurate a scheme by which the business would be run on the co-operative basis, he placing his investments against the labor of the employees, and the net profits would be divided pro rata. The men were not asked to invest a cent in stock. They simply drew their share of the profits.

Mr. Chatfield called his men together at another banquet for the division of the dividends. The checks ranged from $40 to $100 each, the common laborers receiving the former amount and the skilled and special labor various amounts up to the highest figure. The distribution took place at Mr. Chatfield's home, where he entertained the employees.

Mr. Chatfield deducted 5 per cent from the gross receipts, that going as interest earned by his investment. The remainder of the profits he divided pro rata, his share being based upon the investment and that of the men upon the total of their wages.

"I noticed from the first an improvement in the work of the men, a care for details that I never saw before," said Mr. Chatfield. "Whether this additional devotion to their duties is worth the profits I gave up I cannot say, but that point is immaterial."

Mr. Chatfield announced that the plan would be continued.

Teacher Claiming Duluth Record Gets Position in Rochester.

According to a special dispatch to The Herald from Rochester, N. Y., Arthur Brewer Fairbanks, who claims to have been director and organizer in manual training in the public schools of Duluth for three years, has just been appointed superintendent in manual training of the Mechanics' institute at Rochester.

If Mr. Fairbanks got his new position, wholly as a result of his statement to the effect that he was for three years director and organizer of manual training in the public schools of Duluth, the Rochester educational men are likely to be sadly disappointed in their choice. Mr. Fairbanks never held the position claimed in Duluth, and nothing known of him locally. His name does not appear in the directory for several years back.

Lemon Club Brings Back Memories of the Buffaloes.

Minneapolis Drummer Initiates Many New Members Here.

Tender recollections of the "Independent Order of Buffaloes" are called to mind by a new order which has been sprung in Duluth.

right to hand out the lemons. The process is simple. The member secures a lemon, and approaching a friend, asks him if he has any money. If he bites and hands over any sum from 25 cents to $5, the member gleefully hands him a lemon and the "horse laugh," saying: "By the authority vested in me by the Grand Chief Squeeze of the Amalgamated Lemon club, I hereby declare you a member of said order, and as High Sour Lemon, I give you permission to go out and spread the secret of our glorious order."

The order is said to have started in Minneapolis, and Grand Chief Squeeze is located there. He is dodging the limelight these days, however, and is keeping well under cover. Newly initiated members do not warm up to the order as they should, and some have been known to call for the police. A drummer brought the order to Duluth yesterday, and was spreading it around some of the hotels. He was one of the most disliked men in Duluth before midnight by which time he had disposed of about 50 cents' worth of lemons and had accumulated something like $20 in i-o-e change, which was spent in liquid refreshments for the new members.

WIFE ASKS DECREE

Married for 28 Years, Mrs. Dixon Seeks Divorce.

Family Includes Five Children Aged 13 to 27 Years.

After twenty-eight years of married life, during which time she has raised a family of five children, whose ages range from 13 to 27 years, Mrs. Ella Dixon, aged 47 years, seeks a divorce from Elwin Dixon.

Habitual drunkenness, abuse, desertion and non-support are the grounds on which Mrs. Dixon bases her petition. According to the complaint, filed this morning with the clerk of the district court, the couple were married at Watertown, S. D., Dec. 5, 1879. They are claimed to have lived in South Dakota until the fall of 1890, when they moved to Ashland, Wis., and Mrs. Dixon came to Duluth in 1894.

Mrs. Dixon claims that about 1888 her husband became a bartender at Watertown, and in the course of his business became addicted to the excessive use of intoxicating liquors, got into fast company and stayed away from home, neglecting his family. The wife claims that when Dixon did come home, he "was sour and ugly, scolded the children, called the plaintiff names, and threatened them."

It is alleged by Mrs. Dixon that matters went from bad to worse until the fall of 1894 when her husband absolutely refused to live with her, and left his family in destitute circumstances at Ashland, Wis., and Mrs. Dixon says that she came to Duluth to live with her sister, and that in May, 1905, she went to Ashland and induced her husband to come to Duluth and live with her again. She says that he kept sober for a few weeks, but relapsed into his old ways and abused the family until November, 1905, when he again deserted her.

Mrs. Dixon asks for a divorce and for the custody of her two minor children. Dixon is said to be 56 years old.

FLAG WELL PRESERVED

That Inspired Francis Scott Key to Write National Ode. Is In Safe Deposit Vaults of Broadway Trust Company.

New York, March 15.—Mrs. George Livingston Baker of No. 6 Westervelt avenue, New Brighton, Staten Island, is authority for the statement that the Star-Spangled Banner which flew over Fort Mifflin during its bombardment in the War of 1812 and inspired Francis Scott Key to the composition of the national ode, is now in this city. Mrs. Baker is the granddaughter of Col. George Armstrong. The flag, she says, is the property of Eben Appleton of this city, her brother, and has been deposited by him in the safe deposit vaults of a Broadway trust company. Mrs. Baker refused to give any more definite address for her brother, or the name of the trust company. Her brother has been annoyed so much on account of his ownership of the flag, she said, that he wished his address and the place of deposit of the flag kept private.

Mrs. Baker and her brother are members of the Appleton family of Boston and this city. Some of the New York Appletons, among them Col. Daniel Appleton of the seventh regiment and W. W. Appleton of No. 29 East Eighth street, were unable to throw any light on the whereabouts of the proprietor of the flag, but all know of him. Mrs. Baker said yesterday:

"The flag came into the possession of my brother in this way. It is pretty dingy and faded. There are a number of bullet holes in some of the stripes and other rents that look as if they were made by the fragments of shells in the bombardment. It is a large flag, of the size usually down now over army posts. It has thirteen stripes, as I remember. I don't remember how many stars there are in the field, but the arrangement of them, as I recollect, is about as they are arranged in the present day flag. It is my brother's intention to leave the flag on his death to either one of the national museums at Washington, or the Massachusetts Historical museum at Boston. It was his idea, for as a Southerner he is devoted to his state to leave it to Maryland or one of its historical museums. But some years ago a number of men who were getting up a horse race in Pimlico, Md., thought they would like to have the flag at the race. They wrote my brother to this effect: 'When he replied, expressing his surprise that they should ask for the flag for such a trifling use, they boarded a train and came to my brother's house at a time when he was away from home. They had been drinking and the upshot of their visit to ask the loan of the flag was that they went away angry, and my brother was so enraged at their lack of respect for the relic, that he vowed the flag should never go to Maryland.'"

"It is for the same reason, his annoyance through being the owner of the flag, that he has made it a rule not to talk to any one about it, and to keep his address to himself. He lives in New York, but he and his wife are now traveling. I have all the interesting facts in my possession. I intend soon to write a little booklet using these and the pictures not only of this flag but of the two other great flags of the country. I mean by that the famous John Paul Jones flag, and the one other whose name and origin I just now cannot recollect. The Jones flag is the first that was ever saluted as the American flag on the sea. That was while Jones was flying it. He also put the flag at the masthead of the Bonhomme Richard in the famous battle with the Serapis."

Mrs. Baker is well known in Staten Island for the fight she put up some years ago against the railroad company's entry into New Brighton. She travels extensively in behalf of different patriotic societies in which she is interested. She is a woman of middle age. Eben Appleton is about 60.

AMOROUS YOUTH GIVEN A SENTENCE IN JAIL.

Eau Claire, Wis., March 15.—Jesse Gardner of this city, just committed to the county jail for beating a young woman with whom he had been keeping company, has an interesting history.

A little over a year ago he paid court to Miss Millie Frottag. To break up the courtship, the mother sent the daughter to a convent where she still is. Gardner then transferred his affections to the mother, who is a widow. Mrs. Freitag spurned him, however, and bought a pistol with which she managed to keep him from calling upon her.

Gardner then called on another young woman and eventually the two were married. Recently he became enamored of another young woman and presented her with a necklace and other presents. However, she did not remain as true as he thought she should, so the other evening he tried to tear the necklace from her neck. The young woman screamed and the police placed Gardner under arrest. When the trial was called, both the young woman and Gardner's wife pleaded in his behalf, but he was given fifteen days in jail.

ELECTRIC SHOCK FATAL. George Walsh of Beaver Dam Monkeyed With a Street Lamp.

Beaver Dam, Wis., March 15.—Taking hold of a chain attached to an arc street lamp, George Walsh, 29 years old was electrocuted here Wednesday night.

Walsh was going home, and, noticing that two arc lights at a street corner were not burning, he seized the chain of one of them and gave it a shake, which started the light. Going to the other lamp, he attempted the same thing, but received a shock which instantly killed him. He leaves a wife and four children.

THORNTON ON DURUM

Duluth Writer Prepares Interesting Article on Macaroni Wheat.

Big Crop of 1906 Will Find a Ready Market.

Charles H. Thornton, publisher of the Duluth Market Record, has prepared an article on the uses and value of durum wheat, which will appear today in the "Farm, Stock and Home" published in Minneapolis.

Mr. Thornton has made a careful study of the commercial possibilities of this grain, and his observations are of special interest to farmers and shippers at this time when so much interest is being taken in durum. The article is as follows:

The commercial value, actual as well as relative, of durum (macaroni) wheat, is probably of greater interest this spring to producers of wheat in the Northwest than any other subject with which they are confronted. And probably few are so well informed as to the value of durum wheat as those who have seen it in the Northwest. As a student of the durum wheat movement from the time the crop first assumed importance, owing to its place in the world's markets, I am convinced that durum is destined to make a place for itself as a regular and valuable crop for certain sections of the Northwest. In qualifying this statement by saying, "certain sections," I mean that durum is particularly adapted to light soil and a belt in the present stage of its development that grows well on a medium to heavy soil. This also is the consensus of opinion of large producers in the Northwest who have raised it during the last three or four years.

Durum wheat was originally brought from Russia by the United States Agricultural department, with a view of having it grown on the light soil of the Northwest, and to the benefit of the Russian and Nebraska. By some and I mean some having a normal rain fall of ten to fifteen inches yearly. The first crop of any magnitude raised was that of 1895, when the total was around 500,000 bushels. A large proportion of this was shipped through Duluth, mostly for export, although it was taken in a small way by numerous mills through the East for experimental purposes. It will be remembered that 1904 was the year of the stricken crop in the regular varieties of spring wheat, and at one time during the fall months of that year durum wheat sold at a discount of about twenty-five cents a bushel under No. 1 northern, but before the next crop came in the discount had narrowed to four to five cents a bushel. In 1905 the crop was around 1,000,000 bushels, and a little over 500,000 bushels of it went through Duluth, mostly for export, as Eastern millers who had used it did not seem to care to repeat their experiments of the year before. This year, 1906, the crop has been variously estimated at 1,000,000 to 1,500,000 bushels. I myself figured the crop early at around 1,000,000 bushels and have seen no reason to change these figures. Up to the time of writing this article, the price of durum wheat has been at every year since 1900 we have been told that the demand was limited, and on the 1905 crop when, as stated above, we exported 500,000 bushels, it looked as though another million or two would have filled the foreign markets to the point where they would not take any more, and it surely did look as though the 1906 crop with its increase of over 100 per cent would glut the market, and that durum would have to go to a feed basis, but so far, with exports of over 1,000,000 bushels, and sales of four or five million more to go out in the spring, we are confronted with a demand that shows no signs of being satisfied.

As a matter of fact it is now a fairly well settled matter that all of the durum wheat from the 1906 crop will be wanted and at relatively good prices, as compared with regular spring wheat, but we are unable to determine whether or not the demand this year is due, as it was during each of the previous years, to unusual conditions in the European markets. American millers, with few exceptions are just as antagonistic to durum wheat as they have ever been, probably more so, but we do know that English and German millers who used it in 1905 for making bread flour and again last fall, are back again and buying it for spring shipment. It is my personal opinion that the failure, or partial failure, of the Russian crop, has had little or nothing to do with creating the present year's demand for durum wheat. I think it is due largely, if not entirely, to the fact that the wheat is selling at a lower price than other spring wheat, and that foreign millers have learned how to use it, and foreign bakers have learned how to make bread from it, and with the necessity for economies abroad, they are ready and anxious to take it at a discount.

As regards the respective price for durum and regular spring wheat, I feel that the world's markets will absorb all and more than we can raise in the Northwest, and no other section of the country is going in for it to any large extent. It is now a very well established fact that Russia, which has heretofore been the world's largest exporter of wheat, is now a large factor of any magnitude until 1905, at the earliest, and European countries will be looking for cheap wheat like bull wherever it can be found. By cheap wheat, I mean wheat selling at a discount under standard grades, and at a nominal discount durum wheat is a much more profitable crop, provided one has the proper soil on which to raise it.

There are, as stated above, undetermined facts about the future of durum wheat, but they seem to be working out, and I have no doubt will work out. The principal ones of these are the antagonistic attitude of American millers, and in my conversations with millers who have experimented with it, I have come to the conclusion that their attitude is sincere, and that they cannot find it profitable, either alone or as a mixture; but whether they do or not, I believe, as heretofore stated, that the world's markets for wheat warrant us in the opinion that it will all be wanted and at relatively good prices. To Northwestern farmers who have not heretofore raised durum, I would suggest that they go at it in a small way only, taking care to select good seed, the best No. 1 grade is none too good, and to seed it on light soil only. The best success seems to have been attained by cross drilling, using about a peck more to the acre than the ordinary varieties of spring wheat. The necessity for more seed to the acre is occasioned by the fact that kernels are larger and require more to get results.

HOLD CAMP IN DULUTH

Knights of Pythias Are Planning a Battalion Encampment.

Lakeside Company Holds a Pleasant Camp Fire Gathering.

Lakeside company, No. 8, Uniform rank, Knights of Pythias, held a camp fire at their armory, in the old Masonic temple, last night, which was largely attended by members of the Pythian militia.

It was one of the most enthusiastic assemblies held by the company for the past five years. The regular order of business was transacted, the boys engaged in drill practice for some time, under the command of Capt. H. R. Young, after which the commissary sergeant prepared a camp feast, in old camp style, consisting of beans, hard tack, coffee and the original army beef.

While the members were gathered around the table, Col. G. H. Nichols, commanding the first regiment of the Minnesota brigade, acted as toastmaster, and called upon the various members to respond to a toast.

Some interesting speeches were made, among the best being that by sergeant Frank L. Young, who gave the history of the Uniform Rank from the time the organization was first instituted till the present time, bringing out all the facts as to the progress made by the rank, and its relation to the government of the United States.

An interesting letter was read from the brigade commander, Gen. Fred E. Whiston of Minneapolis, who stated among other things that he would call a meeting of the two Duluth companies at an early date in joint assembly, to take up the matter of holding a brigade encampment at Duluth during the coming summer, which is practically an assured fact at the present. Last summer the encampment was held at Litchfield, during the week of July 4, and a large attendance was present from Minnesota, the Dakotas and Wisconsin. It is expected that four times the number will attend the encampment at Duluth, as it was found by experience of last year that the week of July 4 was unfavorable, on account of members being unable to attend.

Committees will shortly be appointed to look after the different matters relative to the encampment, such as securing camping grounds, arranging for transportation and other details.

The next national encampment will be held at Boston next year, and arrangements have already been made to take the Duluth battalion. The Minnesota brigade is fortunate in having a brigade band, under the leadership of Maj. Byron Ayres. This band will be remembered as the one giving a concert on the canal pier, last summer, at the time the test between two dog teams, in which Duluth carried off the honors against Minneapolis.

The officers of Lakeside company, who were installed recently by Col. E. C. Schroeder of St. Paul, consist of: Captain, H. B. Young; first lieutenant, A. V. Rosen; second lieutenant, J. E. Schmidt; sergeants, T. L. Foss, Hugh McKenzie, J. B. Gibson and J. A. Whiston. With this corps of efficient officers, it is anticipated that Duluth will carry off the prize of a stand of colors presented by the brigade for the best equipped and well-drilled team. Capt. E. A. Franklin of Company "A," M. N. G., prominent in military affairs, is regimental adjutant, and Col. Nichols, with headquarters at Duluth.

Success is Gratifying.

The new temple of the D. O. K. K. to be established here, is making a decided hit, not only in Duluth, but in the surrounding towns. A letter was received here today from brothers at Bemidji saying that at least twenty members could be counted on from that town, and similar success is being reported from all sides.

Royal Arcanum Will Initiate.

Duluth council, No. 182, Royal Arcanum, will initiate a class of from twenty-five to thirty candidates at Elks' hall this evening. Arrangements have been made for a large turnout of the members. It is expected that Grand Secretary George T. Hughes of Minneapolis will be present. The Duluth council is making an active canvass to secure the $100 cash prize offered by the supreme council for fifty new members, and expects to secure the prize when another class of young men is initiated at the April meeting.

RAILROADS

MOVEMENT
BEGINNING

Vanguard of Lumberjacks Now Moving Toward City.

Railroads Preparing for Their Usual Heavy Spring Business.

"The annual spring exodus of lumberjacks from the Northern Minnesota woods is beginning in a small way, although the main movement will not start for probably a couple of weeks yet," said A. Brosdick, Northern passenger agent of the Great Northern, today. "The vanguard of the big army of woodsmen is now arriving on trains from the North, as a warning of the larger movement to come a little later on."

"Few people realize what a vast army of men it takes to handle the forest products in Northern Minnesota every winter. Along the line of the Great Northern, say from Grand Rapids to a station or two west of Bemidji, there are easily 10,000 woodsmen employed this winter, including those on the branch railroad extending from Deer River.

"In this 10,000 I do not include such men as are engaged in the territory directly tributary to the Minnesota & International road, extending from Brainerd to Bemidji toward the Canadian boundary. A great deal of logging is being done through that district, and thousands of men are employed there. There is also logging along other roads through the northern part of the state.

"When the spring exodus is well under way the roads are kept busy handling the lumberjacks, and extra equipment

Fancy Landsdownes—Do you know their beauty and excellence—many prefer them to the all-silk cloths—with their silky finish and supple effect, they make up most effectively and give the greatest service—they come in different sized checks and in different colors—they are well adapted for waists and dresses—42 inches wide, at $1.25 a yard.

Hairline Stripe Serge—A cream ground cloth with a hairline stripe of black—nobby suits, skirts and coats are possible with it when used in combination with black braid or buttons—it tailors handsomely—to be most popular this season—50 inches wide, at $1.25 a yard.

has to be provided for that purpose. The passenger train crews have their hands full until the movement is at an end, and hardly draw an easy breath until the end is reached. Last year it was about April 1 that the thousands of men began to move cityward, and I suppose it will be about the same time this year. A protracted thaw, with warm nights, resulting in a thorough softening of the snow in the woods is needed to put an end to logging operations. As long as the nights remain cold, with freezing weather, work can be continued at the camps.

"Rather a curious fact in connection with some of the woodsmen has come to my attention. A party of eight or ten men will start in the morning for Astoria, Or., to work all summer in the fisheries there. These men, so the leader informed me, make it a practice to work in the Oregon fisheries during the warm months and in the Minnesota woods during the winter. He says they are used to a cold climate and like it so well that they feel impelled to come to Minnesota during the winter so they can be where there is snow, and look upon the season of the woods as a sort of a vacation. The man expressed the opinion that the improvement in the health and spirits of the Finns who do this is more than sufficient to make up for the amount of money spent for railroad tickets."

LATE DOINGS IN UPPER MICHIGAN

Zenith Dredging Company Buys Pryor & Son's Dredging Outfit.

Houghton—A. S. McDonald, representing the Zenith Dredging company of Duluth, spent Wednesday in Houghton, where he practically closed a deal whereby his company takes over what is known as No. 1 plant from James Pryor & Son for the sum of $60,000.

This is the same firm which, two years ago, purchased the No. 2 plant from the same company in Houghton, and they were given an option on the entire outfit for the sum named above. Mr. McDonald states that within a few days they will close the deal, which is now good as consummated. The Duluth firm will attend to all the Portage Lake work, and will extend operations as far east as Marquette, and further if required. The various tugs, dredgers, scows, etc., forming a part of the plant, are now at the Soo, but will be removed to Duluth as soon as navigation opens. It consists of a six-yard dipper dredge, two scows of 65 and 80 cubic yards respectively, one scow with a capacity of sixty tons. With this goes the tug Mystic, 18x29, the tug Duncan Robertson. A number of duplicate and extra parts, dippers, etc., are included in the deal.

M. S. Walker, the young engineer who has been working for the Maitland company at Maitland, the Mogul Mining company and for J. V. N. Dorr, will leave this Saturday for Cable, Mont., near Anaconda, to install the Moore process in one of the mills at that place. Mr. Walker, who graduated from the Michigan College of Mines in Houghton in 1905 is well versed in all of the cyanide and slime processes, and under his capable overseeing the new plant will be put up in first-class shape.

Hancock—Mrs. Benjamin Fitzpatrick, mother of Mrs. N. A. Pruner, this city, died at Cornwall, Ont., last Friday. Mr. Fitzpatrick is also seriously ill and it is not believed that he will recover.

W. H. Jarvis of the United States census bureau, who had been in Hancock for a couple of days, left for Duluth Tuesday night.

Calumet—Joseph Naiman of Alouez was arrested yesterday by Sheriff August Beck on a serious charge, preferred by the father of a young girl living in Calumet. The girl has not yet reached the age of 18. Naiman was brought before Justice Jackson and demanded an examination. This has been set for Wednesday afternoon of next week, March 20. COPPERS IN BIG RALLY Confidence Returns and Shares Are Being Freely Bought.

Evidently copper stocks struck rock bottom yesterday, for they opened lower and advanced today—and the crowds in the brokers' offices along Superior street smiled gain.

Confidence in the market seemed to have returned right at the opening, for North Butte, Anaconda, and other leaders opened above yesterday's close.

Calumet & Arizona and one of two others were quite alarmingly off, but they recovered and closed at better prices, as did the rest.

A desire to wait until the bottom had been reached, timidity, and in some cases a lack of money, has kept traders from going in and getting some of the good stocks at low prices, but today they seemed to wake up and there was considerable buying in the leading listed and unlisted shares.

There was a good demand for Superior & Pittsburg and Globe Consolidated in Duluth.

North Butte opened at $3 and advanced to $3.30, closing at $3.10 bid and $3.15 asked, a gain of about twelve points over yesterday's close.

Anaconda opened at $27.50, sold as low as $26.75, rallied to $27.50 and closed at $27.50 bid, Anaconda opened at $29.50, declined to $28.75 and closed at $28.75 bid.

Superior & Pittsburg sold at $20.25, advanced to $22.25 and closed at $22.25 bid; Donnan mining stock sold at $12.75, advanced to $13.75 and closed at $13.75 bid.

Globe Consolidated was traded in at $12 at the opening, advanced to $14 and closed at $14.50 bid and $15 asked; Warren sold at $12 and closed at $11 bid; Keweenaw, at $8.50 and $9 and closed at $9 bid and $9.50 asked; Carter sold at $4.25 and closed at $4.25 bid.

Shattuck-Arizona at $30.25 and advanced to $35, closing at $35.50 asked; Shattuck-Arizona at $30.25 and advanced to $35, closing at $35.50 asked; Shattuck-Arizona at $30.25 and advanced to $35, closing at $35.50 asked.

Copper King of Idaho at $1.75 and closed at $1.50 bid and $1.75 asked and $1.75 bid and $1.75 asked and $1.75 bid and $1.75 asked.

Calumet & Arizona was $27 asked, Black Mountain sold at $2.25 and closed at $2.25 bid.

PROFESSION HAS ITS DRAWBACKS

Gillilan Says Being Humorist is Not All Enjoyment.

"It's a great relief to get to a city the size of Duluth, where one can be assured of such good hotel service as you have here," said Strickland W. Gillilan, the famous humorist, formerly connected with the Baltimore American, who will appear at the First Methodist church tonight in the Star lecture course.

"There is more money out on the road this way than if a fellow stayed at home and pounded the typewriter all the time, but there are also more inconveniences. To get a good hotel service one must either be in a big city, not too near a bigger city, or else in a small country village where the farmer's wife does all the cooking."

"Some of the best lecture stands in the country, from the standpoint of money and attendance, are in the country villages of less than 500 population, which draws their patronage from a thickly settled farming community. I was in a Southern Illinois town of 200 population last week, and at the tiny hotel where I stopped the woman brought in a platter of spring chicken that was a veritable feast. The shock was so great that I almost forgot to eat, and then I remained in my room all the afternoon worrying because I hadn't fortified myself so as to be able to stow away more of the good things. I took care to prepare myself so as to be able to withstand the shock by night, and did the supper full justice."

WILL STOP AT JAMAICA.—On their return trip from Panama the congressmen now on the isthmus will stop at Kingston, Jamaica, and Port Au Prince, Haiti. They will leave Colon next Sunday and will probably reach New York on March 20 or 21.

ARGUMENTS PROCEED.—Chicago, March 15.—The arguments of the attorneys for the Standard Oil company in support of their contention that the government has not proved violations of the Elkins law and should be stopped from the further introduction of evidence was continued before Judge Landis today.

POST CARDS BEING HELD

New Postal Rules Say Certain Souvenirs Are Unmailable.

Sender May Now Write Message on Face of Card.

A large sack of souvenir postal cards has been collected at the Duluth postoffice during the last few days and will be sent to the dead letter office. They have been held up by the postal officials in obedience to the new rule bearing on souvenir cards, which states that any cards bearing particles of glass, metal, mica, sand, tinse, or other similar substances are unmailable unless enclosed in envelopes.

In the weekly bulletin of orders, which has been sent out by the superintendent of the railway mail service at St. Paul, copies of which have been received at the local postoffice, several paragraphs are devoted to the amended laws and regulations governing the mailing of post cards and souvenirs. Some of the rules have been changed considerably, and are much stricter than formerly.

One rule allows the sender of a post card to write on the face of the card as well as the back. This is the first time that this has ever been allowed by the government and it will probably greatly increase the popularity of the souvenir postal cards. The law states, however, that the face of the card must be divided by a vertical line and the left half used for the message and that to the right for the address only.

The rules pertaining to post cards which are contained in the bulletin, are as follows:
(a) A postcard must be an unfolded piece of card board not exceeding 4 by 6 inches, and must be less than 1/16 by 1/16. It must be in form and in the quality and weight of paper substantially like the government postal card.
(b) It may be of any color not interfering with a legible address and postmark.

(c) It may or may not, at the option of the sender, bear near the top of the face the words "Post Card."
(d) The face of the card may be divided by a vertical line; the left half to be used for a message, etc., but that to the right for the address only.

(e) Very thin sheets of paper may be attached to the card, and then only on condition that they completely adhere thereto. Such sheets may bear both writing and printing.

(f) Advertisements and illustrations may appear on the back of the card and on the left half of the face.
(g) Cards without cover, conforming to the foregoing conditions are transmissible in the domestic mails, including the possessions of the United States, and to Cuba, Canada, the Republic of Panama, and the United States postal agency at Shanghai, China, at the postage rate of 1 cent each.

(h) Cards bearing particles of glass, metal, mica, sand, tinse, or other similar substances are unmailable, except when enclosed in envelopes.

MRS. THAW AGAIN ON THE STAND

Says She Called on Hummel in Professional Capacity.

New York, March 15.—After recess, Mr. Harridge of Thaw's counsel said he would not press his cross-examination of Mrs. Thaw, and the latter was excused.

Evelyn Nesbit Thaw was called to contradict Abraham Hummel. Justice Fitzgerald ruled that the defendant could not see the professional privilege in bar of Hummel's testimony, for the privilege was involuntarily waived when young Mrs. Thaw herself took the stand and told of the occurrences in Hummel's office.

Young Mrs. Thaw soon appeared from the witness room and took her place in the box.

Mr. Delmas called Mrs. Thaw's attention to the fact that she had already testified to visiting Hummel's office with Stanford White.

"Did you," he said, "then and there call upon him in a professional capacity with a view to having his legal advice as a counselor-at-law?"

District Attorney Jerome promptly objected on the ground that the witness had already been fully examined on the subject.

Justice Fitzgerald overruled the objection, and Mrs. Thaw said: "I did," referring to her call upon Hummel in his professional capacity.

Mrs. Thaw then left the stand.

FIVE CANDIDATES

Now in the Field to Succeed Senator Spooner of Wisconsin.

Madison, Wis., March 15.—What is believed to be the first open evidence of a campaign for the election of Governor Davidson as United States senator to succeed John C. Spooner, was a petition presented to the assembly today from fifty residents of Stanley, asking for Davidson's election.

The senatorial situation is becoming more complicated and no election seems probable for more than a week. The formal announcement of Congressman Cooper, as a candidate, makes five active candidates now on the ground. The legislature adjourns today without taking any action on the time for an election.

The assembly today passed a bill providing a penalty for the sale of "knock-out drops."

THE CHARGES OF MISUSE OF FUNDS

In Indictments Against John R. Walsh Are Thrown Out.

Chicago, March 15.—Judge Anderson, in the federal court today, sustained the demurrer filed by the attorneys of John R. Walsh, the former president of the Chicago National bank, to twenty-two counts in the indictments charging him with misuse of the funds of the bank, and overruled the demurrer to the remaining counts, 106 in number.

In making his decision, Judge Anderson declared that twenty-two of the counts in the indictments failed to properly declare that there was any conversion of the money of the bank to the use of the defendant.

All the other counts, he declared, were in proper form, and those would be allowed to stand. After announcing his decision, which was exceedingly brief, the court asked if Mr. Walsh was prepared to plead to the indictments. Attorney Miller, who appeared for Mr. Walsh, asked if the United States attorney was prepared to give the defendant a bill of particulars. After some discussion the court fixed Tuesday as the time when the matter of furnishing the bill of particulars will be taken up, unless the district attorney should voluntarily furnish it before that time.

SEVERAL DECISIONS In St. Louis County Cases Handed Down by Supreme Court.

SUBMARINE BELLS USED All Lightships on Great Lakes Will be Equipped.

Capt. Albert Swenson of the local hydrographic office, gave out the information that all the lightships on the Great Lakes will be equipped with the new submarine bells, tests for which were recently made in the East.

Capt. Swenson has received a communication from the United States Lighthouse board stating that the tests proved the signals to be satisfactory and that the lightships will be equipped with them when they go to their stations this spring.

From the tests which have been made they will enable the mariner on ships which are equipped with the connecting apparatus to ascertain the danger points many miles away. On several lightships have been heard for a distance of ten and twelve miles. The order of the lighthouse board includes not only the lightships of the Great Lakes but also all those on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts which are not already equipped.

The lightships on the Great Lakes which will have the signals are those at Point Pelee on Lake Erie, which is maintained by the Lake Carriers' association in connection with the U. S. L. S. at Bar Point, at the head of Lake Erie. The signal for Point Pelee lightship has already been installed and is in working order while the one on Bar Point is now being installed. Other lightships at which the signals are to be installed are those of Lake Huron and Lake Michigan. There are no lightships on Lake Superior.

It is not known how many boats will be fitted out with the receiving apparatus for the signals, but in all probability most of the bigger ones will. The Pittsburgh Steamship company sent to ship masters to make an investigation during the winter when the tests were being made and they reported very favorably.

SEVERAL DECISIONS In St. Louis County Cases Handed Down by Supreme Court.

Two Affirmations and One Reversal of Lower Bench.

St. Paul, March 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state supreme court today reversed the St. Louis county court in the case of William H. Everett vs. the Great Northern Railroad company, a personal injury case in which Everett sued for damages for injuries received by reason of his team of horses becoming frightened by a train at a railway crossing.

The court affirmed the St. Louis county court in the proceedings of the state to enforce payment of taxes against the Itasca Lumber company.

The court syllabus says: During the time which elapses between the filing of an application for the election of scrip upon certain lands belonging to the United States and the approval of the application by the commissioner of the general land office, the land described in the application is not subject to taxation by the state.

Where the legal title to lands remains in the United States, the land is subject to taxation by the state only after the full consideration has been paid and a perfect title has been vested in the purchaser.

The doctrine of relation applies only when necessary to protect the rights of persons who have acquired an equitable right or claim to the title.

Other decisions were: Itasca county—Harry C. Varley vs. Thomas Sims, administrator of the estate of Jesse L. Brown. Judgment affirmed. Ramsey county—Gordon & Ferguson vs. Board of Water Commissioners, affirmed. Water commission enjoined from severing connection of Gordon & Ferguson, automatic sprinkling system.

St. Louis county—Affirmed in Archille Caron vs. Powers-Simpson company, personal injury case.

Annual SENIOR PLAY AT HIGH SCHOOL TONIGHT.... Admission, 25 cents

DRESSED AS MEN, BAND OF WOMEN RAID CLUB.

Riceville, Iowa, March 15.—During the conferring of degrees by members of a young women's club, the door was burst in and the degree work broken up by a band of other women clad in clothes belonging to their husbands. The club has been meeting at the homes of its members. Upon this occasion the meeting was held in the rear office of a business house and the young women wore, according to tradition, the requirement, knee dresses and each carried a doll. Young men who entered the basement and forced open a trap door were received with clubs and balls of water, and after being roughly handled were thrown out the back door.

An hour later the married women, wearing male garments and hats, got into the front of the store by means of a key and rushed the intervening door, which had been locked. The surprise was complete, but the single women turned the tables by compelling all the counterfeiter men to ride the "goat" and take the degrees. Some of the most prominent women in town were among the raiders.

GIRL CLUBS BURGLAR.

Runs Robber Out of the House With Golf Stick.

Fresno, Cal., March 15.—Miss Lillian Leger, 19 years of age and prominent in local society affairs, saved her father's life at the hands of a burglar yesterday morning in the Leger residence at 404 P street. Miss Leger was awakened at about 2 o'clock by the sound of someone moving about in the room adjoining, which was occupied by her father and mother. The young woman stole from her bed and entered her father's room, fearing there was something wrong. At just that moment her father, Edward Leger, was awakened and saw a man standing before the bureau. He moved involuntarily as the intruder drew his revolver and aimed it at him. Miss Leger stepped in, unconscious of what was transpiring in the dimly-lighted apartment. With remarkable presence of mind, she grasped a heavy golf stick and struck the burglar across the head. The man dropped his revolver and jumped into the hallway. Twice again did Miss Leger strike the man as he fled toward the rear of the house. He made his escape through a kitchen window into the back yard.

RELIEVES MANY HERE

Overcomes Old Chronic Cases of Rheumatism as If by Magic.

Acts Promptly on Kidneys and Bladder and Anyone Can Prepare.

Cut this out and put in some safe place, for it is valuable, and worth more than anything else in the world if you should have an attack of rheumatism or bladder trouble or any derangement of the kidneys whatever.

The prescription is simple, and can be made up by anyone at home. The ingredients can be had at every good prescription pharmacy and all that is necessary is to shake them well in a bottle.

Here it is: Fluid extract dandelion, one-half ounce; compound sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime. A few doses is said to relieve almost any case of bladder trouble, frequent urination, pain and scalding, weakness and backache, pain above the kidneys, etc. It is now claimed to be the method of curing chronic rheumatism, because of its direct and positive action upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys. It cleanses these sponge-like organs and gives them life and power to sift and strain the poisonous waste matter and uric acid from the blood, relieving the worst forms of rheumatism and kidney and bladder troubles. The extract dandelion acts upon the stomach and liver, and is used also extensively for relieving constipation and indigestion. Compound sarsaparilla cleans and enriches the blood.

As you or anyone of your family, especially the old folks, may be attacked at any time, it would be wise to cut this out and save it.

A well-known local druggist is authorized that this prescription is safe to use at any time.

Mix it yourself.

WEST END ROCKS NEED ATTENTION

West Enders Think Point
Should Have Another Trimming.

Other Live News of the Western Part of Town.

About a year ago, complaints of citizens resulted in a general overhauling of the point of rocks at Thirtieth avenue west, and now the people of the west end and nearly everyone who rides on the west bound cars, feel that the time is ripe for another such overhauling.

"It is an unfortunate thing that the rocks should overhang the roadway and street car tracks the way they do," said a prominent West ender, yesterday afternoon, "but the fact remains that they do and if they are a menace, they should be trimmed, even if it does cost the city something."

"Going by on the car yesterday, I noticed a jagged piece that seemed about ready to tumble over. The street is not very wide at that point and if the rock fell, there would be danger of striking a car or a street car."

There were several less dangerous-looking pieces of rock, too, that seemed to be loosened and about ready to fall. The action of the ice and snow and frost cracks the rock and the point should be thoroughly overhauled at least once a year.

"It seems a wonder to me that there have not been any serious accidents before. When a person is mountain climbing, he does not mind a little risk but it seems to me that if there is danger in walking or riding on the track, it should be removed at once."

SOCIAL WELL ATTENDED.

Many Enjoy Entertainment at First Norwegian-Danish M. E. Church.

The entertainment and social given last evening at the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church was one of the most successful affairs of the kind ever held at the church. About 400 persons were present.

The program was very interesting. Rev. J. H. Stenberg of the East end, gave an address on "Strong Words" and Rev. John A. Anderson, pastor of the First Swedish M. E. church, spoke on "Music." Mrs. Louise Davis and Roy Frizang sang solos and O. Severson gave a violin solo. Thorstein's orchestra played. Miss Frances Berg gave a piano selection and a recitation.

After the program, the ladies of the church served refreshments.

On Tuesday evening, the Epworth League of the church gave the regular Surely you would rather pay a fair price now and have the use of the garments until the other fellows start their half price sales! We've said enough.

New Millinery For Easter.

This year Easter comes so early that airy spring millinery and lighter clothing might seem out of harmony with the weather. But nevertheless many women are going to buy their Hats, Suits, Coats, Waists and Footwear and be ready for the day, knowing that balmy weather will be here before long; and, by the way, who can remember a dreary, drizzly Easter Sunday? Not we. Easter weather is always fine.

OUR NEW HATS are certainly "dreams," embodying the characteristics that fashion has decreed correct this season. The showing is quite extensive, but we have other shipments coming which will complete the finest Easter display of millinery we have ever made.

WOULD MUZZLE KNOCKERS. "Booster" Thinks Conditions in Duluth Are Being Misrepresented.

To the Editor of The Herald: Will someone please muzzle the knockers? After reading the editorials, the mayor's message to that illustrious body of statesmen known as the city council, and reports from other sources, I think that this burg is afflicted with the above mentioned breed to a greater extent than it deserves. It is so easy to break into print with a willful or thoughtless misrepresentation of conditions in this city.

We wrongly blame the real estate men, owners of improved property and others for high rents and the grocers, butchers and other retailers for the high cost of living, but utterly fail to strike upon the true cause.

With a food building ordinance that increases the cost of installation 40 per cent, it is astonishing how many building operations are in progress today. The cost of materials is jumping 25 to 30 per cent.

Labor is constantly demanding more pay and placing more restrictions on small contractors, who are the mainstay of the small investor. Take the carpenters for instance. A builder will not be allowed to take a contract and work alongside his men; he must have a foreman, a member of the union. A plasterer cannot take a contract and work himself. The plumbers will not take any apprentices, neither will the electrical workers or bricklayers, and all this in the face of the fact that operations in the building line are increasing every day.

We will need by May 1 about 200 more skilled mechanics than we have and where are they coming from if this awful chorus keeps up?

It is only holding the town back. People will not come where they think they will be held up, so call off your dogs, Mr. Mayor, and you, Mr. Editor, who have so much power for good or evil.

On investigation of the conditions in this city, it is found that rents and other expenses are no higher than in other cities. The mayor says that in Philadelphia and Baltimore conditions are ideal, but he fails to state that many men are unable to get work and many more are working for $1 a day, with three men to one job at that. There is no reason to fear a wholesale migration from our midst on account of high prices.

The men with a high salary and good income can and does pay high rents, everywhere, but the wage earner, the mechanic or laborer, is better off in our town than anywhere else in the country. He gets his own price and gets it. He has high wages, cheap fuel and he gets a house for from $10 to $20 a month. What more can he ask? Of course in the rural districts, in Canada, or in Europe he can get a house and an acre of ground for a few dollars a year, but we do not see many going back there, do we?

LARGE AREA

Within Cass Lake Forest Reserve to be Thrown Open.

Washington, March 15.—A large area of Minnesota land contained within the federal forest reserve of Cass county is to be released and opened for entry.

An agreement has been reached whereby all the lands between ranges 26 and 30 and townships 14 and 16 will be released from the confines of the forest reserve, and will be immediately thrown open to homestead entry.

It is also further agreed, under the provisions of the law of 1906, that any settlers going onto bona fide agricultural land within new boundaries of the forest reserve will be permitted to remain and complete their final proofs.

In return for this concession, every effort will be made to induce the Minnesota delegation in congress to pass a bill at the next session of congress which will legally define the boundaries of the Minnesota forest reserves.

CONCERNING WOMEN.

The Women's Council of the city held a lengthy session at the library this morning and the reports of the various committees were heard with interest. In the line of new business it was voted to send a letter to the representatives of this district asking their support and influence to secure the passage of the Spooner bill, providing for a separate training school for girls in another county than the one in which the boys' schools are situated. The council will also send a separate letter to the representatives asking their support and influence for the bill now before the legislature requiring detention homes in counties of large population.

It was decided to postpone the exhibit of arts and crafts which was to have been held early in April under the auspices of the council until June, as many prominent women deeply interested in the work to be accomplished by this exhibit will be out of the city at the time first appointed, and it is desired to interest as large a number of people as possible in the enterprise, after the many months of preparation which has been given to it. A short report from the chairman of the arts and crafts committee, Mrs. J. M. McElferty, was read.

The work of the summer school of domestic science will continue a part of the undertakings of the council, with Mrs. William White as chairman. The teacher and final details will be arranged soon. The report of the committee on school gardens was given by the chairman, Mrs. H. S. Ely. It has not been definitely decided by the council whether or not this work will be continued for another year. It is desired to secure for the boys scientific instruction along the lines of gardening if the work is continued and to this end, Carl J. Ulrick, science teacher of the high school faculty, has been requested to take up the work during the summer. It is not known whether Mr. Ulrick will be able to devote the time to the instruction or not, but the matter will be decided within the next week or two. The seed committee has begun work for the season and the list of packages are already being made out by the principles of schools.

The following circular letter was reported to the council by a committee appointed at the last meeting, of which Mrs. W. S. Woodbridge is chairman, and copies of it will be sent to the employers of women, throughout the city:

"To this end we would ask in behalf of the women of Duluth that you would see personally that the girls and young women in your employ have those provisions made for their comfort

What Retail Markets Offer.

Malaga grapes, 25 cents a lb.
Florida grape fruit, 20 cents each.
Strawberries, 25 cents a pint box.
Florida tomatoes, 25 cents a lb.
Cucumbers, 20 cents each.
Fresh lettuce, 10 cents a head.
Chives, 10 cents a bunch.
Green wax beans, 20 cents a quart.
Squash, 5 cents a lb.
Fresh corn, 10 cents each.
Spring chicken, 20 cents a lb.
Frog legs, 20 cents a dozen.

One could continue almost indefinitely telling the good things that the market is offering for Sunday consumption. The windows are filled with paniers of delicate green and luscious grapes and neatly piled rows of heavy and fine grape fruits. Crisp and fresh wax beans are heaped loosely together, and tomatoes, firm and ripe, and large and desirable, are carefully wrapped in a bit of tissue paper; the cucumbers are large and firm; the lettuce tender and crisp; the strawberries not so very good but the chives are nice. Radishes and beets and turnips and almost anything else one might desire are in the market in prime condition.

To top it all there is spring chicken to be fried deliciously and make the day one of keen enjoyment.

and health that are more essential to them than to men. We would ask that they have clean and sanitary toilet facilities; that the rooms where they work be well ventilated; that when possible they have seats where they may rest when not actively employed at their duties; that they have separate and pleasant lunch rooms if they do not go out for their noon meal; that they be protected from accident and guarded in their health and nerve force in such other ways as may seem best to you.

"We ask that you give this matter personal attention because we feel assured that anything that is within your power you will gladly do, and if anything has been neglected it is because it has not come to your attention. The American men are proverbial, not only for their gallantry, but for their thoughtful care of women, and we know that employers of girls and women will grant any reasonable request made of them to better the conditions under which women work."

Mrs. Woodbridge also reported for the committee appointed to consider the advantages to be secured by the organization in this city of a Union club. She said:

"The committee wishes to state that the following is merely a tentative constitution, suggestive rather than definite. Many details have been left to be worked out by the various clubs should a Union club be decided upon. We offer the following suggestions as to the advantages of this plan over the present system of individual clubs and a council.

"First, a saving of time and energy by simplifying the organization and the business routine that now belongs to each club.

"Second, it would promote altruistic work by giving a greater unity of effort and the enthusiasm of numbers.

"Third, it would make possible larger committees than the council is able to appoint for civic work.

"Fourth, with a general treasury and management, better lectures could be secured and greater cultural benefits derived for the individual clubs. Each class of division would be given great latitude in the conduct of its affairs, and still retain the right of conferring honors upon its members, as its officers would consist of a president, secretary and two executive members.

"The committee found, from extended correspondence with more of the large clubs of the country that the best cultural, as well as the best altruistic work is being done by the clubs that are organized on this basis."

The constitution proposed by the committee was read, and copies of the foregoing preamble and constitution will be given the representatives in the council to present to their clubs, and reports from the clubs will be heard at a later council meeting.

THE BLOW ON THE ROOF

By Marvin Dana.

(Copyright, 1907, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

"Many's the time I've kissed her," said Steve. There was an evil smile on his face as he spoke.

The devil at Martin's elbow whispered in his ear, swiftly, sabbily.

For Steve's words were insults to the girl who, only the night before, had promised to be Martin's wife. The two men had been friends, then rivals for Mary's favor. Steve vented his rage in slurs against the woman.

"Yes, many's the time I've kissed her," he repeated.

The two men were alone (save for the devil) on the roof of the vast building. There was none to interfere—the devil being busy with his own business.

For a time Martin rested there in anguish, unable to look on the scene of the tragedy. Despair filled him. He turned his face before opening his eyes, that he might not view the fatal spot, and went stealthily from the place.

Now, he was aroused to the necessity of concealing his guilt. When he reached the ground floor, he hastily slipped out of the building. He was too vile now to go to the woman he loved. Henceforth, he must live loveless and alone, his one companion, the memory of his crime.

Steve, when he took down his hand, was dazed. At last he felt himself falling, the cloud on his mind lifted, and he saw that he had staggered to the roof's edge, that he was tottering over into space that reached to the pavement twenty stories below. His anguish sounded in the shriek that appalled Martin. The first second of that plunge was an eternity of torment.

Suddenly, something seized him, and held him. The wind whistled and whirled, he did not drop into the void. He unclosed his eyes, and stared fascinated at the base of the building. His brain reeled at the vision of sheer space.

In an incoherent way, he realized that his coat must have caught somehow. He only wondered if it would hold long enough for rescue. Then, he remembered Martin, and screamed.

"Martin! Martin!" he shrieked.

There was no reply. But Steve hoped on. Surely Martin was there; he must hear, he must know, he must rescue. Why did he not come? But presently, the truth came to him; Martin had left him to death. At the thought, he forgot fear long enough to curse his enemy, with curses horrible to hear, coming from a man hovering over the gulf of death.

Presently it occurred to him that some one must see him, and give the alarm. God! He realized the ghastly truth at last. None could see him; none could hear him. The world was his, and the world who might have saved him was Martin—and Martin had gone.

He suffered, so he could think and feel, but he could no longer think and feel keenly. Thus passed hours. It had been morning when he tottered from the roof; now, it was late afternoon. He had been hanging there, his arms outstretched, his hands clutching the edge, with that conviction of conscience assailed him.

The whole crime was his. God! how he wished that he had been a different man. The teachings of his childhood thronged on him, and the spirit in him cowered as he imagined himself before the Judgment Seat. His mumbled confessions of wickedness, prayers for forgiveness. But his prayers found no answer, and his conscience assailed him.

The booming of a distant clock awoke him to the fact that day was fast waning. A mad access of terror pressed him. Was there, then, not the least shred of hope before the darkness closed on him? As before, his brain wrestled with the problem in vain. There was nothing—nothing! And then, in the throes of his despair, he had an idea of hope. He had carried a morning paper with him, when he went to work that morning, and he had placed it, carefully rolled, in an outside coat pocket. Was it there still? If so, he might be able to reach it, and draw it forth. Then he might drop it, to call the attention of the passers-by on the sidewalk below. Little by little, he pulled the paper free. Still careful, lest the movement might hurry him to the outer pavement below, Steve separated the paper into two parts. Hope let go his grasp on the last paper. He sank slowly toward the earth. And now he touched the ground, he was free from the curb—three blocks from the man who watched.

For Steve had watched, had watched praying. From the moment he launched the floating, vacillating bit of paper, as he saw it wafted farther and farther away, so his hope thinned, and when it paused at last, remote, futile, hope ceased.

But pluck survives, even hope. He chose to try yet once again. But this time he would not drop the paper. Instead, he would simply wave it back and forth. The regular movement of the huge sheet might catch the attention of some one ere it drew down. He swung the crackling paper to and fro, hoping every note, his signal—hoping in vain.

Martin, too, had passed a day of torture. He had carried with him the burden of guilt. It seemed to him that his only hope lay in flight, and yet he could not flee. He dared not return to his room,

There Never Was a Season When it Was Quite as Important to be Sure of Your Store as This One!

With the advanced prices of material and labor there is a tendency to substitute—in other words to give you the "just as good" kind for the "Simon Pure" article! We know of instances where the imitation worsted has been substituted for the real article—the real may cost $2.50 the yard, the imitation $1.25 a yard—to the average buyer this might go unnoticed until the wear would tell—then it's too late!

You take none of these chances here—if there is one thing we pride ourselves on it is the quality of materials used, and the tailoring—our garments look as well at the end of several seasons' wear as at the time of purchase, because they were the "genuine" and lent themselves easily to fine workmanship!

Notwithstanding this difference between the ordinary and the Giddings kind prices are no higher here than for "Mediocre" kinds at most stores—many times not as much!

he dared not go to Mary. And always before him was a dread vision—that scene of a man outlined against the sky falling into an abyss of death, struck to his doom by his hand. But the vision faded, and he was left alone with the memory of his crime.

Steve, staring always for an upturned face, saw one for an instant—then it vanished in the crowd. The darkness had come. He dropped the paper from his hand and prayed brokenly.

Martin had not understood—but hope was born in him as it died in Steve. Half a minute later he was on the top floor, running toward the stairs that led to the roof. Ten seconds after, he was flat on the roof's edge, peering over. There, just to the right of him, swung the body of a man, a man who lived, for a broken mumble of words issued from his lips.

Martin sprang to his feet and ran to the end of the roof, where the flagstaff stood. There he whipped out his knife and cut the rope. He made a running knot in it, and then sped back to where the other man dangled.

Martin had seen at a glance how Steve's left coat pocket had caught on one of the ornamental points of the iron top of the roof. So now, he lowered the rope every inch until it hung just in front of Steve's head and arms.

"Steve! Steve!" Martin called.

The man in the abyss believed that the voice was a hallucination, but he answered.

"Help! For God's sake, help!"

"But your head and arms through the rope and I'll pull you up," Martin directed. At last the rope was in place, and Martin began to draw it taut. The rope lessened and closed around the man's body. Martin braced his feet against the parapet at the roof's edge, and hauled at the rope with careful, steady strength. At last Steve's arms reached the top of the roof.

It was done at last, and the one man was ministering to the other, clutching his number hands, and soothing him with the tenderness of a woman.

"Oh, thank God, you did not die!" he cried again. "You know I never meant it, Steve."

But why did you go away? the other asked. "I thought you had gone," Martin answered. "Why, I've been thinking all day that I was your father. Steve, I never kissed her."

"I wanted to make you fight," Steve confessed. "Martin, I—I lied to you about Mary. I never kissed her."

"Don't say anything more about it, old fellow," Martin said. "I'm going to 'Anyhow,' Steve persisted, 'I'm going to be a better man after today.'"

"I've done some thinking today. Do you feel as if you could get up now, Steve?"

TIRED AND SICK YET MUST WORK

"Man may work from sun to sun but woman's work is never done."

In order to keep the home neat and pretty, the children well dressed and tidy, women overdo and often suffer in silence, drifting along from bad to worse, knowing well that they ought to have help to overcome the pains and aches which daily make life a burden.

It is to these women that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, comes as a blessing. When the spirits are depressed, the head and back aches, there are dragging-down pains, nervousness, sleeplessness, and reluctance to go anywhere, these are only symptoms which unless heeded, are soon followed by the worst forms of Female Complaints.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound keeps the feminine organism in a strong and healthy condition. It cures Inflammation, Ulceration, displacements, and organic troubles. It prepares for child-birth and to carry women safely through the Change of Life it is most efficient.

Mrs. Augustus Lyon, of East Earl, Pa., writes:—Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—"For a long time I suffered from female troubles and had all kinds of aches and pains in the lower part of back and sides. I could not sleep and had no appetite. Since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and following the advice which you gave me I feel like a new woman and I cannot praise your medicine too highly."

Mrs. Pinkham's Invitation to Women

TERRIBLE EFFECTS OF DEADLY "GRIP." PHYSICIAN ADVISES PROMPT ACTION

Richmond, Ind.—The grip epidemic has rendered two men insane. John Hart was placed in a sanitarium, also Jonas Carter who became very violent. Col. M. R. Holland died yesterday. This brings the fatalities up to fifty-seven in a month. A prominent physician has published a statement that influenza or grip is one of the easiest troubles to cure if taken in time but if allowed to linger will frequently take a disastrous turn on short notice. The treatment is very simple; stimulate the blood circulation; heal the mucous membranes and keep the bowels normal. For this he advises the use of what is known as the Greek formula. This is as follows: "Two ounces of glycerine; half ounce Concentrated oil of pine; eight ounces of good whiskey or Jamaica rum; mix in a ten ounce bottle and shake thoroughly and use in tablespoon doses every four hours." These ingredients can be obtained from any good pharmacist. He says that this only cure necessary is to be sure to get the genuine "Concentrated" oil of pine. It always come put up for dispensing in an air tight case which keeps out the light and retains all the original ozone. Don't make the mistake of getting any of the oils sold in bulk, patent medicines put on the market in some localities and called "Oil of Pine." The "Concentrated" oil of pine is also used by mixing it with hot and rubbing on the chest and throat. It will prove very effective. Just what causes the "grip" has never been fully determined but scientists seem to generally agree on the germ theory. However, it is very evident that anything that stimulates and strengthens the mucous membranes succeeds immediately in combating the disease. The active principle of pine has been since the days of the ancients acknowledged as the greatest stimulant and healer for the mucous membrane and the modern product "Concentrated" oil of pine when used according to the above formula works wonders on these membranes of the nose, throat and lungs. The worst feature of "grip" is that it not only checked it will lead into pneumonia and hasty consumption, as well as many other complications, to frequently wrecking the nervous system.

have shown in the past that they can, on occasion, put up a good stiff fight and if arrayed forces of Honduras and Nicaragua do meet in a general engagement the conflict will in no sense be inconsequential or to be laughed at. The actual situation of armed hostility between Honduras and Nicaragua from the Honduras side, is briefly, as follows:

The skirmish at San Marcos, a village in Honduras, about five miles from the Nicaraguan frontier, was inconsequential. The main Honduras force is at Choluteca, Tegucigalpa, Yucatan. These four towns are in practically a straight line and about twenty miles from the frontier. President Bonilla is waiting for further reinforcements from Tegucigalpa and for arms from the United States. He would like also to have the first serious engagement of Honduras territory in order to be able to demand that Salvador make good her promise to help in case of war.

The presence of President Bonilla in the field has stimulated the Honduras and that the men have confidence, and he is a fighter of experience. There is a strong personal following in Salvador as well as the confidence of the Salvadoran army, with the exception of Costa Rica, which, so far, has taken no active part in this dispute, are likely to become involved.

Salvador is so close to Choluteca, the central point of Honduran organization, that Salvadoran troops can join Bonilla in twenty-four hours and an other twenty-four hours could see the united armies on Nicaraguan territory. If the Nicaraguans should march on Tegucigalpa, the Honduras forces are so disposed that they could readily be concentrated to oppose the invaders. Salvadoran troops could be hurried to Tegucigalpa in forty-eight hours.

There is reason to believe that both belligerents are expecting shipment of arms from the United States.

It would appear that the Nicaraguan forces have concentrated at Somoto, Santa Maria and Choluteca.

The first actual difficulty took place at Las Manos, a little village, the main street of which marks the frontier line between Honduras and Nicaragua. The Nicaraguans, who were encamped in their side of the village, crossed the line one night and stole a Honduran mule and killed to their side without being caught.

This incident was followed by diplomatic correspondence, in which the Nicaraguans were dignified as "cat-tle lifters." This was resented with counter charges and shortly after there was a meeting at Amapala, Honduras, in which President Zelaya of Nicaragua was accused of violating his promises and fomenting strife. Nicaragua then demanded that Honduras punish the municipality of Amapala, but this Honduras refused on the ground that the Honduran people were guaranteed the right of public speech and meeting. President Bonilla offered to submit the last Manos incident and all other pending questions to arbitration, but this Nicaraguans refused and shortly after both countries began seriously to prepare for war.

In Honduras President Zelaya is harshly criticized. He is accused of harboring and aiding Honduran revolutionists to organize and promising them arms and ammunition with which to fight the present government. He was a friend of Sierra Armas and Policarpo Bonilla, both sworn enemies of the present president, and in Honduras it is declared categorically that Zelaya has been deceivingly a pretext to declare war on Honduras, his ultimate purpose being to set up in this country a president in sympathy with his own ambitions. The people and government of Honduras believe that Zelaya hopes to repeat the victory of 1892-94, when a Nicaraguan army entered Tegucigalpa and Policarpo Bonilla was proclaimed president of Honduras. The question of a boundary line between Honduras and Nicaragua is still open, and with a friendly president at Tegucigalpa, Nicaragua would be sure of boundary decisions favorable to herself. In short, President Zelaya is thoroughly distrusted, not only in Honduras but in Salvador and Guatemala as well, and the Honduran government decided it was preferable to fight him in a final effort to put an end to his international intrigues than to let him continue to foment disorders.

Honduras and Salvador are bound by alliance to aid each other in case of war, and President Zelaya is host to a fighter of experience. There is a strong personal following in Salvador as well as the confidence of the Salvadoran army, with the exception of Costa Rica, which, so far, has taken no active part in this dispute, are likely to become involved.

Salvador is so close to Choluteca, the central point of Honduran organization, that Salvadoran troops can join Bonilla in twenty-four hours and an other twenty-four hours could see the united armies on Nicaraguan territory. WILL URGE NEW SEWER

Park Point Residents Desire System Established This Year.

Civic Club Will Ask for More Lights for Point.

The matter of constructing a sewer on Park Point from Fourteenth street to the White City grounds will be actively pushed by the Park Point Civic club and the owners of the property along the proposed route of the sewer. The matter was discussed at some length at the regular monthly meeting of the civic club, at the power house last evening, before a large attendance, and it was the unanimous opinion that the sewer should be put in this season.

A year ago a petition was circulated and signed, asking the city to construct a sewer on the point between Fourteenth street and the White City, but the petition was held up pending the test of the electric system inaugurated at the canal on Lake avenue as it was determined that some such system, would it work successfully, would be necessary for a Park Point sewer system.

The electric system has been a success in every way and the Park Point property owners are anxious to get their system established as early as possible this season. They are now getting gas on the point and it is expected that the city water will be supplied the point by the middle of the coming week, unless some unforeseen hitch occurs in the repair work on the main across the canal.

It is planned to have the sewer electric system established at Fourteenth street. This means that there will be no sewer system on the point north of Fourteenth street, as the property owners did not join in the petition for the sewer improvement. The cost of the sewer system will be paid by the property owners benefited. The Park Point Civic club has been investigating plan of lighting the streets with gas instead of electricity, but it has been decided not to ask for the change at the present time. More electric lights will be asked and the city will be petitioned to change the location of some of the lights now established, as they are hidden by the trees.

It has been reported to the club that most of those people who have not already moved their buildings on the cross streets on the point intend to do so early.

Almeren Burgess and Shartell attended the meeting of the club last evening. Mr. Burgess has been a regular attendant since he was elected to the council. It was Almeren Shartell's first meeting with the Park Pointers in their clubroom. He expressed his pleasure at being able to meet them and stated that he believed the club to be a good thing for the reason that the members were able to get a good idea of what the people in that part of the city wanted.

SNOW AND ICE IN NORTHWEST
Exist in Greater Quantities Than a Year Ago.

The snow line in the United States is steadily retreating to the northward as the warm rays of the sun become more direct this spring. At present the snow area extends over the New England states and as far south along the Atlantic coast as Chesapeake Bay. Westward it extends over Pennsylvania, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, the Dakotas and Montana and a trace in Idaho.

Most of the snow, according to the snow and ice bulletin of the United States weather bureau, are in the northern portions of the Lake region and western Maine. In the Lake Superior region there is considerably more snow than there was at this time a year ago. In the Upper Missouri river the snow is from twenty inches at Williston to twenty-six at Bismarck with floating ice at Yankton and Sioux City; in the Missouri from seven to twelve inches at St. Paul to nineteen at La Crosse and the ice is heavier than a year ago. Over the northern portions of the Lake region and New England the measurements on March 11 show no more ice than was reported at the same time last year. The harbor ice at Duluth ranges from thirty to forty inches in thickness and the lake ice field extends beyond vision.

NEW FASHION IS A BIG BOON
Old-Style Back-Buttoned "Princess" Gown Now Dead Number.

New York, March 15.—There is coming over the water this way from Paris a new fashion that will be greeted with loud cries of joy by twenty million of husbands, lovers, shirtwaists, lace waists, silk waists and tight-fitting jackets are going to button up the front. The princess gown, with its two-yard studding of bone knobs is going out. We are to return to the same method of buttoning up, which is certainly fine for all the great army of benevolents, who have been pinning the role of lady's maid. It was announced at the spring exhibition of the Dressmakers' Protective association.

Yes, the hourly reviled, cursed and cussed back buttoner and spine-hooker is no longer smart. Whoever invented the back fastening style of female gown and got it billed as a mode, has been in hiding ever since.

Fat husbands with fat wives have been owing revenge on this inventor for years. In padded cells in our great brain storm they have been plotting to button up the "Princess" clubbing into the clouds to make her last.

At the state legislators tell us that only one woman out of 500 is blessed with a lady's waist. Therefore there are only one hundred to every four thousand nine hundred and ninety-nine who may recline at ease while the wife of his bosom is being hooked.

Total of 35,000 Acres Located in St. Louis County.

State Auditor Samuel G. Iverson has notified Secretary H. V. Eva of the Commercial club that an auction of state lands in this county will be held June 12. During the last three weeks of June and the first three days of July, the state will offer for sale a total of 35,000 acres of land, and of this amount 35,000 acres is located in St. Louis county. Last year the prices obtained were $8 and $9 an acre, the highest in the history of the state.

It is expected that even better prices will prevail this year. It is doubtful whether the Commercial club will adopt its last year's plan of issuing a map of the lands to be disposed of. The lands may be secured on payment of 15 per cent of the purchase price at the time of the sale, the balance to run for all or part of the term of time, at 4 per cent per annum.

SNOW AND ICE IN NORTHWEST
Exist in Greater Quantities Than a Year Ago.

The snow line in the United States is steadily retreating to the northward as the warm rays of the sun become more direct this spring. At present the snow area extends over the New England states and as far south along the Atlantic coast as Chesapeake Bay. Westward it extends over Pennsylvania, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, the Dakotas and Montana and a trace in Idaho.

Most of the snow, according to the snow and ice bulletin of the United States weather bureau, are in the northern portions of the Lake region and western Maine. In the Lake Superior region there is considerably more snow than there was at this time a year ago. In the Upper Missouri river the snow is from twenty inches at Williston to twenty-six at Bismarck with floating ice at Yankton and Sioux City; in the Missouri from seven to twelve inches at St. Paul to nineteen at La Crosse and the ice is heavier than a year ago. Over the northern portions of the Lake region and New England the measurements on March 11 show no more ice than was reported at the same time last year. The harbor ice at Duluth ranges from thirty to forty inches in thickness and the lake ice field extends beyond vision.

HE STUDIED IN THE TENDERLOIN

Priestly Student of Vice Arrested in a Tenderloin Resort.

New York, March 15.—The too far-reaching sociological studies of tenderloin vice by the Rev. William H. Mears, assistant rector of St. Matthew's Protestant Episcopal church, this city, landed him in the Jefferson Market police court on a charge of assaulting an officer in the performance of his duty. With him was arraigned a mulatto, Ida Williams, whom the clergyman made the principal subject of his study.

Detectives Herding and Snackett were the complainants. They arrested the clergyman at 11 o'clock Tuesday night in a room on the fourth floor in a house on Seventh avenue, in company with the negroes, and locked him up in the police station, where he spent the night. Herzing charged that in attempting to arrest the negroes the preacher slashed him in the nose. Mr. Mears said that he had slashed Herzing all right, but he thought the detective was a confederate of the woman who was trying to rob him.

Dr. Mears does with a police officer 3 years he gave in his pedigree. He is short, slight, dark complexioned, with a heavy shock of black hair and clean shaven. He was dressed in a suit of ecclesiastical black. His wife was in court and smiled when he said he was only studying social vice for religious purposes.

Magistrate Steinert discharged the clergyman and sent the negroes to the workhouse.

MRS. PULLMAN HAD NO PASS
Private Car Monitor Bowed to the Law and Paid Cash.

Chicago, March 15.—When Mrs. George M. Pullman, widow of the founder of the Pullman company, went East a few days ago her extreme pleasure in traveling was a bit darkened by the fact that in making the Eastern trip she was compelled, for the first time, to buy a Pullman ticket as well as pay railroad fare.

Mrs. Pullman is properly indignant. Mrs. Pullman's Monitor, one of the finest private cars on the rails, donated with dignified grace the month the law cast upon it and Mrs. Pullman left the city with her Pullman fares accounted for in systematic fashion.

ELOPES WITH MINISTER.
Husband Seeks Her Arrest, But Decides to Let Her Go.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 15.—Norval L. Johnson, a well known resident of Pendleton county, Va., has instituted suit for divorce from his wife, who, he says, eloped with George W. Waybright, a former minister of the German Baptist church, and until recently a member of the county court of Pendleton. Waybright and Mrs. Johnson are said to have started for Nebraska.

Both Waybright and Mrs. Johnson are past middle age, and the former leaves a wife and several adult children.

Waybright and Mrs. Johnson met by appointment a few months ago, and drove to Horton, Randolph county, the nearest railroad station, thirty miles from their home, over rough mountain roads covered with snow.

The deserted husband reconsidered, and informed the authorities that he did not care to have his wife back home. They left Horton for the West. Mr. Johnson telephoned to the chief of police at Horton to arrest them. The couple were taken in custody and held over night.

Once before Waybright and Mrs. Johnson left home together, but returned and went to their respective families. Waybright then effected a reconciliation between Johnson and his wife.

RESTORES your HAIR to ITS NATURAL COLOR.

Miss Fannie McNamee, Lake Geneva, Wis., writes of HAIR HEALTH: "My hair had been gray ever since I was sixteen years old. It started to get gray right on the crown of my head, and I was so ashamed of it that I wore a wig and a headband. I used HAIR HEALTH according to directions, and my hair is now soft and glossy, and very few gray hairs left. I do not think I could get along without HAIR HEALTH now, for it is such a fine hair dressing."

ONE OF "400" OPENS A SHOP

John King Duer Now Sells Flowers and Plants.

New York, March 15.—John King Duer, cousin of Mrs. Clarence H. Mackay, and a member of the "400," has gone into trade. He doesn't say it is his fault, but he is going to prove it a profitable business venture as well.

So he has established himself in a shop near the city hall, and will be sold by the piece or by the dozen. And although he is described from the old Knickerbocker stock, he declares that the trade is good enough for any man, and that he is going to prove it a profitable business venture as well.

Desires flowers and plants, Mr. Duer will cultivate mushrooms in his epic and again new establishment, No. 64 Madison avenue, just round the corner from the most pretentious part of "The Avenue." The mushrooms will be raised to give to his millionaire patrons as "souvenirs," but to sell at top-notch market prices.

While Mr. Duer expects and has been promised the patronage of nearly every person socially in New York, he says he isn't going to be a bit exclusive, and he will be willing to sell one carnation to a shop girl as he would a dozen orchids to Mrs. Astor.

I am here to make money by selling posies, and what's more, I feel confident that I am going to do it, he declares. When asked if he were going to abandon society he said:

"Why, no, I suppose if I am invited to attend a dinner, say, and am asked to furnish the decorations for it, I will have quite time enough to jump out of my work clothes into my evening togs before the lights are turned on. Society is all right, and I intend to make a fortune out of it."

Asked why he had gone into trade, Mr. Duer said it was a snare.

"There are several reasons. One is because I haven't the brains or the money, or yet the inclinations of the Harrimans and the Vanderbilts. I couldn't, you see, even a railroad, for they don't care for business, and then I don't care for business."

ness anyway. I have always loved gardening and flowers, and at my country home near Hempstead and at Richmond I have been thinking for two long years how I could live in New York and still be occupied at some congenial pursuit. My friends, knowing my love for flowers and my success at growing them, advised me to go into this business, and it was after carefully planning every step of the way that I came here and rented this shop, and from now on I will be found at the same old stand every day.

"It is surprising how people are changing their ideas about going into trade. Why, all of my friends have congratulated me upon this venture, and they have all assured me of their patronage. Only this morning Mrs. Mackay wrote me telling me what an excellent idea she thought it was, and so have many more of my friends here.

"The professions are so overcrowded, and it takes such a tremendous fortune to do business on Wall street, that to my mind I have hit upon a splendid thing to do. Of course, I shall have nothing to do with the business end of it—that I will leave in the hands of competent and trustworthy persons; but when orders are received for dinners, weddings and other functions come in, I shall look to the artistic end and shall personally visit the various places where the orders come, so that I can decorate in a manner suitable to the occasion. In that I hope to accomplish something more than the so-called florist; in fact, I am not a florist, and you will notice on all my cards and upon my flower boxes I have scrupulously avoided the use of that word. I am just running a flower and plant shop."

Handsome engraved cards announcing his enterprise have been sent out by Mr. Duer. His list is headed with the Astors and ends with the Yanagases.

WANTS MATE FOR A RICH WIDOW

Mayor Harper's Quest Made Public and Postman Overworked.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 15.—Mayor Harper is receiving sacks of mail from men who want to marry a pretty and rich young widow for whom he promised to find a husband. Some time ago he received a letter from a friend in England whose daughter is the widow referred to, and wrote in reply that he would try to find a good mate for her here. He casually dropped a remark about it to a few friends at dinner one evening and the story got out.

It spread like wildfire and became the talk of the town. The press took it up and the newspapers yelled it on the streets. More widows "applied," and his honor now has a waiting list of fifteen. "I didn't start out to conduct a matrimonial bureau," said Harper, last night, "but I should like to see some of these people mated happily. This may be a little out of the ordinary for a mayor, but I believe a marriage and want to help all I can."

The vegetable market is holding firm along the line. Potato receipts are light, with no chance for a reduction in price. Green vegetables of excellent quality are much in evidence, at prices well below the high prices of the past few weeks. Asparagus is arriving in more liberal quantities. New beets are to be had in numbers sufficient to supply the demand.

Poultry and fish are very much the same. The market for all kinds of fish command a good price.

WOMEN POLICE FOR THE BEACH ON SUMMER EVES.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 15.—Long Beach will have women patrolmen during the coming summer. The suggestion was made by the Women's Christian Temperance union, and met with instant favor among city officials. The idea is to have them patrol the beach, pier and auditorium after dark, perhaps half a dozen of them, and it is believed the cause of morality will be greatly aided and many evils of the past season remedied.

Mayor Dore stated that he thinks the women clothed with full police powers, will accomplish much more than men, and he is anxious to try the experiment. Members of the Women's Christian Temperance union will doubtless be selected, and they will wear ordinary police stars. The question of arming them has not been determined. Conditions at Long Beach were such last season that the city's name suffered greatly, and no measure adopted seemed to avail to better things.

LANDLORD'S LEGAL DUTY TO KEEP AWAY BEDBUGS.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 15.—The purveyor of a rooming house has a legal duty of landlords. Justice Pierce has decided this weighty question of the law.

Ida Miller, a dressmaker, discovered marauders in her couch and complained to the landlord, Frederick Jones, who tried to fumigate the room, set it on fire, burned up the lady's things and was sued by her. The landlord tried to de-

CONSUMPTION IN INDIANA MAKES 214 CHILDREN ORPHANS IN ONE MONTH

A recent monthly bulletin of the Indiana State Board of Health, containing disease and death statistics, states that consumption, pneumonia and influenza were the most prevalent diseases, with pneumonia and influenza heading the list.

The ravages of consumption continued as in previous months. The total deaths from this disease were 120 males, and 184 females. The total number of orphans caused by tuberculosis for the month was 214. At this season of the year lung trouble should be carefully guarded against, and every precaution taken to prevent the development of incipient affections. There is great danger in neglecting an ordinary cough or cold. A simple remedy prescribed by an eminent authority on lung trouble is said to give immediate relief to an ordinary cough and to break up a cold in twenty-four hours. This remedy can be prepared by anyone in their own home, the ingredients being of a simple nature and easily procurable at small cost from any good prescription druggist. Mix a half ounce of Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) with two ounces of Glycerine and a half pint of good Whiskey. Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses every four hours.

Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) is put up, for dispensing only, in half-ounce vials, each vial securely sealed in a round wooden case with an engraved wrapper, showing the name—Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), guaranteed under Food and Drugs Act of June 30, 1906, serial number 451, prepared only by Leach Chemical Co., Cincinnati, Ohio—plainly printed thereon. The other bottles and the many rank imitations of Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) put out under similar name and style of package are not only ineffective for the purpose, but are often dangerous. It is always well to remember that the object of an imitator is to deceive. There is no known substitute for Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure).

FINDS ORE IN DULUTH

Trace of Iron Struck Under New Courthouse Site.

Test-Pitting Continues to Determine Amount of Rock Work.

The report of iron ore discovered on the site of the new courthouse, between First and Second streets and Fourth and Fifth avenues west, might have caused a great flurry had it not been a matter of general knowledge that a few years ago ore was discovered while excavation was being made in the basement of the First National bank building.

Louis Ramstedt, who has a contract with the courthouse commission to sink a number of testpits with a view of determining the amount of rock excavation that will be necessary for the foundation of the new building, has partially completed his work.

In the northeast corner of the courthouse location Mr. Ramstedt struck bed rock at a depth of about seven feet. Two other test pits are down to a depth of fifteen feet, one about the center of the property and another near the southeast corner. In which the bed rock has not yet been reached.

Two other test pits have been started, but are not yet down to any considerable depth. It is expected that some drilling will be done in the pits sunk in the lower side of the property to determine positively whether the rock encountered is bed rock or simply isolated boulder. In one corner of the center test pit there is a showing of rock but until some drilling is done, the contractor will not be certain that he had encountered the rock ledge that may extend to that point.

A trace of a poor grade of iron ore was discovered in the test pitting in the northeast corner of the courthouse.

APPOINTEE COMMISSION.

deemed by some members worthy of enough consideration to make it proper that the bill should be put over another day.

The principal speech in favor of the bill was made by its author, Mr. Rachle. He said that the theory of an appointive commission is that the governor that appoints its members can be held responsible for their actions, while now there is a divided responsibility, since the commissioners, like the governor, are elected by the people.

"A high official of Iowa," said Mr. Rachle, recently said that the railroad commission of that state should be made appointive instead of elective and that if this was not done it would be better to abolish the commission entirely.

"That is true of this state also. The commission has been the great stumbling block to reform for the past six years. In the conventions where its members are nominated, they are allowed to go until the last moments, when the matters of main interest are disposed of and comparatively few delegates are present, and then the special interests see to it that the unfavorable to railroad interests are nominated.

"I never worked for Governor Johnson's election, but his appointments have all been good. I refer you to the members of the board of control who were appointed by the late governor. I am not afraid to let him appoint the members of the railroad commission.

"The commission should be composed of men of special qualifications, and we have not had them—it would take all night to tell what the commission should have done and didn't. There should be a railroad expert, a good lawyer, and a plain honest citizen. For instance, for the attorney Samuel Lord of Kasson might be appointed, and for the plain citizen J. F. Jacobson of Leach, Quil Parke would be a good man. Such men as are needed could not be nominated, because they are not well enough known. I am asking the members of the legislature to elect if Jacobson could not be elected to this place, and I say that he could not. The railroad interests are too strong in the convention. They need a defeated Commissioner Staples for renomination, and if the railroads thought he was doing well, what would they think of Jacobson?

"The commission has been forced into everything it has done in recent years. Two years ago the legislature appropriated $5,000 and instructed the commission to take it and do what it pleased of the railroad property of the state. It did not get started for a year, and now it cannot tell the value of a single road in the state. The commission is a stumbling block in the way of regulation of rates in this state. All pending railroad measures are insignificant, compared with the realization of a revenue which can only be accomplished by a good commission.

Representative Tighe offered his amendment providing for five commissioners, the two additional ones to be elected by Madison and Washburn of Minneapolis, and providing also that at the expiration of the term of the present commission, the members of the legislature should thereafter make the appointments. He said the bill was a good one, though he defended the members of the present commission, individually and collectively. He said that the bill, as it stood, would require, any three men, cannot accomplish the work required. This is the most important measure of the session, and it is not to be burdensome upon the counties having fewer roads, hence the plan of making the office a state position, and providing for an assistant inspector.

The house yesterday afternoon passed the Rachle bill providing a tax of 4 per cent upon the gross earnings of freight lines of the state, and the bill is intended to amend the constitution providing an amendment to the constitution providing for a revenue of $1,000,000. The latter bill does not apply to cities having home rule charters, which are not subject to the tax, after amending their charters—if they can get enough people to vote on them to put the amendments through, and it is intended mainly to reach the city of Minneapolis, which is the only one of the kind in the bill in committee of the whole, as two out of the sixteen members from that city opposed it and there were nine votes against it yesterday afternoon.

The house in committee of the whole yesterday afternoon recommended the passage of the bill by Representative John G. Lennon of Minneapolis providing a jail penitentiary sentence for those that fail to pay their taxes, and the bill is intended to amend the constitution providing for a revenue of $1,000,000. The penalty is from one to ten years.

Representative Rodenburg of St. Paul, said that it would be a move backward to recover $250,000 invested in zinc mine in Missouri, was dismissed in the circuit court yesterday. The recovery by the defendant, Henry G. Rosa, after all of Rockefeller's testimony had been presented, Judge Reynolds upheld the demurrer on the ground that no fraud by the defendant, as had been alleged, had been shown. Rockefeller alleged he had been induced to buy the mine through misrepresentation.

Rosa, after all of Rockefeller's testimony had been presented, Judge Reynolds upheld the demurrer on the ground that no fraud by the defendant, as had been alleged, had been shown. Rockefeller alleged he had been induced to buy the mine through misrepresentation.

When Cascarets Candy Cathartic were invented in 1896, and the formula was perfect d after much experimental labor by highly scientific chemists, it was our aim not only to produce a perfect combination of EFFECTIVE CONSTITUENTS, but to have every ingredient the very best in point of PURITY and QUALITY that could be obtained.

We established a standard of PURITY and QUALITY and MEDICINAL STRENGTH, that has been maintained for all these years, and every Cascaret tablet has been as harmless, pure, gentle and effective as every other one.

The substances that enter into a medicinal formula, to produce the desired effect, to be SAFE and ever TRUSTWORTHY, MUST be clean, fresh, carefully selected and compounded with painstaking supervision.

The eternal vigilance necessary to secure the ingredients of Cascarets in the most PERFECT CONDITION, so as to get the best effect without any danger from intruding substances, has never been relaxed.

What is the result?

There has never been a disappointment, never a complaint. The people of America are today buying over ONE MILLION BOXES of Cascarets Candy Cathartic, a recognition of their dependable qualities to do what is claimed for them, as the best medicine FOR THE BOWELS as yet discovered.

Our patrons are all our friends, loyal and more than satisfied of the steadfast, honest, reliable MERIT of our preparation. It is today the greatest FAMILY MEDICINE in the world.

We attribute Cascarets' great success to PURITY, QUALITY and MEDICINAL EFFICIENCY, backed by Truth and Honesty in our dealings.

The Congress of the United States, on June 30, 1906, passed a PURE FOOD AND DRUGS ACT to protect the Health of the People against adulteration, misstatement and careless processes. This law went into effect January 1, 1907, and will help to banish all questionable practices and preparations. We endorse the law.

The essence of this law was anticipated by the makers of Cascarets when the first box was made ten years ago, and every precaution was taken to establish Cascarets as the standard, reliable and responsible Bowel medicine for the American People.

We shall continue in our purpose to produce the best product possible, and are proud of the confidence of our friends, a commercial confidence which will never be betrayed. All druggists, 10c, 25c, 50c. Try a little 10c box TODAY. 738 governor for reappointment if the bill goes through.

The idea in broadening the measure to put it under the state bill is the old law applied only to St. Louis county, while there is a number of other counties in the state, and there will be more, besides the probability that Lake Superior will shortly have one more, it would be difficult to frame a law applying to St. Louis county, with its large number of operating mines, that would not be burdensome upon the counties having fewer mines, hence the plan of making the office a state position, and providing for an assistant inspector.

The house yesterday afternoon passed the Rachle bill providing a tax of 4 per cent upon the gross earnings of freight lines of the state, and the bill is intended to amend the constitution providing an amendment to the constitution providing for a revenue of $1,000,000. The latter bill does not apply to cities having home rule charters, which are not subject to the tax, after amending their charters—if they can get enough people to vote on them to put the amendments through, and it is intended mainly to reach the city of Minneapolis, which is the only one of the kind in the bill in committee of the whole, as two out of the sixteen members from that city opposed it and there were nine votes against it yesterday afternoon.

The house in committee of the whole yesterday afternoon recommended the passage of the bill by Representative John G. Lennon of Minneapolis providing a jail penitentiary sentence for those that fail to pay their taxes, and the bill is intended to amend the constitution providing for a revenue of $1,000,000. The penalty is from one to ten years.

LIKE A GREAT MARRIAGE BUREAU, New York Sun: "It's so easy to complain—signed an agent of the New York telephone company, as he listened to the twentieth complaint of the morning, 'but if you knew the facts—' 'It isn't the girl's fault, it isn't that they are not properly trained, the trouble is that each girl is doing the work of two. We simply can't get operators enough and those we do get we can't keep. 'Why? Because this is the greatest marrying business that ever a woman engaged in. We turn out between seventy and eighty girls a week from our institution school, and marry off between ninety and a hundred a week—over 4,000 last year in Manhattan alone! Many of these leave without a day's warning. Do you wonder the service is poor? And it's all our own doing, too, for most of them meet their future husbands over our phones. Now, how are we going to cope with a situation like that?"

CALLS TEXAN "A LIAR."

San Antonio, Tex., March 15.—"You are a contemptible liar."

These words were addressed by Maj. Penrose to "Bill" McDonald, former captain of the Texas rangers and a former noted gun fighter. Both men are still alive.

McDonald came to San Antonio after giving out a statement reiterating his former assertions against Maj. Penrose in the Brownsville shooting. He came, it is said, to look into the Penrose affair.

Before he reached San Antonio the sheriff was warned and preparations made to prevent bloodshed. On his arrival McDonald went to a hotel and left here on a late train for Austin without paying his respects to the army officer.

He saw few persons here and, when asked what he intended doing in regard to the Penrose matter, said he had no business with "that army bunch." He wore two heavy pistols and explained that he carries them just "for ballast."

Both men were in town at the same time. Nothing happened.

Here Is the Most Remarkable Money-Making Enterprise in the World Today.

One that gives the small investor an opportunity to get in right, that has all the assured prospects in the way of dividends that the most visionary mine promoter can figure out on paper and with none of the chances of a mine, for it is a mercantile and agricultural proposition of the very highest order and is in no way to be compared with a rubber plantation speculation, where the investor has to wait fifteen or twenty years for the trees to grow before he can get dividends.

Our work has progressed to such an extent that it is only necessary now to sell a small amount of stock to complete in a rough way the main road across our property connecting navigable rivers, giving us direct water transportation to the markets of the United States and Europe.

The price of this small block of stock is placed at $7 per share—par value $10, and the most conservative estimate of the earning capacity of 10 shares of stock is 1st working year, profits $15 for each 10 shares) Cost-2nd working year, profits $50 for each 10 shares)ing 3rd working year, profits $300 for each 10 shares) $70

40 shares costing $280 should within 3 years pay you $1,200 a year.

Perhaps these figures read to you like a romance, but they are literally true in the most conservative sense. We have 370,650 acres, or 575 square miles, of the richest rubber lands in the world in the most wonderfully productive territory of the Republic of Peru. We have navigable rivers running through our property and we are only 195 miles from the city of Iquitos, the headquarters of the great Amazon region, which is producing and shipping to market over one-third of the world's supply of rubber of the highest grade.

Geo. von Hassel, Government Engineer, of Peru and a rubber expert of South America, pronounces our lands the "pick of all Peru" and testifies that they contain 7,867,339 Para (Hevea) rubber trees, full grown and produce the finest Para rubber in South America. The government of Peru also officially declares that this region contains millions upon millions of trees, the bulk of which is fine Para and Coucho rubber.

Our vast possessions have been thoroughly explored and inspected four different times and surveyed by the Peruvian Government Engineer and the work on our main road has progressed so far that it is only a question of days before its completion, in a rough way, enabling us to market our rubber.

Understand, we need only a small amount of money to begin tapping our trees at once. This opportunity to get in at the beginning will not last long. If you will investigate, you will surely find that we are giving you an opportunity that will never be presented to you again.

Remember, that rubber is the standard industry of the Republic of Peru and the Amazon region just as wheat and corn is of Illinois and Iowa. The profits on wheat and corn are known to you but are ridiculously small when compared to the stupendous profits of Peruvian Para rubber.

Remember again, that the statements made in this advertisement may read to you like a romance, a dream of enthusiasts, but no matter what enters your mind in the way of query and doubt, if you wish to make money—if you want to get out of the eternal grind—if you want a competency for yourself all the days of your life, and have your children educated up to your ambition—if you want to cease depositing your hard-earned dollars in savings banks at 3 per cent, so that they can reinvest it again in just such hard-headed money making propositions as this—then consider what we say. Come to our offices, or write us for everything in the way of information that man can give to man. We say, come and hear our proposition—investigate it and us to the limit. Look up our government documents and find out for yourself. Certainly you owe it to yourself as well as to us.

The United States Investor, the most conservative financial paper of New York, Boston and Washington made this report about our company in their issue of Jan. 26th:

"From all that can be learned in this country, this company's stock appears to be a good speculation because the concern has not yet marketed any rubber and has not had the problems of actual production. It appears good to most investors because of the large tract of land the company owns, the advanced stage of the work and the accessibility of the tract to the market. The officers of the company are men who have left positions with good salaries to devote themselves to this company. There is no question that the native forest of the Upper Amazon and its tributaries produce rubber. Admitting that the plan falls short of the full measure of success, that can be figured out on paper, there still remains an excellent prospect of profit."

It is not our intention to present this to you in the usual "hurry up, get in the band wagon" style, "as the stock is going to increase in price," but we do want you to give the matter immediate consideration, for we know that the small amount of stock which we are now offering at $7 will be taken up within a short time and then it will not be necessary for us to sell stock at any price.

PERU-PARA RUBBER COMPANY, Suite 1641-1643, 79 Dearborn St., Chicago.

When we add that 31 newspaper men in Chicago have over $20,000 invested in this company—men who can send a "flick" half way around the world—the genuineness and promise of the company ought to be applied attested, and if you join us, you will have occasion in the very near future to congratulate yourself on having been able to make this investment. Send for prospectus, giving full details at once.

Short time deferred payments with 10 per cent cash with order will be accepted from responsible parties.

KAISER WILHELM HAS A NEW FAD Is Using Expensive Letter Paper That Borders on Vulgarity.

Berlin, March 15.—Through trying to cut down his personal expenses as much as possible, in an effort to make his budget balance, the Kaiser has added a new extravagance to his list of many others, and now writes his letters on the most costly and gorgeous paper used by any European monarch. It is a specially made linen paper, quarto size, in two shades—ivory and robin's egg blue—and each sheet, with its envelope, costs about $1.50.

The Kaiser made the manufacturer promise to supply this paper to nobody but himself. Each sheet is decorated with a gorgeously embossed imperial coat of arms in gold and brilliant colors, surrounded by the chain of the Order of Black Eagle and the blue ribbon of the Garter. At the back of the sheet are two marshall's batons crossed.

For correspondence as king of Prussia the Kaiser uses the same paper, but with the Prussian royal arms instead of the imperial.

Before he adopted this paper a couple of weeks ago the Kaiser used a modest looking white hand-made paper, octavo size, with a simple "W" surrounded with an arabesque and surmounted by the imperial crown embossed in one corner. German courtiers with some taste deplore the emperor's fad as strongly suggesting vulgar ostentation, entirely incompatible with imperial dignity—but they are careful not to think aloud.

DEATH SUMMONS NOTED CALIFORNIA PIONEER.

St. Louis, March 15.—Samuel H. Leathe, of California, argonaut of '49, railway builder, famous during leading mining speculation, art connoisseur and dealer, large owner of St. Louis and Boston real estate, whose estate is estimated by one of his former partners to be worth $1,000,000, died at his home here of Bright's disease.

East St. Louis, to the Illinois Central for a terminal at an immense profit. Leathe was a vegetarian and never used liquor or tobacco. He continued to live in his old home long after it became surrounded by business houses. His first wife was a member of the famous Ames family of Massachusetts.

MICHIGAN LADY Attains Great Success as Real Estate Expert in Los Angeles.

Plymouth, Mich., March 15.—Mrs. Almee Cooper, a Detroit woman who went to Los Angeles four years ago to reside, and who from force of circumstances was compelled to go into business, has become one of the leading real estate dealers in that city.

Mrs. Cooper's transactions have reached into tens of thousands of dollars in all classes of property, improved and unimproved, city and country. For months she drove about the city and through the country studying conditions and learning prices, until now she is regarded as an expert.

Mrs. Cooper deals largely with women, as she finds them more ready to trust her than are men, but women are not her only clients.

TO REFORM SUPERIOR

Noted Evangelists Will Conduct Campaign There Next Month.

Mr. and Mrs. Asher Will Return for the Purpose.

A revival campaign which will be conducted in Superior about the middle of next month by the great Chapman organization of evangelists, will be especially welcome to Duluth and Superior people because it will bring with it Rev. and Mrs. William Asher, who are well known in this work and were connected with the local Bethel society.

It is now certain that this campaign will be held next month, although a definite date has not been decided upon. The meetings will probably be held somewhere from April 7 to 10, and will last two weeks. Superior will be divided into three districts for the campaign and simultaneous meetings will be held at the different churches.

Dr. Chapman, the great leader of the organization, will probably not come to Superior himself except for the last few days of the campaign, as his health has been greatly run down. The first district will have its center in the Cumming avenue M. E. church, the second in the Pilgrim Congregational church, and the third at the First Presbyterian church in the East end.

Rev. Frank Graustoff will have charge of one of these districts; Rev. D. S. Toy of the second, and Evangelist C. N. Hunt of the third. Good singers will accompany each of these speakers.

It will be remembered by Duluth people that Mr. and Mrs. Asher left this city about a year and a half ago to take up a settlement in New York for a time and later became connected with the Chapman evangelists.

BOSS BRAYTON ROASTED AGAIN

The Governor of Rhode Island Demands His Expulsion.

Providence, R. I., March 15.—In an open letter sent by Gov. James H. Higgins to Sheriff Hunte, G. White, the governor attacks Boss Brayton fiercely and calls upon the sheriff to bar him from his office.

Gen. Brayton is accustomed to visit the state house each day during the session of the legislature and make his headquarters in White's office. This attack is another step in the persistent effort which Governor Higgins is making to drive the boss out of the state house.

In his communication Governor Higgins reviews the record that he has already made. Continuing, he says in part:

"The people of Rhode Island have tolerated Boss Brayton in his brazen arrogance as long as they should. The time has at last arrived when patience is no longer a virtue and when in deference to an aroused and indignant sentiment throughout the state this man should be expelled from the capital."

Yet you daily parade him in the state house in the eyes of the public as the master of your room there. You know further that it is a matter of common knowledge that Brayton is a notorious lobbyist for the past quarter of a century and that, although nominally a lawyer, he has never engaged in the real business of law, but has used his position to acquire a lucrative existence from the fees he has wheedled and whipped out of seekers of legislation and of office."

After scoring the sheriff for his inactivity in the matter he continues: "The gauntlet has been thrown down by both you and Brayton with a spirit of pugacity, but I shall not hesitate to pick it up, not in a spirit of pugacity, but with a firm determination that the right of our people to have their public places kept for proper public uses free from scandals and nuisances, moral, political and otherwise, shall be vindicated once and for all."

In the name, therefore, of the decent citizenship of this commonwealth, I demand that you clean this moral and political pest out of your office. I demand that you no longer persist in allowing a part of this capital to be used as the headquarters of a notorious lobbyist."

Sheriff White had nothing to say when questioned concerning the matter and Gen. Brayton pleaded indisposition when a reporter called.

SECOND SUIT FOR DIVORCE. Two Couples Separate, the Wives and Husbands Chumming Together.

Boston, Mass., March 15.—For the second time since their marriage, ten years ago, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Thomas of Peabody is suing for a divorce from her millionaire husband, Elmer Barrows Thomas. The libel is now on file at the office of the Essex county court. It alleges cruel and abusive treatment, as did her former one. She asks to be custodian of their two children.

The first libel for divorce was one of Peabody's most strange occurrences which society along the North shore has ever gossiped over. At that time the minds of two women of Peabody ran in the same channel, and in their discontent let it be known that they had separated from their husbands. Mr. and Mrs. Phil C. Simonds, both particular friends of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas, also wealthy and prominent, found to their best interest to separate. By agreement the two families disrupted. The two wives lived together in New Hampshire, and the husbands were also seen together about Boston and Peabody a great deal.

LIVES HIGH ON RAILWAY COIN

Clerk Steals $50,000 From Southern Pacific at New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., March 15.—On a salary of $10 a week, Rudolph Flink Garner, a clerk in the Southern Pacific railroad offices here, managed to secure $50,000 of his employer's funds through an intricate system of false vouchers for supplies.

Garner, who in society posed as Henry I. Stewart, has squandered his fortune in month, one tenderloin dinner costing him $3,000. He deserted a young wife and is believed to have gone to Honduras. A race horse purchased with the stolen money is the only asset.

The Southern Pacific railroad seized all the money that is still on deposit in local banks in the name of Garner, amounting to only $200. Stewart's dinners in the tenderloin were regular "Steeley" and "Girl in the Pie" affairs. He was host at the festive event that has placed New Orleans on a par with the Eastern metropolises in the matter of expensive stage events. It cost Garner something like $3,000. But a mere matter of thousands was nothing to Garner. The Southern Pacific was footing the bills by virtue of Garner's shrewdness in the manipulation of fraudulent pay vouchers. At this same dinner Stewart presented a magnificent diamond sunburst to the guest of honor. The brilliant jewel cost Stewart $2,000.

SCORED DANCE HALLS.

Chicago Judge Declared Them Responsible for Moral Degradation.

Chicago, March 15.—Innocent over the revelations contained in the testimony in two truancy cases involving young girls, Judge George A. Carpenter, sitting in the juvenile court, urged the burning of "cheap dance halls and still cheaper theaters" as the best way to save the youth of the city from moral degradation.

"If such places were burned," said the court, "there would be fewer such cases in court. Most of the delinquents, especially the girls, owe their unhappy conditions to the frequenting of such places."

TROUSERS AND SHIRT HIS WINTER ATTIRE.

Adams, Mass., March 15.—Frank Corliss of Concord, N. H., was here last week wearing nothing but a heavy pair of trousers and a blue flannel shirt. He is a traveling clock fixer, and says he never wears a vest or coat. He further declares he always wore a straw hat through the winter until this year, when he was stricken with pneumonia. He wears a felt hat now.

STREET CARS IN DEMAND

No Strap-Hangers Allowed in Copenhagen, Says Minister O'Brien.

Fare 2 1-2 Cents With Transfers and City Gets Percentage.

Washington, March 15.—When so distinguished a railroad and corporation lawyer as Hon. Thomas J. O'Brien of Grand Rapids, Mich., now minister to Denmark, makes the assertion that he knows of a street railroad which charges a fare of less than 3 cents and earns good dividends, it must be conceded that the statement deserves acceptance. Mr. O'Brien refers to the street railway system of Copenhagen, the capital of Denmark, a city of between 400,000 and 500,000 inhabitants, and what he says ought to be of more than ordinary interest in every city in North America.

Mr. O'Brien's statement is in the form of a letter to the state department, and the facts he ascertained about the Copenhagen traction situation may prove an eventful block for those street car companies on this part of the world which maintain that they cannot live without a 5-cent fare and considerable immunity from taxation. At any rate, it would seem to a layman that there would have to be some more or less adroit explanation to reconcile what Mr. O'Brien says is the condition in Copenhagen with that in some cities on this side of the Atlantic.

It was in 1898 that a company was formed to take over and consolidate several street car lines in Copenhagen. The new company, after demonstrating to the satisfaction of the city that it was not a mere speculative enterprise and did not contemplate any overcapitalizing scheme through which to float a pond of water, was given a franchise, and this is what the city gave it and what the company accepted.

First, the fare must be 2½ cents, with universal transfers. Second, the company must pay to the city treasury 6 per cent of its gross receipts.

Third, the company must pave and maintain between its tracks and for two feet outside the rails.

Fourth, the city reserves the right to furnish the electric power at an agreed price (out of which the city is now making a net profit of $15,000 a year).

Fifth, the franchise expires forty years from its date, at which time the entire property must be turned over to the city free of cost and free of incumbrances.

In addition to these stiff requirements there was also another which would make an American street railway magnate shrink in agony, a requirement which Mr. O'Brien says is lived up to rigidly. This is that no more people shall be admitted to a car than can be comfortably seated. It was not more than a week ago that the president of one of the street railroad companies of Washington calmly informed a committee of congress that to give every person who rode upon a street car a seat was impossible. And that is generally the attitude of American street railroad men.

An American street car which does not look like a far of pickles is not a satisfactory object to the American magnate.

But there is one respect in which the Copenhagen company has the best of American companies, and that is in respect to wages. The lowest pay of a motorman or conductor there is $108 a day, a day being 10 hours for the conductor and nine and a half for the motorman. After a period of service this rate is slightly increased, the pay ranging from $235 to $402 a year.

But in addition to their cash pay the company furnishes all uniforms, and it takes a week.

STAGE HUMOR CAUSES RIOT

Irish Societies Object and Police Called After Demonstration.

San Francisco, March 15.—The threat of the Irish societies to have certain features of Kolb and Dill's play, to which they objected, eliminated if they had to resort to force, was put into effect at the David theater. Three riot calls were sent into police headquarters during the progress of "The Belle of Avenue A." Hissing, hooting and jeering were not the only expressions of hostility. Eggs and other missiles were thrown at the actors, the stage was cluttered with angry bodies of men repeatedly, and it ended by the whole delegation of angry auditors being forcibly ejected by the police. The whole cause of the demonstration was the character of Mrs. McCluskey, to which the Irish societies took exception as a gross caricature of their nationality.

Some days ago objection was made to Ben Dillon of the company, who was acting the part of Mrs. McCluskey, and the drunken scene in which the woman does a staggering reel in which the woman character be eliminated entirely, and Dillon referred them to Manager Kolb. Pitkin took the part.

The members of the United Irish Societies of California met, and under the leadership of John Allen, a lawyer, went in a body to the David theater with the intention of breaking up the show. There was no disturbance until Kolb handed Mrs. McCluskey a glass of beer. Then some one tossed a missile filled the air and the delegation made a rush for the stage, but it stood its ground dodging eggs, and Pitkin took his stand beside his wife.

Policeman Thomas Murphy was called in and did not know what to do. He finally telephoned to headquarters, and Lieut. MacManus with about twenty policemen was rushed to the showhouse. The demonstrations were then forcibly seated.

Mrs. McCluskey's appearance in the last act was the signal for the worst outbreak of the evening.

Kolb says: "I will run this play if it takes a week."

NEW BILL IN THE HOUSE WOULD MAKE TREATING OF FRIEND A MISDEMEANOR

Annual Sessions of Leg-

Bill by Carl.

A Measure to Rescue
"Dead Heads" Causes
Some Argument.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—A bill, aimed at the demoralizing habit of treating, one of the peculiarly American vices, came into the house this morning. It has been long expected. It is by Representative Horton of Branch, and it prohibits anybody from buying anybody else a drink in a saloon or public drinking place. It also requires saloonkeepers to post conspicuous signs in their establishments, stating that "public treating is forbidden by law." Anybody buying a drink for another is to be fined $10 for the first offense, and $10 to $20 for the second evidence of liberality.

Annual sessions of the legislature, with the length of the session fixed by the legislature itself, are provided in a bill offered this morning by Representative Carl. It provides for submitting to the people at the next election, a constitutional amendment to this effect. At present the sessions are biennial, and are limited to ninety legislative days.

CROP CONDITIONS PROBLEMATIC

In Most Countries, But the Indications Considered Good.

Washington, March 16.—The European crop report of the department of agriculture, which has just been issued, shows that throughout the greater part of Europe the autumn-sown crops have been doing fairly well under a covering of snow. Winter-sown crops are believed to have been everywhere more or less secure.

The department's report says: "In the absence of definite official reports, however, the present condition of the crops in most countries is problematic, and in any event can be determined satisfactorily when opportunity shall be presented of observing how the plans respond to the quickening influences of spring."

Officially it is reported that in the United Kingdom the condition of winter cereals is fairly satisfactory, their endurance fairly being put to a severe test in this climate. In France and Germany it is probable the situation is somewhat less favorable, for although the general prospects are not very bright, the crops are not so much impaired as in the past. In Austria-Hungary and the Balkan states conditions are said to be somewhat better than in the past. In the greater part of the country the crops are reported to have wintered well, but later reports indicate deterioration in condition in localities, not consistent with a very complete protection.

Official reports on crop conditions will be awaited in many countries this spring with more than ordinary anxiety.

HIT HIGHWAY COMMISSION

The Senate Refuses to Empower It to Expend

Plan to Make Railroad Commission Appointive is Sidelined.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The senate took occasion to hit the state highway commission and the theory under which it is working yesterday afternoon.

The issue rose upon a report from the committee on finance upon the Canfield bill appropriating $200,000 out of the general revenue fund of the state to aid in building and repairing bridges and roads in this state, the money to be spent under the direction of the state highway commission.

The senate committee on roads and bridges, to which the bill was first referred, had recommended it to pass without amendment, after which it was referred to the finance committee under the rules.

The finance committee reported it back with amendments, one cutting the appropriation from $200,000 to $100,000, and the other cutting out the highway commission, and providing that the legislature should distribute the money and the county commissioners of the several counties should spend it.

The first amendment failed of adoption, 22 for and 24 against, but the second was adopted after a long debate, 34 for and 16 against.

Senator L. C. Cooke of Wabasha objected to the report, because he thought the finance committee had gone beyond its proper functions in passing upon the policy of the measure. That had already been decided by the proper committee, and the financial end of it was all that had been referred to the finance committee.

The debate then centered upon this proposition, and upon the theory of the highway commission plan. Those opposed said that all the highway commission did was to plan out a system of state roads leading to the Twin Brainerd, Minn., March 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ervine Bailey, aged 34, son of Levy Bailey of the town of Crow Wing, Crow Wing county, was killed by a fall from an engine on which he and his chum were trying to ride home from school Friday afternoon.

The engineer did not know the boys were on the engine, and they fell when going twenty miles an hour. Bailey's skull was crushed and death was almost instantaneous. The other boy was but slightly hurt.

PROTEST BY RAILROADS

Will be Made Against New Method of Weighing Mails.

Committee to be Sent to Washington to File a Kick.

Chicago, March 16.—The big mail carrying railroads have decided to make an appeal to the postmaster general against the rule which the former incumbent of the position promulgated requiring a change in the methods of weighing the mails.

A meeting was held yesterday by the superintendents of mails for nearly all the heavy mail carrying roads, and it was the general opinion that the new order, if carried out, would make it impossible for the railroads to furnish the present service.

The new order requires that the average weight of mail carried, the basis of which the total pay is computed, shall be determined by dividing the total weight carried for seven days by seven instead of by six, as at present. This will operate as a cut of fully 14 per cent in the pay for the transportation of mails.

It has been agreed that a committee shall be appointed, made up of one representative of one of the strongest Western and two of the strongest Eastern railroads and that this committee shall go to Washington and lay the question before the postmaster general.

If the attempt does not succeed, then it will be necessary for the railroads to say whether they will curtail the present mail service. Any attempt on the part of a single road, or of two or three roads, to do so, would result in a general division of the mails to railroads which accepted the ruling.

Therefore, if there is to be any attempt to curtail the mail service, it has been admitted, it must be by concerted move by all of the mail mail routes in the country. Those who attended the conference yesterday declared that the crisis was a grave one.

New York, March 16.—Men in the financial district were still marveling today over the way the "street" had stood the shock of two days of the severest liquidation the stock exchange has known in several years, together with the accompanying slump in prices. Not a firm is reported in difficulties. This is attributed largely to the long period of prosperity which the country has enjoyed.

The cheer that was heard at the close of the session on the stock exchange yesterday afternoon following a day of decline was echoed across the street, for the "little board" too had weathered the storm. The Commercial Union of the Reichstag.

Cincinnati, March 16.—At the rate of a little more than one-tenth of a foot an hour the Ohio continued to rise throughout the night, and today there was no indication of any immediate relief from the flood, which has crept up over the low lands and into cellars and houses. That the river will pass sixty feet when the crest arrives here tomorrow seems certain, and fears are still expressed that the 65.1 feet reached in January may be passed. Reports from up the river gave little hope to those whose property is in danger. The weather was clear all along the river.

Louisville, Ky., March 16.—The Ohio, which has been rising rapidly for three days, today invaded the shipping port and other sections of the city, known as the "cut off." Mayor Barth has notified all residents of the "cut off" to leave their homes at once and the board of public safety today ordered firemen and details of police with a number of patrol wagons to go to the threatened

Detroit, Mich., March 16.—The Atlantic express on the Grand Trunk railway, due here at 7:55 a. m. from Chicago, en route to Port Huron and the East, and running late, ran into an open switch at Bancroft, Mich., five miles from Durand, today, and struck a freight train. Five persons were severely injured, two of them perhaps fatally. Engineer A. B. Schram and Fireman Frank Cowan, both of Battle Creek, Mich., suffered broken limbs and severe scalds and may die. I. F. Smith of Dowagiac, Mich., and Mrs. D. Shook and Miss Ruth Shook of Lansing, her daughter, were severely scalded, but are not thought to be fatally hurt. A number of the passengers received minor injuries, but were able to proceed East on a later train.

Englewood, N. J., March 16.—By the burning of Helicon hall, the home of the Upton Sinclair Co-operative colony today, one man, Lester Briggs, a carpenter, of Providence, R. I., was killed and eight of the colonists were injured in jumping from windows. Mrs. Grace McGowan Cooke, a well-known writer of short stories, is believed to have suffered fatal injuries, and her sister, Miss Alice McGowan, also a writer, and Miss Leonie Fechtelberg, is badly injured.

The financial loss is estimated at $25,000. Fifty-five members of the colony and workers employed by them occupied the building, which was a three-story structure, located on a hill top, and formerly used as a school for boys. An explosion of gas, which occurred on the main floor, started the fire about dawn today. As there were no fire escapes, and exit by the stairways was cut off by fire, the colonists, including men, women and children, jumped from the windows. The men, who were first to go, attempted to catch the women and children in blankets, used as fire nets, but Mrs. Cooke, Miss McGowan and some of the others were badly injured by striking the ground.

These officers also will be allowed the use of a furnished dwelling house on the isthmus and will be allowed and paid their actual and necessary expenses while away from the isthmus on official business. Messrs. Shert, Gallard and Rousseau succeed Messrs. Harrod, Hains and Endicott, whose resignations are announced in the same executive order.

CAMBRIDGE WINS RACE

Defeats Oxford Over Four Lengths in Sixty-Fourth Race.

Practically Same Crew Which Won From Harvard Last Fall.

Putney, Eng., March 16.—Cambridge university, with practically the same crew as the one which defeated the Harvard men last fall by two lengths, today beat Oxford by four and one-half lengths, over the same course, from Putney to Mortlake, a distance of about four and one-fourth miles, in the sixty-fourth annual boat race between crews representing the universities of Oxford and Cambridge. The time, twenty minutes, twenty-six seconds, was somewhat slow, a gusty wind and rough water destroying all chances of beating the record over the course, eighteen minutes, forty-seven seconds, established by Oxford in 1893, and equalled by Cambridge in 1900.

The Oxonians won the toss and chose the Surrey side of the river, which, in view of the strong southwesterly wind blowing, experts calculated was worth two lengths. Even with this advantage, however, the Oxford crew had no chance against Cambridge, which was probably the finest British crew that ever pulled in an "eight," and all of whom, except Powell and Burn, rowed against Harvard last September. The race today was a procession.

WEST DULUTH DECIDE TO GIVE CALL

Commercial Club Favors Holding Good Roads Meeting Here.
Carlton County Farmers Will Send Good Sized Delegation.

Among other matters of importance which were considered at the meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club last evening, was the decision of the members to hold a good roads meeting in West Duluth in the near future to consider means of raising funds for the completion of the Wrenshall road and other improvements.

The standing committee, known as the Wrenshall good roads committee, was authorized to make the call for the meeting and make the necessary arrangements. The meeting will probably be held in about two weeks and will be a big one, as there will be a big delegation present from Carlton and Wrenshall as well as Duluth. The committee reported on the meeting held last Saturday at Wrenshall.

Readings on two bills, which are now before the state legislature, were given and were endorsed by the club. One of the bills provides for a steel bridge across the St. Louis river at Fond du Lac, as planned by the county commissioners. The club passed a resolution requesting the St. Louis county delegation to secure the passage of the bills, if possible. The program committee expects to be able to publish the whole list of speakers by next Tuesday. The list will include several prominent names. today and had an interview with the president. Mr. Speyer declined to intimate in any way what the nature of his interview was, but it is presumed that it touched upon the financial situation. On Wednesday last Mr. Speyer called on the president. His visit again today caused much talk in official circles. Mr. Speyer would not say what his future movements are to be or whether or not he would see the president again before he returns to New York.

A rumor gained currency during the forenoon that the president has prepared an important letter bearing on his attitude toward the railroad corporations. The rumor further asserted that this letter had been taken over by the president and Mr. Speyer during the latter's visit to the White House, and that the sentiments therein expressed had been given the approval of Mr. Speyer. These rumors could not be confirmed.

Old Time Residents of Duluth Remember Arthur Brewer Fairbanks.

Several of the old time residents of Duluth have today corrected The Herald on a statement made last evening regarding Arthur Brewer Fairbanks, who has just been appointed manual training supervisor at Rochester, N. Y.

For some time past, the M. E. Fairbanks lumber company has been annoyed by missing chain lengths, and other items. It was found that the place, lately Green and Horey have been suspected.

Tuesday evening a consignment of beef was sent to Trondson & Whitting of Mizpah, which was in part taken by the two men now in custody. About 11 o'clock that evening E. D. Alger, manager of the company was awakened by two men who came near the camp and asked him if he did not wish to buy some beef.

Mr. Alger who had suspected the men for some time said that he did not and told them to go. They then went around and put it in the warehouse. While the men were out attending to this Mr. Alger notified some of the men of the camp to be ready, and upon their return placed them under arrest.

WILL STOP THE IMPROVEMENT

Lake Avenue Cannot be Paved Above Second Street.

That Lake avenue above Second street will not be paved this year is practically a certainty. Some time ago the council directed the board of public work to circulate two petitions for the work, one including the work to Second street from Superior street and the other providing for the pavement to Fourth street, and directed the engineering department to prepare estimates of the cost of the improvement with various kinds of paving.

Up to Second street there has been but little difficulty so far in securing signers. It is very probable that the work will be commenced as soon as possible on that section of the avenue, but from Second to Fourth street some unforeseen difficulties have been encountered. The high school takes up one whole block, and cuts a big hole in the property assessable for the purpose. To add to this, one property owner, who owns the whole of the vacant block above Third street, is said to be opposed to the improvement. This makes such a big hole in the property along the line of improvement, that it is extremely doubtful whether the work can be put through this year.

The permanent improvement fund of the city could not stand the expense necessitated by paying the high school's share of the work under the present conditions.

The engineer's estimates for the work have been prepared as requested by the council for sandstone blocks, the recommended paving for the avenue, for tar macadam, and for creosote blocks. The estimates are as follows:

Superior street to Second street, forty-six-foot roadway, sandstone blocks, with concrete foundation, $10.00; sandstone blocks, no foundation, $1.00; tar macadam, $2.00; creosote blocks, $2.00.

Second street to Fourth street, thirty-four-foot roadway, sandstone, concrete base, $2.00; sandstone, no foundation, $1.50; tar macadam, $2.00; creosote blocks, $1.00.

HUMMEL'S TESTIMONY

Concerning the Nesbit Affidavit is Admitted by the Court.

Attorney Delmas Brings Out Bad Record of the Witness.

New York, March 16.—With Attorney Delmas fighting him every inch of the way, District Attorney Jerome yesterday secured from Abraham Hummel his complete story as to the affidavit which it is alleged Evelyn Nesbit Thaw made in the lawyer's office in 1903, charging Harry K. Thaw with beating her when she had told him that the statement that Stanford White had drugged and ravished her was not true. The Hummel testimony came during the afternoon session of the trial, and Mr. Delmas, first objecting broadly to all of Hummel's testimony offered a specific objection to each question put by the prosecutor, Justice Fitzgerald overruled the objection and Mr. Delmas had exception to the rulings noted on the records. Unsuccessful in knocking Hummel's testimony, Attorney Delmas in cross-examination brought from his own lips the fact that he had been convicted in December, 1905, on a charge of conspiracy. In the same courtroom in which Thaw is being tried, he further admitted that two indictments for subornation of perjury are pending against him and that one of these indictments charges him with having caused a false affidavit to be made.

Mr. Jerome protested against the witness "being dragged through the humiliating details" of his trial, but Justice Fitzgerald declined to interfere. Then Mr. Delmas asked Hummel if he had not heard the speech made by District Attorney Jerome when sentence was about to be imposed; when Mr. Jerome urged the court to pass the longest and heaviest within its power upon Hummel, as he "had been a menace to the community for twenty years." Justice Fitzgerald finally sustained an objection to the effect that Hummel was not compelled to answer.

Mr. Delmas wanted to know if Hummel had any transaction with the district attorney and asked if Mr. Jerome was pressing the charges against him. "He certainly is," with spirit.

SAFFORD AS THE LEVER

Is Not a Striking Success, Says University Maid.

Love Scene in School Play Causes Strife in Company.

Orren Safford, who played center on the Duluth high school eleven during his stay here, and whose career in football at the state university has been watched with interest by those who knew him here, recently branched out into the dramatic world and came to grief.

This is not Safford's first attempt along histrionic lines, as he officiated in an important role in his class play here, but he met no such an experience here, as is recorded in the Minneapolis Journal, as follows:

"Football tactics in amateur drama will not go, says Miss Rose Marie Schaller, daughter of Senator Albert Schaller of Hastings and member of the dramatic club at the University of Minnesota. When the play 'Tulu' was put on at a rehearsal of the play 'Tulu' to be put on in the university chapel Friday, March 22, Miss Schaller caused a scene by refusing angrily to allow Orren Safford, the young man who plays the part of Jack, her lover, to embrace her waist with his arm during the love episode in the play."

"Miss Schaller would not explain her objections to acting this part of the play with the prescribed stage business, but when the scene should go on exactly with Mr. Safford's interpretation of it, she angrily left the auditorium and declared that they might get another Tulu to take her place."

"In spite of all entreaties, Miss Schaller refused to return and take up her part, even though it was explained to her that no other actress in the club was available for the place and that the short time remaining before the public appearance of the production."

As for the aggrieved Jack, her lover in the person of Mr. Safford—he only bit his lip and paced the stage in silence, wondering if it were really so foul a trick, until some of the girls of the cast came and whiled him away, so that he was all day to him, but that perhaps he was a football player and unused to the gentler art of demonstrating the love passion."

"In the privacy of his room the football man so recently transplanted to the realm of the histrionic art, is evidently practicing the gentle art of love-making in his room. It was a very good thing, the phase of the situation is explained to Miss Schaller by the more persuasive members of the club. And It's Really Lots of Fun.

An Ind. woman solved the food question with good sound reasoning. She says: "For almost ten years I suffered from poor health, which was plainly the result of improper food. I have always been a drowsy, had headache, stomach trouble, was getting a sallow complexion—In short was simply miserable. 'Yet I did not realize the real cause of my trouble until recently. I have given Grape-Nuts and the exercise in the little book, 'The Road to Wellville' (which I found in the pkg.) and now I feel like a new woman. I have gained six pounds and feel full of life. 'Grape-Nuts' food, with cream, makes a delicious dish. I never grow tired of it. I consider 'The Road to Wellville' one of the most valuable books ever printed, for I owe my present good health to it and Grape-Nuts.' Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. CLASS PLAY IS TRIUMPH

Students Cover Themselves With Glory in Annual Production.

Some Excellent Dramatic Talent Developed by Professor Custance.

Before the largest audience that was ever crowded into the assembly hall, the annual play of the senior class of the high school scored one of the greatest financial and dramatic successes that has ever fallen to the lot of an amateur production. Half an hour before the play began, every seat in the big hall was filled, and when the curtain was at last drawn on the first scene, hundreds were standing and every aisle was filled with chairs.

The play which was given was much more difficult than the customary farce, but the results justified all the labor which was put upon it. The title of the play is "A Russian Honeymoon," and it was written by Mrs. Burton Harrison.

The first scene opens in the shop of Ivan, a shoemaker, who lives in a small Russian town. Ivan, his daughter, and Ivan's helper, Alexis Petrovitch, are present. Alexis is a reality Count Gustave Worofski, a powerful nobleman. He has but recently married, and has begun to be apprehensive as to whether the lady has married him for love or for his wealth and high position. He therefore devises a clever scheme to test her devotion.

Telling her that he must make a journey to a distant province that he has recently fallen heir to, he secretes to go ahead and have things ready for his wife, who is to follow. Count Worofski sets out, but soon changes his count's uniform for peasant's dress. On arriving at the shop of Ivan, the shoemaker, he secures work as an assistant to Ivan. He tells Ivan that he has married a proud lady of high rank under false pretenses and that the lady thinks him to be Count Worofski.

Meanwhile the lady has followed her husband. Her marriage breaks down near the shop of Ivan and the lady is brought into the act. It is not long before Alexis confesses to her that he is not a count, but only a humble peasant and declares that she too is now a serf.

The lady has a temper and her proud spirit rebels against this insult, but Alexis is resolved to make her work as a peasant's wife should, and the play begins "the taming of the shrew."

The lady, through influential relatives, has secured a divorce from Alexis and a promise that he will be punished for his deeds. At the eleventh hour, however, she realizes that she cannot live with him and she acknowledges that she loves not Worofski, the count, but Alexis, the man. This admission Alexis is satisfied and in a most dramatic manner the revelation of his true rank as count is made, and all is well.

To the acting of the students too much praise cannot be given. Every character was excellent, but the character of Ivan, in the role of Ivan the shoemaker, and to Dale Montgomery, who played the part of Alexis, were especially good. Ivan, by his witty proverbs, his humorous gestures, and his eloquent words, never failed to convince the audience, while Alexis' acting was as natural, yet expressive, as could be desired.

Frank Boerner as Count Worofski, and Gertrude Hoopes as the wife of Ivan, played very difficult roles in a very capable manner, and Kenneth Cant, as the attendant, kept the audience in a continuous roar of laughter whenever Ivan was on the stage. Marie Erd was also very good as the Count's sister, and Elmer McDowell, in the role of a young peasant, did some artistic kissing and hugging in the approved Russian manner.

The chorus is an innovation in high school plays, and a most successful one. With their pretty costumes and tuneful songs they added greatly to the charm of the play. The fact that Prof. Custance drilled them, and selected some of the music is all that need be said for their excellence. Prof. Custance has also acted as general manager, stage director, and in several other capacities, and the thanks of the audience are due him for the great success which was achieved last night.

Owing to the fact that the students have not yet handed in the money for the tickets which they have sold, the exact amount taken in is not known, but those who had charge of the sale estimate that the total receipts will come close to $500.

The cast of the players was as follows: Alexis Petrovitch, a journeyman shoemaker, afterwards Count, Frank Boerner; Marie Erd, Countess; Gertrude Hoopes, Baroness Vladimir, his sister; Ivan, a master shoemaker; Marie Erd, his daughter; Dale Montgomery, Koulikoff, Demetrius, attendant of the Worofski estate; Kenneth Cant, a young peasant, in love with Marie Erd; Elmer McDowell, Olga, peasant bride; Pearl Hector, Michael, peasant groom; Will Hleken, Stephan, a fiddler; Will Burris, Guards; Will Toben, Edward Mentzer.

Olga's bridesmaids, Harriet Stryker and Jean Meldrum. Chorus of peasants: Laura LeDuc, Hazel Roberts, Bernice Foster, Fern Doremus, Edith Miller, Margaret Cullen, Elizabeth Hogan, Susan Stryker, Margaret Pearson, Edith Hopkins, Clara Shaver, Annie Hugo, Raymond Hopkins, Wallace Webster, Fred Ryan, Don Devey.

BRYAN CLAIMS VINDICATION
Of Democratic Doctrine in Recent Events of Country.

Boston, March 16.—W. J. Bryan was the guest of the Democratic state committee of Massachusetts and at a banquet yesterday afternoon in the Quincy house delivered an address, in which he touched on various points of the school of doctrine, which, he declared, had been vindicated by recent events. Mr. Bryan also conferred with officers of the New England Democratic Press, to arrange a series of lectures in New England. The dinner followed a reception, at which State Democratic Chairman Fenney introduced him as "the foremost figure in American statesmanship."

Mr. Bryan declared that he wrote but little of the platform of 1896 and deserved little of the credit for it, but that he had had more to do with the platform of 1900. "I think," asserted Mr. Bryan, "that if I may venture a prediction," he added, "I would say that in the light of that coming, the Democratic party of this school, and the protection of the small investor against the manipulation of the sharks that have obtained power in Wall street, will be in the coming campaign, but it is certain that he cannot take back what he has said about our ideas."

"Ten years ago they called our ideas insanity, yet on no question that we ever discussed have we been more vindicated than on our idea that more money would make higher prices and better times."

Mr. Bryan charged that the slump in stock prices, which the men in high finance complained, was caused by the very men who are now complaining.

"If I may venture a prediction," he added, "I would say that in the light of that coming, the Democratic party of this school, and the protection of the small investor against the manipulation of the sharks that have obtained power in Wall street, will be in the coming campaign, but it is certain that he cannot take back what he has said about our ideas."

Here Is the Most Remarkable Money-Making Enterprise In the World Today.

One that gives the small investor an opportunity to get in right, that has all the assured prospects in the way of dividends that the most visionary mine promoter can figure out on paper and with none of the chances of a mine, for it is a mercantile and agricultural proposition of the very highest order and is in no way to be compared with a rubber plantation speculation, where the investor has to wait fifteen or twenty years for the trees to grow before he can get dividends.

Our work has progressed to such an extent that it is only necessary now to sell a small amount of stock to complete in a rough way the main road across our property connecting navigable rivers, giving us direct water transportation to the markets of the United States and Europe.

The price of this small block of stock is placed at $7 per share—par value $10, and the most conservative estimate of the earning capacity of 10 shares of stock is

1st working year, profits	$15 for each 10 shares	} Costing $70
2nd working year, profits	$50 for each 10 shares
3rd working year, profits	$300 for each 10 shares
40 shares costing $280 should within 3 years pay you $1,200 a year.

Perhaps these figures read to you like a romance, but they are literally true in the most conservative sense. We have 370,650 acres, or 575 square miles, of the richest rubber lands in the world in the most wonderfully productive territory of the Republic of Peru. We have navigable rivers running through our property and we are only 195 miles from the city of Iquitos, the headquarters of the great Amazon region, which is producing and shipping to market over one-third of the world's supply of rubber of the highest grade.

Geo. von Hassel, Government Engineer, of Peru and a rubber expert of South America, pronounces our lands the "pick of all Peru" and testifies that they contain 7,867,339 Para (Hevea) rubber trees, full grown and produce the finest Para rubber in South America. The government of Peru also officially declares that this region contains millions upon millions of trees, the bulk of which is fine Para and Coucho rubber.

Our vast possessions have been thoroughly explored and inspected four different times and surveyed by the Peruvian Government Engineer and the work on our main road has progressed so far that it is only a question of days before its completion, in a rough way, enabling us to market our rubber.

Understand, we need only a small amount of money to rush our road work and tap our trees. This opportunity to get in at the beginning will not last long. If you will investigate, you will surely find that we are giving you an opportunity that will never be presented to you again.

Remember, that rubber is the standard industry of the Republic of Peru and the Amazon region just as wheat and corn is of Illinois and Iowa. The profits on wheat and corn are known to you but are ridiculously small when compared to the stupendous profits of Peruvian Para rubber.

Remember again, that the statements made in this advertisement may read to you like a romance, a dream of enthusiasts, but no matter what enters your mind in the way of query and doubt, if you wish to make money—if you want to get out of the eternal grind—if you want a competency for yourself all the days of your life, and have your children educated up to your ambition—if you want to cease depositing your hard-earned dollars in savings banks at 3 per cent, so that they can reinvest it again in just such hard-headed money making propositions as this—then consider what we say. Come to our offices, or write us for everything in the way of information that man can give to man. We say, come and hear our proposition—investigate it and us to the limit. Come and see our government documents. Certainly you owe it to yourself as well as to us.

The United States Investor, the most conservative financial paper of New York, Boston and Washington made this report about our company in their issue of Jan. 26th:

"From all that can be learned in this country, this company's stock appears to be a good speculation because the concern has not yet marketed any rubber and has not had the problems of actual production to meet. It is a large tract of land the company owns, the advanced stage of the work and the question of the tract to the market. The officers of the company are men who have left positions with good salaries to devote themselves to this company. Admitting that the plan falls short of the full measure of success, that can be figured out on paper, there still remains an excellent prospect of success."

It is not our intention to present this to you in the usual "hurry up, get in the band wagon" style, "as the stock is going to increase in price," but we do want you to give the matter immediate consideration, for we know that the small amount of stock which we are now offering at $7 will be taken up within a short time and then the stock will go at once to par.

Taking the Duluth free employment bureau as a standard, the labor situation in this city is still rather quiet, although the prospects of a big rush for men this spring have already been felt to some extent. In an increased demand for men during the first two weeks of March, during February only an average number of men were found positions by the bureau, but March is expected to be a big month.

During the month of February the free employment bureau secured work for a total number of 72 persons, of which all but a few were men. Of the total number, 22 persons were citizens of Duluth, 23 have their homes in other parts of Minnesota, and 17 gave addresses outside of the state altogether. Most of the men during February were sent in to the woods to finish the logging season, while a few were sent out on the railroads for construction work.

The February record will probably be a good deal below the one which will be made during the present month. The total for the first two weeks of the month is 408, of which 174 are Duluthians, 131 residents of Minnesota, and 103 of points outside the state. The lumber companies are still engaged in a few woodmen, but this work will not last much longer. The warm spring sun will soon put a stop to logging operations. Besides the logging, many laborers are being engaged for railroad work in Western Minnesota on the Northern Pacific. The spring rush for men for this work is just beginning at this time.

Here in the city the demand for labor is not very great yet and there will not be much change for two or three weeks. Some contract work is being done and few laborers have been engaged for this, but the supply so far equals the demand. The spring rush in the wholesale business has not yet commenced. Carpenters, masons, and painters will be in great demand within a few weeks, however, and in fact, it is expected that there will be a scarcity of labor of all kinds this spring.

PRO AND CON.

Water has not touched Mrs. Patil's face for seventeen years. She holds that water makes wrinkles and her smooth skin thanks the cold cream with which alone her facial ablutions are performed.

Mrs. Cornwalls-West (Lady Randolph Churchill) imputes her splendid bloom to cold water and to her reputation of all creams and cosmetics, which clog, she claims, the pores, and makes the skin dry and yellow. Booth Tarkington, whose hair is unusually thick, thinks that strong, rich food—plenty of meat three times a day—gives vigor to the scalp. George Bernard Shaw imputes his fine and beautiful gray hair to his vegetarian diet. Vegetables, he holds, keep the hair in a glossy and superb condition.

FAVORED IT AS MAYOR

T. W. Hugo Advocated Forcing Railroads to Pay Assessments.

Extracts From His Annual Messages of Interest Now.

That T. W. Hugo, as mayor, favored the policy of compelling railroads to pay assessments for local improvements is pointed out by members of the Real Estate exchange.

In a letter to the council last week, Mr. Hugo, as chairman of the public affairs committee, urged the aldermen to make an arrangement with the railroad company for the payment of assessments for local improvements. He pointed out that it had nothing before it on which to act, and stated that it stood ready at any time to consider any proposition of the company.

In his annual message to the city council in 1901, Mr. Hugo said, speaking along these lines: "In connection with this subject of assessments, I desire to call to your notice the large amount of exempt property appearing on our tax rolls, by which it will be seen that of the total real property in the city, only about 65 per cent bears its share of the burden of taxation; and this fairness does not stop here, because railroad property is also exempt from the payment of any assessments for public improvements and its share in many cases a half of the whole—has to be borne by the general fund, and consequently by all the taxpayers or by the property holders in the vicinity of such improvements. For instance, in the improvement of Railroad street, which is much needed, the fund would be called on to pay more than a half of the cost as more than a half of the frontage is railroad property."

"Nor does such an unfair method of collecting revenues for the city tend to encourage the city to furnish police and fire protection for property from which it receives no taxes in support of these expenses. These are exactly the grounds upon which the council and the Wisconsin state are contesting at present and on account of which the railroad has broken off negotiations."

Two years later a bill came before the state legislature for a refund from the state treasury to cities making improvements abutting railroad property to equal the assessments which had been levied upon the property. Mayor Hugo warmly endorsed the bill and urged its endorsement by the city council.

His special message to the council upon this occasion reads as follows: "I enclose herewith a copy of a bill which has been presented to the legislature of this state which, as its title indicates, provides for refund from the state treasury to cities of several municipalities of the state of the amount of money which is paid out of the funds of the municipality for the improvement of streets abutting on railroad property, which is exempt because the railroads pay into the state a percentage of their gross earnings in lieu of all other taxes or assessments."

"It is not necessary for me to go at length into a discussion of this question or endeavor for me to point out to you the injustice of this method. Every member of the council is well aware of the hardships imposed on us in being compelled to furnish light and police and fire protection to property worth millions and receive no return into our treasury, and then pay for their street improvements. I have discussed the details of this in my address to your honorable body in 1901, giving values, areas, etc."

"That this bill will need all the assistance this council and other public bodies can render in order to enable them to show the trend of public opinion and encourage them in their efforts."

"I therefore suggest that a resolution be passed by your honorable body, expressing your views on this subject, providing that copies be sent to each of our delegations and authorizing some public official to represent you in St. Paul at such times as his presence may be necessary. Yours respectively, T. W. HUGO."

The same bill came up in the 1903 session of the state legislature and was discussed by the mayor in his message to the city fathers on March 16, 1903, as follows:

"Among the matters in which the city is interested during the present session of the state legislature is that of a refund to the city of that portion of the cost of street improvements which the city pays out of its permanent improvement fund on account of street improvements abutting railroad property. The committee on legislation from your honorable body, the city attorney and the mayor attended a meeting held at the state capital, by the committee to whom it had been referred, and every effort was made to have it reported favorably."

"There is no debate as to the fairness of the bill as presented, and the justice of its claim. Our delegation are doing everything they can for it. This is the most important bill for the city of Duluth that has been presented to the legislature for a long time."

While the bill in question at that time provided that the state treasury, instead of the railroad company, should pay for railroad assessments, it will be seen that the effect, so far as the finances of the city are concerned, was precisely the same.

HUSBAND WOULD SETTLE. From Indiana comes a story of the disfigurement of a very distinguished soldier. It happened at a big dinner, where a lady in a pretty American globe trotter, who asked him to pass a dish of almonds and raisins.

"With pleasure," replied the gallant son of the "cow country," and the lady who have asked for is called in the vernacular kissmish, and that the lady of a kiss attaches to the request."

"Is that so?" answered the woman calmly. "I must consult my husband," and she called across the table to him and told him of the request. "Quite so," he replied, "according to the custom of the country it is a just debt and must be paid; but is the general aware of the arrangement made when we married that I must settle all my wife's liabilities?"

MINNESOTA UNIVERSITY

Minnesota-Illinois Debate May be Held in State Capitol.

Gathering of Students From High Schools and Prep Schools.

Minneapolis, March 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—It has been proposed that the Minnesota-Illinois debate slated for April 5 be held in the senate chamber of the state capitol. The suggestion was made by Mr. Wilson, representative of Hennepin county. The question is "Resolved, That municipalities should seek the solution of their street railway problems through private ownership."

Similar municipal questions have been presented before the legislature during the present session, but those urging that the contest be held in the senate chamber have in view further emphasis of city troubles and the necessity of their solution. A further advantage urged is the impetus to debate and oratory at the university that would result. The proposition is now under advisement with the debating board of the legislature.

Students from Minnesota high schools and preparatory schools flooded the campus today. At chapel time President Northrop addressed them on "Benefits to Be Derived From a College Education." Later the visitors were conducted through the university buildings and were shown about the various departments by professors or assistants in charge, and the mysteries as yet unknown to the prospective university students, were explained.

Dr. Williams also improved his time by interviewing prospective athletic material.

The standard of scholarship at Minnesota, already high, is to be raised even higher. The committee on curriculum has recommended to the university council that the degree of B. A. be conferred upon such students only who have secured a grade higher than "pass" in at least 50 per cent of the amount of work required for graduation. This means that a student who has credits sufficiently high to get a diploma, and formerly the A. B. degree, may now graduate without a degree. The committee has recommended that the degree of B. TWO MEN MEET SUDDEN DEATH

Engineer and Conductor Killed in Collision Near Deer River.

Deer River, Minn., March 16.—In a head-on collision yesterday two freight trains on the Minnesota & International railroad, just beyond Deer River, two men, Frank McVeigh, engineer, and George Martin, conductor, both of this town, were instantly killed.

The collision was between extra freight No. 8, and freight No. 5. No. 8 is said to have disregarded orders to stop at this point, and ran by the station at thirty miles an hour. A few miles beyond Deer River it met freight No. 5. Both trains were going at high speed, and as they met just beyond a curve, the train crews could not see the headlights and avert the accident.

The engines came together with a terrific shock and No. 5 was smashed into junk iron. Engineer McVeigh was crushed to death in the cab, and Conductor Martin was hurled from the top of a freight car. His skull was fractured and he died shortly afterwards.

The train crew of No. 8 escaped injury by jumping just before the collision. Both engines were pulling about twenty box cars, and many of these were broken and splintered.

The dispatcher at Deer River says that the blame of the accident rests entirely upon the crew of No. 8, as they disregarded his signals to stop. The train crew, however, that they saw no signals, and they thought they had clear right of way.

Verde Grande Property Adjoins for More Than a Mile World-Famous United Verde Rapid, Successful Development Work Now Being Carried On

(The above topographical map is made from photographs, blue prints and maps, and shows quite accurately the approximate location of the principal Copper properties in the Verde District.)

FAMOUS UNITED VERDE COPPER PROPERTY, WITH VERDE GRANDE PROPERTY ON OPPOSITE SIDE OF HILL.
Showing United Verde smelter and proposed smelter and plant of Verde Grande Company. The United Verde pays to its stockholders dividends of over $6,000,000 annually, and is said to be working in a veritable mountain of Rich Copper Ore, with sufficient ore already blocked out to last for thirty years. The Verde Grande adjoins the United Verde property for a distance of more than a mile, and mining experts state that the geology of the two properties is identical. The town of Jerome is shown in foreground of illustration.

Final Offering of Verde Grande Treasury Stock

Only a Small Allotment of Treasury Stock to Be Sold. The Cash Assets of the Company Assure the Success of the Property From a Financial Standpoint.

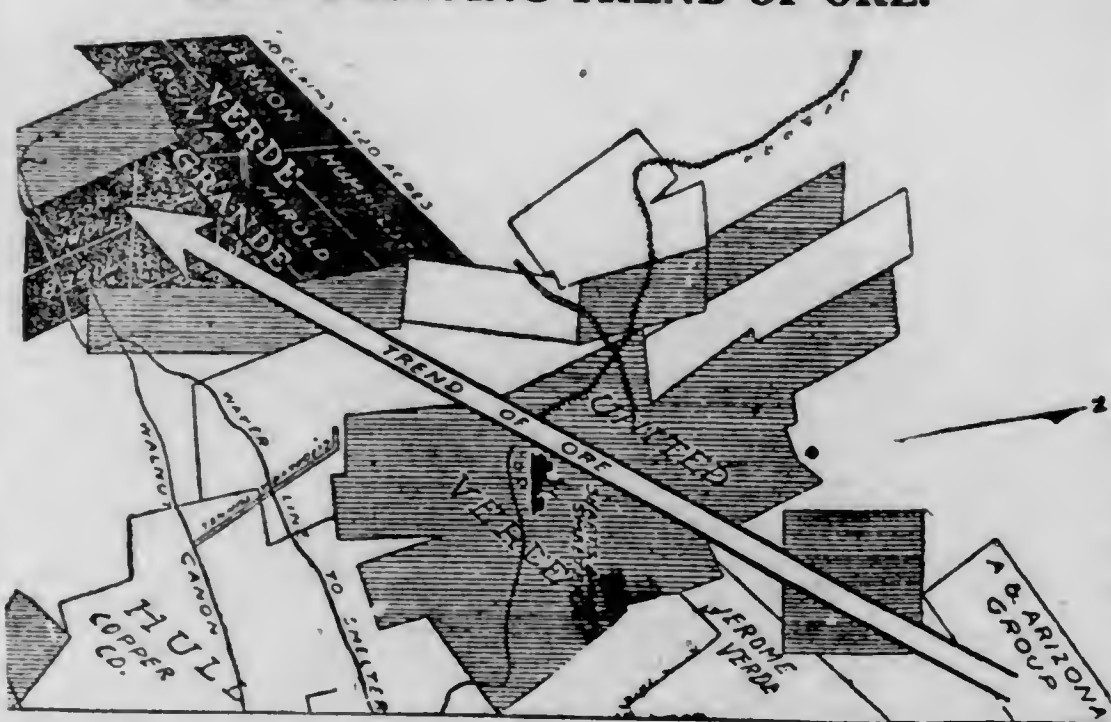

DEVELOPMENT WORK PUSHED AT VERDE GRANDE.

Special Dispatch to The Herald.
Jerome, Ariz., Feb. 2.—It is authoritatively stated that the assets of the new Verde Grande Copper Company of Jerome, including cash in the treasury and bills receivable, now amounts to $250,000. The company is being financed in Kansas City, and in view of the success of the flotation the backers of the enterprise are naturally expressing a considerable degree of satisfaction over the outlook. Development work at the property is being very actively pushed, the main shaft is being well timbered, and a large hoisting plant is to be installed at an early date. The Verde Grande property directly adjoins the United Verde claims, and experts state that the Verde Grande shafts will undoubtedly encounter the identical sulphide beds which are now yielding millions annually to the owners of the famous Clark property. The development of the Verde Grande and a number of other very promising properties in the vicinity of Jerome, including the North Verde, the Cleopatra, and the Black Hills group, will signify much to the district during the coming months.

VERDE GRANDE FORMATION SAME AS THAT OF UNITED VERDE.

Following are a few brief statements from the report of James B. Girard, civil and mining engineer of Prescott, Arizona, whose opinion concerning the Verde Grande property is worth more than pages of argument: "I have had more than ten years of experience in Arizona copper camps. I believe I have been in every camp of importance in the territory. I can say that I believe the Verde Grande offers the best field for judicious expenditure of money of any property of like situation in the Territory of Arizona. "The geology of this group is identical with that of the United Verde, being diabase, with schist dykes and lime cappings. You can make no mistake by sinking on this property." This testimony, coming from such a well-known authority as Mr. Girard, who is Deputy United States Mineral Surveyor for Arizona, speaks for itself. Even were this land not located right next to the United Verde, its unusual mineral showings would cause it to be picked out as a splendid copper property.

MAP SHOWING TREND OF ORE.

NOTE.—The above map illustrates the theory advanced relative to the trend of the ore deposits as demonstrated by work done on the Arkansas & Arizona Verde Grande, compared with the results obtained in the United Verde. The map is an accurate one showing the splendid location of the Verde Grande property. (From March issue of "Front & Loss," Denver, Colo.)

OPINION OF FORMER UNITED VERDE EMPLOYEE

Red River, N. M., Oct. 20, '06.
Mr. Chas. B. Rudd, Kansas City, Mo.
Dear Sir: Enclosed find P. O. order to cover first payment on 20 more shares of Verde Grande stock. This makes a total of 40 shares. If it was possible for me to do it, I would carry all I could get of it, but as I am just a miner at day's pay, I can't do it. I realize the wonderful possibilities of your property, perhaps better than a great many of your investors, as I have worked a great deal in the United Verde mine, the property that adjoins you on the north side of the hill. I worked under Mr. McDermott's supervision and was acquainted with Mr. Taylor. In the Verde mine I worked what was known as the 60-Chrome stop. Between the 60 and 50-foot level the ore body is 60 feet between the walls. The walls were porphyry and schist. This ore body extends south of the old shaft, and on the Hampton ground they were mining when I worked there.

I have known Mr. Scott's property for a long time, and have been watching closely for any advertisement in regard to it being on the market, and you can bet I was tickled when I saw the advertisement in Everyday Life, a magazine I subscribe for. From what I know of the country around Jerome and as far south as Cherry Creek, I am positive that as soon as they reach a depth below 30 feet on the schist and porphyry contact, they will open up big an ore body as there is in the United Verde. I concluded from my personal observations, both in the mine and on the surface, that the trend of the Verde ore channel was through the ridge to Walnut Creek, and I believe it will be found still further south. In conclusion will say that if I had a thousand dollars in cash I would stake it on Verde Grande, for she will be a winner. Hoping this will reach you in time to reserve me 20 more shares, I am, Respectfully yours, (Signed) RICHARD P. KELLY.

VERDE GRANDE STOCK IN HIGH DEMAND.

There are few mining propositions in which all the elements necessary to success are combined as they are in the Verde Grande. This property is located right alongside one of the world's most famous copper properties, the United Verde, which it closely resembles in geological formation. Eminent mining engineers say that if the great bodies of copper sulphide ore which contribute the immense richness to the United Verde do not exist on the Verde Grande property, then indications count for naught, and the science of mine engineering is a failure. They state that the immense sulphide body of the United Verde extends in a southwesterly direction through the ridge across the Verde Grande property. One eminent mining engineer states that he has ridden over the property and traced the surface indications of this ore body through the Verde Grande claims. The work of financing the company has been remarkably successful. In view of this fact, it is reported that the treasury stock will soon be withdrawn from the market. When it is withdrawn from the market, there is no question but that the price will rapidly advance. Work is going forward at the mines as rapidly as men and money and experienced management can advance it. A large, double-compartment shaft, fully timbered, is being sunk and it is expected to encounter the sulphide ore body at a depth of 40 to 50 feet. Once this is accomplished, Verde Grande stock will climb rapidly to par. A full complement of hoisting machinery is being installed and every facility for carrying on the work has been arranged for. —From Investor's Guide.

Why Verde Grande Stock Is Being Sold at 15 Cents a Share.

Development work of the most substantial nature is being carried on night and day at the Verde Grande property, and in order that this development work may be completed without any delay whatever, the last allotment of this stock will be sold at 15 cents per share. Considering the excellent location of the Verde Grande property and the exceptional merit of the property itself, this offer has probably not been duplicated in the history of copper mining.

As soon as this allotment of stock is exhausted, there will be no more for sale. Reservation orders will be accepted until this allotment is exhausted, and money will be promptly returned to those whose subscriptions are received too late. The Company reserves the right to reject any reservation orders. The prediction is freely made that Verde Grande stock will go to par within a year.

ence which we have had, you will at once take such action as is necessary to so organize your field and office force, either by way of redistribution or concentration as will make it possible to most effectively carry out the order of the president.

All regulations or instructions in conflict herewith are revoked. In discussing this order Secretary Garfield said today:

This order is one of unusual importance to the citizens of the public land states, involving as it does about 10,000,000 acres of land, and a large number of locations and selections which have accumulated in the general land office pending examination before the issuance of patents. Included in these are about 2,000 homesteads, 7,000 timber and stone and other cash entries, and about 500 mineral entries.

"To bring the work up to date the clerical force of the general land office are working overtime, and will be employed fully ten weeks.

"The order does not affect coal land areas, but these will be covered immediately by subsequent orders and directions.

Because of the failure of congress to provide for the necessary appropriation for the necessary field inspections, the work cannot proceed as rapidly as desired, but the force and means now available will be used to the utmost limit to expedite the patenting of lands where the entries have complied with the law in good faith.

F. C. Tolle's Absence Will Not Interfere With People's Brewery.

Ninety-five of the stockholders in the People's Brewing company of Duluth were present at a meeting held yesterday afternoon at Eagles' hall to discuss the absence of F. C. Tolle, the promoter of the company, who left Duluth last week, after announcing through the papers that the project would be abandoned.

It is claimed that Mr. Tolle's absence will not interfere in the least with carrying out the plans of the project. President P. Doran yesterday gave assurance to this effect. The other directors made addresses to the same effect, and some of the stockholders spoke.

COLUMBIA PHONOGRAPH COMPANY

18 Third Avenue West, Duluth.

THIRD AND LAST TRIP OF "SEEING DULUTH" AUTO

Unique Machine Visits East End and Lester Park.

Latter Suburb is Known as the Boston of Duluth.

Ladies and gentlemen, this being the last of the "Seeing Duluth" tours I wish to impress on your minds that if you wish to take it in you must stop at this way lay as there are a limited number of seats, and first come first served. All right, ladies and gentlemen. Hand me your money and take your seats. Nobody's money is refused. It is the right way, and you all comfortably seated? Then we are off. This trip will traverse the East end of the city.

The building we are passing now is the Torrey building. It is the highest thing in Duluth except rent. It's so high that when the elevators in the building are out of commission, those who are employed on the top floors do not work. To walk up to these offices takes nearly half a day, it then being time to go for the next meal.

This is the Glass Block. It is so large that many people get lost in it while shopping. It thus makes necessary for the proprietors to install a telegraph station and postal sub-station so that those who were lost could wire their friends and have a searching party sent for them.

Continuing we arrive at Lake avenue. This is the dividing line between Duluth and West of here, all the factories where the money is made are located. East of here all the money is spent in fine houses and automobiles.

On one side of this dividing line "The Builders" reside, and on the other side "The Spendthrifts."

A short distance further east we arrive at the city hall. Here it is. We will stop a minute and pass a few comments on it. Upstairs is the machine shop where the aldermen make the ordinances. Downstairs is the vault where these ordinances are kept. Formerly the custom to make these ordinances for the people to keep, but poor stewards of these things they are, therefore, put in the vault. The key to the lid is kept here. People who are taking their political medicine here have them treated by the city dentist.

According to a recent communication addressed to the council this place was called the "hotbed of anarchy and riot."

Pursuing our course, we pass the Army building. You can see it on the next street. It has no particular interest to us except being a place where Mr. Jacobson was handed the lemon one day last summer. It is also used as a gymnasium by the police once a year, which is the occasion of the policeman's ball.

This building we are passing is a brewery. You will observe that an addition is being built to it. That sign of the near approach of summer.

You will notice the extreme width of the street here. This is where the road converges into Superior street. The street is so wide here that people seldom attempt to cross it, except when they have a guide. We will have last chance to get a drink till we return to the city. Please notice the fountain for trial purposes.

We have now arrived at the East end. Here is where the people who have swollen fortunes reside. The more inflated the fortunes the larger the house where it is kept. This, of course, is merely complying with the law of house and effect. This part of the city is noted also for the famous bridge whist tournaments which are held here.

This street, ladies and gentlemen, is where the famous "loop" is going to be laid by the street car company. It is rumored that if built it will be chased by Ringling Bros., and exhibited as the missing link. As far as we Duluth people are concerned it is still missing.

At the end of the street you will observe the normal school. Here it is that young lady who has domestic sciences so that they will make good housewives. Others are absorbing knowledge which they intend later to impart to the young generation. It may however have been proven that this class of girls get married as soon as they leave school, and that the domestic science girls become "bachelor maids" and school teachers.

Please note the steepness of this hill. The cars go so fast as to make it impossible on one occasion a nervous man was heard to ask if there was an insurance man on the car who would insure his life. It is the only case on record of anyone looking for an insurance man.

Here we arrive at the golf club. You will note that it is a very pretentious place. It is kept open about four months a year. Its chief purpose is to give the caddies an opportunity of earning a little spending money during vacation and to give men of leisure a chance to wear shirts without sleeves and thin trousers during the warm spells. A little further and we are at Lakeside.

The rapidly with which Lakeside is being built up is remarkable. This is the way it is done. The real estate man comes out here with a sign that reads "house for sale" which he sticks up on some vacant lot. He then goes up town looking for a buyer. In a few hours he returns and the house is all up and ready for occupancy. This is the manner of building homes as accredited to the loan and building associations which have been organized recently.

We have now arrived at Lester Park. This place is known as the Boston of Duluth. More literary and foreign mission societies flourish here than in any similar amount of space in this country.

On our previous tours you noticed that the only dimensions the city possessed were height and length. Here however we find length and breadth. It might also be appropriate to tell you at this time, that in the summer time people come out here to get a breath of fresh air. This is in nature, for as we said before there is more breadth here than anywhere else in the city. That road to your right is London road. As many people who own automobiles cannot go to Ormond beach in Florida to speed their machines this road here has been converted into a speedway for them. Some records have been broken on this road.

This building we are passing is the Lakeside Hotel. That is what it is called. However the real purpose of the place is as a sanitarium where disabled persons recuperate. It is said that this fire company was called out once to a fire but the records do not certify the statement, which is merely tradition.

This is the real Lester Park. You will note that it is a pretty place. It is owned by the city, but as too many cooks spoil the broth, it was deemed a wise thing to turn it over to the city of one person. This park is the place where people leave all their money during the summer, its chief purpose being to increase the holdings of the street car company.

Returning to the city by the way of London road I wish to call your attention to this excellent roadway. This road was not built by the city commissioners, and as a result we have one of the best driveways in the country. It is a competitor of the boulevard, though monopolized by autoists; people who only have horses being driven to the hillsides.

Please note the large number of people who are going into the 10-cent lunch stand. These people are those who forgot to sell their Carman when it was sixteen pence.

That "corporal's guard" which you are coming out of the Lyceum is the audience which attends one of the world's greatest artists by one of the world's greatest artists. You will infer from this that these artists are not quite so popular as you think. "The Ham Tree." Those people on the corner are still laughing at the jokes they heard at the above mentioned play.

That funny sound you hear is made by a class of students who are taking lessons in up-to-date slang. To use up-to-date slang is to indicate that you are well educated and is a greater accomplishment than if you could speak half a dozen foreign languages.

You will observe the additional stories being added to this building. Perhaps you will wonder why this work is done in the winter time. The reason is this: In the summer time all the laboring men and mechanics are at various summer resorts or their vacation and do not return till fall. Under the circumstances, whatever work is done must be done during the winter. Labor unions are responsible for the conditions just spoken of.

Ladies and gentlemen, concludes our "seeing Duluth" tours as it will soon be impossible to use the streets. Each year the pavements are torn up in numerous places for reasons that no one can explain and the streets are rendered impassible.

About Duluth, you know as much as we do, and you should therefore be satisfied. All out here, everyone, so we can put the machine to rest and go home and get up again. We wish to inform you that the statements made by us on these occasions as much as if not more than facts, and we decline to be sued for libel on account of any of them.

Questions and Answers.

Dear Sir—Which would you rather do, ride on the Northern Pacific's Fond du Lac train or live in Superior?

Answer—We would rather take poison. It's quicker.

A True Story.

Once upon a time there were two young men who happened to be harboring $100 a piece at one and at the same time.

That this circumstance in itself was unusual, will be shown by the statement that one of these fellows was a to pass in committee of the whole yesterday afternoon.

Senator Sullivan's bill appropriating $10,000 for a water plant at the state prison was recommended to pass by the senate committee on the finance committee.

The senate approved the Vollmer bill amending the law limiting the state prison workers to 10 per cent of the number of convicts employed in similar industries of the state, so as to provide that it shall not apply to binding twins, barb wire or harvesting machinery.

A bill raising the salary of the chief of police from $2,500 to $4,000, or rather permitting the board of police commissioners to raise it, has passed both houses. It was put up to the police commission because only in that way could a bill be passed not applying to Duluth, which has no police commission. However, a bill has been introduced providing for a police commission in all cities over 50,000, and if it passes, and Duluth gets a police commission, it will have the authority to raise the salary of the Duluth chief.

Nothing has yet been done by the St. Louis county delegation with the bill regulating the salaries of county officers in St. Louis county. It was put over to see what was going to be done by the legislature with the iron taxes of the county, but it will probably be taken up soon and the salaries fixed. In the meantime several bills regulating salaries of judges of probate, intended to reach certain counties, are on the way through the hopper, and as each of them comes to the code provision as to all salaries except those intended to be changed, each of these bills, if they become law, will work to fix the salary of the judge of probate of St. Louis county at $4,500, the figure given in the code.

Representative Saari gained a little time on his bill providing for a state inspector of mines yesterday, by having the rules suspended so far as to give the bill its second reading and place it on general orders. If it had not been for this motion the bill would have had to go to the appropriations committee, which would have involved more or less delay.

The house committee on taxes and tax laws met yesterday afternoon, but the hour of meeting was set for 2 o'clock, and as the house met at that time it was impossible to get a quorum. The committee will probably meet early next week.

The committee that is investigating the Minneapolis chamber of commerce and the Duluth board of trade was to have continued its hearing on the Minneapolis exchange yesterday afternoon, but as the senate was in session the hearing was postponed until next Wednesday afternoon.

Senator Calhoun rescued his pure food bill, which had been killed by the senate committee on pure food, yesterday. He moved that the bill be printed and placed on general orders, motion was adopted. The bill applies the federal pure food law as the law of this state, and it was opposed because it does not bar coal tar dyes in candy, which the state law now prohibits.

BUY NOW

A handsome profit earner is what you want. You can't readily sell the other kind of a stock, should you ever find it necessary to do so.

A stock well bought is half sold, and a dividend-paying stock usually brings a mighty good price. It takes more than rich ore bodies to insure dividends for a mining stock. The honesty and ability of the management has lots to do with it. This, however, applies to any channel of trade. Dishonest or incompetent management will ruin a dry goods concern or a bank as quickly as it will a mining company. On the other hand, a mine, however valuable, without good management is practically useless to the stockholder.

No one cares to buy stock that won't some time bear profits, regardless of how cheap it may be purchasable. THE ARIZONA COPPER-GOLD MINES COMPANY STOCK IS A STOCK THAT WILL ALWAYS BE POPULAR AND SALABLE. I VENTURE THE ASSERTION THAT NO STOCK OF A MINING COMPANY EVER JUMPED UP IN PRICE OR VALUE QUICKER THAN WILL THE STOCK OF THIS COMPANY, UNLESS IT WAS MANIPULATED.

The valuable properties of this Company, its management, its conservative capitalization, its freedom from any pressing financial obligations, its clear title to properties and all other elements necessary to the welfare of an investor, make the stock of the Arizona Copper-Gold Mines Company one of the most desirable on the market.

At the price at which you can buy it, you should double your money if not quadruple it in a few weeks or months at most, provided you prefer to sell out rather than hold your stock and reap the benefit of the dividends that this Company is expected to earn and pay.

This property is one of double value. It is both gold and copper. From the gold ores alone it is estimated that a daily profit of from $500.00 to $1,000.00 can be made. These ore bodies are well developed with nearly one mile of shafts, drifts, etc., nearly all in ore. About $70,000.00 has been spent in proving them and in supplying a ten-stamp mill, hoists and other necessary machinery.

The vast copper bodies that underlie the gold ores show values of from 5 per cent to 9 per cent, the importance of which values can be appreciated when you realize that, at the present market price of copper (the metal), 2 per cent value can be worked profitably.

These copper deposits of the Arizona Copper-Gold Mines Company are believed to be as vast as probably any copper deposit in the Territory of Arizona, and some of these others are paying millions in profits, annually, to stockholders. Those of the A. C. G. M. Co. have been developed sufficiently to fully demonstrate their magnitude, but they are of exceeding value and if a less conservative company owned them they would tell you of their value in type a foot high. The double earning power of this Company makes the investment exceptionally attractive.

It is the purpose of this Company to immediately begin operating the properties upon the largest possible scale, and for this purpose additional funds are at once required. Enough stock has already been subscribed by the more intelligent class of investors to justify a material increase in the price. This increase will take place on or before the 30th day of this month.

This Company is not after the savings of weak-minded people or of widows and orphans. If you are a money-saver and desire to place a portion of your funds in the hands of men of unquestioned mining ability and absolute financial honesty and where the properties to be operated are capable of earning substantial profits, I can say to you, man to man, that you can not possibly do better than to buy a block of this stock at the present price of 30 cents per share cash or 35¢ per share on installments.

It is my business to find profitable investments for money-savers. I could not permanently succeed in business unless I made money for my customers. I could not do a general brokerage business. I could not sell only such securities as have first been passed upon by my experts and legal advisers, who investigate every conceivable point, element or condition that involves the investors' welfare.

If you trust my judgment in this matter you will not regret it. Every facility will be given you for investigating the properties, the Company, its officers and directors.

I will pay $1,000.00 cash to any one who proves that the officers, directors and management of this Company are not thoroughly competent and honorable, and that the properties owned by this Company are not as represented.

Pierce Underwood

Will Be Increased 30% or More in Few Days

The price at which this stock is being sold is now very much less than it is estimated to be worth. A limited amount of this stock is offered at 30 cents per share cash, or 35 cents per share if paid in six (6) equal monthly installments.

This ridiculously low price was made simply to make it worth the while of the public to invest without delay and thus give the Company sufficient available funds to speedily arrange for operations on the largest possible scale at the earliest possible date. Subscriptions of sufficient magnitude are now in hand to insure this and the price of stock will be increased on or about the 30th day of this month. The increase will be 30 per cent or more.

There will be further rapid increases in the price until it reaches $1.00 per share, its par value.

It will hold at that figure until the earnings of the Company are such as to indicate about what dividends can be depended upon. Then the price of the stock will be increased to be commensurate with its value. This price will in all likelihood be several dollars per share.

You will make a bigger profit by subscribing at once than by delaying until the price is raised.

To double, treble or quadruple the amount you invest, in a period of a few months, is not often possible. It is regarded as both possible and probable if you buy this stock.

NOTICE.

This company is wholly reliable and responsible, and consequently it does not exonerate or make misleading statements concerning its enterprise. It does not seek investment from the feeble-minded or from the orphan class. Any person considering investment in this company should investigate and will find this a safe and profitable investment opportunity, and it is the opinion of investors that the subscription to the Arizona Copper-Gold Mines Company stock is pouring in.

HISTORY.

The copper and gold deposits of Arizona are, as a rule, peculiar in their formation, insofar as the gold ore lies at or near the surface, and underneath the oxidized ore, heavily impregnated with gold. It is the purpose of this Company to immediately begin operating the properties upon the largest possible scale, and for this purpose additional funds are at once required. Enough stock has already been subscribed by the more intelligent class of investors to justify a material increase in the price. This increase will take place on or before the 30th day of this month.

STOCK SELLING FAST TO SHREWD BUYERS.

BANKERS, LAWYERS and business men generally figure that more money can be made from buying stock in a reliable company, operating a real mining property of demonstrated worth, than buying mining stock in a company that has a prospect, however important that prospect may appear to be. This accounts for the large number of inquiries and the rapid selling of the stock of the Arizona Copper-Gold Mines Company. It is the good index of investors who are buying this stock, rather than those who are anxious to take long chances with their money.

RAILROADS MAY REDUCE THE WAGES

Stopping of Railroad Construction Work Will Affect Labor.

Spokane Alleges Discrimination in Freight Rates to West.

If the railroads carry out their threats of stopping new construction work for the time being, as a result of the new-fare legislation, common labor probably will not command so big a scale of wages the coming summer as has been expected. Even lower wages may be paid than was the case last year.

No claim is made that all new construction work will be stopped. Some of the roads, such as the Soo and the Milwaukee, with important extensions either being built or projected, have said nothing about stopping construction operations, but enough others have made such threats as to make it appear that there will be great suffering of common labor.

Word was received in Duluth this morning to the effect that all construction work on the Milwaukee extension from Antigo to Elton, in Wisconsin, had been ordered stopped, and the men discharged with the contract still incomplete. The contractors will be set to work for what work they already have done.

The Harriman lines are said to have discharged several hundred men to cut down expenses, and some of the other Western roads say they will do the same thing. If very many men are thrown out of work in this fashion, it will naturally mean a better supply of labor for the railroads as continue with their plans concerning work of construction.

DISCRIMINATION.

Interstate Commerce Commission Will Consider Complaint of Spokane.

Chicago, March 15.—The complaint of the city of Spokane, Wash., of discrimination in freight rates from the Eastern cities as compared with rates to the Pacific coast cities will be heard by the interstate commerce commission on Monday in the United States court room in this city.

A plea is made for the same rates from Chicago and New York to Spokane as apply to the Pacific coast terminals, because Spokane is a free port. New York is a free port, and the coast cities are not. The St. Paul road is handling Spokane coal at a higher rate than New York from New York.

The Hepburn bill, as interpreted by the commission, will have a tendency to make many shippers in existing tariffs, and after wrestling with the problem for more than a week, the transcontinental railroad companies have agreed to a reduction of the Western lines goes to Washington to take the matter over to the commission and get an understanding as to what the association can do in reconciling the two tariffs. If one of the class rate tariffs is abolished and the other is extended to cover the entire West, Spokane's complaint will not have any basis as to class rates.

The case promises to be fought hard, as Chicago will interpose an objection to making the rate to Spokane the same from both New York and Chicago, as will increase the competition of the local commercial interests.

COBALT METAL VERY VALUABLE

Report That President of Nipissing Has Made Important Find.

This is the latest on the Cobalt camp from a New York paper:

"Samuel Newhouse has just returned from a mysterious trip to Salt Lake City, with an announcement that after his arrival in New York. He has discovered a new and valuable metal produced in Cobalt has been lost in the treatment of ore to date.

The metal has not yet been detected by the smelters, or at least they have said nothing to the public about it or to the mine owners. Public announcement of the name of this metal cannot be made at this time, but it is present in very large quantities and will make the ore immensely more valuable than they have ever been suspected of being. The new discovery is four times as valuable as gold.

As a result of this discovery the Nipissing directors immediately voted more money to begin construction of a smelting plant at Cobalt. Shipments of ore will be suspended and the smelter will be in operation by midsummer at the latest.

The company now has about $600,000 surplus in the shape of cash and ore in transit, and will pay the regular dividend for the coming quarter, but will probably omit the extra dividend which has been paid every quarter. The directors believe the new discovery will welcome this change of policy, as the money to be expended for a smelter will be multiplied rapidly by profits.

Mr. Newhouse had a carload of all the different kinds of ores shipped to Salt Lake City, where he has spent considerable time reducing them. He brings back to New York the result of his operations in the shape of bars of pure silver, bars of cobalt, bars of nickel, bottles full of arsenic in powder form and in the shape of metal, and a large bottle filled with the new metal. In this connection it is an open fair to the stockholders of Nipissing who have stood by their shares, to state that the gambling element, which was kicked out of the company, is resorting to desperate means to get back. It is trying to break the stock and is in every way seeking to embarrass the new management. The stock is being accumulated by persons thoroughly informed. So surprising is the new turn of affairs for the Cobalt camp that it is now as certain as anything can be in mining that this spring will see a greater boom than ever in this silver camp."

LATE DOINGS IN UPPER MICHIGAN

Little Paid With Life in Carelessness With a Lantern.

Escanaba.—The careless use of a lantern was responsible for the partial wrecking of the chemical plant of the Cleveland Iron company, and the death of Harry Little, engineer at the plant. Little wished to ascertain how near empty a vat was that had contained a solution of alcohol and tar. He lowered a lantern into it and there was a terrific explosion.

Little's body was blown more than 100 feet, and he was instantly killed.

Marquette.—Notwithstanding that its rates are as low, if not lower than and that provided anywhere in the state, Marquette's municipal lighting plant is a money maker. The annual report of the commission under whose auspices the institution is conducted shows that during the year ending March 13, last, a business amounting to $74,335 was done. About $30,000 of this is credited to the shop account, on which no profit is derived, all work of this nature being done at actual cost. The total income from the electric plant was $50,087. There was expended on new construction nearly $10,000, with $3,210 more on interest account, yet after allowing liberally for depreciation there is shown a net revenue of $28,136 to the credit of the plant. The commission has on hand now cash to the amount of $30,310, as against $14,562, a year ago, or about one-half the estimated cost of the proposed new plant to be built this year, which will enable the city to do a considerably larger light and power business.

Munising.—The $100,000 of bonds which the Alger county road commission was recently authorized to issue, have been sold to Farach, Sons & Co., of Chicago. The bonds bear interest at the rate of 3 per cent. The funds realized will be applied to the construction of county roads.

Iron Mountain.—Despite the near approach of the season of navigation, with its cheaper transportation rates, the Michigan copper mines are hustling their product eastward as rapidly as possible in order to secure the benefit of the prevailing high prices for the metal. The St. Paul road is handling, as much as sixteen carloads daily, rushing it to the Atlantic seaboard by special train.

Marquette.—A school for the deaf is to be established in Marquette, in the board of education. Six pupils, the number required to secure state aid, have been enrolled and will become regular students. This assures an annual income of $600, from the state treasury, which it is figured, will be sufficient to meet the expense of maintenance.

Grand Marais.—An audit of his books is said to have disclosed a shortage of $1400 in the accounts of George Wilson, former county treasurer and now register of deeds of Alger county. It is charged that Wilson has lost money at the card table, but his friends are of the opinion that further investigation may disclose the alleged discrepancy in funds to be due to carelessness in bookkeeping. However, the county will not lose in any event, Wilson having been bonded in a surety company.

St. Ignace.—The sawmill of John Godkin, located nine miles southeast of Whitefish, and barely a stone's throw across Mackinac county's western line, has been located and is being taken apart, and the machinery shipped to New Brunswick, Canada, for future operation. Godkin is a local city resident who acquired a tract of standing timber on the Miskakia and Bulldog rivers in 1891, building the mill at the mouth of the former stream. It was an unprofitable investment from the start, it is said.

Iron River.—Already a large producer of iron ore, there is a prospect that Iron county, Michigan, may become a source of gold production as well. What has been achieved local fame as the Paul gold mine opened on the Peter Paul homestead at Atkinson, purchased some months ago by Charles T. Brown, is to be given a substantial test to determine its mineral worth. The homesteader, Paul, spent considerable time and money in an endeavor to prove up the property. He succeeded in sinking a shaft to a depth of 100 feet, and took out considerable rich rock. Early this spring the present owner will run a drift across the ore formation, and in the event that sufficient pay ground is encountered the property will be made a producer.

GASHED HIS WRISTS.

Traveling Man, Formerly of St. Paul, Attempts Suicide.

Moorhead, Minn., March 16.—William Bengen, a traveling man, formerly employed by Koehler & Heinrichs of St. Paul, attempted suicide in a room in the Arcade Hotel. He gashed his wrists and was discovered plunging a knife into his chest. His chances for recovery are doubtful.

St. Paul, March 16.—Bengen was employed by Koehler & Heinrichs of this city, until late last fall, when he left the city and the last heard from him locally was that he was traveling in the Northwest territories. He was 32 years of age, and unmarried. While in St. Paul he lived at 255 East Third street.

EVENTFUL WEEK ENDS WITH HOPEFUL FEELING

The Week Saw Some Amazing Fluctuations in Prices.

Bears Hunt Cover and Copper Shares Have Good Rally.

This has been a heart breaking week in many respects, for speculators in copper shares, but the worst is apparently over, and the market closed today in a veritable bear route, with the owners once more feeling very hopeful and optimistic.

The week was probably one of the most eventful in the history of the copper craze in Duluth, and the fluctuations have been most violent. Those who owned their stocks outright could not watch the wild change without little concern, where they felt convinced of the real value of their shares, but it was the kind of a market that adds gray hairs to the heads of the dealers in margins. Those who were able to hold on through Thursday's crash, have recovered a goodly percentage of their losses yesterday and today, but many were wiped out completely, and had to let go when the bottom fell out of the list.

The following table will give some idea of the amazing fluctuations that have taken place during the week in some of the favorite stocks. Tuesday being the high day and Thursday the low:

	Tues.	Thurs.	Sat.
North Butte	103.10	77.10	85.10
Amalgamated	103.10	77.10	85.10
Anaconda	103.10	77.10	85.10
Butte Coalition	103.10	77.10	85.10
Calumet & Ariz.	103.10	77.10	85.10
Greene-Canaan	103.10	77.10	85.10
Greene Cons.	103.10	77.10	85.10
Superior & Pitts.	103.10	77.10	85.10
Globe Cons.	103.10	77.10	85.10
Calumet & Ariz.	103.10	77.10	85.10

The market was quiet today, but prices improved steadily. North Butte opened at $93.50, declined to $92.50, closed at $93.50 and $92.50. Anaconda opened at $93.50, declined to $92.50, closed at $93.50 and $92.50. Amalgamated opened at $93.50, declined to $92.50, closed at $93.50 and $92.50. Calumet & Arizona opened at $93.50, declined to $92.50, closed at $93.50 and $92.50.

Home Building Made Easy

AVE YOU a bunch of rent receipts. Are they of any value? Receipts for five years represent $1,500 to $2,000—which you have simply thrown away. If five years ago you had purchased a house on our new system of Home Building plan, you would own that house now in the place of receipts for $1,500 to $2,000. You also would have the comfort of a home for the past five years. What's more, that house would be worth $500 to $1,000 more than when you purchased it. Let us explain our new Home Building System.

DULUTH REAL ESTATE IS COMING INTO ITS OWN

Market More Active This Week Than for Long Time Past—Many Large Sales Have Been Made and Other Deals of Importance Are Being Negotiated—Lively Demand for Central Property.

The local real estate market has been more active this past week than for any other period for a few months past. During the week there have been a number of large sales closed, and negotiations have either been started or brought near a close on a number of other big deals.

The undertone to the market is by far the strongest that it has been this year, and the brokers are looking forward to a continued period of activity. The sales that have been made, and which are now being closed up, show a substantial advance in local realty values over the prices demanded for the same properties two and three years ago, especially the centrally located business property, and there is a much stronger tendency toward buying for speculation.

The slump in the stock market seems to have met with a corresponding activity in the realty market, though none of those in the business seem to think that one had any bearing on the other. One impression seems prevalent, however, that Duluth realty, into which some of the stock investors put their profits during the past several months, has established beyond any doubt the permanency of its value as compared with the present value of copper.

An instance was cited by a local real estate broker yesterday of a range mining man, who recently made a profit in copper stock, and instead of putting the profit back into stock, bought a Duluth lot on speculation. Today the mining man is congratulating himself for the early purchase, although at the time it was more a matter of whim than anything else; in fact, it is said to be the first time he ever bought real estate on speculation. He expects to sell the lot when it doubles its present value, and by the way things have been moving of late it seems very much as though he would not have to wait very long.

Commenting on the local situation, "Until now I have, generally speaking, advised the purchase of only centrally located property, but it is now time to buy acres. Well located acres, bought at right prices, will make very handsome returns, in fact, when acres become valuable on account of the growth of a city, they increase in value, and by the way things have been moving of late it seems this very important fact in their favor, that they will always, no matter what happens, have some value, whereas a mining proposition either turns out a big thing or goes bump entirely. "City acres in Duluth can be bought at farm land prices. Surely that ought to satisfy the most conservative. The rise in the value of acreage will be much more rapid than the increase in value of our central property.

"You won't be able to study the situation for three or four years as you have inside property. When the advance comes it will be so rapid that it will take your breath away. It will come over night and you will then wonder why you didn't buy."

The largest reported sale of the week in local business property was the transfer of the Mason store and building, on First street, between Third and Fourth avenues west, from M. P. Mason, an Eastern investor, to Mary Leflohic of this city, for $47,500. The purchaser was represented by Stryker, Manley & Buck, who built the structure over ten years ago for Mr. Mason, and the seller was represented by R. B. Knox & Co. The Mason flats, as they are commonly called, comprise a brick store and flat building, 50 by 140 feet, and three stories high. The sale to Mary Leflohic was made on a valuation basis of about $500 per front foot for the ground, and $22,500 for the building. The sale is the fifth that has been made on First street, between Third and Fifth avenues west, inside of three weeks, and is simply another straw showing which way the speculative wind is blowing as regards the location of the future centrally located business properties. There are other First street deals of importance being negotiated.

The largest sale of residence property this week was that of the Spencer house, or Gridley property, as it is sometimes termed, on the east side of Tenth avenue east, between Superior street and London road. The property was sold by Emma Gridley to F. W. Paine, who owns the adjoining residence property, for $11,000. The deal is understood to have been made through the office of Eby & Gridley. The property has a frontage of 100 feet, on both Superior street and London road, and has long been considered one of the best East end corners. Mr. Paine's intentions in regard to his purchase are not known. It has been rumored that he may erect a fine flat building on the corner, but this is not confirmed.

Another East end sale of interest this week was that negotiated by George Claypool, when Albert C. Hubbell sold to the First Presbyterian church society the residence property at 107 East First street for $9,000. The property has been purchased for a parsonage, and will be used for that purpose, beginning May 1, when the lease of the present tenement, C. H. Bradley, will expire. The property is considered one of the best in the locality where the house stands. First street, and is 140 feet deep.

C. H. GRAVES & CO.,
And many more any place in Duluth. 101-12 Torrey building. INSURANCE. LOANS.

The description is, lots 4 and 5, block 37, Portland.

Stryker, Manley & Buck report the sale of 211 East Superior street for Henry H. Welles, Jr., of Wilkesbarre, Pa., to a local party, for $15,000. The property is located just east of the old Masonic Temple building, and has a frontage of fifty feet on the upper side of Superior street. The purchaser was Martin Rosendahl, represented by F. I. Saited. Mr. Welles is said to have paid $10,000 for the property less than a year ago. The sale bears out the predictions that Duluth business property is steadily advancing in value. Stryker, Manley & Buck have purchased for Mr. Welles the residence property at 110 West Second street, for $7,500. The seller was J. R. Ghlin, who was represented by Mendenhall & Hoopes. The property is described as lot 22, West Second street. Stryker, Manley & Buck have also sold four lots in Endion to a local party.

The Peoples' Brewing company, which proposes to erect a new brewery, to cost in the neighborhood of $200,000, are going ahead in their plans re withdrawal from the enterprise of one of the promoters. BUT COPPER

Last Chance at 25c.

I have given you fair warning about the advance in price of this stock.

Now I say buy at 25c this coming week. The 25c issue is nearly all taken. You may have to pay more the week following—it may go to 40c or 50c or par.

The first shipment of ore will send this stock soaring.

We Are Going to Ship at Once.

That is a certainty. Why not be on the safe side? "Buy on a rising market" is the wise plan in stock buying.

Read Again This Statement of Facts Carefully:

DON'T make the mistake of thinking that mining is a risky business.

As a matter of fact there is no business on earth with so small a percentage of risk as legitimate copper mining.

Statistics show that 97 out of every 100 business men—grocers, dry goods men, hardware, shoe men, etc., merchants and manufacturers of all kinds—fail in business.

BUT, you never heard of a real copper mine failing.

The true veins of copper, such as are owned by the British-American Copper Mines & Smelter Co., are inexhaustible.

Like the mines of Spain and Japan, it would require thousands of years to work them out.

No, sir—for an investment or a speculation—financial history shows it—there is nothing anywhere near so good as a good copper stock.

Why, just take a look at what has been done in copper.

Consider the actual facts. No need to do any guessing, when you can easily get the absolute evidence.

WHAT ONE MINE DID.

Think these facts over carefully.

Calumet & Hecla copper stock sold originally for $5 a share. On Friday, February 15, 1907, it stood at $10.00 per share on the Boston Mining Exchange.

This means that if you had invested in 100 shares at $5.00 per share, your stock today would be worth $100,000. Think of it!

The Calumet & Hecla has paid $30,000,000 in dividends to its stockholders.

Yet, not many years ago, this marvellously successful mine promised no more for the future than the present outlook of the British-American Copper Mines & Smelter Co., whose magnificent holdings of 640 acres contain millions of tons of high-grade copper ore, assaying an average of 10 per cent, more than twice as high as many of the most famous copper mines of the world.

Will history repeat itself?

GET OUT YOUR PENCIL.

Now, let's do a little figuring.

Let's see what are the reasonable probabilities of returns on an investment in British-American Copper Mines & Smelter Co. stock.

Suppose you invest in 1,000 shares at the present low price of 25c—$250,000 worth of stock—par value $1,000,000.

What will happen?

Well, the first jump this stock makes to 50c your stock will be worth $500,000—just double what you paid for it.

That may happen now almost any day.

It is perfectly safe to say that par—$1.00—will be reached when first shipments of ore are made, in the very near future.

And, figuring on the actual experience of other mines not so good as ours, it is safe to say that the reason to predict $3.00 share for this stock within one year.

Take one of our neighbors, the GRANBY mine, for example.

It is one of the richest properties in the district, yet it does not concede for a moment that the GRANBY is better property than ours.

Simply this: Ours is in a smaller area of development today—that is all the difference.

About ten years ago the owners of the GRANBY mine were doing just what I am doing today, namely advising the investors of this country to come in with them and share in the profits which they knew were sure to accrue once the mine was thoroughly opened up.

The GRANBY stock at that time was being offered for less than $1.00 per share. It is now actually selling at $12.00 per share.

A few years ago Boston & Montana stock sold for $15.00 a share. It is now worth in the neighborhood of $30.00 a share, and has paid over $4,000,000 of dividends during the past nine years.

The Arizona Copper company paid in 1899 to its stockholders over $1,000,000.

These gentlemen are thoroughly high class, responsible business and professional men whose character for integrity and ability is unquestioned in their own communities, where they are best known. Their names are a guaranty that the affairs of this company will be conducted for the best interests of the stockholders.

A SQUARE DEAL.

Yes—I said in the heading to this announcement that I would "PROVE" to you every statement that I make.

And I am in a position to do it! I ask no one to invest one single dollar in this enterprise unless thoroughly satisfied that the property is rich in high grade copper values, and the management competent and honest.

The time to investigate is BEFORE—not after—investing your money.

There is really no excuse for a loss in "Coppers," because you can always determine in advance whether a copper stock be good or bad.

Investigate the facts—that's all you need to do to protect yourself.

I am here to give you facts, and nothing but facts.

I will submit specimens of the ore, maps of the property, and assays by the leading assayers in the United States showing the high grade quality of the copper.

I will show you four reports on the property from recognized experts who made absolutely impartial investigations.

I will answer all your questions and satisfy you beyond the shadow of a doubt that this stock at 25c is the best purchase you ever made.

REMEMBER WHAT I TELL YOU—THIS STOCK IS GOING UP FAST.

IT WILL JUMP TO PAR IN A FEW MONTHS AND WITHIN ONE YEAR FROM TODAY WILL BE SELLING AT NOT LESS THAN $5.00. MARK WHAT I TELL YOU IF YOU FAIL TO ACT NOW, DON'T BLAME ME, FOR I HAVE DONE MY PART.

OUR DIVIDENDS.

The GRANBY Company is paying dividends of 24 per cent annually, on a totalization of $15,000,000, on ore that averages less than 1 per cent.

Our Company, with a capitalization of $5,000,000, and an inexhaustible body of copper ore, assaying 7 per cent on an average, should pay back enormous dividends to the fortunate holders of stock.

We should easily pay 50 per cent dividends when our stock is worth 25c.

This would mean that your original investment of $250,000 would in one year be worth $1,250,000 and yield you a yearly income of $250,000.

These figures are very conservative.

The record of copper properties in America proves it.

And it's proof that you want!

BIG FORTUNES IN COPPER.

Illustrations of the enormous profits made by investors in copper stocks would fill this entire page.

I give you a few:

The United Verde Copper Mine in Arizona was offered in Boston in 1893 for $150,000, without finding a buyer.

It was finally bought by Senator W. A. Clark, who developed the property and is now producing a fabulous amount of copper monthly besides large amounts in gold and silver.

OUR HOLDINGS.

The properties of the British-American Copper Mines & Smelter Co. consist of 12 full lode mining claims—640 acres—located in the Golden Division of the famous East Kootenay Mining District, Province of British Columbia.

Title is direct from the Government to the Company. There is no bonded indebtedness. Claims are free and unincumbered.

Actual developments on these claims prove three immense contact veins—10, 40 and 150 feet wide by 2½ miles long, of high grade chalcopyrite ore—the most productive ore of copper found in all the famous copper camps of the world.

DEVELOPMENTS.

On the 16-foot vein, 1,000 feet of tunnel has been contracted for that will block out, ready for mining, $10,750,000 worth of high grade copper ore.

This vein has been thoroughly sampled and assayed, giving the high average for the entire vein of 8½ to 7 per cent copper.

HONEST AND CAPABLE MANAGEMENT.

The following are the officers and directors of the company:

President—Charles H. Tucker, Cleveland, Ohio, Pres. Masonic Temple Association, formerly Gen. Aet. Great Northern Steamship Co.

Vice President—J. C. Kernohan, Cleveland, Ohio, of J. C. Kernohan Co.

ARGIE FOR LARGER FEE

County Physicians Claim

Expert Witness Fee

Too Small.

Matter is Submitted To

Three District Court

Judges.

Should physicians and surgeons called as expert witnesses in damage cases be paid the usual witness fees of $1 plus their mileage, or should they receive a compensation more keeping with their character as experts?

This is a question which was argued at a special term of the district court this morning, and which has been submitted to three district court judges for a decision.

The matter came up on a motion to settle the costs in the damage case of action in which Hedfors was awarded $5,000 against the city for the death of a relative who had been electrocuted by touching an electric light fixture in the bathroom of his house, which was heavily charged with electricity. The accident was caused by a primary wire coming in contact with a secondary wire.

Theodore Hollister and John R. Helms, attorneys for the administrator, argued in favor of a larger fee for the doctors and their capacity as expert witnesses.

C. O. Haldwin, attorney for the city, argued in favor of the customary witness fee of $1 per day plus the mileage.

The St. Louis County Medical Association, comprised of a majority of the county, not long ago passed a resolution regulating their fees as expert witnesses at $5 per day.

The physicians claim that expert witnesses in all other classes of cases are paid expert fees, and that it is entirely proper that they should, in the same manner, be paid for their services rather than the small and insignificant compensation allowed ordinary witnesses.

No officials or directors except the engineers receive salary.
